THE SMITHSONIAN BUILDING IN WASHINGTON, D. C.
The President General's Message

When spring is just around the corner it is good to be alive! It is like the dawn of a new day. With the first month of spring comes renewed energy and awakened activity in committee work and reports!

Concentrate efforts on all enterprises that hopes may be realized and accomplishments obtained.

The members are the National Society and the self-styled "just an ordinary member" is the life of the organization. From their interest and enthusiastic support, regular attendance and faithful activities come the inspiration for chapter, state and national officers to continue devoting time and strength in voluntary service.

Cooperation and punctuality are characteristics which, if adhered to, will insure prompt submission of complete reports from chapter chairmen and chapter officers to state chairmen and state officers. These will promote successful state conferences.

The Society has so many activities with a diversity of interests that it is possible for each and every member to demonstrate her interest.

The Treasurer General must clear her books March 31st. Any funds received after that date cannot be included in this year's report.

Prompt adherence to all rules and regulations will make sure splendid, one hundred per cent reports at our Continental Congress.

The Penny a Day contributions to the Constitution Hall Debt Fund collected and paid in as soon as possible will benefit the entire Society.

The Trilogy of Buildings in Washington form a National Chapter House which beckons and welcomes as Easter week approaches and the Continental Congress calls.

Edith Scott Magna.
For the past few weeks my time and entire attention has been devoted to preparing for the Smithsonian Institution the annual report of the work done by our National Society. From east and west, north and south, have come inspiring accounts of D. A. R. achievements, in great cities and small hamlets alike, and these it has been my privilege to transmit for publication to the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, Hon. Charles G. Abbot.

It seems most pertinent just now to refresh our memories of the great institution in Washington, D. C., through which, in a semi-official manner, we are linked with the Federal Government. Many, many “Daughters” have visited the great buildings on the Mall which house the different branches of the establishment founded by James Smithson, an Englishman, “for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men.”

Smithson died in Genoa in 1829, leaving his entire estate to the United States of America. After ten years of debate in Congress, partly devoted as to whether the Government should accept such a bequest at all, Congress finally created, by enactment, an “establishment” called by the name of the Smithsonian Institution, consisting of the President of the United States, the Vice-President, the Chief Justice of the United States, and the members of the President’s Cabinet. This establishment is governed by a Board of Regents, composed of the Vice-President and Chief Justice of the United States, three Regents to be appointed by the President of the Senate, three by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and six to be selected by Congress—two of whom must be residents of the District of Columbia and the other four from different states, no two being from the same state, however. The act also provided that the Secretary of the Institution is secretary of the Board of Regents.

Smithson’s money, which amounted to over half a million dollars, and later to three-quarters of a million, was lent to the United States Treasury, the Government agreeing to pay perpetually 6 per cent interest on it. Other gifts have raised the original Smithson endowment to $1,600,000, of which, however, $700,000 is restricted to particular objects selected by the donors.

In its acceptance of Smithson’s munificent gift, the United States solemnly bound itself to the administration of a trust. In all probability never before has a “ward” found so powerful a guardian. The Smithsonian is neither endowed nor maintained by Government appropriation, yet the following Government bureaus were created by the Institution and developed at large expense from its private funds: the National Museum, Besides these, the weather service from 1850 to 1870, the fisheries investigations from 1870 to 1888, and (in its beginning) the Geological Survey were all three Smithsonian children. Also, Charles L. Freer gave into their hands the administration, for the people, of the Freer Gallery of Art, which with its endowment is now valued above $10,000,000. It is devoted to Oriental and American art, and to the study of the civilizations of the Far East.

Smithsonian Park, just south of the Archives Building, now in course of erection by the Government, is a fine setting for the old Smithsonian Building, the handsome Natural History Building, the Arts and Industries Building, the Freer Gallery of Art and the recently constructed Aircraft Building. The first-mentioned building was erected in 1852 at a cost of the accumulated interest of the Smithsonian fund. It houses the administrative offices, editorial department and library, comprising nearly 800,000 volumes. The new research division of Radiation and Organisms, for the study of plant and animal dependence on light, has laboratories in the basement, while the remainder is occupied by the Bureau of Ethnology, the headquarters for the study of the Indians, and the Bureau of International Exchanges.

Possibly no exhibits will attract greater interest among visitors than those shown in the Aircraft Building deposited by the War and Navy Departments. They recall some of the greatest pioneering exploits in the history of aviation.

Close by, in the Arts and Industries Building, are to be seen the uniforms of the army in all branches of the service back to Revolutionary days; the celebrated series of gowns of mistresses of the White House, from Martha Washington to Grace Coolidge; the costumes worn by the great actor, Richard Mansfield; a magnificent stamp collection and those of medals and coins.

It is an astonishing fact that this Arts and Industries Building, begun in 1879, cost but six cents a cubic foot, as against 70 cents for public buildings of the present day; it covers two and a half acres. In 1881 Garfield's Inaugural Ball was held here.

Here, also, suspended in mid-air, as if in actual flight, is the "Spirit of St. Louis," flown alone by Colonel Lindbergh in the first non-stop flight from New York to Paris, May 20-21, 1927, and later in his "good-will tour" to South America. Close at hand are mementoes of other famous Americans—precious relics of George Washington, the death-mask of Abraham Lincoln; and the original flag which inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star Spangled Banner."

In the central hall of the Natural History Building is the nucleus of a National Gallery of Art, given its initial impetus by the bequest of Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnston, niece of President James Buchanan, and since increased by other gifts and bequests. Its treasures comprise rare paintings by Old Masters and by later European, early American and contemporary artists. To this, John Gellatly of New York added in 1929 over 100 paintings by foremost American masters, and a collection of jewelry rivaling the best in foreign lands. This collection will be moved during the present year from New York to the Smithsonian.

In the same building are shown realistic groups of North American aborigines and the well-known exhibit of the Roosevelt African expedition. Space does not permit recording the other many important exhibits and achievements which have made the Smithsonian famous.

In over 80 years there have been but five Secretaries of the Smithsonian—Joseph Henry, 1846-1878; Spencer F. Baird, 1878-1887; Samuel P. Langley, 1887-1906; Charles D. Walcott, 1907-1927; and Dr. Charles G. Abbot, the present incumbent.

Secretary Baird’s assistant, George Brown Goode (appointed in 1887), played a prominent part in the formation of our National Society. Not only was his wife, Mrs. Sara E. Goode, elected a vice-president general at the “Organization Meeting,” October 11, 1890, and later a signer of the “Act of Incorporation,” but Dr. Goode applied, on August 3, 1891, for a patent of the design of the D. A. R. insignia; this was granted September 22, 1891.

The 54th Congress of the United States passed a special act to incorporate the “National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution,” and it was signed by Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, on February 20, 1896. This act of incorporation, or charter, requires that the National Society “shall report annually to the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. . . . Said Secretary shall communicate to Congress the whole of such report, or such portions thereof as he shall see fit.”

