The summary of the famous speech made by James Otis in defence of the liberties of the people and against the Writs of Assistance that placed the liberty of every man in the hands of every petty officer by giving a general right of search, can now only be given in the words of John Adams. He divides the speech into five parts.

Otis began with an exordium, containing an apology for his resignation of the office of Advocate General in the Court of Admiralty, and his appearance in opposition to the Crown and in favor of the town of Boston.

He followed with a dissertation on the rights of man in a state of nature. He asserted that every man, merely natural, was an independent sovereign, subject to no law but the law written on his heart, and the inspiration of his understanding and his conscience. His right to his life, his liberty, no created being could rightfully contest. Nor was his right to his property less incontestable.

From individual independence he proceeded to association. When general councils and deliberations commenced, the objects could be no other than the mutual defence and security of every individual for his life, his liberty and his property.

These principles and these rights were wrought into the English constitution as fundamental laws. The security of these rights to life, liberty and property had been the object of continual struggles against arbitrary power, temporal and spiritual, civil and political, military and ecclesiastical, in every age. We, as Englishmen, were entitled to all the rights secured by the old Saxon laws, by the Magna Charta, by the Bill of Rights and by the Revolution of 1688, and we must not be cheated out of them.

He examined the different acts passed by the English government as revenue laws, and declared if permitted they destroyed our security of property, liberty and life, every right of nature, and the English constitution and the charter of the province.

John Adams says of this great speech in defence of the people: "Otis was a flame of fire with a promptitude of classical allusions, a depth of research, a rapid summary of historical events and dates, a profusion of legal authorities, a prophetic glance of eyes into futurity, and a rapid torrent of impetuous eloquence, he hurried all away before him. American Independence was then and there born."
Address of Mrs. Matthew T. Scott

President General National Society Daughters of the American Revolution

Ladies of the National Board of Management:

I have very little to report personally of my so-called vacation. During a visit to the West, looking after my private affairs, I was caught and quite prostrated by the hottest of hot waves in a corn growing country, but the life-giving air of Lake Michigan brought quick revival of health and strength.

Occasional visits from delightful Daughters at my summer home have added greatly to the pleasure of days literally spent in "The Wilds," and particularly grateful were letters and cards received now and then from traveling Daughters; some written on steamer in mid-ocean, others in our own or foreign lands, but all bringing messages of interest, cheer and encouragement.

One especially appealed to me, a picture card from Mrs. Derwent, of Illinois, dated "The Old Sulgrave Parish Church," saying she had on that day placed a wreath upon the tomb of Lawrence Washington, but that the Sons of the American Revolution had been in advance of her.

In pursuance of an engagement made months in advance, on July 13 I made the annual Daughters of the American Revolution address at Lake Chautauqua. There every courtesy was extended me as a representative of the Daughters of the American Revolution, by both the Daughters of the American Revolution "Circle" and the "Institution." The unusual honor, I was told, of a personal invitation was sent me by the President of the "Institution," Dr. Vincent; the still more unusual honor, I was told, was accorded me, of the "Chautauqua Salute," a sort of spiritual heirloom, to be handed down to my descendants.

Please understand, ladies, that nothing personal was intended by these very complimentary attentions. They were simply Chautauqua's delicate and beautifully characteristic way of recognizing and showing appreciation of our great Daughters of the American Revolution Society, through its President General—for the passing hour, its official Executive Head.

I have the honor to report another most flattering official invitation of the same character, and for the same purpose, extended through its distinguished President,—Honorable Bernard N. Baker—by the Board of Managers of the Second National Conservation Congress which was held at St. Paul, Minnesota, September fifth to ninth inclusive. You are familiar with the details of these marvelous meetings, from the newspapers, which have teemed with glowing accounts, of the great speakers and discussions, the celebrities who took part in them, and were the magnets who drew the crowds that thronged that beautiful city. President Taft, ex-President Roosevelt, Mr. Pinchot, Mr. Garfield, Mr. James H. Hill, Mr. Ransdall and our Miss Mabel Boardman were the bright particular stars that lent brilliancy to that splendid galaxy of speakers and debaters, gathered to discuss problems, probably the greatest in interest, now confronting the American People—the conservation of our National resources. Every phase of that rather vague generic term—"Conservation"—was brought to light and considered in its every aspect—material, spiritual, moral, ethical and intellectual—with a keenness, a "savoir faire," and conscientiousness, that must not only redound to the influence and usefulness of such conventions, but prove a stimulus and impulse toward investigation, and practical application of suggestions and theories, thought out and formulated by some of the ablest minds in the country.

Your President General was the appreciative recipient of many most complimentary courtesies on the part of the St. Paul and Minneapolis Daughters of the American Revolution. Nothing which could be thought of to add to her pleasure and comfort was overlooked by these beautiful women, and luncheons, dinners, receptions, drives and exquisite flowers brightened and made the three days a red-letter stay in those charming environments. At a reception given by the gracious State Treasurer, Mrs. Pocock, in her beautiful home, I had the pleasure of meeting all the State officers, many Chapter Regents and ex-Regents of Minnesota, and several hundred of the most prominent women in the State, both within and outside the circle of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The wife of the Governor and several other women of Minnesota, prominent in social or official life, were in the receiving line with the State Regent, Mrs. Wells, the Vice-State Regent and other officers.

One of the most interesting Daughters of the American Revolution features of the convention was the graceful presentation to Mr. Pinchot—through her daughter, Mrs. Howard—by the National Chairman of our Conservation Committee of a copy of the certificate to be presented to every Chapter and school in the land, actually engaged in doing conservation work. This handsomely embossed testimonial consists of a beautiful engraving by Mr. Key—husband of our Mrs. Ellenor Dutcher Key—of the famous group of Arlington Oaks, and on either side of this is the following inscription:

"A nation deprived of liberty may win it, a nation divided may reunite, but a nation whose natural resources are destroyed must inevitably pay the penalty of poverty, degradation and decay."

"He that planteth a tree is a servant of God; he provideth a kindness for many generations, and faces that he hath not seen shall bless him."

"Without the birds there would be no forest trees; without the trees there would be no water; without birds, trees, and water—industry, commerce and even life itself must cease."—"The Arlington Oaks."—JOHN ROSS KEY.

"This is to certify that Gifford Pinchot has rendered efficient service to the cause of conservation. Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, President General, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution. Attest: THE AMERICAN PEOPLE."

Mr. Pinchot seemed really touched by this beautiful tribute and, in a gracious speech of acceptance, stated to the Convention—that immense audience—that from no woman in the country had he received such valuable assistance in his work as from our National Chairman of the Conservation Committee, Mrs. Draper.

Many other charming invitations both personal and official have been received, which, to my great regret, it has been a physical impossibility to accept.

Perhaps the most important result in connection with Daughters of the American Revolution work this summer has been attained in the consummation of the new arrangements authorized by the Nineteenth Continental Congress, for the publication and management of the AMERICAN MONTHLY MAGAZINE, by the able and indefatigable National Chairman of the Magazine Committee—Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey. I cannot too heartily convey to you my indorsement of the proposed changes, which have been so carefully and conscientiously thought out and matured; nor is it possible to press home upon you too urgently the responsibility of the Society, the responsibility and duty of every member of this Board, to help and forward this undertaking by your influence and importunity,—urging upon Chapters in your States the value of the magazine, the necessity of strong committees increasing the interest to push it—and in securing multiplicity of subscriptions. A long pull, a strong pull and a pull all together, and our magazine is a grand, accomplished fact, bringing not only information that will arouse renewed interest in the work, but insuring in future years revenue in place of a deficit.

May I also call to your attention the prompt publication of the proceedings of the Nineteenth Continental Congress in a completed form—fully indexed for the first time—as ordered by the Congress. From every side have come most appreciative thanks to the committee, and the heartiest commendations for this new departure.

Too much praise cannot be accorded the ladies of this committee for their prompt and able discharge of this laborious task.

I have the honor to report that under the splendid management of our able chairman and ladies composing the Supervision Committee—whose report will be submitted to you in detail—there has been the most satisfactory conduct of all affairs in connection with Memorial Continental Hall; the appearance of the building and grounds speak for themselves, for the self-sacrifice, and arduous labors of the devoted women, who have remained in Washington during the hot months, and who have so generously given of their time and strength to these difficult and often perplexing duties. Nor can we be unmindful or unappreciative of the loyalty and fidelity of our clerical force during the past very trying season.

Owing to the country-wide wave of interest in the safe and sane Fourth of July celebration idea, from various sources have come to me most gratifying assurances of efforts to secure a safe and satisfactory observance of Independence Day. Effective measures in many places have been taken to commemorate the birth of the nation, by celebrations, eliminating the slaughter that has periodically brought sorrow into so many homes. Magnificent scenic pageants, fascinating military drills and music, harmless but interesting games, have largely superseded the boisterous, dangerous Fourth of July that has become a thing of the past. Through the unremitting efforts of our devoted Chairman of Patriotic Education—Mrs. Ammon—widespread interest has been created among the Daughters and others in behalf of this imperatively needed reform.

The heavy correspondence incident to the office of President General has been maintained without interruption throughout the summer; and I am happy to say that ever since my election the successful effort has been made to send courteous replies to all communications of whatever nature. The correspondence has occasionally been entirely irrelevant, but that has made no difference. I have patiently replied to inquiries concerning pins and badges, genealogies, lineage books, family connections and ramifications, speculations in real estate and personal property—these last, all schemes for paying off the Continental Hall debt—and comprehensive enough, I was about to say, the National debt also; purchase, sale and disposition of relics; gifts and purchase of works of art, almost "ad infinitum." These appeals have all interested me exceedingly, for they seemed to indicate the confidence with which Daughters would turn to a Mother, and more particularly—as some of us know by experience—to the Grandmother. You see I do not at all participate in the exquisite supersensitiveness as to my age, agitating some perturbed breasts.

"Busts" and "stacks" seem to have constituted two distinct and separate departments of their own this summer. On the subject of the former—busts—the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, the architect and myself, have enlivened the hot months with a three cornered correspondence that has never flagged; finally,—with satisfactory issue. The question of stacks is still under consideration.

As Article VI. Section 4 of the Constitution gives the President General authority to call meetings of the National Board of Management at any time she may deem necessary, I wish to give notice now, that unless exigencies arise which I do not now foresee, I shall call the next regular meeting of the Board on the first Wednesday in February, 1911. Special meetings of the Board will be called the first Wednesdays in November, December and January for the authorization of new Chapters, the appointment of Regents, the admission of new members only, and for the pensions of Real Daughters.
Tribute in Memory of Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Park

By the President General, Mrs. Matthew T. Scott

Ladies of the National Board of Management:

I believe it was said by Carlisle, or perhaps by Ruskin, that “the greatest cry going up from our leading cities,—louder than their furnace blasts, farther reaching than the hum of traffic, is, that we strengthen steel, and shape marble, and refine sugar, and bleach cotton, and build up colossal industries,” but “to strengthen, and shape, and refine, and whiten, and build up a single human soul,—this does not pre-eminently enter into our estimate of values.” Imbued with a sense of the value of this immortal estimate, stirred with a passion for humanity, the woman whose death it is my sad duty to announce, has passed from a life, the incarnation of rectitude and honor, leaving an impress that is deathless in its influence on all associated with her. “Rich in faith, rich in good works, rich in life, but ‘weary of its burdens’” Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, National Chairman of the Committee on Child Labor, passed away August 11 at Garfield Hospital in Washington. Lost to us, she has joined “The choir invisible,
Of those immortal dead who live again
In minds made better by their presence,
Live,
In pulses stirred to generosity,
In deeds of daring rectitude, in scorn
For miserable aims that end with self;
In thoughts sublime that pierce the night like stars,
And with their mild persistence, urge man’s search,
To vaster issues.”

In these beautiful autumn days it is natural that some leaves should fall but it is none the less sad—and we are deeply conscious in our Daughters of the American Revolution life of this tragic touch in nature when a great woman droops and fades from our side and answers the summons to “Come up higher.”

Mrs. Emily Hendree Park,—former State Regent and Vice-President General of Georgia, passed away September 8 at her home in Atlanta. There was something splendid about this woman, which set her far apart and placed her in a niche all her own. Her catholic spirit, her generous nature, her intellectuality and broad culture, her social charm and cordial responsiveness, her magnetism, her eloquent speech and wide acquaintance with all that was best in the country—her many and varied endowments, fitted her grandly for the high office of President General, which she would have so nobly and graciously filled, had she been willing to assume the responsibility.

Her effective work for our own and kindred organizations, constituted her a power in her city and native State and multitudes of those who have known, and come within touch of her gracious personality, mourn her loss with us and her family.

Sore bereavement has also entered the homes of two of our National officers. The mother of the State Regent of Virginia, Mrs. Jameson, and the mother of the Librarian General, Mrs. Willis, have entered into their eternal rest during the months of our separation. Let us rise in token of our sympathy.

The year book of the Molly Aikin Chapter, Antrim, Vt., Mrs. Anna Eaton Carter, Regent, presents a varied program for 1911. Rogers’ Rangers is one of the subjects of study, and one of which little is known, though they rendered great service in our early days. The opening page contains these well remembered lines:

“Our emblem is a golden wheel
Banded with deepest blue,
Each shining spoke tipped with a star,
The distaff showing through:\nThe only jewel in the world
That money cannot buy,
Without such proof of ancestry
As no one can deny.”
What the Women Can Do for Conservation

By Gifford Pinchot

I think it cannot be disputed that the natural resources exist for and belong to the people; and I believe that the part of the work which falls to the women (and it is no small part) is to see to it that the children, who will be the men and women of the future, have their share of these resources uncontrolled by monopoly and unspoiled by waste.

What specific things can the women of the Nation do for conservation? The Daughters of the American Revolution have begun admirably in the appointment of a Conservation Committee, and other organizations of women are following their example. Few people realize what women have already done for conservation, and what they may do. Some of the earliest effective forest work that was done in the United States, work which laid the lines that have been followed since, was that of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association, begun and carried through first of all by ladies in Philadelphia. One of the bravest, most intelligent and most effective fights for forestry that I have known of was that of the women of Minnesota for the Minnesota National Forest. It was a superb success, and we have that forest to-day. I have known of no case of persistent agitation finer in a good many ways than the fight that the women of California have made to save the great grove of Calaveras big trees. As a result the Government has taken possession of that forest and will preserve it for all future generations.

Time and again, then, the women have made it perfectly clear what they can do in this work. Obviously the first point of attack is the stopping of waste. Women alone can bring to the school children the idea of the wickedness of national waste and the value of public saving. The issue is a moral one, and women are the first teachers of right and wrong. It is a question of seeing what loyalty to the public welfare demands of us, and then of caring enough for the public welfare not to set personal advantage first. It is a question of inspiring our future citizens as children with the spirit of true patriotism as against the spirit of rank selfishness, the anti-social spirit of the man who declines to take into account any other interest than his own, whose one aim and ideal is personal success. Women both in public and at home, by letting the men know what they think, and by putting it before the children, can make familiar the idea of conservation, and support it with a convincingness that nobody else can approach.

The Harrison Trail

From the Address of Mr. Basil Meek, September 10, 1910

Commodore Perry's victory on Lake Erie September 10, 1813, was a notable event in the War of 1812. While the British held control of the waters of the lakes no successful advance of our army into the enemy's territory, in Canada, could be made to attack and destroy the army of Proctor. The Americans must submit to be on the defensive. The gallant and successful defense of Fort Stephenson by the brave Major Croghan and his comrades on August 2, was the preparatory step to Perry's naval battle. It cleared the landway to the lakes and the brilliant achievement of Perry opened the waterway to Canada and made possible its invasion, which soon followed, resulting in the disastrous defeat and flight of Proctor at the battle of the Thames and death of the warrior Tecumseh, the ruling spirit in the great uprising of the Indian savages against our people in the northwest. The power of our enemies, both British and Indian, was now broken and permanent peace to our harassed frontier inhabitants assured.

The famous message from Commodore
Perry to General Harrison, at Fort Seneca, announcing his victory: "We have met the enemy and they are ours—two ships, two brigs, one schooner and a sloop," was, on its way, read at Lower Sandusky, and Captain McAfee in his history says: "This exhilarating news set Lower Sandusky and Camp Seneca in an uproar of tumultuous joy." He further relates that General Harrison immediately proceeded to Lower Sandusky and issued orders for the movement of troops and transportation of military stores to the margin of the lake preparatory to their embarkation for Canada. There was an Indian trail leading from Lower Sandusky, southwesterly, passing through what is now Spiegel Grove, the home of the late President Rutherford B. Hayes, passing thence southwesterly on the west side of the Sandusky River, and at a point about two miles southeast of the boulder, intersecting a similar trail leading from the site of Fort Seneca, on the Sandusky River. The two trails here seem to have united, forming one continuous trail to Fort Meigs, on the Maumee River. This became known as the "Harrison Trail" for the reason that General Harrison, in his military movements between Lower Sandusky, Fort Seneca and Fort Meigs, traveled this route, as his military road between the points named.

In the field notes of the Government survey in the year 1820 this trail is noted as a "road to Fort Meigs," in the surveyors' division of sections 14 and 15, the notation placing the same at a point bringing the trail or "road to Fort Meigs," near to the spot where the rock lies, therefore making the same a convenient and certainly a most substantial Mess Table for the brave General and staff in the then dreary wilderness, abounding as it did with the savage enemy. We may say that it was to him really something more than the "shadow of a great rock in a weary land;" it was more literally a "table prepared for him in the presence of his enemies."

Unveiling of Two Bronze Tablets Marking the Harrison Military Trail in Ohio

On September 10, 1910, a glorious autumn day, the ninety-seventh anniversary of Perry's victory at Put-in Bay, the Col. George Croghan Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, unveiled two beautiful bronze tablets marking two of the principal sites on the Harrison Military Trail in Ohio.

The Regent of the Chapter presided and extended a cordial welcome to the State officers, to the Daughters of the American Revolution, to the Sandusky County Historical Association, to the county and towns people, to these dedicatory services. Splendid and appropriate addresses were made by our State Regent, Mrs. C. R. Truesdall, Mrs. John T. Mack, State Chairman of "Historic Sites and Revolutionary Soldiers' Graves," Mr. Basil Meek, Secretary of Sandusky County Historical Association, Miss Lucy Elliott Keeler, and Capt. E. C. Sayles, who in behalf of the county, accepted the tablets. Captain Sayles' remarks were complimentary to the Chapter, and an inspiration to all present, to cherish and perpetuate the memory of the heroic deeds of the men who sacrificed their lives for our country.

Under the old elm in front of the Havens' residence, in Ballville, the Chapter had placed a huge boulder, preparatory to the dedicatory services. The tablet on this boulder reads:

"Ball's Battlefield, Major Ball's squadron and 2nd Light Dragoons U. S. Army, while escorting Colonel Wells' 71st U. S. Infantry from Major-General Harrison's headquarters at Fort Seneca to relieve Major Croghan of the command of Fort Stephenson for alleged insubordination in refusing to evacuate the fort, was ambushed by Indians near this spot, but gallantly charging them, killed seventeen with the sabre, 30th July, 1813. Erected by the Col. Geo. Croghan Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution."

The boulder known as the General Harrison's Mess Table is located about seven miles southwesterly from Fremont, Professor Wright, the eminent geologist, estimated this rock to contain 1000 cubic feet, and to weigh 80 tons.

The inscription on this boulder is:

"General Harrison's Mess Table on the Indian trail leading from the headquarters of Major-General Harrison at Fort Seneca on the Sandusky River to Fort Maegers on the Maumee River. War of 1812. Erected by Col. George Croghan Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution."

The closing feature of the splendid proceedings of the day was a buffet luncheon, presided over by the Regent, Mrs. Louis Dickenson, the Harrison rock being used as a serving table.

Esther L. Otis, Chairman of Historic Sites and Rev. Soldiers' Graves, Col. George Croghan Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

The Santa Fé Trail

By Helen Campbell, Pueblo, Colorado

Different opinions are held concerning what attraction most influenced the immigration westward. Some think it was the richness of the mineral veins, others the large herds of cattle and wild horses, while some believe that the large tracts of land to be had without tax for five years, was the most attractive of all.

But be the incentive what it may, no great amount of trade would have been carried on, and no homes built, if a road had not been traced for the wanderers. This essential is found in the "Santa Fé Trail."

In 1541, Coronado traveled from Culiacan, on the Pacific Coast of Mexico, to the territory now covered by Kansas. He passed over many points where the trail was to be traced. Sixty years later the Spaniards founded the City of Santa Fé. This was two and two-thirds centuries before trade was carried on between the American settlements and Santa Fé.

In the early part of the last century, Baptiste Lalande was sent to Santa Fé with goods to sell. He followed the Missouri and Platte rivers, and then turned southward to Santa Fé. Liking the people he met he remained. He was the first man to sell goods by sample.

Soon after this, James Purcell of Kentucky started out. He first went to St. Louis, from which place he went to the Osage river to hunt and trap. He was driven into the mountains and afterward captured by the Sioux Indians. He was sent to Santa Fé with some Indians to ask for Spanish trade and settled there.

The trade rapidly grew because the New Mexicans were as desirous for it as the Americans. Franklin, Mo., was the terminal until 1831, when it was moved westward to Independence, Kan. The distance was 800 miles, half of which was in Kansas. Caravans usually started between the months of April and June, requiring from fifty to eighty days to make the trip, as the time required depended largely upon the mood of the Indians, and the number of white men.

Not far behind Lalande and Purcell, came Zebulon Pike. He left Belle Fontaine, a few miles north of St. Louis, July 15, 1806, with sixteen soldiers, a surgeon and an interpreter. They went up the Missouri river to the Osage, up whose course they traveled until they met the Osage Indians. The object of this trip was to make peace between the Osage and Kansas Indian tribes, to urge the Chiefs to visit Washington and to ascertain the extent and navigation of the Arkansas and Red rivers. It is said that he had orders from Wilkinson, who was under the Spanish employ but who favored the Americans, to find a pass through the mountains by which Mexico could be invaded. On this trip, Pike measured the mountain which now bears his name. Having crossed the range he followed the Rio Grande, which he thought was the Red River, and was unknowingly in Spanish territory. Lieut. Salado demanded surrender for trespassing on the territory of Charles IV. He was taken to Santa Fe, where he was well treated, from which place he was sent to Chihuahua, where the Spanish military commander freed him. He had not only found a route to the capital, Santa Fé, but had had an opportunity to study the customs and habits of the people. The report which he gave the United States was a statement of the conditions of the South, and the possibilities of trade. One phrase of Pike's report, which received no public notice but which perhaps did most to make the trade attractive, concerned the phase of life.

In 1821, Becknell left Franklin, with twenty-one men, three wagons and five thousand dollars' worth of goods. He successfully ran the gauntlet between the Osage and Arkansas territories. Attempting a short cut southward, he lost the way, and nearly starved, started homeward, but again mistaking the way, he arrived at Santa Fé by accident.

No serious Indian trouble was given on the trail until 1828. Soon after the arrival of Kit Carson, two men were killed. This is the beginning of the vendetta which lasted for years. The Government was induced to furnish as an escort, four companies of infantry for a caravan. This action was repeated several times, although self-defense was usually practiced, which caused the traders to go in large parties. This usually secured their safety.

The year 1831 is prominent in the annals of the trail, at which the terminal was moved westward to Independence. This year also saw the largest and best equipped expedition start out. Much joy and hilarity was caused by the outset. When the place where Council Grove is now situated was reached, a Council was held, which decided that the Americans and Mexicans should trade unmolested by the Indians.

The trade grew until 1843, when it amounted to four hundred and fifty thousand dollars with Santa Fé, and an additional three hundred thousand dollars with surrounding points. This year, however, ended the trade, for the Mexicans foreseeing war with the United States, closed all points to the merchants indefinitely.

The next use of the trail was of quite another nature, and soldiers were tramping over it toward Santa Fé. The Stars and Stripes were soon hoisted above the Capital, Santa Fé.

After the Mexican War, there came from five to eight millions of people into New Mexico and California. They were closely followed in 1849 by gold prospectors and later by home seekers.

Even after the establishment of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad, the trail continued to bring many people westward, but the old spice of adventure and lonesomeness were gone.

The influence of this apparently uninteresting road has been brought before the minds of the people of to-day by the patriotic enthusiasm of “The Daughters of the American Revolution” in establishing marking stones at points which the Santa Fé trail once followed. Some of these stones have already been erected at El Moro and Trinidad. The Pueblo Chapter of the order placed one at Las Animas. The Arkansas Valley Chapter assisted by placing a beautiful Colorado granite monument, weighing three thousand tons at La Junta. On the polished surface, the Daughters of the American Revolution “Record Shield” is carved. It bears the inscription “King’s Ferry Santa Fé trail 1820-1872.” “Marked by the Daughters of the American Revolution, Arkansas Valley Chapter, 1908.”

These should be of special interest to all descendants of true American patriots.
Address of Mrs. M. H. Fitch Upon the Occasion of the Unveiling of the Marker at Las Animas

"Zebulon Pike was the first trailer to Santa Fé, but the route he took after leaving the site of Pueblo was never followed by others. He came up the Arkansas River in November, 1806, by this place, and from near here he caught his first view of the 'great white peak' that was afterward given his name. It is probable that a troop of Spanish soldiers had passed the place where the town of Las Animas now stands near the time when Pike made his appearance, but Pike and his companions were the first white Americans who came to this part of the country. Then came Major Long in 1819, Fowler in 1822 and Fremont in 1843. But the real beginning of the old Santa Fé trail was made on the 15th of May, 1824, when eighty men set out from St. Louis, in the first wagon train, loaded with merchandise, for Santa Fé. They returned in September with their capital increased a hundred fold in gold and silver, and $10,000 worth of furs. This was the opening of the old Santa Fé trail.

"The trail we are now marking ran substantially along the present line of the Santa Fé Railway. Markers are intended to be placed about every five miles on that trail. They are erected partly by the States of Kansas and Colorado, and partly by the Daughters of the American Revolution. This granite stone is placed here by the Pueblo Chapter of the organization. As a representative of that chapter I desire to express my gratification that it is placed in beautiful Las Animas and upon ground of such historic significance.

"Near here was Bent's old fort, where another marker has been or will be placed. Bent's newer fort, first called Fort W and afterward Fort Lyon, still stands as a monument to the Government's wise policy of hospitality and care of its invalid naval defenders. It is no longer needed for warfare and has been turned into the most useful and peaceful art of healing the sick. This pleasing change is due to the old Santa Fé trail, which was the pioneer opening this Western world to civilization. The trail was followed by the railway, the town, the city and farm. When it was first made it crossed the State line from Kansas to Colorado near where Holly now stands, ran on the north side of the Arkansas River and near to it, to where La Junta now stands, then, turning southwest, ran up Tim Creek through Trinidad, leaving the State of Colorado south of Trinidad, where Lynn now stands. It is still the Santa Fé trail, but now it is laid with steel rails, a
In the old days the pioneer ox trains were thirty days traveling from the Missouri River to Fort Lyon. Now the Pacific flyer makes the distance in a less number of hours. But we must remember that the latter would be impossible unless the low trains had first opened the way. The new Santa Fé trail would have been impossible until the old trail had been opened and established by the brave Indian fighters, who fought, and many of them died, in making a safe passage for the present builders of the peaceful and prosperous empire of the Arkansas valley.

The old Santa Fé trail was in existence for fifty years. For that time it served every function now performed by the modern railway, and in addition throbbed with the hopes and fears of the pioneer trailers long its monotonous course. No one who has not faced the savage foe, lying in ambush, ready to murder the invader of the West, can appreciate the debt we now owe to the men and women who came by the old Santa Fé trail. The trail itself is a mere physical emblem of their valor and the contribution they made to the onward march of civilization.

The true meaning of the service we are now performing is not merely to mark their footsteps across the prairies of the West, but we are here to emphasize the fact that in the days of old, as well as now, such valor and sacrifice for mankind are worthy to be remembered and imitated. Their footsteps on this trail were not merely those by which their savage foes could pursue and murder them, but were 'footprints on the sands of time,' from which future generations can draw inspiration for still other but not higher performance of great deeds.

The marker is dedicated to the memory of those brave pioneers. We inherit the land they bravely won. They are entitled to our loudest praises. This granite marker will in time disintegrate and mingle with the dust over which their blood was shed in many a hard struggle with the savage foe; but let us hope that their memories will be perpetuated for all time in the hearts of our race and in the imperishable history of our country.'

The National Committees

Memorial Continental Hall Committee

The chairman of the Memorial Continental Hall Committee is the President-General of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. Matthew T. Scott. To her fell the happiness of greeting the daughters firmly seated in their permanent abode after many years of wandering in the wilderness. To her and to her illustrious predecessors are due the grateful thanks of the Society for their untiring vigilance and unaltering patriotism in preparing this memorial to the heroism of the past.

Much lies before this committee. Under able leadership their work has been glorious in the past. This magnificent edifice has been erected; the various officers have been settled in their new homes; things that go for health and comfort are complete; the furnishings are superb.

Mrs. Scott says:

"Great as this work is, our committee's most glorious achievement still lies before it.

"Splendid it was to have dreamed the dream of this noble edifice, which has risen in our midst like a castle in the air. Splendid it was to have brought that dream to this present realization, and yet thrice glorious would be the day which sees our mortgage lifted and our title made clear to this matchless monument to man's heroism and woman's patriotic love and devotion.

"But even when all this has been accomplished, our difficulties will not be over. The subtle, but not less searching question will then arise: Shall we indeed prove worthy custodians of this splendid temple to patriotism? It is not going to be very easy to live up to such a building. But I am firmly convinced that if we make the effort, we shall succeed. To this end may I suggest that we take as our motto the immortal words of the philosopher, Emperor Marcus Aurelius, when he said: 'Even in a palace, life may be lived well.' Ladies, we have our palace.

"We have unrivaled opportunity to manifest to the world the dignity, the unselfish devotion and the moral and intellectual power of woman. God grant that in this great work we may always keep our motives as pure as this white pile, and our deliberations as beautifully harmonious as are the exquisite proportions of this symphony in stone.

"As I look upon this superb structure, unsurpassed in nobility of conception, its exquisite finish in every detail challenging the closest scrutiny of artist or critic; its white beauty, symbolic of the beauty of the ideas we strive for; its stately proportions, type of grand thought inspired it, I bow homage to the insight, the splan thought of the wise who had the courage to cross Rubicon, burn bridges, and do one thing that can be done, to give this majestic memorial.

"It devolves upon us now to justify confidence, to stand out before the world as a band of women who recognize and pay their first obligations to their debtors. Before the lures of other work, however urgent or beautiful, before the almost irresistible cause that often appeals so powerfully to our tenderest and most generous sensibilities, before any and all other claims come to us this legitimate call to off as promptly as possible, the debt has secured to us this magnificent property."
Committee to Prevent the Desecration of the Flag

Mrs. J. M. Dickinson is the chairman of this important committee. She comes from the grand old State of Tennessee and is the wife of the Secretary of War.

The object of this committee is to secure laws to prevent the desecration of the flag, to inculcate sentiments of loyalty to it, to promote the desire to reach the lofty heights of patriotic and disinterested love for country.

Under the inspiration furnished by this committee, Chapters all over the United States are working for better State laws. They are printing and circulating copies of the flag laws of their respective States. They are warning those who violate these laws; framing copies and hanging them in schools and other public places; presenting flags to schools, public parks and grounds; teaching the children to give salute to the flag and to take off their hats when the flag goes by.

The efforts of the National Committee have been turned especially to the securing of a National law for the protection of flag. Mrs. Dickinson says:

"As long ago as thirty years, when the famed 'Sunset' Cox framed a law to prevent desecration, or rather to promote the preservation of our flag, and ever since, the American people have from time to time been efforts made to pass such an act. Can we not believe that it has been a smoldering fire of patriotism which the determined and united efforts of our own, but of other peoples, have now fanned to a flame of fervor which must destroy all petty oppositions to so noble a purpose, and lift our banner of liberty, which stands for protection of equal rights to all, high above the storms to which it has been so long subjected?"

"When Mrs. Isabel Ball, retired President of the Potomac Woman's Relief Corps, appeared before the Military Committee of the Senate in April, 1908, she said in part:

"'Gentlemen of the committee, I am not before you to tell you lawmakers what the law is. I know that the question of vested rights has much to do with this. In other words, the commercial interests of the country are absolutely against the passage of such a bill by Congress. But it does not interfere with your plans, nor the Constitution, nor your ideas of the police powers of the States, when railroad corporations and their corporate trusts have vested rights in certain things; and certainly the flag of the Government, the sign manual of its freedom and its liberty, as well as the Great Seal, should be protected from commercial influence and interests.'"