The American Historical Association was similarly incorporated by Act of Congress and reports to the United States Congress through the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution.

A brief search of the index to the United States Statutes at Large reveals that the following patriotic organizations hold a charter under the Government: Sons of the American Revolution, National Society United States Daughters of 1812, Grand Army of the Republic, American Legion, Society of the Army of Santiago de Cuba, Washington National Monument Association, Lincoln Memorial Associa-
For a number of years the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution gave annually a reception to the delegates and alternates attending D. A. R. Continental Congresses on the Saturday night preceding their meetings. These receptions were held in the Natural History Building and were most delightful occasions.

THE CAPTURE OF DCMINICA BY THE MARQUIS DE BOUILLÉ. SEPTEMBER 7, 1778
From a French line engraving of 1783

THE MARQUIS DE BOUILLÉ BEFORE BRIMSTONE HILL, ST. KITTS. FEBRUARY, 1782
From a line engraving published by Godefroy, Paris, 1783
The American Revolution in the West Indies

WALTER A. EDWARDS

IT MAY be confidently asserted that the recent commemoration of the anniversary of the end of the War of the American Revolution was not observed on the little island of St. Eustatius in the leeward group of the West Indies.

Among its population of barely a thousand souls, who eke out a precarious existence by fishing and raising a few live stock, few traditions linger of those days when their island played an important part in world affairs, and contributed in no small measure to those events which marked the end of the struggle of the Thirteen Colonies for their independence.

Today the most pathetically insignificant of all the islands in the group, St. Eustatius, generally and familiarly called Statia, was at the time of the American Revolutionary War the principal commercial and maritime depot between the islands and North America.

Every patriotic American should have a warm regard for little Statia. It was the first foreign port to accord a salute to the flag of the 13 Colonies. When the clipper ship Andrew Doria, sailing out of Baltimore, arrived there in November, 1776, the guns of Fort Orange in the Road barked out a salute to the Colony flag flying at her yard. For that friendly gesture, and for the protection the island afforded the ships flying that flag, a bitter price was paid later on.

Erosion of its leeward shore has destroyed the site of the great warehouses and stores which once teemed with a busy life in Statia's town. Fort Orange lies beneath the waters of the roadstead, marked by a bare rock over which the waves of the Caribbean break in ceaseless dirge for the dead and forgotten past. In the apathy of its poverty and loneliness Statia has no thought of anniversaries.

When Louis XVI of France signed the Treaty of Trade with the Thirteen Colonies the alliance brought to France a favorable opportunity to wrest from England the coveted sugar islands of the West Indies, and to restore her prestige so deeply hurt by the awards of the Treaty of Paris in 1763.

The first act of the alliance was the mission of Admiral the Comte D'Estaing to America. With his fleet of 12 ships-of-war and 5 frigates he harried English shipping from the Chesapeake to Providence, and kept the English Admiral Howe occupied all the winter of 1778. But his ultimate destination was the West Indies, where he was to cooperate with the Marquis de Bouillé, the new governor and commander-in-chief at Martinique. Their objective was the reduction of the English islands in the Caribbean.

Admiral Keppel, in command of the English Channel squadron, delayed this combination of forces by bottling up the French ports all the summer of 1778, but De Bouillé finally broke
The fall of Dominica began the debacle in the islands. D'Estaing joined De Bouillé shortly after, and through the following summer St. Vincent and Grenada were captured, and English arms suffered serious reverses both on land and sea.

The year 1780 was comparatively quiet in the islands, while each side took breath. During that year Admiral Rodney was appointed to the West India command, and the French prepared a strong naval force for the following spring. This fleet sailed from Brest in March, 1781, in command of the Comte De Grasse.

Meanwhile, Holland had joined in the war against England, and Statia, being a Dutch possession, Rodney had his opportunity to visit on the island its sin of “harboring the ships of the rebellious American Republic.”

He descended on Statia with 18 ships of the line and a body of troops under General Vaughan on February 3, 1781, and obtained from the Governor De Graaf an unconditional surrender.

There were 130 sail seized in the port, of which five were armed merchantmen belonging to the American Colonies mounting from 14 to 26 guns. Of the Americans found on the island Rodney wrote:

“The American merchants and seamen amounting to more than 2,000 have been secured. They made an offer to the Governor to defend the island, and still a considerable number remain lurking in the mountains. Hunger will soon compel them to surrender at discretion.”

The looting of the island was very thoroughly accomplished. Everything was seized as contraband, even the linen and silver of private homes. When the inhabitants sought to secrete their goods by burial the graves in the cemetery were opened for their recovery. The value of the booty has been variously estimated at from two to six millions sterling. A great part of it was sold at auction both at Statia and St. Kitts. The Annual Register said:
"The island became one of the greatest auctions ever opened in the Universe."

The work of confiscation went on for months. Rodney was so obsessed in the prosecution of his picaroon operations that he seems to have ignored the fact that De Grasse had opened the offensive his powerful force had come out to undertake. The opposition to that offensive was delegated to the second in command, Rear Admiral Sir Samuel Hood, with only a part of the fleet.

So De Grasse out-maneuvered Hood in the famous indecisive engagement off Martinique on April 29, and proceeded to Yorktown to take his part in that crowning achievement that marked the end of the war in America.

The most pertinent of the blasts of criticism aimed at Rodney came from St. Kitts, whose merchants were deeply involved in the trade of Statia.

A speech delivered there in the House of Assembly furnishes the sentiments of the islanders. The speech "was spoken when the news was just arrived that Lord Cornwallis had surrendered at Yorktown—that De Grasse was preparing to sail from the Chesapeake immediately and to proceed to the West Indies—and that Admiral Rodney would leave England early in December to resume his command on the Leeward Island Station."

After denouncing the Admiral's motives for the pillage of Statia, and the methods he had used to accomplish it, the orator attacked Rodney's dalliance at Statia, and demanded:

"It is demonstrable, and I trust that I am now heard with the proud spirit of former wars, that had the fleets then met, Lord Cornwallis were now in safety; these islands were not now in danger."

After De Grasse left the West Indies De Bouillé continued the offensive there. Tobago fell, and Statia was re-taken and held for Holland. De Bouillé invaded St. Kitts, and in a series of brilliant engagements before Brimstone Hill obtained the surrender of the island together with Nevis and Montserrat.

Thus, by the end of February, 1782, England had been stripped of the greater part of her West India possessions. To be sure, Rodney's smashing victory over De Grasse in the battle of the Saintes on April 12 went a long way to restore his prestige and that of the British navy, and counted heavily in the settlement of the Treaty of Versailles in 1783, when all her sugar islands, except Tobago, were restored to England.

It seems worthy of remark that the looting of little Statia furnishes the real reason why Rodney and De Grasse met after rather than before Yorktown.

Rebecca Motte Chapter (Charleston, S. C.). On Sunday, February 21, members of Rebecca Motte Chapter, in a body, attended services at St. Philips Episcopal Church, at which church Washington attended morning services in 1791. The chapter’s flag was borne by Miss Jane Allan.