"Nations not only respect their own flags, but have always demanded respect for all flags of other nations with which they are at peace. What we maintain is, that if the United States has the constitutional right, which it undoubtedly has, to demand from other people respect for its flag, and has the right to insist that its people respect the flags of other nations, then why cannot the United States have the constitutional right to insist that its own people shall respect their flag. Otherwise, how can they maintain the dignity of their own flag unless they enforce the respect due that flag?"

"Growth is a quiet process, recognizable by what it attains. May we hope that with the present general growth of true loyal Americanism will come the appreciation and veneration of our flag."

The Committee on Patriotic Education

Thousands of dollars have been sent by Chapters and individuals to aid in educating the white mountaineers of the South, in whose veins flow the blood of Revolutionary heroes. The Southern Industrial Educational Association, the schools at Hindman, Ky., Maryville, Tenn., and Rome, Ga., have all been substantially remembered. A new school has recently been opened in Arkansas by Bishop Brown.
for the white children of that section, in which many Daughters are vitally interested.

Playgrounds have been opened in many Northern cities by Chapters either working along or in cooperation with the municipal authorities. Here the boys and girls are learning to be ideal citizens.

The proper celebration of the Fourth of July has aroused deep interest. Celebrations were planned which had both educational value and patriotic fervor. The success of the new departure in many widely separated sections will lead to renewed endeavor.

Chapters everywhere have been busy in disseminating knowledge concerning the use of the flag.

Cooperation with public schools is almost universal; prizes are offered for essays on historical subjects and for proficiency in the study of American history. Lectures have been given, sometimes by members, sometimes by means of the lectures and pictures supplied by the Interchangeable Lecture Bureau of this Society. Chapters have established libraries in public school buildings and in foreign settlements, giving to our foreign people books and copies of our common laws in their mother tongue.

Two States have prepared manuals for Italian immigrants, giving the information needed for intelligent citizenship. In other places successful efforts have been made to have night schools for foreigners included in the regular public school system.

Flags, pictures of George Washington and other famous men, and copies of the Declaration of Independence have been given to schools and settlements. Trees have been planted around the schoolhouse and playground of a town in Alabama by the Chapter of that town, giving to the children some beauty of nature, and thereby adding to their love and appreciation of the country we would have them love and honor. Some Chapters have arranged for "Story Hours" in public schools or libraries, when members of the Chapter tell the children about the men and women of the Revolution. A Chapter has prepared and placed in the public school of its town a chronological table of the special events included in the history of that town.

Mrs. Ammon says:

"It is not we alone who live where our forefathers first dwelt in stockaded houses and walked the fields full-armed with musket or rifle, and who fled with wife and child to nearby fort when threatened with tomahawk or burning stake, whose towns have grown up through England's rule and Quaker treaty, through storm of revolution and Indian warfare, who have stories of interest to tell. Daughters of the American Revolution, keep the story of the building of your town or city clear in the minds of your people, make them proud of it, and may they keep its fair fame unsullied! Our history has been one punctuated by wars, and between those wars have been long periods of peace and in those times of peace have been the times of our growth and prosperity.

"When the great novelist and dramatist, Zangwill, put into the mouth of the young Jew the words: 'Not understand, not understand that America is God's crucible, the great melting pot, where all the races of Europe are fusing and reforming?' Here you stand, good folk, think I, when I see them at Ellis Island; here you stand in your fifty groups, with your fifty languages and your histories, and your fifty blood hatreds and rivalries, but you won't be long like that, brothers, for these are the fires of God you have come to; these are the fires of God. A fig for your feuds and vendettas, Germans and Frenchmen, Irishmen and Englishmen, Jews and Russians, into the crucible with you all, God is making the American.' But do you think that from this crucible, this crucible of the present day, will come the true American—the American shaped and planned in the days of Colonial government; he who came through the fires of the Revolution was the true American.

"To the thousands already crowding our cities to-day will be added this year about one million, five hundred thousand foreign-speaking people, but the young man you see coming down the gangplank, his worldly wealth all in that handkerchief in his hand, has within him the making of an American.

“Descendants of the true, the real American, let your spirit of patriotism be the leaven in this great crucible that will make of all these foreign people faithful, honest citizens of this great America.”

Committee of the Children of the Republic

The idea of the Children of the Republic originated in the active brain of Mrs. Caroline Murphey, of Cincinnati. She has gone to her reward. Her mantle has fallen on the shoulders of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Murphey Gardner, who as chairman of the committee is carrying on the good work.

The clubs of the Children of the Republic are made up of foreign boys and American boys of no Revolutionary ancestry. The intention is to teach them a love of the United States and a high standard of civic honor, to prepare them to become American citizens.

Thirty-three such clubs have been formed and more are on the way.

The graduates from these clubs can become Sons of the Republic. One of these Sons of the Republic has given in an address to the Daughters of the American Revolution a comprehensive account of the work done both for the Children and the Sons of the Republic, from which we quote briefly:

“Each club is in charge of a directress, whom the boys cannot help but admire and respect. The meetings are usually held once every week. The boys of each club are generally schoolmates and playfellows, which naturally makes very much easier the work of the directress. In our meetings appropriate songs are sung, patriotic addresses are given by prominent citizens, essays are written by the boys, and a study is made of the lives and characters of the many great men who have made our country what it is, the men of whom Americans are justly proud; and in this way we learn to cherish the memory of those forefathers and emulate them to make our country just what they intended it to be. All of this has a wonderful effect upon the boys. It gradually dawns upon them that theirs is a glorious country unequalled in the world; that it is a fortunate thing to be a citizen of the United States, and that it is a grand thing to be a good, patriotic and useful citizen of the greatest nation in the world.

“The programme of our club, the boys being older, includes very interesting debates and mock court trials. We discuss current political questions, all of which creates the ability on the part of the boys to stand before an audience and give, in a pertinent and comprehensive manner, their own views on a subject. This ability, you will agree, is a valuable asset to any American citizen. It is clear that boys with such training must surely develop into the kind of men which this country both needs and wants. If our country is to hold the supremacy of nations, morally, mentally and physically, it is essential that all of its citizens be good citizens, and this can only be accomplished by teaching and educating to that point the American youth. I am positive that the innate patriotism of every American boy can be made the basis of his good citizenship, if it is but properly and carefully cultivated. Do you not think it worthy so to cultivate the American boy that when he becomes a voter and a part of his country, and his American manhood and character are put to a test, he will not be found wanting? The boys of to-day will to-morrow guide the Ship of State and hold within their hands the destiny of the nation. My appeal to you is especially for that American boy who is at the very bottom of the wonderful ladder of life, and who is looking up its steep and rugged slope with apprehension. He realizes in but a dim way that he has a tedious and difficult undertaking before him; but he firmly, honestly and sincerely hopes to conquer the task.

“It is within your power, through the Children of the Republic clubs, to reach every one of them, and in that way help to enhance the sphere of their existence and make greater their possibilities of achievement. Ladies, because of the work which you have already done, and on the strength of the results which have already been obtained through the efforts of your Society in these clubs, there is an arm beckoning to you, there is a voice crying out to you, and it is the mighty arm and the supplicant voice of that vast multitude, that potent host which we know as Young America, these citizens of the America of tomorrow.

"In conclusion, if you will give this noble and inspired movement the impetus and the attention and the assistance which, because of its existence, it so rightfully deserves at your hands; if you will make this a National movement in every sense of the word, an important factor in the education of the American youth of to-day and of the generations to come; if you will establish Children of the Republic clubs throughout every section of our beloved country; if you will do this, great as the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution is to-day, it will appear greater in the eyes of posterity. Yea, American posterity will rise up and call you blessed, and you will invite the gracious favor of Almighty God."

The Committee on Conservation

The chairman of the committee is Mrs. Amos G. Draper, who has prepared the following brief account of the work of that committee:

"Words are things, and a small drop of ink, Falling like dew upon a thought, produces That which makes thousands, perhaps millions, think."

Given 150 intelligent, patriotic women, representing every State in the Union—most of them enthusiastic workers, and many of them members of other organizations interested in civic problems, and who can estimate the influence they have had in creating the present sentiment in favor of conservation!

Six instalments of Conservation Current Events, placed by them in their local newspapers, were so favorably received last year that other instalments will appear as occasion arises.

The answers from thirty-seven Governors received last year to the questions, "What is the especial need of conservation in your State?" and "How may women help?" emphasized one or more phases of the work in each of those States, and programs have been carefully prepared to meet the needs. Outlines for work in chapters or clubs, together with a list of reference books, have been arranged, also studies in general forestry for adults. Reports have been delivered at the various State conferences; and in all this work the committee has been generously assisted by the Forest Service, the National Conservation Association and several State Superintendents.

As women's work is primarily among children, an outline for a year's course in the study of forestry in pupils of the grammar grade has been prepared; also suggestions in regard to forming Forestry clubs similar to Audubon clubs in schools or academies. In connection with these studies, maps showing the natural forest regions of America, the proclamation of the President to the school children of the United States in 1907 (as applicable now as then), and a plan for tree observations, with instructions for recording them (a most interesting and instructive leaflet), can be obtained from the Forest Service, upon application directly to the Forester, or through the Chairman of the Conservation Committee.

A certificate has been prepared to be given to any Chapter, club or school making a study of Conservation during the coming year. An account of the certificate and a description of the presentation of the first one appears on another page of this issue, and we hope that at the next Congress a large number will be found to be eligible.

It is with genuine regret that in order to conserve my own health I am compelled to give up the chairmanship of this committee; but I know that the work is falling into abler hands than mine, and I bespeak for my successor, Mrs. Edward Orton, Jr., the Lincoln, Columbus, Ohio, the same cordial, sympathetic support that I have invariably received.
The "American Monthly Magazine" Committee

The chairman of the committee is Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, dean of the Washington College of Law of Washington, D. C., and a member of the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States. She is also the Vice-President of the Board of Education in that city. Mrs. Mussey is the granddaughter of a Revolutionary soldier.

She was State Regent for the District of Colorado and Vice-President General. As chairman of the Magazine Committee she gives to the business conditions the benefit of her long experience. In her report to the last congress she recommended that the Proceedings of the Nineteenth Continental Congress be fully indexed and printed separately and not as a part of the American Monthly Magazine, as had been the custom, which recommendation was adopted, the Proceedings coming out early in July, as had been promised.

Mrs. Mussey also visited and corresponded with different firms in regard to a contract for publishing the magazine that would leave the editorial management as at present, but printing, binding, mailing and collecting subscriptions would be done by the publishers, thus relieving our office of that work and its attendant expense.

Her plans were authorized by the Nineteenth Continental Congress. They have been carried out with the approval of the President-General and the National Board of Management. With this issue the American Monthly Magazine is presented to you under the new and improved conditions.

The Committee on The National University

The chairman of this committee is Mrs. Alexander E. Patton, of Pennsylvania.

Ever since the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution was founded the organization has kept steadily in mind the farewell address of Washington "to promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge," thus developing an enlightened public opinion and affording to young and old such advantages as shall develop in them the largest capacity for performing the duties of American citizens.

Our magnificent Memorial Continental Hall is not only a place for the assembling of our great congresses, not only a fitting home for our offices, but through the efforts of this committee it may become a center for patriotic instruction in a wide sense. Lectures from those versed in the history of our land may be given here; concerts, patriotic in their nature, may teach a reverence for the flag and our national airs.

There is little limit to the grand work that can be carried on now that the Daughters of the American Revolution have an abiding place.
Revolutionary Records

This department is intended for hitherto unpublished or practically inaccessible records of patriots of War for American Independence, which records may be helpful to those desiring admission to the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution and to the registrars of Chapters. Such data will be gladly received by the editor of this magazine.

An Ode
Written for the Daughters of the American Revolution
By Mrs. Samuel F. Patterson, Concord, N. H.

America! Our native land—
How dear to all this happy band.
Her wars are o'er, and peace doth reign,
From North to South, on land and main.
O glorious home—our fathers won—
Through toil and strife and darkest gloom,
And we, their loyal daughters, raise
Our hearts and lips in words of praise.

With grateful hearts we sing to Thee
Our nation's God—God of the free,
In whom our fathers placed their trust,
As they who knew their cause was just.
So shall the flag they fought to save
Float over ev'ry patriot's grave,
And may our Heavenly Father's hand
Guard and preserve our native land.
Work of the Chapters

(Chapter reports are limited to three hundred words each.)

Pueblo Chapter (Pueblo, Colorado).—The ceremonies attending the unveiling of the granite marker on the old Santa Fé trail on June 14 were impressive. The visitors were welcomed to the hospitality of the city. Later they were taken to the point on the Arkansas River, where the beautiful granite marker was unveiled to the world. Mrs. Freeman C. Rogers made the presentation speech. Mrs. Frank Wheaton, the State Regent, responded for the Chapters of the State. Mrs. M. H. Fitch unveiled the marker and gave an interesting account of early events along the trail. This is but one of the many markers that will point the way along the whole line of march.

Lady Fenwick Chapter (Cheshire, Connecticut).—Was instituted June 10, 1910, with thirty-one charter members, by Mrs. John Laidlaw Buel, State Regent. The Regent is Miss Nettie C. Smith. Mrs. Buel gave a talk on the aims of the Society, and read the national constitution and by-laws, to which all pledged obedience. Miss Smith responded to the name of the Chapter, giving a history of Lady Fenwick, one of the earliest settlers in Saybrook in 1635. The seal used by her husband, on which was thirteen grape vines, was adopted by the colony as the State seal, using, however, only three vines. Announcement was made of two gifts, a gavel made from cypress wood at the Jumel mansion, given by Mrs. William Cummings Story, of New York, and an American flag from Mr. J. P. Beach.

On July 4 exercises in observance of the day were held in the town hall. National airs were sung, the Declaration of Independence read, and an address delivered by Dr. John Focht.

The special work for which the Chapter will largely devote its funds is the publication of matter concerning the early history of Cheshire. Twenty Italian "Guidas" for Italian immigrants have been placed through the efforts of the Chapter among Italians of influence, i.e., clergymen, court interpreters and bankers and more copies sent for.—CORA A. BEADLE, Historian.

Elijah Clarke Chapter (Athens, Georgia).—In bringing the Elijah Clarke Chapter before you, it is not merely to make the brass to sound, or the cymbal to tinkle with the deeds of our brave and worthy ancestry, but it is to tell of what our Chapter (only thirty in number) has done in the past year.

This Chapter, for year ending May, 1910, made from the proceeds of a barbecue, a bazaar, an entertainment, dues, etc., the sum of $565. We gave $55 for a scholarship in our State Normal College, a neat little sum for the Martha Berry Mountain School, prizes for essays on American history in the public school, and other small amounts.

To the above donations I must add that 110 books were given to "The Tallulah Falls Industrial School," to be known as the "Elijah Clarke Library."

We have in the bank a certain amount to which we hope to add generously from time to time, that we may be enabled to procure a perpetual scholarship in our Normal College.

We have an admirable Regent, Mrs. J. Y. Carithers, who is ever on the alert to do something for the benefit of our Chapter. She has given several handsome "National" entertainments. As a social feature these have done much for the pleasure and profit of our Chapter.—ELLEN PEEBLES CRAWFORD, Historian.

Nancy Hart Chapter (Milledgeville, Georgia).—On August 18, the Nancy Hart Chapter took part in an interesting event, that of marking the grave of Major Jacob Gumm, a soldier and officer of the Revolution and the War of 1812. Something over a year ago the Regent of the Chapter made application to the War Department for a stone to mark the grave of this good man and brave soldier.

The stone is of pure white marble, about four feet high, set in a granite base, the latter a gift of the Chapter.
Major Gumm is buried on his old plantation, eight miles from Milledgeville, part of which is still owned by his descendants. The surroundings are picturesque.

The little burial inclosure, surrounded by grand old forest trees, is a lovely and peaceful spot.

The services were opened by Mrs. Scott. Following this, Miss Cora Gumm, a great-granddaughter, gave a sketch of the life and services of her ancestor. President M. M. Parks, of the Georgia Normal and Industrial College, made an interesting and inspiring address on patriotism; Mrs. Walter Charlton, of Savannah, talked to us on the duty of preserving our historic spots and buildings; Mrs. Scott read "Lest We Forget," and the Vice-Regent, Mrs. Cook, closed the services with prayer. There were present ten descendants of Jacob Gumm. The only drawback to the pleasure of the occasion was that, on account of feebleness incidental to his great age, Jacob Gumm, Jr., son of the major, could not be with us.

It is gratifying to the Daughters of the Revolution of the State to see this long-neglected honor at last coming to these brave men who won liberty for their descendants. May the time be not far distant when every grave of a Revolutionary soldier that can be located will be so marked.

The Hannah McIntosh Cady Chapter (Allegan, Michigan) celebrated Chapter Day, our first birthday anniversary, June 14, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Moore, where, upon the lawn, grouped under the folds of our beautiful starry banner, gathered the Daughters to be photographed, Mr. Moore being the central figure, he having presented the Chapter with their colors.

After the reports of the officers and other business was attended to, a delightful programme was enjoyed. An account of the year's work was given and many delightful songs sung by Miss Mignon Sherwood, the granddaughter of the hostess. The Daughters presented Mr. Moore with beautiful roses, it being his eighty-ninth birthday, and in remembrance of his gift to the local chapter the year previous.

The Chapter will soon place in position the Revolutionary markers ordered through the United States Government. They are for a soldier of the Revolution and his son, a soldier of the War of 1812. There will be appropriate ceremonies on the occasion.
—WINONA MOORE SHERWOOD, Regent.

The Bradford Chapter (Canton, Pennsylvania) was officially organized at the home of our Regent October 5, 1909, with twenty-two charter members and one honorary member.

A preliminary meeting had been held the June previous at the summer home of our honorary member, Miss Jeanette Landon, when officers were elected, who had been appointed by our Regent, Mrs. Earnest Newman, at October meeting.

Pretty and substantial year books were prepared by an able committee, emblem and motto adopted. Washington and Lincoln's birthdays were fittingly observed, and on March 10, 1910, under auspices of our Chapter, the centennial of this town as a voting precinct was successfully celebrated in the M. E. Church by addresses, songs and reminiscences from the older residents, with a generous display of flags throughout the town.

At the April meeting the Society enjoyed a talk by Mrs. Emeline Leavitt, a "real granddaughter" of the Revolution, on the early days of Canton. She also displayed many relics of those days. Seven generations of her family, including her Revolutionary ancestor, are buried in the old cemetery here. Sympathy in the form of flowers has been sent to members in whose family death has occurred. We were represented at Nineteenth Continental Congress by our Regent, Secretary and Treasurer. We promoted the idea of a safe and sane Fourth and arranged a picnic for all children between the ages of five and fourteen years; also contributed toward the music and a colonial float for the parade on that day.

We now have forty-one members, with more on the waiting list. An important and instructive feature of the Chapter's literary work has been the historical research of our little county, which has given us an increased interest in it, and the work done by our members cannot help but cause us to feel a sense of perfect satisfaction in making a retrospect of our year's work.

At our June meeting the present incumbents in office were unanimously re-elected and plans made for studying colonial history this year.

A number are subscribers to the American Monthly Magazine, which we consider a great help to our Chapter, a copy of which is placed in our public library. Financially we have done little outside our Chapter, but we must consider the fact that we are, at this date, Pennsylvania's baby Chapter and expect to be able to give a different report next year.—ADDIE WATTS CRAWFORD, Secretary.

Mary Ball Chapter (Tacoma, Washington).—The following abstract of good work well done is made from the report of the historian, Hannah Gay Barrett.

The Chapter identified itself heartily with other Washington Daughters in the exhibit at the Alaska-Yukon Exposition. They contributed $50 and appropriate furnishings for the "Sunshine Cottage" of the Daughters; participated in the many social functions; took part in the unveiling of the heroic statue of Washington on the Exposition grounds, and did well their part wherever duty called.

Besides the contribution to the Daughters' cottage, they gave $50 for the bust of Washington to be placed in Memorial Continental Hall; contributed goodly garments to needy children; gave $2 a month to the "Travelers' Aid Society," which cared for the immediate necessities of 11,881 women and children.

The study of the year has been devoted to Revolutionary and Colonial days. Thus has been rekindled a deep appreciation of the sterling qualities of our forebears and a more enduring sense of obligation for the priceless boon of a free country bequeathed to us by their courage, their patriotism and their heroic sacrifices.

Open meetings have been held—an annual picnic; a happy Christmas festival; a social meeting at the Union Club, at which Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, of blessed memory, spoke on "Child Labor"; several readings and delightful music.

The Chapter sent a delegation twenty-seven strong to the State meeting at Olympia.

The Regent, Mrs. McCoughtry, assisted by the other officers, has ably directed the affairs of the Chapter. The meetings have been pervaded by a sweet spirit of unanimity and fraternity.

COMMITTEE ON PATRIOTIC EDUCATION,
CONN. D. A. R.

The Patriotic Education Committee of the Connecticut Daughters of the American Revolution have entered upon a new line of work and are enthusiastic over the result.

When the committee was first appointed five years ago, they were impressed with the lack of literature about the United States in simple form, which the immigrant could understand. All social workers felt the need of a guide book for this country, which should be to the ignorant immigrant what a Baedeker is to the traveling American. The Connecticut Daughters were fortunate in finding an ally in Mr. John Foster Carr—already well known as a writer upon immigration, who consented to write such a book in Italian. The Connecticut Daughters of the American Revolution assumed the financial responsibility and the book was published in June of this year. The need of it has already been proved.

It is an attractive little book of eighty-five pages, illustrated with pictures of the President, of George Washington, and of classes of instruction in our schools of carpentry, domestic science, swimming, night schools, lectures, etc., to illustrate the educational advantages of the country. It has tables of weights and measures, money orders, advice as to how to travel and where the large Italian colonies are in the country; also translations of simple law and how to become an American citizen.

The little book has attracted a great deal of attention and has already been reviewed by twenty-nine Italian papers, all of whom speak with appreciation of the interest and friendliness which prompted the Connecticut Daughters to enter upon this work. The book is reviewed on another page.

Our own papers have devoted time and space to comment favorably upon the book and have highly complimented Mr. Carr upon his successful treatment of the subject. The Survey says of it: "From the opening sentence, that 'the United States has always been the land of the immigrants,' our country, discovered by an Italian and named for another, is pictured as the land of opportunity. Certainly no Italian of to-day who carries himself according to the advice contained in this 'Guida' will be an unwelcome addition to our population."

ANSWERS.

1621. (2) BROWN—PARK.—Mrs. G. M. Brumbaugh, Secretary of the Magazine Committee, 905 Massachusetts Ave., Washington, D. C., sends answers to the three following queries.

In the Brown Gen., published by Cyrus Brown, Westerly, R. I. (price $5), p. 16, Gershom, b. Aug. 29, 1729, probably at Stonington, Conn., is mentioned as one of the sons of Humphrey and Tabitha (Holdredge) Brown. Humphrey was the son of Thomas, Jr., the son of Thomas, the son of Nicholas, the son of Edward. Possibly the compiler of the Genealogy might be able to give some information in regard to Eunice Park.

1640. (2) RAYMOND MACDONALD—WATSON—POLK—BROWN.—The History of the Brown Family of Conn., referred to above, price $5, obtained from Cyrus Brown of Westerly, R. I., has also the genealogy of many Watsons and Raymond.

1654. MAIN (MAVNE).—A new Genealogy of the Main and Babcock Families has just been compiled by Cyrus H. Brown, Westerly, R. I. (price $5). Mrs. Natalie R. Fernald, 217 W. Utica St., Buffalo, N. Y., gives this additional information in regard to Palmer Shermans, one b. 1737, son of Wm. and Abigail, and one who was in Montgomery Co., N. Y., in 1790. Information is desired of these latter Palmer Shermans.

1709. (2) WARE—COWELL.—According to the Ware Genealogy, Hezekiah Ware was a Revolutionary soldier. He was b. Nov. 27, 1740, and d. June 19, 1779. He m. Molly Hall, May 10, 1764, with d. Dec. 9, 1809, aged 70 yrs. Page 96 of the Genealogy says that he was a lieut. in 1777, and on service in R. I. in 1778; on p. 561, Vol. 16 of Mass. Archives, nearly the entire page is taken up with the account of his services, beginning as 2d lieut. of a company of Minute Men in 1775. As there was only the one Hezekiah Ware in Wrentham at that time of a suitable age to have served (his son Hezekiah being a boy of only eight years), there is no question that there are no Hezekiah Wears to be claimed by descendants of Jason Ware and Jerusha Dyer. His children were Jason, b. Sept. 19, 1765; Hezekiah, 1767; Eunice, 1769; Rhoda, 1771; Harmon, 1773; Preston, 1777; Susan, 1779. Mrs. George A. Wallace.

1723. LEAVERTON—BUNTON.—Noah Leaverton, who m. (1) Nancy Bunton, lived near Leesburg, Highland Co., Ohio, in what was called the Fall Creek neighborhood, and had the following ch.: John, Wilson, Nancy (m. Files), Hannah (m. Miles), Sarah (m. Kimbrough), and possibly others. He m. (2) and d. in Bond Co., Ill. He was the son of Foster Leaverton, who had sixteen children, part of whom were: Solomon (m. Lettuce Thompson), John, Noah, George, Elizabeth (m. Moses Bunton), Hannah (m. David Bunton, cousin of Moses), Rachel (m. Joe Skenes), Nancy (m. Charles Stafford), and Thomas, the youngest son. Miss Lavina Leaverton, a descendant of Solomon Leaverton, is still living, and recently celebrated her hundredth birthday near Leesburg, Ohio. Mrs. Stella Slaughter, Colorado Springs, Colo.
1724. STOCKTON.—In the answers of the July number I quoted from a printed pamphlet that had been sent me, stating that a book called "The Stockton Family," by J. W. Stockton, was for sale for $1, by Gustave Anjou, New York City. A letter received to-day states this is an error. He has no such book for sale at that price. Gen. Ed.

1724. STOCKTON.—The pamphlet by J. W. Stockton, to which I referred in the July number (quoting from a printed circular sent to me) is out of print, I am informed; but Plate I of the Stockton Genealogy, compiled by the Rev. Elias Boudinot Stockton, is ready for distribution, and can be obtained of the Genealogical Compiling and Publishing Co., Room 31, 114 East 23d St., New York City, for two dollars ($2), post paid. This comprises the first four generations (male and female) complete from the American progenitor, and includes the Tory Loyalist lines, according to information sent me by the compiler himself. So there can be no mistake this time. Gen. Ed.

1741. (2) KERN.—Jacob Kern, b. New York State 1788; d. Oct. 22, 1818, Lebanon, Dodge Co., Wis., enlisted in Capt. Sylvester Beecher's Co., N. Y. militia, Sept. 12, 1814, and served as a private until Nov. 3, 1814. He was the son of Michael and (house) Kern. Michael was b. Dec. 4, 1757, in N. Y., and died March 1834, in Madison Co., N. Y. Elmore's Regt., Conn. militia, as private, and one year as private in Capt. Allen's Co., Col. Elmore's Regt., Conn. militia. In New York, in the Rev., his name is given as Michael Carn. Proof of service and other particulars can be obtained from the sender of this answer, J. H. Pickett, Council Bluffs, Ia.

Samuel George; Mary, who m. John Hoyt; John, who m. Martha Fitts; Samuel, d.y.; Roger, who m. Jerusha Fitts (and whose dau. Abigail was Daniel Webster); but nothing more to identity them, or to show relationship with each other or anyone else. Gen. Ed.

1837. WIGHTMAN—PENDLETON.—I s r a e l Wightman, b. at Norwich, Conn., m. Damaris (dau. of Jos.) Pendleton, of Stonington, Conn. Wanted, names of parents, with all genealogical data desired. Men in the Revolution gives the names of men found on a pay-roll of Capt. Nehe-miah Waterman's Company, "On a Tour of Duty to New London, Conn., July 9, 1779." Among them are Abraham Wightman, Jr., John, James and Daniel wightman; but nothing more to identity them, or to show relationship with each other or anyone else. Gen. Ed.

The information sent out during the year relating to the important work of Conservation has been of great value to all Daughters who desire knowledge on that subject. The Chairman of the Committee, Mrs. Amos G. Draper, has been untiring in advancing the work along broad and comprehensive lines.

The Molly Reid Chapter, Derry, New Hampshire, Miss Sarah Prince Webster, Regent, has sent out an attractive year book, embellished with the picture of their memorial tablet to Matthew Thornton, signer of the Declaration of Independence. In their topic for study we note the practical question, "To which college would I send my daughter?"

THE JOHN MARSHALL CLUB,
NASHVILLE, TENN.

The John Marshall Club Children of the Republic, U. S. A., of Nashville, Tenn., was organized in 1906. The meetings are held in a city settlement home every Saturday afternoon during the scholastic months, September to June. We have the advantage of a large hall, a piano, blackboard, electric lights and song books.

During the first two years the boys were older than the boys of this year and different mode of instruction was used—namely, the manager prepared a paper from a chapter in United States history, beginning at the first—this was given to the boys in very simple language; they were questioned on the paper, maps were used, pictures and names of Colonial ships drawn. These boys were from twelve to eighteen.

The club spirit prevailed. Love of country and civic righteousness were leading features.

For the year 1910 the boys have been from nine to fourteen. The President is an older boy and is a charter member of the first year.

Order of meeting:
Prayer, standing.
Song, "My Country," standing.
Song, "God of Our Fathers," processional with flag.
Song, "Temperance," to Scotch National air, standing.
Questions on our Country, State, County, City.
Passing events gathered from newspapers.
Flag drill, salute, its history, etc.
Story from United States history. Questions on story of the previous meeting.
Light refreshments, cake or candy.
Two entertainments are given during the year, one Christmas and the other at close of term, June. This club was organized by Campbell Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. A certain amount of money is contributed by the Chapter monthly for its support. The manager is a member of the Chapter.

Yours for patriotic work,

THE CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS CLUB,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

As directress of the Christopher Columbus Club I feel greatly encouraged because of the growing interest shown by the boys. The membership is made up of Italians with little or no home training.

Our main trouble at first was in keeping discipline. We found that to do this we had to get the boys interested. The regular business of the Club is not enough to hold their attention, so we are constantly planning different forms of amusement.

The Club meets every Saturday morning at 10.30. After the regular business we have what we term "the recreation hour.

We gained the assistance of a high school cadet, who has formed the boys into a company and drills them after the recreation hour. Frequently we take the boys to some place of interest—through the Capitol, the Congressional Library, the Corcoran Art Gallery, etc.

When the baseball season arrived we had that enemy to our attendance to fight, but we overcame it by forming a team of our own, with the high school cadet as captain.

We experienced trouble at the beginning of this year in getting the Club started, owing to the fact that we had lost track of the boys during vacation. We are now arranging to co-operate with the "Playground Association" of the District, and by holding our meetings out of doors on the playgrounds keep our Club together during vacation and be able to start with a good membership next winter.

EDNA GASCH, Directress.

The Constitution Chapter, Washington, D. C., Mrs. Morgan D. Lewis, Regent, has for their motto "To give and take inspirations." Their program proves that they live up to this. We notice that one topic of study is "The Difference Between Rebellion and Revolution."
In Memoriam

Mrs. Anne E. Evans, a valued member of Piankeshaw Chapter, New Albany, Ind., died March 1, 1910. Mrs. Evans early became a member of the National Society. She was a descendant of Col. Henry Heath of Virginia, and was the fortunate possessor of her ancestor's commission, signed by Washington.

The Chapter passed resolutions expressing sorrow for its loss and sympathy for the husband and friends bereaved.

Mrs. Ida Steele Baker, Regent of the Anna Warner Bailey Chapter, died July 17, 1910. She was the personal friend of every member of the Chapter, and her loss will be deeply felt. The Chapter held memorial services at the Monument House, Groton, in loving memory of one whose deeds live forever in their hearts.

Mrs. Leila MacRae Thomas, youngest child of Jackson P. and Nancy S. MacRae, ended her earthly life August 29, 1910, at Statesville, N. C. She was the founder of the Fort Dobbs Chapter, and served as its Regent until her death. In resolutions of sympathy and regret the Chapter paid loving tribute to her memory.

Mrs. Mary Colby Norton, charter member Col. George Croghan Chapter, a faithful and efficient registrar of the Chapter, died August 6, 1910. "Her earnest life, her cheerful, willing service, ever testified to her devotion and consecration to the work of the Master."