The ceremonies dedicating the granite marker on the King’s Highway commemorated George Washington’s Southern tour in 1791 and took place under a tarpaulin erected by troops from Fort Moultrie, who were present. General Charles P. Summerall, President of the Citadel, was the principal speaker.

The oak tree at Hampton Plantation, in Charleston County, which was saved from destruction by Washington, was marked by Rebecca Motte Chapter on May 31. The story of the oak was read by Mrs. E. C. Hetzel, Historian of the chapter. At the time that the destruction of the young tree was contemplated, Washington was the guest of Mrs. Harriet Pinckney Horry, then owner of the place. During his visit, Mrs. Horry announced her intention of cutting down the oak, which grew directly in front of the house and which she feared would later obstruct the view. Washington examined the spot and urged Mrs. Horry to allow the tree to stand.

Hampton Plantation is now owned by Mr. Archibald Rutledge, poet and author. Mr. Rutledge could not be present at the ceremony of marking the tree but the Rutledge family was represented by Mr. Thomas P. Rutledge, Miss Caroline Rutledge and Mrs. Paul Stroman, brother and sisters of the owner, and Miss Mary Stroman, his niece.

Mrs. William S. Allan, Regent of the chapter, read Washington’s prayer and dedicated the tree to his memory. Mr. Rutledge affixed the marker to the oak with screws. The screws were presented to him by Mrs. William S. Allan, Mrs. A. E. Baker, Mrs. Marie Gary Eason and Miss Caroline Rutledge. Miss Mary Stroman presented the marker for placement and Miss Rutledge and Mrs. Stroman assisted in driving the screws.

Following the ceremony, those present were graciously shown the historic mansion by Miss Rutledge.

CHEROKEE CHAPTER, SELMA, ALA., UNVEILED A MARKER ON THE GRAVE OF MISS NELLIE V. BAKER, FOUNDER AND FIRST REGENT OF THE CHAPTER
20th Amendment of the Constitution

AMY CRESSWELL DUNNE
Historian General, N. S., D. A. R.

The 20th Amendment of the Constitution of the United States was ratified by 36 States about a year after it had been submitted to the States by the Congress.

Under the Amendment the first regular session of the next Congress will open on January 3rd, as will each session thereafter, and the 1937 inauguration will be on January 20th instead of March 4th—the date on which each President except Washington, whose first inauguration was held in New York on April 30th, has been inducted into office.

The Continental Congress fixed the opening of the 1st Congress on March 4th, 1789. This is the reason that the terms of Congress have begun on March 4th heretofore. The life of a Congress is two years.

The opening of the Congress on January 3rd, seventeen days ahead of the inauguration of the Chief Executive, gives time for it to meet in joint session and canvass the electoral vote, cast in the election of the preceding November, for President and Vice-President. The Congress and the President and Vice-President will take office in January, avoiding the four months delay under the old system. Such delay has proven costly to the Nation in times past and never more so than in the session now closing—with the country waiting eagerly for the development of new policies and the enactment of important legislation. The old Congress has been impotent.

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, the Republican Progressive who sponsored the amendment, had a long and difficult fight before success attained his efforts. Five times the Amendment passed the Senate before there was favorable action in the House.

On February 6th, in the presence of a number of State Department officials and Miss Belle Sherwin, president of the National League of American Voters, and Clarence Martin, representing the American Bar Association, the Secretary of State, Hon. Henry L. Stimson, signed the proclamation announcing to the Nation that 39 State Legislatures had approved the measure. In addition to these, however, six other States have acted, leaving only Florida, Maryland and Vermont which thus far have not approved it.

The certificate proclaiming the amendment contained a copy of the joint resolution proposing the Amendment, the names of the 39 States and a statement that these States constituted more than the requisite three-fourths. It added that the Secretary of State does “hereby certify that the Amendment has become valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution of the United States.”

The 20th Amendment was enacted to put an end to Lame Duck Sessions. There is still a possibility that even under it Lame Duck Sessions will be held. The President could call the Congress in special session after election day in November and before the newly elected Congress comes in in January, but such a session is not likely unless the country is confronted with an emergency which would require the presence of Congress without delay.

National Defense
(Embodying Patriotic Education)
FLORENCE HAGUE BECKER
National Chairman

From the halls of Montezuma
To the shores of Tripoli
We fight our Country’s battles
On the land as on the sea.

IN SPITE of the fact that the Marines are regarded by the citizens of the United States as being the most picturesque corps of the army and the “Minute Men” of the nation for both land and sea duty, the general information concerning their duties is very limited. More truly, perhaps, than may be said of any other branch of the military service, the Marine Corps is the Federal police force.

So often there is created the impression that the essential mission of the Corps is to be ready for expeditionary duty and inject itself as the United States representative in the affairs of our neighbors in Central America. This is a false conception and not just to the Corps itself. Missions that carry the Marines into the jungles and fever-infested swamps of Central America are not sought by the Corps. Such dangerous and disagreeable duty is performed, however, in the same cheerful patriotic spirit that has always actuated the Marine Corps. “Semper Fidelis” is the Corps’ motto. They endeavor sincerely to live up to that ideal tenet.

The Marine Corps is, by law, a part of the Navy and the naval establishment. Its prime mission is purely naval and that mission naturally divides itself into:
(1) The furnishing of guards and sentries for naval magazines, yards, and shore establishments at home and abroad.
(2) The furnishing of Marine detachments for service aboard the fighting vessels of the fleet, and
(3) Providing a highly trained, well equipped, thoroughly disciplined force to be used in conjunction with the fleet as a mobile defense force for advance naval bases.

(4) Apart from the essential naval mission, the Corps has been called upon in the past for other duty within the United States. It has been called upon to guard the United States mails; it has frequently rendered material assistance to humanity in connection with disaster, particularly in the Mississippi flood relief and the San Francisco fire.

It must be borne in mind that when the Marine Corps is ordered into a foreign country to protect the lives and property of the citizens of the United States, that duty is performed at the instance of the State Department and not the Navy Department, and its continuation on such duty is a matter of treaty arrangements in which the Navy and Marine Corps are not parties.

There is one distinct mission performed by the Marine Corps which cannot be rendered by any other branch of the military or naval forces of our country. The presence of the Marine Corps with the fleet is essential to the upholding of the power of the office of President of the United States. The President may land Marines for the preservation and protection of American life and property in a foreign country without a declaration of war and without the specific sanction of Congress as a condition precedent to such landing. When the army moves on foreign territory, that is an act of war. The Marine Corps can land on foreign territory without it being considered an act of war. This, then, is one of the main reasons for the Marine Corps being maintained at a strength sufficient to have men available for active duty with the fleet as well as distributing them among the training stations at Quantico, San Diego,
Parris Island and the navy yards, naval stations, naval magazines, ordnance plants and air stations for guard duty.

From July 1, 1930, to June 30, 1932, the appropriations for the Marine Corps were cut over three and one-half millions of dollars. The 1934 budget proposes to reduce it by still another $1,650,000, which would necessitate a reduction of 1,743 men, making a total reduction in three years of 4,400 men. This would result in the abandonment of units at certain key points and would curtail the mobile forces so that their usefulness would be seriously impaired. A reduction in the budget of the Marine Corps means a reduction in personnel, for it has no projects that can be postponed which are included in its appropriations. The appropriations for the Marine Corps are divided into two general headings only: “Pay, Marine Corps”; “General Expenses, Marine Corps.” May it be said to the credit of the Subcommittee of the House Naval Affairs, headed by Rep. Patrick H. Drewry of Virginia, which held the hearing on the 1934 Appropriation Bill, that the report was made to the Naval Affairs Committee that the Marine Corps, so far from being reduced, should be increased to 17,000 men. The House Naval Affairs Committee unanimously adopted the subcommittee report.

Until there are more dependable assurances of peace in the world than now can be discerned, it would be folly to begin disarmament efforts in America by severely weakening the Marine Corps. It has never failed to provide the country with a most efficient part of its National Defense; its history as a military organization is indelibly woven into the history of our country; the cooperation and coordination between the Navy and the Marine Corps is splendid and far closer than it could be between two branches of military service that are not as intimately associated with one another. Its esprit de corps, built up in the one hundred and fifty-seven years of its existence, cannot be surpassed. The Marine Corps and its traditions must not perish!

Report of President General

On the evening of our last Board Meeting, October 26th, the Daughters of the District of Columbia entertained at a very brilliant reception for the National Board of Management at the Washington Club. It was a great pleasure to accept the invitation extended by the State Regent, Mrs. Harry Colfax Grove, and to receive with my fellow officers. There were about forty States represented in the receiving line, and it was altogether a very unusual event. This will ever remain a cherished memory.

The following morning, October 27th, the members of the National Board of Management and others met at Memorial Continental Hall at 9:30 o’clock and motored to Kenmore, the historic estate of Betty Washington Lewis, where they were guests of the Washington-Lewis Chapter of Fredericksburg, Va., to witness the unveiling of a sundial and tablet commemorating the original trustees and incorporators of the Kenmore Association. It was a perfect setting on a receiving day. A lovely place imparted a benediction. The sundial itself was given by Mrs. William W. Peden, and rests on a pedestal presented by Mrs. J. D. Ray.

A bugle call by Constantine Pappendreau opened the impressive ceremonies, followed by the singing of “America” by a group of students from the State Teachers’ College, led by Miss Eva Taylor Eppes. The invocation was pronounced by Mrs. Raymond G. Kimbell, Chaplain General, who was presented by Mrs. Joseph Winfred Smith, Regent of the Washington-Lewis Chapter. The address of welcome was given by Maj. R. J. Payne. Others who spoke were Mr. John M. Gibbs, representing the National George Washington Bicentennial Commission, and dear Mrs. Vivian M. Fleming, President of the Kenmore Association. It was such a privilege to hear her and to know that all of Fredericksburg lies close to her heart. Surely she must feel a satisfaction that so many of her dreams have come true. Those who heard her words of welcome, of historical significance, and realized her tenacity of purpose, appreciated her quaint charm and eloquent delivery of details. Mrs. H. H. Smith, Secretary of the Kenmore Association, introduced our Honorary President General, Mrs. George Maynard Minor, who first gave Kenmore the opportunity to present its cause to the Daughters of the American Revolution. She spoke in her own delightfully impressive manner. Mr. Frank B. Steele, Secretary General of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, and Mrs. Charles M. Keesee, State Regent of Virginia, were presented and spoke briefly, but fittingly. I had the honor of being introduced by Mrs. Keesee, and of receiving a lovely bridal bouquet made up of blossoms from all of the flower beds of historical significance. I wished they were everlasting. It was a great pleasure to visit the other historic sights and listen to the history as related by Mrs. Fleming.

A delicious luncheon was served in Kenmore, after which we drove to Ferry Farm, the boyhood home of George Washington, across the Rappahannock from Fredericksburg.

On the return trip the whole party was greatly refreshed by stopping at the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Ellis at their lovely country place, Rippon Lodge, on the Potomac, an old Colonial home antedating Mount Vernon.

This was a truly delightful day, and it was an added pleasure for the President General to have so many of her Board members with her. She wishes this might always be so. Thirty-five States were represented.

Early the next morning, October 28th, in the company of Mrs. Frank M. Dick, Librarian General, and Mrs. Stanley F. Reed, Registrar General, we motored to Shepherdstown, W. Va., to attend the unveiling ceremonies of a marker erected by the Pack Horse Ford Chapter, whose Regent is Mrs. Ernest Stutzman. This marker commemorates the Bee Line march of Capt. Hugh Stevenson’s Company of Virginia riflemen, 98 in number. This Bee Line march was direct from the rendezvous at Morgan’s Spring to Boston, Mass., 600 miles away, to join Washington in 1775. Of interest is the fact that all pledged to meet at Morgan’s Spring 50 years hence, if alive. In 1825, only two could keep this tryst. It seemed quite a coincidence to have a President General from Massachusetts assist at such a ceremony. The beautiful bronze tablet, set in stone, and placed on the highway, is a great credit to the chapter as an achievement.

Before the ceremonies it was a pleasure to be the luncheon guest of Miss Susan Gregg Gibson at her home in Charles Town, together with Mrs. Dick and Mrs. Reed, and to meet here Mrs. Paul O. Reymann, the State Regent of West Virginia, Mrs. Frank L. Bushong, Regent of the Bee Line Chapter, Mrs. William B. Packette and Mrs. Augustine J. Todd, a former member of my Library Committee.

Just before the luncheon, Mr. William Bainbridge Packette entertained us delightfully by exhibiting relics of John Brown and relating their history.

The invocation at the unveiling ceremonies was given by Rev. Charles Ghiselin, D. D. The President General’s address followed. Then Dr. Matthew Page Andrews gave the history of the famous rendezvous. Miss Susan Gregg Gibson, great granddaughter of Maj. Henry Bedinger, unveiled the marker; the Hon. H. L. Snyder read a poem, “Morgan’s Spring”; Mrs. E. Stutzman, Regent of the Pack Horse Ford Chapter, presented the tablet, and Mrs. Paul O. Reymann, the State Regent, responded. We made history even as we commemorated it.

A short drive to local spots of historic interest followed.

After the unveiling exercises, a very delightful buffet supper was served at Belle Vue. We left, with reluctance, to hurry back to Washington, where I had another engagement.

October 29th, upon invitation from the District of Columbia State Officers’ Club, Mrs. C. C. Coombs, President, I had the pleasure, together with other National Officers, of enjoying with members of the club their annual dinner, which was held in Pierce Hall. Delightful and delicious was the dinner. It was a pleasure here to welcome home some of the recently returned D. A. R. pilgrims from France. Later, having adjourned to the large assembly hall upstairs, I had the opportunity to give an informal talk and then to enjoy to the full a very delightful sketch, “The Rummage Sale,” written by Mrs. Tonnis J. Holberg of the District, and produced in the joyously entertaining manner for which this club is famous.