Mrs. Caroline Franklin Osborn Warren, founder and former Regent of Martha's Vineyard Chapter, Edgartown, Mass., died July 13, 1910, in Boston. She was descended from John Howland and John Tilley, of the Mayflower, from Governor Thomas Mayhew, of Martha's Vineyard, a charter member of the Society of Daughters of Patriots and Founders, and the president for several years. The Chapter held memorial services in the Warren historical room, her gift to the public library. She had given unsparingly of her means to advance the interests of the Chapter. While they mourn her loss, the cherished memory of her devotion and her influence will remain, and be an inspiration and an incentive.

The Lake Dunmore Chapter, Brandon, Vt., mourn the loss of Mrs. Dora May Bissell Foster. She was a descendant of Abda De Wolf. She left one daughter, Wilma, who will in time take her mother's place in patriotic work.

Mrs. Emily A. Ingerson, Rebecca Dewey Chapter, Three Oaks, Mich., died January 18, 1910. She was the daughter of James and Charlotte (Tappan) Paddock and the widow of Edson G. Ingerson. Her great-grandfather was a soldier in the Revolution; her grandfather served in the War of 1812; four of her brothers were in the Civil War.

The Quaker City Chapter of Philadelphia have lost a valued member in Miss Eda May Pierce, whose lamented death at Au Sable Chasm on August 5 called forth expressions of sorrow and sympathy from the entire community. Miss Pierce was a consistent Christian, a dutiful daughter, a devoted sister and a faithful friend. In her chosen profession of instructor she was eminent for her constant disinterested efforts for the welfare of her pupils, by all of whom she is held in affectionate remembrance.

Mrs. C. F. Cook, Mary Ball Chapter, Tacoma, Wash., died January 24, 1910.

Mrs. Ellen Dalton Foster, also of Mary Ball Chapter, died May 6, 1910.

Book Notes

Guida degli Stati Uniti per l'Immigrante Italiano. Prepared by John Foster Carr for the Committee on Patriotic Education of the Connecticut Daughters of the American Revolution.

This little book shows another departure in patriotic work. The Connecticut Daughters have ever been ready to grasp every opportunity for advancing the cause of patriotic education. They have given liberally to the schools for the mountaineers of the South, and for their own Sheffield school. They have opened reading rooms for the foreigners and arranged traveling libraries for their benefit. Now they have caused to be prepared a book of instructions to the Italian who seeks a better home on our shores. It is a book for good citizenship. A full account will be found on another page. The Connecticut Daughters ask for the co-operation of the National Society in bringing this book to the attention of Italians, for whom it is designed, and they hope that every chapter in the land will make an effort to put this little book on sale. The book retails for 15 cents in paper, and 25 cents in cloth. Three months' credit will be given chapters. Wholesale prices and supplies can be obtained of the chairman, Miss Clara Lee Bowman, 60 East Street, Bristol, Conn.

The list of the signers of the "Mayflower Compact" contains the names of Edward and Samuel Fuller, sons of Robert Fuller of Norfolk County, England. The record of the descendants of Edward Fuller was published in 1908, and now, by the same author, is given the genealogy of the descendants of his brother Samuel, the two constituting the record of "the Mayflower Fullers." Of the children of Samuel Fuller, but two, a son and daughter, survived him. It is the descendants of the son, Samuel, whose records are given in this volume, together with a supplement containing additional information and correction of errors to the Edward Fuller Genealogy. The book is handsomely bound in cloth, well indexed, contains a number of illustrations, chiefly portraits, follows the same plan of arrangement as that adopted in the Edward Fuller book and shows the same careful work that characterized the former volume. The work promises to be as useful to the genealogist as it is interesting to the family. The book should be in every library.

Thanksgiving Hymn

By Maud Dudley Shackelford

Great Land, whose shores defy the flood,
Whose soil is steeped in heroes' blood,
Triumphant shines thy name.
What tongue or pen can full portray
The undimmed splendor of thy way,
Unto the heights of fame.
All the descendants of the free
Unite in giving thanks to thee.

Yet while we stand in noontide's glow,
Blessed with the bounty victors know,
Still let an echo stray.
Dear Country, from thy misty dawn
Of voices raised within the morn
Of that long vanished day.
First offering thanks to Him whose care
Preserved them more to do and dare.

Those souls who braved thy hostile ground,
Thy unknown wilds, filled with the sound
Of wind-swept oceans' chant,
Who knew no fear, while they might keep
Amid thy primal forest deep,
Their sacred covenant.
Strong to endure, should danger rise
In freedom's new-found Paradise.

Thus may we read their stormy tale,
Though traced through ages soft'ning veil
On Time's immortal page.
Ere turning to thy future view,
Outspread with promise, to renew
Thanks for our priceless heritage.
With this our prayer, beloved land,
That faith for aye thy bulwark stand.

The Pee Dee Chapter, Bennettsville, S. C., Mrs. A. G. Sinclair, Regent, was organized in 1907. They are devoting themselves in rescuing from oblivion the history of the Palmetto State. The year book shows a varied program arranged for that purpose.

Ursula Wolcott Chapter, Toledo, Ohio, Mrs. Edgar Romeyn Kellogg, Regent, has presented an attractive program. One subject for a paper is "A Problem Our Ancestors Did Not Have to Solve." We wonder what it is.

Moline Chapter, Moline, Ill., Mrs. William Butterworth, Regent, is studying the history of the Middle West. The following are interesting topics: "Indian Thoroughfares," "Portage Paths," "Boone's Road."

Black Hawk Chapter, Cedar Falls, Iowa, Mrs. Kate Sawyer Miller, Regent, presents a varied program, ending with "The Surrender of Cornwallis."

Ann Crooker St. Clair Chapter, Effingham, Ill., Mrs. Bessie Harrison Kagay, Regent, has a varied and interesting program. With their list of members are given the names of the Revolutionary ancestors, thus making it a book of reference of benefit to other Daughters.

Agnes Woodson Chapter, Belton, Texas, Miss Anabel Burford, Regent, in addition to an interesting program, has given the names of the Revolutionary ancestors, thus adding much to its historical value.

MEMORIAL CONTINENTAL HALL,
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1910.

The first regular meeting of the National Board of Management since the close of Congress was called to order by the President General at 10:30 A.M., Wednesday, June 1, 1910.

After prayer by the Chaplain General, in the absence of the Recording Secretary General, on motion of the State Regent of New York, seconded, the regular order of business was suspended.

The State Regent of New York asked permission of the Board that she might have the Lineage Books, as far as they can be gotten together, for the Public Library in Mount Vernon; that as Regent of her Chapter she had received a few of them, would now like to make out the complete list, and moved that these books be given for the purpose stated.

The Vice-President General from Illinois offered a substitute motion, that a copy of these Lineage Books be given to each State Regent from now on.

The State Regent of New York withdrew her motion.

The President General suggested we recur to this subject when we have a little larger representation.

The Recording Secretary General having entered, called the roll, the following members answering to their names: The President General, Mrs. Matthew T. Scott; Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters, Mrs. Tulloch. Vice-Presidents General: Mrs. Sternberg, District of Columbia; Mrs. Brayton, Michigan; Mrs. Wood, New York; Mrs. Shackelford, Virginia; Mrs. Moor, Vermont; Chaplain General, Mrs. Noble; Registrar General, Miss Pierce; Historian General, Mrs. Darwin; Corresponding Secretary General, Mrs. Swormstedt; Treasurer General, Mrs. Hoover; Librarian General, Mrs. Willis; Recording Secretary General, Miss Wilcox. State Regents: Mrs. Stilson, California; Mrs. Buel, Connecticut; Mrs. Smallwood, District of Columbia; Mrs. Dunning, Massachusetts; Mrs. Brayton, Michigan; Mrs. Wood, New York; Mrs. Day, Tennessee. State Vice-Regent, Mrs. Barnes, Arizona. Twenty-two members answered—a quorum present.

The President General read the following telegram from Mrs. Estey, State Vice-Regent, Vermont: “My beloved sister, Mrs. Cobb, passed away this afternoon.”

The Board arose in token of sympathy, and on motion it was directed that a letter of sympathy be written to Mrs. Estey.

The Recording Secretary General read the minutes of the Board meeting of April 16, followed by those of April 25, and after corrections were made, same were accepted on motion of the State Regent of Massachusetts, seconded.

The President General addressed the Board as follows:

Ladies of the National Board of Management:

Temporarily we have arrived at the parting of the ways. The coming sixteen weeks will find us scattered to the four corners of the earth—to mountain or lake, to wilderness or seashore, to lands beyond the sea—perhaps the home of the Midnight Sun—perhaps the green fields and beautiful waters of otherclimes.

May we carry with us, each one, the consciousness of the dignity, the influence and the power of the great organization we represent. And when we again gather for consultation and exchange of views in this noble room, may it be an unbroken circle—with hearts more closely than ever welded together in our common purpose of loyalty to our great Society and the grand ideals it stands for.

Probably no more splendid or pathetic celebrations have recently thrilled Washington than those which on Wednesday, May 11—the hundred and thirtieth anniversary of the death of the Polish hero, Count Casimir Pulaski—witnessed the dedication of two magnificent monuments, erected in memory of the two Polish heroes Count Casimir Pulaski and Gen. Thaddeus Kosciusko, warriors who gave their swords and their lives to the army of Washington during our Revolutionary War for Independence. The President, the Secretary of War Mr. Dickinson and distinguished Poles were the orators of the occasion.

It is said that four thousand Poles representing the three and a half millions of their countrymen, who have found an asylum and political freedom in our borders, came to our Capital City to participate in these majestic ceremonies. It was a splendid pageant—great masses of United States troops, with their glittering uniforms and trappings—the blended strains of Polish and American National anthems borne upon the air—young Polish maidens—some of them brought from over the seas for the occasion—passed in stately procession around the statues, bearing between them immense wreaths and floral emblems that massed in great heaps around the base of the monument. Company after company of Polish societies in the regalia of their orders encircled the monuments, and in a sort of ceremonial rhythm waved splendid pennants of Polish provinces, as the folds of our own Starry Banner were drawn, exposing the noble figures and pose of these immortal heroes.

The President, rising to his feet and lifting his hat, led that vast concourse in a moment of silent homage to the memory of the men, who, fleeing from despotism at home, laid down their lives on the altar of American Independence.

It was an object lesson in patriotism well worthy the presence of Daughters of the American Revolution, who—with your President General—attended these ceremonies in response to a most courteous official invitation. Another event was the antipodes of the splendid pageants which marked the Polish celebrations, when representatives from every State in the Union, and from fifty-two foreign nations gathered in Washington, to emphasize and strengthen the spiritual leadership and the spiritual forces which marked for the regeneration and uplift of mankind.

The Rev. Dr. Meyer, of England, struck the keynote of the world's Sunday School Convention when he admonished that vast crowd, of obligatory duty: "To the fresh young generations as they pour forth, to play their part for a brief time in the world."

Mr. Tamura, a distinguished Japanese, reiterated in terse phrase sentiments which President Taft and the great Englishman had previously practically voiced, when he said: "I see you spending hundreds of dollars on a grown-up, crooked, old tree, when all around you, are letting young trees grow up crooked, without any attempt to set them straight. Don't spend so much time on the gnarled, knotted, grizzly old trees, and train the young ones straight and strong."

I could not but feel—aroused by those stirring words and those stirring scenes—that in educating the youth of the land in the principles that emanate from our Divine Leader, we can trust to our own and succeeding generations the solution of new and ever recurring problems that face, and will continue to face, the ages.

My reluctant stay in Washington during the last month—detained here by far different considerations—interests of the Daughters of the American Revolution—gathering up the odds and ends of the year's work and planning for the next—has been more than compensated for in the emphasized realization of my study of the great mass of the two great celebrations—of the forces that constitute our nation's glory. It was with a sense of gratification and pride I realized that here at the center of our American official life, our Continental Congress, in April had unconsciously led the way, and marked out the path for the demonstration of the greatest forces—patriotism and education—that have come, or can come, to the rescue of the land, the rescue of this generation from the false materialism that is sapping the very foundations of American life. That we had already first, in these early and beautiful summer days, placed upon record the stamp and seal of our devotion to the higher interests, the loftier purpose that is never so heavy that it cannot hear, we pray for your Majesty, to the sorrow that has come to your Majesty, to the tenderest sympathy with your Majesty in this hour of desolation.

I know I am departing somewhat from the beaten track, and perhaps owe an apology for speaking of these great assemblages at a Board meeting; but it seems to me well to communicate, if possible, a spark from the fires that burn pure and bright upon the same shrines of patriotism and education at which we also are worshippers.

And one word more, ladies, I have a very great desire that every member present at every Board meeting shall carry with her, almost as distinctly as if on a photographic plate, a clear recollection of the mere minutes, of the discussion so much, of the absolute motions adopted. And, therefore, I make this emphatic request, that the Recording Secretary General or the official stenographer shall number and read each motion as it is handed her, written with the name of each lady who makes the motion and the second or seconds, if there are more than one; that at the close of each Board meeting during the coming year the Recording Secretary General or the official stenographer shall read aloud all the motions made and carried.

This, ladies, will make me feel that you are absolute participants with your Chairman in all the Board’s actions.

I am not asking you to approve the minutes or to pass upon them; that will be done at the next meeting of the Board; but only to carry them away and fix them clearly in your mind as well as my own.

Now this, ladies, I want you to consider as a recommendation, and I hope at the proper time you will indorse it. We had something of that sort at the beginning of the year, but it has not been adhered to.

The Recording Secretary General stated it is very difficult for each one here at the Board meeting, as she makes a motion, to write it down immediately, and it may not be done. It is very difficult to do it promptly and correctly; she will do her best, but that the responsibility is not entirely upon her shoulders—that it is on each one here to write out the motion and hand it in.

The President General stated further: Now I have two more matters to present to you. I called a meeting of the Executive Committee to formulate a letter of sympathy to Queen Alexandra in her bereavement. However, I met by myself, the other members not appearing, and I took the liberty to send the letter, and now ask the indorsement of the Board of my letter of sympathy, which is as follows (reading):

"MEMORIAL CONTINENTAL HALL,

"May 6th, 1910.

"To HER MAJESTY ALEXANDRA, QUEEN MOTHER, LONDON:

"In behalf of eighty thousand American women, Daughters of the American Revolution—whose hearts have been touched by the sorrow that has come to your Majesty, to the Royal Family of England and to the English nation—I beg, as the representative of this American organization, to tender our united and tenderest sympathy in this hour of desolation.

"We know too well how helpless are words in such an hour to express the deep feeling we fain would convey, but into that ear that is never so heavy that it cannot hear, we pray our heartiest sympathy to you and to your children and to the memory of your husband."

"Yours, etc.,"

("signature")

"OFFICIAL"

our earnest prayer that the Great Comforter may abide with your stricken Majesty, giving that peace, courage and strength which the world cannot give and cannot take away.

\textbf{President General, N. S. D. A. R.}

The State Regent of Tennessee moved that the Board indorse this letter.

The President General: I have another matter. During the Congress a letter came addressed to Continental Memorial Hall, Daughters of the American Revolution. I do not know how many hands that letter passed through. I was at the Congress; I did not want to be disturbed by any letters that might come, consequently they did not give me any letters; so probably that was the reason this was not handed to me. But after Congress it came to me; I read it, and I am very sorry I did not get it before. This is a statement; I want to know if this must be sent to the Magazine for publication (reading).

It is a matter of regret that a very interesting letter which arrived in Washington during the sessions of the last Continental Congress and which was addressed simply to the "Daughters of the American Revolution, Memorial Continental Hall, Washington," containing greetings from fifty-six Daughters of the American Revolution who were cruising in the Orient, was not brought to the attention of the President General in time for her to present those greetings to the Nineteenth Continental Congress, as well as to communicate to the Congress the statement made in this letter and signed by Mrs. Frances Turrell, Regent Orange Mountain Chapter, West Orange, N. J., regarding the atrocious attack made on some American women of this party by a Mohammedan fanatic who, in his fury at the presence of Christian and, therefore, unholy women at the entrance of the most sacred mosque of Omar, where he was at prayer, fired upon the party and injured two of these women.

The letter states that a report widely circulated at the time, to the effect that these Christian women were trying to photograph a Mohammedan at prayer and otherwise insult him, was absolutely false and groundless; that all mosques are open to the public, the privilege of visiting this mosque costing about two dollars a head; and the letter further states that the Cavas or attendant of the United States Consul had just escorted a party out of this mosque and afterwards assisted in arresting this man.