I was invited on this same date to attend the dedicatory exercises of the Bicentennial tree planting in Brooklyn, N. Y., which was done to pay honor to Mrs. Frank H. Parcells, our Organizing Secretary General. Not being able to accept, I asked Mrs. William H. Pouch, Vice-President General, to represent me, which she did very ably and graciously.

October 30th I had the pleasure of attending one of the National Symphony Concerts in Constitution Hall. This pleasure does not come to me as often as I could wish, but it has been a joy to extend the courtesy of these musical events in our auditorium to National Officers, Ex-National Officers, Chairmen of National Committees, Daughters from out of town who happen to be in the city at the time, and others.

On November 2d I was able to give a radio talk over Station W6Z-WBZA and their network from Springfield, Mass. My subject was “Intelligent Voting.”

On November 9th came a very happy event for me, and an unusual one, namely, to be the guest of honor of my own pastor, Rev. Clarence Reidenbach, D. D., and the members of the Second Congregational Church in Holyoke, Mass. The large assembly hall was filled to overflowing with neighbors and fellow parishioners. The hall was fittingly and attractively decorated with flags, and the entire program of songs and speeches was a patriotic one. I cannot refrain from quoting from the Doctor’s introductory remarks when he said, “We prove tonight that a prophet is with honor in his own country.”

Quite by chance, Rev. Raymond G. Clapp, D. D., President of the Schaufler Missionary School in Cleveland, Ohio, happened to be in Holyoke. He saw on the bulletin board notice of the tribute dinner, and called on Dr. Reidenbach, who asked him to attend the dinner. This afforded a rare opportunity to introduce many to the activities of the National Society, and the school work especially. Just here let me say that Father Walsh, of Georgetown University, was to speak the next Monday in Holyoke, under the auspices of the Women’s Club, so in my address on National Defense I could and did urge all to attend. It was my regret that I could not remain for his engagement. The church meeting is another demonstration of my belief that we should court every opportunity to tell of our good works to groups who are not aware of what the Daughters do.

Not being able to be in Washington on November 11th to place a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery, I requested Mrs. Beavers to represent me and place our wreath, which she very kindly did.

An invitation was likewise received for that date to attend the unveiling ceremonies of the Jasper and Newton Memorial erected by the United States Government to commemorate the exploit of Sergeant William Jasper and Sergeant John Newton in rescuing American prisoners from a British general. These ceremonies were conducted by Lachlan McIntosh, Savannah and Bonaventure Chapters and the Georgia Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. As it was impossible for me to be present I asked Mrs. Herbert Fay Gaffney, Vice-President General, to represent me, which she did most acceptably.

November 13th, I was invited by the Manhattan Chapter to be present at the dedication of tablets to commemorate the lives of five distinguished American patriots, placed in the new Bowery Cemetery, New York City, and being unable to attend these ceremonies Mrs. Pouch again kindly represented me.

I wish to express my gratitude to the National Officers and Vice-Presidents General who so kindly and ably represent the Society on various occasions. This year I was unable to attend, but putting my car at my disposal, she did most acceptably. The multifarious duties of the President General preclude the possibility of being able to personally represent the National Society at many ceremonies, and we are fortunate to have so many officers who can and do act as the President General's personal representatives.

On Sunday, November 14th, I left home for Austin, Texas, to attend the conference of that State. After a two days' journey I was very happy to be greeted at the station by Mrs. Martin L. Sigmon of Arkansas, Vice-President General, and our Past Vice-Presidents General, Mrs. Charles Burton Jones, Mrs. James Lowry Smith, and Mrs. Alvin V. Lane, who escorted me to the Driskill Hotel.

We immediately changed our costumes, and with Mrs. William Perry Herring McFaddin, State Regent of Texas, attended the reception given at the Governor's Mansion, with Thankful Hubbard Chapter of Austin as hostess; Mrs. Ben H. Powell, Regent, and Mrs. Ross S. Sterling, wife of the Governor, receiving. The reception was most delightful and it was a great pleasure to meet again the Daughters of the Lone Star State, and to renew many delightful acquainances formerly made.

The Conference had as its General Chairman, Mrs. Ernst Gustav Bischoff and as Assistant Chairman Mrs. Arthur Merchant.

The Tuesday evening program was an historical one, given under the capable leadership of Mrs. Arthur Claude Hamilton, State Historian, and Mrs. Annie Doom Pickerell, Ex-State Historian of the Thankful Hubbard Chapter. The entire program was an outstanding presentation of historical work. The address called "The American Woman" I shall long remember, as it was so beautifully given by Mrs. Arthur Clyde Hamilton. This was followed by a striking pageant of American women. Following the pageant, greetings were read from Mrs. William Louis Dunne of Texas, Historian General.

On Wednesday morning came the fine reports of the State Chairmen, followed by a very beautiful luncheon at the Scottish Rite Dormitory, with Andrew Carruthers Chapter of Austin as hostess.

Mrs. Burnett Pouch is Regent of this Chapter. It was a great honor to meet Dr. Harry Yardell Benedict, President of the University of Texas, and also Miss Rachel Allen, who is the Student Loan pupil with a remarkable record, and a great credit to Texas D. A. R. and the Society.

A sight-seeing trip followed to view the campus. In the afternoon further very interesting reports were given.

That evening I was delighted to be the dinner guest of Mrs. Alvin V. Lane, and Mrs. James Lowry Smith, and later to listen to the work of the chapters as given by the Chapter Regents.

The State D. A. R. song, "Have You Ever Been to Texas in the Spring?" was rendered by the Morris Ensemble. The assemblage made the blue bonnets live again in memory, and brought to a close for me a most delightful visit in every way.

I should say Austin the beautiful, for the capital city is just that, with its imposing capitol of native Texas pink granite, exquisite in design and color, and the university, with its multiplicity of new buildings and its beautiful esplanade.

The next morning, as the guest of Mrs. McFaddin, an added joy was mine. Mrs. McFaddin could not leave, as conference had not yet adjourned, but putting her car at my disposal, she sent me to San Antonio, with the gracious escort of Mrs. Martin L. Sigmon of Arkansas, Vice-President General, and Mrs. Harry Hyman, Honorary Regent of the Alamo Chapter of San Antonio.

After a delightful drive we arrived at the Plaza Hotel to be met most happily by representatives of both San Antonio Chapters, the Alamo and the San Antonio de Bexar. Of the latter chapter, a veritable hostess indeed and a raconteur of charm, was Mrs. Eugene Jay Fellowes, 82 years young, who lovingly and enthusiastically pictured and showed old San Antonio, but new to us, first entertaining at luncheon at an original Mexican restaurant, where I was introduced to frijoles and tamales.

It was a regret that the Regents of the two chapters, Mrs. George C. Wurzbach of Alamo Chapter and Mrs. O. M. Farnsworth of the San Antonio de Bexar Chapter, could not be present, owing to the conference.

After a most unusual luncheon for me, and a very enjoyable one, I was taken sight-seeing to all the missions and points of interest. I shall never forget my visit to San Antonio, the home of the Alamo "Cradle of Texas Liberty." Lack of space prevents my description of this important and interesting city. Of course outstanding is the Alamo Mission, founded in 1718.

Each one in the party gave me a typical souvenir, Mrs. J. Frank Davis, Mrs. Henry W. Newhall, Mrs. H. A. Moos, Mrs. Robert Lee Dalton and her daughters, Miss Mary, the Alamo Chapter's mascot and prize winner, and Mrs. Leta Larkin, who later in the afternoon entertained us at tea in the Spanish Governor's palace. This palace is now restored, but with the quaint and interesting charm which makes it all picturesque and romantic, especially the patio and its wishing wreath, tropical plants and serpentine walks in...

mosaic style. It was a pleasure to meet the custodians, Miss Georgia Maverick Harris and Elizabeth Orynski Graham.

After enjoying the day, which was like a page out of an old history, the party had, of necessity, to separate, and I went home with Mrs. Fellowes. That evening we were the guests at dinner of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Newhall at the Argyle Hotel, where I met the hostess, Miss Alice O'Grady, who has made that place famous. Later we returned to Mrs. Fellowes to spend a delightful evening. I had expected to leave that night, but found almost impossible train connections, so was most happy to be Mrs. Fellowes' house guest until early the next morning, when I regrettfully left my charming hostess for home.

On December 8th I drove to Suffield, Conn., and together with Miss Emeline A. Street, State Regent of Connecticut, Mrs. Frederick Palmer Latimer, State Vice-Regent, and Miss Mary C. Welch, National Chairman of Americanism, we were luncheon guests of Mrs. Frank A. Whipple, Regent of the Sibbil Dwight Kent Chapter. It was their Christmas party and all attending brought gay colored packages and placed them around the tree. Later they were to be sent to the Kat- Duncan Smith School. The meeting was delightful and full of real Christmas spirit combined with practical committee work.

After the meeting, Miss Street drove us to Farmington where we had dinner and an opportunity to visit informally. After saying "Goodbye" to Mrs. Latimer and Miss Welch in Hartford, Miss Street drove me to New Haven. Here I left her after a very lovely day to join Miss Katherine Arnold Nettleton, our Treasurer General, where we took the sleeper for Washington.

Independence Hall Chapter of Philadelphia, Pa., on December 13th, invited me to be their guest of honor at a delightful luncheon, where the chapters in that city and vicinity were asked to attend, which gave me the opportunity of greeting and speaking to a large number of our members. Upon arriving in Philadelphia, I was met at the station by Mrs. Paul Y. Schelly and escorted to the Belle- vue-Stratford where I was welcomed by the Re- gent of the chapter, Mrs. Horace M. Jones, and the State Regent, Mrs. William Herron Alexander. It was a pleasure to have with us also Mrs. Joseph M. Caley of Pennsylvania, Vice-President General, and Mrs. N. Howland Brown of Pennsylvania, Past Vice-President General. After a very interesting and delightful day, I returned at once to Washington to hold the December Executive Committee Meeting and the Special Board Meeting on the 14th.

On the morning of December 15th, I attended the funeral services of Miss Elizabeth Frances Pierce, who served the National Society as Recording Secretary General under Mrs. Donald McLean, 1908-1909, and as Chaplain General during two administrations, that of Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, 1911-1913, and Mrs. George Thacher Guernsey, 1917-1920. Many gathered to pay their affectionate respects to one greatly beloved and admired.

We have had an unusual number of deaths since last we met which have deeply touched our hearts, and of those who have likewise rendered valuable service to our Society. Mrs. John G. H. Lilburn, State Regent of Maryland, passed away rather suddenly at the home of her sister in Baltimore on November 19th. Mrs. Dick, our Librarian General, represented me at her funeral. A message of sympathy in the name of the Society was sent to her sorrowing family, as well as a spray of flowers.

November 20th, our faithful friend, Chief O'Con- nor, who has been with us for so many years at Congress, died very suddenly. At this funeral I was represented by Mrs. David D. Caldwell, Vice-President General, and Mrs. Harry Colfax Grove, State Regent of the District of Columbia. A lovely basket of white chrysanthemums, tied with the official colors, and a message of sympathy were sent to her family and to some of her intimate friends, and flowers tied with our D. A. R. colors were likewise sent.

Thursday evening, December 15th, in the company of Mrs. George Maynard Minor, our Honorary President General, and Mrs. Charles H. Bissell, former Recording Secretary General, I attended the brilliant and colorful Diplomatic Reception given by the President and Mrs. Hoover at the White House—a delightful and memorable occasion.

On Saturday, December 17th, I was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor at their lovely home, "Wild Acres." in Bethesda, Md., when Miss Amelia Earhart was the guest of honor. It was a great pleasure to meet her again, and many guests distinguished for outstanding accomplishments.

I remained in Washington until December 20th, busy with official duties, then the holidays called me home. It was a genuine personal regret not to be at the Christmas party held for our faithful employees in the buildings. I could and did share the lighted Christmas tree which stood in the corridor of the Administration Building, and enjoyed the happy Christmas spirit which permeated the offices.

At the invitation of Commissioner Corsi I was a patroness for the very beautiful Christmas program held on Ellis Island December 24th. It was impossible to attend but of course our faithful National Chairman of Ellis Island Committee, Mrs. J. Warren Perkins, was the Society's representative. I hope many listened in over the radio that Saturday afternoon, for the whole program was broadcast to many parts of the world. Metropoli- tan opera stars gave of their time and talent, also prominent speakers. I arranged an audience in my home and was very proud of the work we are accomplishing there. I am sure all listeners were inspired to further work. Again the radio served as a great power to make our work known.

On Tuesday, December 27th, the Holyoke Rotary Club honored your President General at their meeting. All mothers, wives and daughters were invited. Again it was my privilege to tell of D. A. R. work, to stress our strong stand for National Defense and to distribute copies of bills pending in which we are interested. By speaking to other organizations we are carrying our patriotic education into a wider field.

I enjoyed a brief holiday week-end at home and on January 5th accepted the invitation of Madame Carlo Polifeme, President of “Le Lyceum,” to attend their anniversary meeting in commemoration of Jeanne d’Arc at the Waldorf Astoria in New York. On this particular occasion the Society presented to Miss Earhart the Jeanne d’Arc medal. Your President General led in the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag and was called on for a brief talk.

The next day, at 1:15, I was met at the broadcasting station of WABC by Mrs. Gordon Newman, Vice-Chairman of the New York State Radio Committee, under whose auspices the broadcast was arranged. The resultant messages received from Maine to California, from Ohio to Brevard in the mountains of western North Carolina, impelled me to emphasize intensive radio work. Its force and contact make it one of our greatest assets. Every opportunity to use it should be embraced and much thought and care should be given to programs.