The members of the Daughters of the American Revolution who were in the mosque at the time of the attack were:

- Mrs. Henry Martyn Shepherd, Mrs. Frances Sedgwick Smith and Mrs. Dwight Webster Graves, of Chicago, and Mrs. Herbert Turrell, of West Orange, N. J.

The two American women injured were

- Miss Annie Nathalie Maurice, Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Miss Parker Moore, of Terre Haute, Ind. The injuries of the former were fortunately not serious, and after a week in the hospital at Jerusalem she was able to continue with the cruise. The injuries of Miss Moore were, however, so grave—she having lost one eye and her face being otherwise most sadly disfigured—that she was obliged to remain for an indefinite period at the hospital. But the fortitude and the forgiving Christian spirit manifested by this unselfish woman have been an inspiration to all who have come in contact with her.

Resolutions adopted by members of the cruise were sent to Mr. Oscar Straus, United States Minister to Turkey, and a copy was forwarded to the Secretary of State at Washington, requesting that the proper authorities do all in their power to make some adequate amends to this noble woman for all she has innocently suffered, so that as a result of her tragic experience increased precautions may be taken to insuring the safety of American women (for the protection of American women traveling in Mohammedan countries). Expressions of sympathy were also sent to the two injured women in the name of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The sum of twenty-five dollars for Memorial Continental Hall was forwarded to Washington as the contribution of these Daughters and as tangible proof that while traveling in far-away lands they had not forgotten the interests of our Beloved Society at home.

The following list of the Daughters on this cruise represents members from every section of our country, and gives one an idea of how far-reaching and widespread may be the influence for good of our great organization when the principles for which it stands are embodied in the lives of its members at home and abroad.

(\textit{Signed}) \textbf{MRS. MATTHEW T. SCOTT,}
\textbf{President General, N. S. D. A. R.}

The President General: That communication I referred to the State Department. They say this man was a fanatic; that the Turkish Government is paying the expense of these ladies in the hospital and our Government has demanded indemnity. If you think it wise I suggest putting this in the magazine.

After discussion and on motion of the Vice-President General from the District, seconded by the Chaplain General and the Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters, the following resolution was carried:

"That the communication from the Daughters of the American Revolution traveling in Europe, communicating to us the unfortunate tragedy in Jerusalem, be published in the \textit{American Monthly Magazine}, and that a communication commending the prompt action of the State Department, and making clear our protest in the magazine, be given to the Associated Press."

The President General requested the Corresponding Secretary General to make the statement in the newspapers.

On motion of the State Regent of the District, seconded by the State Regents of New York and Tennessee, the following was agreed to:

"That our President General write, in the name of 80,000 Daughters of the American Revolution, to the American Consul at Jerusalem, protesting against the outrage to fifty-six members of their organization, and expressing their appreciation of the prompt action of the State Department, \textit{U. S. A.}" list of names of members of the party traveling in Jerusalem, referred to, saying: "I wanted the ladies to see the names; they signed with their own hand writing; I have the originals."

Reference being made to the lack of proper arrangements for the seating of the Daughters of the American Revolution invited to the recent unveiling of the statues to Count Pilsaki and General Kosciuszko, the following motion offered by the Vice-President General from the District, seconded by the Chaplain General, the State Regent of Tennessee, the Historian General and the Vice-President General from New Jersey, prevailed:

"That the President General appoint a committee to look after the seating of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, at all future patriotic celebrations."

The State Regent of New York moved to accept the recommendation of the President General, as expressed in her address, with regard to having motions numbered and read, etc.; seconded by the State Regents of Connecticut and California, and carried, as follows:

"That the recommendation offered by the President General be adopted, to the effect that more careful attention be given to motions offered and that these motions made at each Board meeting be read before adjournment with name of maker and second or seconds."

The report of the Corresponding Secretary General being called, was presented, as follows:

In compliance with an order of the Board, April 16, the address of the President General was mailed to State and Chapter Regents, May 4. Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) MABEL G. SWORMSTEDT,

Corresponding Secretary General, N.S.D.A.R.

June 1, 1910.

The Corresponding Secretary General appended certain recommendations to her report, the first being that letters of thanks for their free services during the Congress be sent to the American Ice Company for over five dollars' worth of ice, to the Altamont Spring Water Company for thirty gallons of Altamont water, both furnished free during Congress.

The Corresponding Secretary General presented herewith applications for pension for the two following "Real Daughters," which she recommended as part of her report:

EMMALINE EDMONDS WALTON,

Emily Virginia Mason Chapter, Hastings, Mich.

RUBY SHORT,

Old Newbury Chapter, Newburyport, Mass., and read the following letter from Mrs. Eleanor S. Washington Howard on behalf of the National Mary Washington Memorial Association, requesting to have the use of the Board room at Memorial Continental Hall (reading):

"WASHINGTON, D. C., May 21, 1910.

"My Dear Madam President General, and Members of the National Board of Management:

"On behalf of the National Mary Washington Memorial Association I respectfully request permission of the Board of Management to have the use of the Board Room at Memorial Continental Hall for the annual meeting of the Association.

"This meeting is held during the week of the Continental Congress, because fully two-thirds of its members are Daughters of the American Revolution.

"As this Association is the Guard of Honor, to protect and care for the grave of Mary, the Mother of Washington, and as the President of the United States is ex-officio the President of the Association, we feel that the dignity of the room would not be infringed on by using it for this purpose.

"The reason for making the request at this time is that we are preparing a plate for future notices.

"Hoping that this will meet with the approval of the Board, I am

"Respectfully yours,

"(Signed) ELEANOR S. WASHINGTON HOWARD,

"President Board of Lady Managers,

"National Mary Washington "Memorial Association."

The Corresponding Secretary General said she made no recommendation concerning this, inasmuch as the meeting is during the week of Congress, when the Board Room is in almost constant use for committee meetings and State meetings of various kinds.

The Recording Secretary General moved:

"That the request of the Mary Washington Memorial Association be granted, provided it does not conflict with any State or committee meeting, in which case some suitable room in Continental Hall will be given them."

Seconded by the Librarian General and the State Regent of Massachusetts, and carried.

The Corresponding Secretary General asked for action on the recommendations in her report.

On motion of the Chaplain General, seconded by the State Regent of Michigan, the recommendations in the report of the Corresponding Secretary General were approved, and report accepted.

The Registrar General presented her report as follows:

The State Regent of New York moved that the Recording Secretary General cast the ballot for these new members and that the report be accepted.

Motion seconded by the State Regent of Connecticut, and carried.

Whereupon the Recording Secretary General deposited the ballot for the 701 names read (a supplementary list being presented and acted upon later), and the President General declared them duly elected members of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

The Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters presented her report; the State Regent of Massachusetts asked for the reappointment of Miss Gertrude Hudson, of Winthrop, Mass., and the State Regent of Michigan moved that the Allegan Chapter, Michigan, be granted the privilege asked for—to name their Chapter for the lady 102 years old, who died in April—both of which requests the Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters incorporated in her report, which is as follows:

Madam President General and Members of the National Board of Management: The “Spirit of Liberty” Chapter of Utah requests the Board to confirm as State Regent the present incumbent, Mrs. Mary Ferry Allen, of Park City.

Through their respective State Regents, the following Chapter Regents are presented for confirmation:

Mrs. Mabel Woodward Jones, of Wollaston, Mass.

Mrs. Grace Alexander Johnston, of Gastonia, N. C.
Mrs. Lillian Martin Sherrill, of Oberlin, Ohio.
Mrs. Kathryn Stark Brodhead, of Port Clinton, Ohio.
Miss Corinne A. Metz, of Van Wert, Ohio.
And the reappointment of Mrs. Mary E. Janette, of Lexington, Mich., and Miss Gertrude Hudson, of Winthrop, Mass.

The Board is also requested to authorize the formation of Chapters in Millsville, Md.; Afton, N. Y.; Jordansville, N. Y.; South Dansville, N. Y.

Mrs. Inez G. Howard, appointed Regent at Tulsa, Okla., tenders her resignation on account of ill health.

And the following Regencies have expired by time-limitation: Mrs. Ida E. Matthews, of Tipton, Ind., and Mrs. Kate E. Tharp, of Clarinda, Iowa.

The Chapter at Allegan, Mich., again appeals to the Board to grant them the privilege of taking the name of the Old Lady, who has been the beloved "Grandmother" of their town.

Her recent death removes the bar which existed to naming their Chapter for a living person, and they petition to be known as the "Hannah McIntosh Cady." Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) MIRANDA B. TULLOCH,
Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters, N. S., D. A. R.

At the request of the State Regent of New York, a recommendation for the formation of a Chapter at South Dansville, N. Y., was included with report as given above.

On motion of the Chaplain General, seconded by the State Regents of New York and Connecticut, the report was accepted with the above recommendations.

The Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters: Referring to previous reports of Card Catalogue figures I would like to explain that through some error 63,000 was made 65,000; it should have been 63,230.

The Vice-President General from the District asked what period of the Card Catalogue that covers, and was told, up to April 16, 1910.
The Chaplain General read the following communication from the Chairman of the National Committee on Patriotic Education:

"Madam President General and Members of the Board of Management of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution:

"Mesdames: For several years contributions have been sent from many Chapters of this Society, and by individuals through Chapters, to the schools for poor white children in the mountains of the Southern States—notably Georgia, Kentucky and Tennessee—making a large sum total as can be seen by examining the reports presented by the Committee on Patriotic Education.

"But as these contributions are sent directly to the schools or through the Southern Industrial Educational Association, the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, has no accurate or official record of the several amounts sent by Chapters or of the total sum given in its name for this worthy cause.

"I, therefore, take the liberty of presenting for discussion by the Board of Management the following resolution:

"'Resolved, That the Chapter Regents shall be requested to have the contributions made by their respective Chapters for the education of Southern mountain white children, sent through the Treasurer General of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, each Chapter designating the school or State for which the contribution is to be used.

"Respectfully,

"(Signed) Edith Darlington Ammon,

"May 26, 1910. 'Chairman.'"

The State Regent of Massachusetts moved to amend the resolution as follows:

"That every Chapter and individual in the State contributing to this work send the money to either the State Regent of the State or some one whom she shall designate in her State, with the name of the donor; that the State Regent in her turn send a full list of these with a check for the money to the Treasurer General, also a list to the Chairman of the Patriotic Education Committee. That gives the Chapter, the individual and the National Society credit for the whole, and the Patriotic Education Committee credit as well."

Seconded by the State Regent of New York.

The State Regent of California called attention to its being now six minutes to one o'clock, and asked if it would be desirable to take a recess.

The Corresponding Secretary General stating that the routine reports are always heard before the recess, the President General called for the report of the Treasurer General.

The Treasurer General read her report, covering from April 1 to May 31, 1910, as follows (the Vice-President General from the District calling for the items):

REPORT OF THE TREASURER GENERAL.

Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) LULA REEVE HOOVER,
Treasurer General, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.
Report accepted on motion of the Historian General duly seconded.

The Corresponding Secretary General asked permission to have the Continental Hall contributions as recorded in the Treasurer General's office published in an appendix to the Congressional Proceedings—to have a note inserted in that part of the report, saying: "For complete report, see Appendix."

The Recording Secretary General said this has been done before and moved that it be done now.

The Librarian General seconded the motion. The motion was put and carried.

The State Regent of Massachusetts read her motion regarding Southern Mountain School donations, which was now seconded by the Vice-President General from New Jersey, and carried, as follows:

"That all D. A. R. Chapter and individual contributions for the Southern Mountain School work be sent to the State Regent, or to some one appointed by her; this money to be sent to the Treasurer General, with a list of the donors and beneficiaries, who shall immediately forward the same to those to whom it is to be presented; and that a complete list of all such contributions be sent to the National Society Chairman of the Patriotic Education Committee."

The State Regent of New York moved that a copy of this resolution be sent to all State Regents.

The motion was seconded and carried.

On motion of the State Regent of Michigan, the Board took a recess at 1:35 until 3 P.M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Board was called to order at 3:25 P.M., the President General in the chair.

The Treasurer General proceeded with her report, reading the names of forty-eight members to be resigned, which action was taken on motion of the Vice-President General from the District.

The names of forty-nine deceased members were read, and at the call of the President General the Board arose in token of sympathy and respect.

The names of thirteen ladies to be reinstated were read, and on motion of the Corresponding Secretary General this action was taken. This concluded the report of the Treasurer General.

The Corresponding Secretary General presented a special report in connection with resignations that came from Mrs. Draper, past Registrar General, as follows:

"That a certain Mrs. Morsell, by misunderstanding recorded as dropped, be changed to the resigned list and the Treasurer General be authorized to re-pay this lady $4 paid under protest, in order that she might join again; similar action having been taken in other cases."

She stated this occurred through a clerical error in the office, and moved that it be done. Seconded by the State Regent of Michigan, and agreed to.

In reply to an inquiry of the Vice-President General from Illinois, the Corresponding Secretary General stated that a member resigning can be reinstated on her old papers and old number by paying up all dues for the intervening years, or can be reinstated on new record and new number without paying up past dues.

The report of the Recording Secretary General was presented as follows:

"Madam President General and Members of the National Board of Management: First, I will give expression to the feelings of pride that I have in being the first to occupy this chair, given as a testimonial from the Chapter (Mildred Warner Washington, Heart of Oak) at Montclair, N. J., of their appreciation of the triumph of right over wrong, which was consummated by the combined action of the present President General and one of our Founders, Miss Desha. My great desire is to be as worthy of the honor of occupying this chair as the one in whose honor it is given, one of the most unselfish and loyal members of the organization—one who has always placed the National Society, as a whole, above the individual.

I have to report that the work of my desk is up-to-date, excepting certain Committee notices. Instructions given at the Board meeting April 4th at the Congress and at the Board meeting April 25, in so far as relates to this office, have been complied with.

In reply to the several notes of condolence and sympathy for our members in sorrow and illness have come expressions of appreciation from Mrs. Patton, of Pennsylvania; Mrs. Williamson, of Mississippi; Mrs. Edmondson, of West Virginia, and Colonel Strahan, of Providence, R.I. To the resolution of thanks extended by Congress to Hon. Morris B. Beardsley, President General of the Sons of the American Revolution, has come a grateful acknowledgment with assurance of the great pleasure it gave him to bring us the greetings of the Sons. The telegram and note to Mrs. Manson, the generous donor of the Board Room furnishings and finishings, brought the following response:

"NEW HAVEN, May 9, 1910.

"My DEAR MISS WILCOX: Your very kind note of May 5 and telegram preceding it have done much to soften the keen disappointment that Mrs. Manson has felt at not being able to be present at the meeting of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution Congress, and to see that all in connection with the Board Room was in order.

"She is pleased to know that the furnishings of the room met the approval of the ladies, and she wishes me to thank you, and through you the members of the National Board, for the kind expressions of appreciation. Yours sincerely,

"(Signed) JOHN T. MANSON.

"To MISS MARY R. WILCOX,

"Recording Secretary General.

General
Letters and cards received
Letters and cards written

I have to acknowledge receipt of two circular letters giving itinerary of illustrated lecture courses for the coming season; from Mlle. Vire de Vire, her themes being French, of course, and Martha Foote Crow, Ph.D. Have to acknowledge receipt, since Congress, of a pamphlet from Mr. Edmond S. Meany, dated from the University of Washington, Seattle, March 28, 1910, reproducing a most interesting debate from the United States Senate Record, the question being on agreeing upon a name for the War of 1861; the name enacted was "Civil War," the amendment having been offered by the late Mr. Carmack, Senator from Tennessee, also receipt of a circular letter from the Committee in Charge, W. C. T. U. Settlement School, Hindman, Ky., reporting progress and wonderful hope in this patriotic work, and receipt from the State Regent of Oklahoma of the Program of the First Oklahoma Annual Conference, Daughters of the American Revolution, held last March in Oklahoma City, containing the usual features of our annual State Conferences and manifesting the interest and devotion pervading the rank and file of our great National Society.

The invitation to the Daughters by the Polish National Alliance of the United States of North America to attend the unveiling of the statue of General Kosciuszko May 11, and the opening session of the First Polish National Congress, May 12, was extended individually by the Associated Press, they having granted my request to do so.

I will ask the Board to authorize the transfer of the papers in the care of the Recording Secretary General, now in the Safe Deposit Box, Loan and Trust Building, to the safe of the Treasurer General, as requested by the President General. It is understood, of course, that I, the Recording Secretary General, will still have the care of these papers and will keep the key to the box.