That same afternoon I was the guest of the New York City Chapter at the Hotel Plaza. It is their custom to observe the anniversary of George and Martha Washington’s wedding day, January 6th. Mrs. Alfred W. Cochran, the much loved Regent of this chapter, presided in her usual delightful manner. It was a pleasure to have present Mrs. Frank H. Gibbes, State Regent, Mrs. Frank H. Parcelles, Organizing Secretary General, Mrs. William H. Pouch, Vice-President General, and Mrs. Samuel Jackson Kramer, past Curator General, also Mr. John V. Bouvier, Jr., President General, Sons of the Revolution, and other distinguished guests. It was a happiness to be introduced by Dr. Nathan A. Seagle, a dear friend of the Walter Scott Home for Crippled Children, as well as of our Society.

It was with regret that my father and I had to interrupt so delightful a program to take the train for Holyoke, so that together with Mr. Magna we might be in Northampton early the next morning to attend the funeral services held in the Edwards Congregational Church for Ex-President Calvin Coolidge. A brief tribute is recorded in the Magazine. Never was simplicity more beautiful.

I sent the following telegram in your behalf:

“MRS. CALVIN COOLIDGE,
Northampton, Massachusetts:

On behalf of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, I wish to extend sincere sympathy. Mr. Coolidge’s friendship and loyal support of our patriotic endeavors has been deeply appreciated. The nation mourns a great leader and a great American. Our Society also will miss his guidance and leadership. From coast to coast and beyond our chapters mourn with you.

EDITH SCOTT MAGNA,
President General.”

Mrs. Coolidge, in her graciousness, has acknowledged the spray of white Easter lilies and deep red roses, tied with wide red, white and blue ribbon, and sent by the National Society.

The flags on our buildings were placed at half-mast at once.

On Monday, the 16th, I was the guest of honor of Eunice Day Chapter of Holyoke, at their meeting held in the Chapter Headquarters in Old Post Tavern. The Regent, Mrs. Clifford Stanley Lyon, had thoughtfully invited the Regents from other nearby chapters in western Massachusetts. A unique bouquet was presented to me in the form of a gardenia, tied to which was an envelope containing a generous check for the debt on Constitution Hall. This type of “cented” flowers was deeply appreciated.

The very great pleasure was mine, in accepting an invitation from Mr. S. S. Williamson, President of the District of Columbia Sons of the American Revolution, to be present in the ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel on their Ladies’ Night, January 25th, when a very interesting program was enjoyed. I assisted in receiving the guests and later gave greetings from our Society, which were most enthusiastically received. Col. Kyle Rucker, of the Judge Advocate General’s Office of the War Department, made the address of the evening. It was a very delightful occasion.

I have personally supervised the distribution of a large number of our Manuals and the pamphlet “What the Daughters Do.” Many members have never read a Manual; some have not seen one.

In this report of my activities, it would be well to state that I have a large, well-equipped office in my home, with a secretary who has been with me for eight years; that I am in that office, when not traveling, at 8:15 every morning, and work all day, every day, with very few exceptions. I am in constant communication by telephone with the Washington office and with Mrs. Becker on National Defense matters—both of us ready to fly or take the express if needed on legislative matters. It is a comparatively short distance, and traveling is very convenient.

The work throughout the country is moving along very well, all things considered.

Keep steady and hold fast to faith. Utilize less and less criticism and more understanding. Every phase of our work is worth while, and in service and loyalty lies happiness.

Respectfully submitted,

EDITH SCOTT MAGNA,
President General.

The Chaplain General, Mrs. Raymond G. Kimbell, read her report.

Report of Chaplain General

With other members of the National Board I went to Kenmore on October 27th and shared in the dedication of the sundial there, a stimulating and delightful experience. Later that same week, I helped in the ceremony of placing a George Washington elm upon the campus of Chicago University, the gift of General Henry Dearborn Chapter.

In early November I gave a talk on Kenmore to the 4th division of Illinois and on December 1st was one of the guests at an altogether lovely birthday celebration of the La Porte Indiana Chapter, Mariam Benedict, talking to them about the Century of Progress plans for our Society. Later in the month I brought the message of the Approved Schools to the Regents' Round Table at the La Salle Hotel, Chicago. Between Christmas and New Year’s Day I was honored by my own chapter at a special meeting, preparing a seasonal message for that occasion, and again in January when Chicago Chapter honored me. The correspondence of my office is all answered up to date.

Respectfully submitted,

EDITH SMITH KIMBELL,
Chaplain General.

Report of Auditing Committee

The Auditing Committee met on Wednesday, February 1, 1933, at 3 p. m., in the Missouri Room with the following members present: Mrs. Henry B. Joy, Chairman; Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Coombs, Mrs. Holt, Mrs. Oatley, Mrs. Parcelles and Mrs. Ryan.

The reports of the Treasurer General and the American Audit Company, certified Public Accountants, for the months of October, November and December were compared and found to agree.

Respectfully submitted,
HELEN N. JOY,
Chairman, Auditing Committee.
eral and Finance Committee. Seconded by Mrs. Reed. Carried.

The President General urged the members to take a personal interest in helping applicants for membership prepare their papers, as interest taken in them will inspire them to take more interest in the National Society.

The Historian General, Mrs. William Louis Dunne, read her report.

Report of Historian General

As Historian General I have the honor to submit the following brief report:

Since the October Board Meeting, two volumes of the Lineage Books, 129 and 130, have been copied, compared and proof read. This completes our schedule for the year, making a total of six volumes published since April. Volume 131 has been typed and is now being verified. Work is going forward on Volume 132, which will complete the published lineage of members admitted through April, 1917.

From indications shown in the letters received, considerable interest is being taken by historians of the different chapters in the outline for study work relative to Historical Research. Respectfully submitted,

AMY CRESSWELL DUNNE,
Historian General.

The Librarian General, Mrs. Frank Madison Dick, read her report.

Report of Librarian General

I have the honor to present the report of the Library.

The routine work since the October Board Meeting has been kept up to date. Many personal letters have been written by your Librarian General in addition to the numerous formal acknowledgements of gifts and business letters sent out from the Library. The filing of the thousands of cards made by the special indexers has progressed steadily. Owing to lack of funds to continue the special indexing I regret that work was suspended December 1st to be resumed when financial conditions permit.

There have been several additions to the Library, the latest, a handsome and useful desk set, presented by Maryland "Daughters" to the Librarian General. Among the latest acquisitions of books, a mahogany catalogue cabinet of 280 drawers, presented through Dorset Chapter, Cambridge, Md., has been installed back of the Librarian General's desk. The cabinet was an immediate necessity as the drawers in the other two cabinets were filled to utmost capacity. Nearly 127 thousand more cards are to be filed in the Library, and add both comfort and better facility for their work. The following list comprises 142 books, 17 pamphlets, 24 manuscripts, 4 photostats and 44 bookplates. The Library also received 95 periodicals.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED,

AMY CRESSWELL DUNNE,
Librarian General.