For this meeting of the Board, regrets have been received from Mrs. Barrow, Mrs. Wheaton, Mrs. Sterling, Mrs. Graham, Miss Fairfax, Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Delafield and Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Abbott, Mrs. Orton and Mrs. Truesdall, Mrs. Perley, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Mayes, Mrs. North and Mrs. Fethers.

Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) MARY R. WILCOX
Recording Secretary General, N. S. D. A. R.
June 1, 1910.

The Recording Secretary General called attention to a gavel put in her care last June by Mr. Sherman, of the Richmond Hotel, and read the following letter from the State Regent of Wisconsin:

"May 18, 1910.

"My Dear Miss Wilcox: I have just heard from Mrs. Jackson, of Eau Claire, in regard to the gavel, which we did not know what to do with. It is of great historical value, having been made from wood taken from Lord Cornwallis's boat Charon, and as Mr. Sherman (Mrs. Jackson's brother), who is a Son of the American Revolution, wished it preserved, and the 'Sons' have no home or place for such things, he wishes it put in the Museum of Continental Memorial Hall, but wishes it presented in the name of his sister, Mrs. W. G. Jackson, of Eau Claire, Wis. I have written her I will write you and ask you to present this gavel to the Board at the June meeting, stating these facts and request you to ask the Board to accept it and place it in the Museum in the name of Mrs. Jackson.

"Thinking it was a gavel intended for us, I asked Mrs. Jackson to present it to Wisconsin, but when she explained to me its great value, and the fear it might in time wear out or get broken, I agree thoroughly with her that it should have a permanent place where it will be preserved.

"Hoping it may be accepted by the Board under these conditions, and that Mrs. Jackson may be given full credit for the presentation, I leave the matter in your hands.

"I take this opportunity also to say I regret very much not being able to attend the June meeting.

"Sincerely yours,

(Signed) FRANCES P. FETHERS.

The Recording Secretary General then handed the gavel to the President General for presentation to the Museum, the seal of the package being unbroken.

The President General asked the Recording Secretary General to write and express our thanks and grateful appreciation to Mrs. Jackson for this beautiful gift.

The Recording Secretary General said she had in her hand a bill for cleaning and adjusting a typewriter she owned, which had been used in her office on special occasions, and if proper, would like to ask the Society to pay this bill, which is $7.50.

The State Regent of New York moved that this bill be settled, and it was so ordered.

Report of the Recording Secretary General was accepted on motion of the Vice-President General of the District.

The Historian General reported as follows:

Madam President General and Members of the Board: Ever since the Lineage Book was started nearly forty years ago, there has been an insistent demand from the chapters for the publication of more volumes each year. Hitherto, my predecessors in office have met this demand by presenting the paramount need of a Memorial Continental Hall, where more commodious quarters and better facilities for work would permit the Lineage Book to be pushed forward more rapidly. Also they said there would be more money to spend upon the book when the building should be finished.

When the first volume was published we had no directory, no catalogue of members, no library, no catalogue of ancestors, not even a Librarian General. The many mistakes in the first edition of that first volume would, no doubt, have been avoided if such helps had been at hand. In 1895 the need of a Librarian General was felt and Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee was elected to fill the office, though no such office was provided for in our constitution.

Her genius for method in work started the card catalogues, the directory and the library, though the office of Librarian General was not mentioned in our constitution until after she had gone out of the office.

The catalogue of ancestors, revised, corrected, enlarged and improved was commenced several years ago, and so well carried forward by our present careful Registrar General, Miss Grace Pierce, that it is almost completed.

Thus you will see that the conditions for good work on the Lineage Book are now fully fulfilled. We are now established in the promised roomy quarters in the Memorial Hall. We have the members' catalogue up to date in the office of the Vice-President General in Charge of Organization. The old ancestors' catalogue is in my own room for ready reference, and the new and improved catalogue can be consulted in the office of the Registrar General whenever we get into difficulties. And we have two experts who have been trained for this work. It seems as if we were now ready to fulfill the promises of my predecessors and to do better and more rapid work on the Lineage Book than has been possible heretofore.

But those of you who heard my report to the last Congress will remember that I then mentioned one serious difficulty which is likely to defeat all this work of preparation which has gone before. I have but one and a half clerks. During the preparations for the Congress and ever since I have not had even so much clerical force at work on the Lineage Book, because Mrs. Johnston's time has been encroached upon by the apparently necessary attention required by visiting Daughters and Miss Finckel's time has been almost absorbed by the pressing work of the Corresponding Secretary General's office. Of course, each national officer should be neighborly and helpful to a colleague in time of need. But now that much of the pressure is over I hope that the present arrangement need not continue.

The whole time of the second clerk has been needed in the office of the Historian General for the past two years. It has been possible to issue two volumes each year only, because Mrs. Johnston has done at night the proof-reading and indexing, which would have amounted to about six weeks of office time each year. And now my office work is fully two months behind where it should be at this time of the year. Not one of the members recorded in the thirtieth volume has received the usual notice that the book is published and ready for sale.

Not one of the many needed letters of inquiry to members in Volume XXXI has yet been written. Not one of the 288 pension records gleaned by Mrs. Johnston while verifying work at the Pension Office has been copied for filing in the library, as should have been done.

All this lost ground might be recovered, however, if I had the whole time of Miss Finckel, the clerk who has been for about fourteen years with the Lineage Book, and was trained by Mrs. Johnston in that particular line of work. Miss Finckel knows our membership; she knows the catalogues; she knows the resources of the library, and more than all else, she knows by experience the mistakes and difficulties to be avoided. She can read much of the proof and has a singularly good memory. She has grown with her years of training until she is far beyond the rating of a mere copyst and typewriter, and belongs to the class of skilled workers. If Mrs. Johnston should be ill, the work on the books need not lapse, for Miss Finckel could carry it on until help could be secured. She deserves an increase in salary.

Some of you may be interested in knowing how the Corresponding Secretary General and the Historian General came to share one clerk between them. In 1897 the Executive Committee did not grant the request of the newly elected Corresponding Secretary General for the service of a clerk. The officer resigned and her successor went without a clerk during her term. When Mrs. Georgia Stockton Hatch was elected Corresponding Secretary General in 1899 she feared to ask for the whole service of a clerk. Miss Finckel was, therefore, allowed to give part of her time to the work of Mrs. Hatch's office and $10 of Miss Finckel's salary was deducted from the account of the Historian General and placed to the account of the Corresponding Secretary General. In those days officers were very anxious that their accounts should not appear too large in the eyes of the reading Daughters outside, and every item of expense was carefully scrutinized. Each month and many questions were asked if an account appeared too large. It is a good thing to do this, but I think we should not now be afraid to have the expenses of our offices appear heavy if we know that the expense was necessary. I, for one, would be willing to face the questions of the Congress if the expenses of my office are this year heavier than they have been for years past, for I think the money would be well spent if we are able to issue three volumes instead of two.

In spite of the conditions which have hampered the work of my office lately, the preparation of the thirty-first volume has gone on fairly. There are now 400 records compiled and 308 records ready to be typewritten, records of pensioners ready to be verified at the Pension office, twenty-five, and records ready for the necessary correspondence, sixty-seven. Also 600 records have been copied in pencil from the original applications. The balance of the 1,000 records to be printed in Volume XXXI is still untouched. With the present help of Mrs. Johnston only my office can produce but one volume this year. With the addition of an inexperienced clerk I doubt if even that would be possible, because Mrs. Johnston's valuable time would be much taken up with training any new worker. But with the whole time of both my clerks I think I may safely promise to get out three volumes before the next Congress. (Applause.)

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) GERTRUDE B. DARWIN,
Historian General, N. S., D. A. R.
June 1, 1910.

(Applause.)

The State Regent of New York, seconded by the State Regent of the District, moved the report be accepted.

Discussion followed upon the clerical change recommended.

The President General remarked the whole question belongs to the Supervision Committee; the Vice-President General from the District held the contrary opinion.

The State Regent of New York called for action on her motion, that the report of the Historian General be accepted with the recommendations.

The Recording Secretary General moved to amend the motion of the State Regent of New York by adding that Miss Finckel's salary be increased to $1,000 a year, to take effect June 1, to-day.

Upon the statement of the Corresponding Secretary General that this change would be embarrassing, as she was leaving town to-morrow, the Recording Secretary General amended further: That the increase in Miss Finckel's salary shall take effect to-day, but the change in her duties not to take effect until the return of the Corresponding Secretary General, July 1.

Discussion followed upon the merits of several of the clerical force, and it was suggested that the increase in Miss Finckel's salary be $5 a month.

Upon the statement of the Corresponding Secretary General that this change would be embarrassing, as she was leaving town to-morrow, the Recording Secretary General amended further: That the increase in Miss Finckel's salary be raised to nine hundred dollars ($900) per year each.

The State Regent of New York, seconded by the State Regent of the District and seconded by the Vice-President General from New Jersey and the State Regent of Michigan, was carried:

"That Mrs. Kane, Miss Marshall and Miss Griggs shall have a salary of nine hundred dollars ($900) per year each."

The Registrar General spoke in commendation of the clerks in her office.

The Vice-President General from the District offered the following motion, seconded by the State Regents of Michigan and the District:

"That, as a reward of merit for the faithful service of our clerks and upon the recommendation of the officers under whom they serve, an increase of salary be made to those in the Registrar's Office to fifty dollars a month for Miss Harr and Miss Weedon, and to all others who have not received an increase, five dollars a month increase in salary."

The Registrar General, seconded by the Vice-President General from the District and the Historian General, offered the following amendment:

"That this resolution apply to all clerks now receiving less than eighty dollars per month."

Amendment accepted by the Vice-President General from the District, and motion as amended unanimously carried.

The Recording Secretary General again called attention to the need in her office for additional clerical assistance, reminding the Board that a similar call made by her last June had been denied, and stating that as the action to-day approving the Historian General's recommendation nullified one of the recommendations of the Finance Committee, thereby leaving Mrs. Fishburne unassigned, she would ask to have the latter assigned to her office and that her salary be increased at least $5 a month.

The Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters, seconded by the State Regent of Massachusetts, moved:

"That the request of the Recording Secretary General for the services of Mrs. Fishburne in her office be granted."

Motion carried. (Increased in salary by previous motion.)

On motion, seconded and carried, following recommendation of the Treasurer General, Miss Frances Work was placed on the temporary roll.
The State Regent of Connecticut, inquiring what is to become of Miss Read, the clerk in the Business Manager's office, which office ceases the first of July, and remarking she is too good a clerk for us to lose, the Vice-President General from Illinois, seconded by the State Regent of the District and the Vice-President General from New Jersey, moved: "That the Business Manager of the magazine and her clerk, Miss Read, be given each one month's vacation, with salary."

Carried.

The Librarian General presented her report, and as it was at some length, briefly stated the donations to be: Thirty-two books (three in exchange and one purchased); seven pamphlets; ten periodicals, and that she had a present from the State Regent of Massachusetts this morning since the Board meeting convened.

On motion the report was accepted, and is as follows:

This report was discussed at length, the remarks being later expunged from the record, on motion, carried.

Referring to the recommendation in said report, it was suggested by the State Regent of Michigan that this matter go over until the October Board meeting.

On motion of the State Regent of Massachusetts, seconded by the State Regent of Connecticut, the report of the Finance Committee was accepted without the recommendation, and the recommendation laid over until October.

The State Regent of New York moved that the Curator be allowed a vacation with regular pay.

The motion was seconded by the State Regent of California, and carried.

The Vice-President General from the District moved:

"That a clerk be selected and employed by the President General, whose special duty it shall be to be well dressed and well informed, and to show visitors over this building and give information during the hours when the hall is open, etc."

The Corresponding Secretary General seconded the motion.

The motion providing for a guide for our Hall, discussed at length, was finally worded as follows (seconded by the Vice-President General from Vermont), and carried:

"That a clerk be selected by the President General, and employed, whose special duty it shall be to be well dressed and well informed, and to show visitors over this building and give information during the hours when the hall is open; this person to perform other service and duty when not employed in performing the work for which he or she was engaged."

The Vice-President General from the District moved that permission be granted to the Army and Navy Chapter to have a negative taken of the bas-relief and drinking fountain erected by the Army and Navy Chapter.

The motion was seconded by the State Regent of California, and carried.

The report of the Auditing Committee was read by Miss Mecum, Vice-President General from New Jersey, a member of the committee, as follows:

The Vice-President General from the District again put herself on record as saying that she did not think these men comprehended what they were asked to do; that they were asked to audit the accounts of the organization for the period of the past eight or nine years, if necessary.

The Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters stated Mrs. Fairbanks's administration was audited, and none since then.

The Chairman of the Finance Committee explained she did not understand the motion that way.

The Recording Secretary General moved:

"That the motion offered by the Vice-President General of the District of Columbia, December 9, be restated to the American Audit Company, and they be instructed to act accordingly."

Seconded by the State Regent of Connecticut, and carried.

The Chairman of the Supervision Committee presented the following report:

Madam President General and Members of the National Board of Management:

The Supervision Committee has held several meetings since the last report. During Continental Congress notice was received that as changes were being made in the heating plant it would be necessary to appoint a Superintendent at once, to fill the place of Mr. Bowders, deceased, so that he might familiarize himself with the working of it. After careful inquiry Mr. Sterne was engaged. In accordance with a ruling of the National Board, Police Officer Creagh, as well as clerks and employees, were paid for extra service during the Congress.

The report of the Superintendent read at the meeting of the Supervision Committee, May 6, contained the following suggestions:

First.—That an electric meter be installed on each floor and in the auditorium in order to determine the consumption of light at the different points.

Second.—That there should be some way of distinguishing the different rooms for casual visitors.

Third.—That employees should be in uniform.

Fourth.—That some person should be employed to escort visitors about the building.

Fifth.—That some action should be taken regarding the frequent moving of handsome auditorium chairs on stage, so that injury may be prevented.

Bids for screening the entire hall reaching a much larger amount than at first was supposed, it was moved that the matter be referred back to the National Board.

Lawn mower and hose connections being necessary at once, the same were procured.

South and west windows in Continental Hall requiring additional protection from the sun. Venetian blinds in preference to awnings have been ordered.

The lunch room for clerks has been supplied with china, knives and forks, spoons and all conveniences, the gift of the President General.

A letter has been received from Mrs. Bow- ers, widow of the former Superintendent, expressing her thanks and sincere gratitude to the Society for its liberality to her on the death of her husband.

Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) B. McG. SMOOT,
Chairman, Supervision Committee.

June 1, 1910.

The Chairman called attention to the increase in the estimate for screens, it now being $1,500.

Regarding the matter of screens, the State Regent of Massachusetts moved that the Supervision Committee proceed at once to carry out that vote (of the Board, regarding screens).

Motion seconded by the State Regent of Michigan, and carried.

The report of the Chairman of the Supervision Committee was accepted with all its recommendations on motion of the State Regent of Connecticut, seconded.

The State Vice-Regent of Arizona, seconded by the Corresponding Secretary General, moved:

"That the Supervision Committee have general temporary charge of the employees engaged in the care of the building, assigning their duties. It shall also have authority to purchase all needed supplies for the care of the building (not including stationery, etc., needed by the clerical force), and with the approval of the President General shall, in emergency cases, have authority to do anything necessary for the care and protection of the building and grounds."

Motion carried.

Followed by the Corresponding Secretary General, who moved:

"That the present Superintendent be deprived of the power of dismissal given to him when he was a regular employee; that this power be taken from him during these weeks of his probation."

The motion was seconded and carried.

The President General referred to the signing of certificates of members, saying that as there are so many hundreds of these certificates she cannot do it.

After general discussion the Vice-President General from New Jersey, seconded by the State Regent of Connecticut, offered the following resolution:

"That a fac-simile signature of the President General, the Recording Secretary General and the Registrar General be made and used upon the certificates of members."

It being stated that Caldwell says it is necessary to have one actually written signature, it was suggested by the Corresponding Secretary General that the Recording Secretary General and the Registrar General might divide between them the task of signing.

The Registrar General said she was perfectly willing to take the bulk of the work during the remainder of the present administration; the offer was accepted, and the motion as above was carried.

The President General thanked the Board.

The Recording Secretary General stated a request by Mrs. Bowes, sister of the President General, desiring to ask the pleasure of the Board in regard to allowing her to put a tablet in Memorial Continental Hall in memory of her mother and sister, Mrs. and Miss Hetzel, Charter Members of the Society.

Referred to Continental Hall Committee, on motion of the State Regent of Massachusetts, seconded.

The office of the Business Manager of the AMERICAN MONTHLY MAGAZINE, which is to be abolished July 1, 1910, was first placed in the hands of Mrs. M. M. Barclay in 1892 under Mrs. Ellen Hardin Walworth, our first Editor, 1892-3-4.

When Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood became the Editor in 1894, the business management was given first as an appointment of the publisher of the magazine with the card catalogue index showing what we have in stock. We have 557 half-tone cuts as the property of the AMERICAN MONTHLY MAGAZINE, costing from $1.25 to $3 apiece. We have 5,933 sample magazines on hand, which I hoped to have been able to send out to the Chapters, which would have been a great aid in advertising our magazine, but I did not have the help or time. Some friends on the Magazine Committee, of the District of Columbia, promised to help me in this work.

The passing of our magazine into the hands of a publisher who will take all the routine work I think is the best thing that could happen, for my experience in trying to do what a full force of clerks should be delegated to do, to attend to the necessary work of a magazine office, was utterly impossible.

Our magazine has all the elements necessary for the successful issuing. The advertising department, as well as the keeping of the subscriptions, discontinuance, change of address and renewals, the ordering and care of the half-tone engravings with which our magazine is illustrated and which was placed in Washington during the year has been an additional labor, as the Editor had this done in Cleveland. This card catalogue was commenced a few years ago and is up-to-date.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) MINNIE F. MICKLEY, Business Manager.

The PRESIDENT GENERAL: Ladies, you have heard this very admirable report. We are very much indebted to our Business Manager for making it, and I am sure we all sympathize with her in her work and are sorry to part with her.

The State Regent of New York moved to accept the report.

The Registrar General added: "That it be with a vote of thanks for the work she has carried out most admirably."

Motion carried.

The State Regent of the District of Columbia, seconded by the State Regent of Connecticut, moved:

"That Miss Read be retained after July 1 to send out the sample Daughters of the American Revolution magazines, as suggested by the Business Manager, to attend to whatever residue of work be left in the magazine.

room and supply the places of clerks on summer leave wherever needed,”

Motion carried.

The President General read a communication from the State Department, referring to the tragedy in Jerusalem, and she said: “Now this should be incorporated with the letter that we send to the magazine,” the matter having been discussed at the morning session; and it was so-ordered.

The Registrar General presented a supplementary report, with 117 additional names, making the total number of new applicants for membership 818, and on motion of the State
Regent of Massachusetts the Recording Secretary General cast the ballot for the 117 additional names, and the President General declared them duly elected members of the National Society.

The matter of publishing the Chalkley MSS.
came under consideration, the Librarian General and the Registrar General speaking to the subject, Mrs. Willis, the Librarian General, stating that the cost of same would be about $3,000, but that the published papers would be worth thousands of dollars to the Society, and would increase our membership about 50,000
and be a credit to us in the historical world,
and heartily recommending their publication.

The following motions prevailed.

“That an exact typewritten copy of the Chalkley records be made under the direction of the Librarian General and that a carbon copy be placed with the Registrar General.”

(Offered by the Vice-President General of New Jersey, seconded by the Vice-President
General in Charge of Organization of Chapters and the Recording Secretary General)

“That these copies shall be strictly confidential and that any information contained therein must not be given out except to the ones specified by the previous motion until the final disposition of these papers be decided.”

(Offered by the Registrar General, seconded by the Historian General.)

The State Regent of Tennessee inquired as to the limitations of power of State confer-ces and the payment of back dues of reinstated members. To the latter inquiry the Corresponding Secretary General. stated members. To the latter inquiry the Cor-presented by the Chairman, Mrs. Barnes:

Madam President General, and Members of the National Board of Management, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution:

As Chairman of the Printing Committee I take pleasure in announcing that, in view of the highly satisfactory and prompt fulfillment of his contract during the year past, the committee has decided to accept the offer of Byron
S. Adams to renew his contract for printing for the ensuing year for the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the same price as charged last year.

Yours truly,

EDITH TALBOT BARNEs
Chairman, Printing Committee, N. S., D. A. R.

The President General called for the reports of the Revolutionary Relics Committee and Purchasing Committee, but the Chairman of each was absent.

On motion of the Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters, the Treasurer General was given a few moments, as she requested, to present some matters.

The Treasurer General asked authority of the Board to pay $1 to a clerk employed to assist the Business Manager of the magazine.

On motion of the State Regent of New York, seconded by the State Regent of Connecticut, it was so ordered.

The Treasurer General asked that the clerks be given this summer their leave they could not take last year. Request granted on motion of the State Regent of Massachusetts, seconded by the Recording Secretary General; with amendment by the Registrar General to include all the clerks in the building.

The Treasurer General asked that her Chief Clerk be given extra compensation, as she has worked until midnight; that her time be computed and pay given at the rate she gets for working in the daytime.

Request granted on motion of the State Regent of New Jersey, seconded.

The Treasurer General stated two members had been dropped for non-payment of dues, but as the ancestors on whose service they came in had not been verified, they should not have to pay back dues; and asked the Board for authority to refund this money, saying further that these ladies had since found new ancestors.

The State Regent of Massachusetts moved these ladies be admitted as new members on new papers. Seconded and carried.

On motion of the Recording Secretary General, seconded by the Registrar General, it was ordered:

“That the Chalkley records now in the care of the Recording Secretary General be turned over to the Librarian General to-morrow morning and the box kept in the latter’s name, since the typewriting and publishing of those records are put under her supervision.”

The recommendations of the Finance Committee in regard to Revision of Business Methods, to be voted upon June 1, were now called and read by the Chairman of the Finance Committee, as follows:

First. (a) That there be employed in the ofcine of the Corresponding Secretary General a competent person, having knowledge of the present methods of each department of the Society, whose duty it shall be to receive and open all mail and communications of every nature, except those which may be marked "personal." This clerk to furnish a fidelity bond in amount of $2,000.

June 1, 1910.

(b) That a proper stamp be provided which will permit of the date and consecutive number being imprinted on all communications received.

(c) That all mail, immediately it is opened, be distributed to the proper department.

(d) That, whenever communications for any department, except those for the Treasurer General’s department, are found to contain funds, the clerk opening the mail shall attach a slip, of a duplex form to be provided, reciting the fact that certain funds have been received with the communication, and attach same permanently to the letter or communication, before distribution to the department concerned. On the other half of the form, going to the office of the Treasurer General, shall be noted the consecutive number of the letter, the particulars from whom and for what purpose the money is received, and the department to which the communication is sent.

(e) That whenever any letter is received by a department which contains subject matter requiring answer by a department other than the department to which the communication was originally sent, the person in charge of the department first receiving the communication shall, after replying to that part affecting the department, deliver the original letter to the other department affected, attaching a slip, in form to be provided, to the carbuncle copy of answer kept in the department’s own files. This slip will show the number of the letter and the department to which it has been passed.

By way of elucidation:

One of the points particularly observed in our examination of present methods in the various departments was the utter lack of uniformity and system regarding the care and distribution of mail, and we submit that if the above general outline of method for handling the incoming mail is adopted, the effect will be:

(1) To save the labor now performed in each department of keeping a written record of each letter received;

(2) To save the labor now performed by various clerks in the several departments which now are receiving funds by mail;

(3) To prevent unnecessary delay in the prompt reply to correspondence;

(4) To simplify the work of the Treasurer General’s office;

(5) To give greater security to all funds received by limiting the number of persons and departments handling such funds.

It is, of course, impossible at this time to calculate the exact pecuniary saving to the Society by the adoption of this method, but we are certain that in time saved it will be the equivalent of not less than the time of two clerks; also it will tend to eliminate the friction now existing between departments, under present methods.

Second.—We recommend that whenever letters, papers or documents of any nature whatsoever are received in a department, there shall immediately be imprinted thereon, with a proper stamp, the date of receipt and the name of the department so receiving.

Third.—We recommend that a clerk in the office of the Treasurer General be designated as cashier, whose duty it will be to handle all receipts and expenditures, to prepare all necessary vouchers for signature of proper officials and to keep a cash book in approved form. The person so designated to furnish a fidelity bond in amount not less than $5,000.

Fourth.—We recommend that new forms of cash books be installed in the office of the Treasurer General in order to record more properly all financial transactions; also that a voucher-journal and voucher-check system be installed which will expedite and facilitate the work of the office, and will provide a better and more systematic method for taking care of expenditures.

Fifth.—We recommend that all receipts issued by the Treasurer General’s department be numbered, and that a new printed form of receipt be introduced which will save one-half the time now consumed in writing out present forms of receipts.

Sixth.—We recommend that for the petty disbursements of each department, an order on a form to be provided shall be drawn; this order to be signed by the head of the department requiring the expenditure, and countersigned by a member of the Finance Committee.

Seventh.—We recommend that all postage stamps and stamped envelopes used for the Society be purchased by the cashier and kept in the office of the Treasurer General, and that the needs of the several departments for postage and stamped envelopes be filled only on requisition, on a form to be provided, signed by the head of the department requiring same.

Eighth.—We recommend that all supplies, stationery, books and forms of the Society be kept in one place, under charge of the Curator, whose duty it shall be to see that a sufficient supply is always on hand.

Ninth.—We recommend that all forms and blanks used by the Society be given a form number, and that no supplies be issued by the Curator except on requisition, on a form to be provided, signed by the head of the department requiring same.

Tenth.—We recommend that all stationery and letter-heads used by the Society have imprinted thereon the words “Please make all remittances direct to the Treasurer General.”

Eleventh.—We recommend, inasmuch as the stationery and used and the services of the clerk drawing the orders on the official insignia maker, form a considerable item of expense to the Society, that the makers be requested to allow a commission to the Society, sufficient to cover the cost of the stationery, labor and postage involved in handling the orders.

Twelfth.—We recommend that a post office box be taken in the name of the Society, and that all mail be carried to and from the post office in a locked mail sack, to the lock of which sack none but the cashier and mail clerk be permitted to hold keys.

Thirteenth.—We recommend that the officers and heads of departments be requested to furnish the Executive Committee a detailed list of all rules and regulations, written or unwritten, under which the employees of their various departments are now working, and that the committee revise same, eliminating all unwritten rules, in order to secure uniformity in the application of the necessary rules and regulations.

Fourteenth.—We recommend that all rules, orders and authority heretofore given the Curator with respect to the following be abrogated, because they are the natural functions of other departments:

(a) Control of physical condition of offices.
(b) Control of petty expenditures.
(c) Control of postage and stamped envelopes.
(d) Control of correspondence other than directly applicable to the office of the Curator.

The above duties are fully covered and provided for in previous recommendations as to the functions of the various departments.

In connection with the sale of lineage books, ribbons, spoons, rosettes, etc., the only book necessary to be kept by the Curator is a counterfoil receipt book, in proper form to be provided, which book should be turned over to the cashier daily, with the amount of cash called for by the counterfoils.

Inasmuch as the Curator will have the handling of more or less cash arising through retail sales of articles by the Society, we recommend that she furnish a fidelity bond in the sum of $500.

In connection with responsibility of this department, we are strongly of opinion that this office should be under the direct control of the Treasurer General.

Fifteenth.—We recommend, that inasmuch as the duties of the clerk in the office of the Corresponding Secretary General have been materially increased under the proposed changes in methods, the office of the Historian General use the services of the clerk of the Assistant Historian General who has heretofore given half time to the Curator. The duties of the Curator have been greatly reduced and it would appear that assistance in that office will be unnecessary.

Sixteenth.—We recommend that there be installed in each department a system of handling and filing correspondence which shall be uniform in its nature.

Seventeenth.—We recommend that the superintendent of the Society's ground and building be made directly responsible to the President General and Supervision Committee, receiving orders from and reporting to them alone; also that the former furnish a fidelity bond in the sum of $1,000.

Eighteenth.—We recommend that a set of rules and regulations governing the care of the buildings and grounds and the duties of the superintendent and his staff be framed by the Supervision Committee and submitted to the President General and Executive Committee for approval.

The Chairman spoke to the first recommendation, followed by the Treasurer General, who said it is not advisable to have the mail clerk, whose duty it shall be to receive all mail and communications of every nature and distribute same unopened to the proper departments.

Seconded by the State Regent of Massachusetts.

The Registrar General, the Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters, and the State Regent of Connecticut spoke in favor of the resolution, and it was unanimously carried.

The second recommendation read, and on motion of the State Regent of Massachusetts, seconded by the State Vice-Regent of Arizona, was accepted without discussion.

The third recommendation read, and the Treasurer General stating this has already been done it was accepted by the State Regent of Massachusetts, seconded.

The fourth recommendation read, and on motion of the State Regent of Massachusetts, seconded by the Librarian General, referred to the Treasurer General, as it affects her office entirely.

The fifth recommendation read, and on motion of the State Regent of New York, seconded, accepted without discussion.

The sixth recommendation read, and on motion of the State Vice-Regent of Arizona, seconded, accepted. Later, on motion of the Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters, seconded by the State Regent of Massachusetts, this action was rescinded and recommendation stricken out.

The seventh and eighth recommendations read, and on motion, duly seconded, accepted without discussion.

The ninth recommendation was read, and amended by the Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters by adding at the end, "or her clerk." The Registrar General amended further by adding, "or by her authorized clerk." The Chairman accepted the amendments, and on motion of the Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters, seconded by the Registrar General, the ninth recommendation was accepted with the addition of "or by her authorized clerk."

The tenth recommendation read, and accepted on motion of the Registrar General, amended by the State Regent of Connecticut, seconded, read "all official stationery," etc.

The eleventh recommendation read, and on motion of the State Regent of Massachusetts, seconded, was stricken out.

The twelfth recommendation read and stricken out, the matter having been previously referred to the Corresponding Secretary General, on motion of the State Regent of Massachusetts, seconded by the State Regent of New York.

The thirteenth recommendation read, and on motion of the Vice-President General from Illinois, seconded, action on this was deferred.

The fourteenth recommendation being read, discussion ensued. The State Regent of Massachusetts moved, as it is very late, that action on this be deferred. A motion to proceed was offered, and the State Regent of Massachusetts withdrew her motion to postpone. The question was further discussed, and on motion of the Vice-President General from New Jersey, seconded by the Librarian General, the fourteenth recommendation was accepted, with the exception of changing (b) by substituting the word "payment," by substituting the word "payment" for "control."
The Chairman reported the Curator is already bonded.

Referring to recommendation that Curator be under direct control of the Treasurer General, on motion of the Vice-President General from the District, it was so directed.

The fifteenth recommendation read, the Chairman stating this matter had been disposed of by previous action of the day.

The sixteenth recommendation read, and action deferred on motion of the Registrar General, seconded by the State Regent of Massachusetts.

The seventeenth recommendation read, and adopted on motion of the State Regent of Michigan, seconded by the Librarian General.

The eighteenth recommendation read, and on motion of the Librarian General, accepted.

The State Regent of New York moved the recommendations of the Finance Committee as altered be accepted. (Seconded.)

On motion of the Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters, seconded by the State Regent of Massachusetts, action on the sixth recommendation was rescinded and the recommendation stricken out.

The recommendations of the Finance Committee were now accepted as altered on motion as above.

The President General stated she had received a very beautiful letter, written and signed by the President of the Sons of the American Revolution, and asked to have it incorporated in the minutes.

The Vice-President General in Charge of Organization of Chapters moved the President General be authorized so to do.

The President General thanked the ladies.

"Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, "President General of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution:

"Dear Madam.—I have the pleasure of informing you that the following resolution was unanimously adopted at the twenty-first annual Congress of this Society held at Toledo, Ohio, May 2 and 3, 1910:

"Resolved, That the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution records its appreciation of and gratitude for the cordial prompt and efficient co-operation of the Daughters of the American Revolution in the protest against the abandonment of the Division of Information in the Bureau of Immigration of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

"Resolved, That the President General and Secretary General of the Society be directed to inform the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution of this action.

"In behalf of the President General I have the honor to be,

"Very respectfully yours,

"(Signed) A. Howard Clark, "Secretary General."

The motions were read by the Recording Secretary General and the Corresponding Secretary General, and corrected as needed.

The Board adjourned at 7:30 P.M. on motion of the Corresponding Secretary General, seconded.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) Mary R. Wilcox,
Recording Secretary General, N. S., D. A. R