There are many visitors each day searching for information on genealogical papers, who are assisted efficiently by the attentive force on duty in the Library.

Two rows of new electric lights have been installed over the bookshelves in the south library, used principally by the genealogists employed in the Library, and add both comfort and better facility for their work.

The following list comprises 142 books, 17 pamphlets, 24 manuscripts, 4 photostats and 44 bookplates. The Library also received 95 periodicals.

The filing of the thousands of cards made by the special indexers has progressed steadily. Owing to lack of funds to continue the special indexing I regret that work was suspended December 1st to be resumed when financial conditions permit.

There have been several additions to the Library, the latest, a handsome and useful desk set, presented by Maryland "Daughters" to the Librarian General for her desk. A mahogany catalogue cabinet of 280 drawers, presented through Dorset Chapter, Cambridge, Md., has been installed back of the Librarian General's desk. The cabinet was an immediate necessity as the drawers in the other two cabinets were filled to utmost capacity. Nearly 127 thousand more cards are to be filed, exclusive of those required for the constant accessions to the Library.

To each member of the Library Committee has been sent a circular letter enclosing a questionnaire, to be filled in by the State Chairmen with report of the work accomplished during the year.

There are many visitors each day searching for information on genealogical papers, who are assisted efficiently by the attentive force on duty in the Library.

Two rows of new electric lights have been installed over the bookshelves in the south library, used principally by the genealogists employed in the Library, and add both comfort and better facility for their work.

The following list comprises 142 books, 17 pamphlets, 24 manuscripts, 4 photostats and 44 bookplates. The Library also received 95 periodicals.

Report of Librarian General

I have the honor to present the report of the Library.

The routine work since the October Board Meeting has been kept up to date. Many personal letters have been written by your Librarian General in addition to the numerous formal acknowledgements of gifts and business letters sent out from the Library.

The filing of the thousands of cards made by the special indexers has progressed steadily. Owing to lack of funds to continue the special indexing I regret that work was suspended December 1st to be resumed when financial conditions permit.

Aaron Ogden, William Dawes; Oklahoma—Ponca City; Rhode Island—John Eldred; Virginia—Beverly Manor. We are very grateful to these donors.

Since the last Board Meeting the South Wing has been thoroughly renovated, curtains and cases cleaned and exhibits rearranged; the North Wing...
The Recording Secretary General, Mrs. Joy, read two proposed amendments to the By-Laws, Article IX, Section 2(e). Action on these to be taken after lunch.

The Chairman of the Buildings and Grounds Committee, Mrs. John M. Beavers, read the report of that committee.

Report of Buildings and Grounds Committee

The days since the fall Board Meeting have been busy ones. The most interesting piece of work has been the opening of Oklahoma's Colonial Kitchen. The mantel over the fireplace given by Quaker City Chapter, Pa., makes an appropriate setting for our collection of pewter, and the fireplace from Pennsylvania and cupboard from Rhode Island are filled with utensils used in the kitchens of the Colonial Period which have come from all parts of the country. The Committee is hoping that future gifts may include large andirons for the fireplace, rag rugs and a large open pine dresser.

An old engraving, the gift of Mrs. M. M. Burns, has been beautifully framed and hung in the Iowa Room and the portrait of Mrs. McDonald, our first Treasurer General, which hangs in the Caroline Scott Harrison Room, has been placed in a frame which is the replica of one at Mount Vernon.

New Hampshire has been most generous in her gifts to the Children's Attic and the list includes three books, Lectures on Rhetoric 1816, Rhetorical Reader 1839, and Friend of Youth 1823; a tavern table, the gift of Mrs. Fred Fernald; an old picture from Ranger Chapter; a sampler gift of Mrs. Rachel Wheat; old pine book shelves from Mrs. Mary Read Taylor; cradle and doll, Samuel Ashley Chapter; four small pewter plates, four porringer, two tiny pails, quill pens, a doll trunk, two baby bonnets, one doll's apron, a small doll, dolls, bed sheets, etc., three tiny glasses, a stone jar, and a small chippendale mirror were given by Miss Alice Cora Milliken; a pewter castor by Mrs. M. C. Dow; a pewter mug by Mrs. Anna Christopher; a small iron kettle, Mrs. Charles K. Carroll; a blue and white china mug from Mrs. Carroll; a piece of knitting from Mrs. Winnie Tarbell; a small doll, Mrs. Lora B. E. Courser; a pewter candlestick, Fred W. Courser, Jr.; two little wooden pails, Mrs. Kate J. Woods; a doll table, Mrs. Ariel M. Cutler; a doll with a green dress, Mrs. Ellen Hildreth; a jap tray from the home of the father of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, gift of Mrs. Marion L. Driscoll; little cat and squirrel toys from Mrs. Mary Tyler; child's rocking chair from Miss Isabel Dutton; old wooden yoke, Miss Alice M. Shapleigh.

The State Flag in honor of Mrs. Herbert S. Flather has been placed in the room. For the convenience of the genealogists, additional lights have been placed over the bookstacks in the corners of the South Wing of the Library.

Because of the closing of the streets south of our buildings for improvements, the usual Christmas lighting of the trees back of our Memorial Statue was omitted this year but a large tree was placed in the lobby of the Administration Building and the rooms and corridors decorated with Christmas greens brought by the superintendent from his home in Virginia.

The Friday before Christmas the clerks assembled around the tree and after the reading of a Christmas message from the President General carols were sung. After refreshments were served the clerks were given the opportunity to deliver the many baskets of food, clothing and toys which is their generous custom to do each year.

We have been able to effect economies by the placing of 36 additional fire extinguishers which have been installed through our buildings, thereby saving on the cost of insurance.

By a small reduction in our force of house employees and a rearrangement of the telephone service we have been able to do our part in the necessary reduction of expenses.

It has been a great pleasure to welcome several of the Chairmen of the State Rooms and to talk over the furnishings with them. Mrs. Snow of New Hampshire, Mrs. Belk of North Carolina, Mrs. Butterworth of Illinois, Mrs. Walker of Louisiana, Mrs. Bowman of Iowa, as well as Mrs. Warren of Oklahoma and Mrs. O'Byrne of Indiana, State Regents, have visited my office during the past few months.

I announce with regret the death of Mrs. Wilson Greene, concert manager, who was a pioneer in bringing the world’s finest artists as well as grand opera to Washington. She used Memorial Continental Hall and then Constitution Hall for her concerts. Another concert manager, Mr. T. Arthur Smith, who was of great service in the opening of Constitution Hall and who brought to Washington the symphony orchestra, has also passed away since Constitution Hall was opened. We are greatly indebted to them both for their cooperation in making Constitution Hall famous all over the country as a musical center.

Respectfully submitted,

HATTIE M. BEAVERS,
Chairman.

The Recording Secretary General, Mrs. Joy, read a telegram of greeting and regret at absence received from Mrs. William P. H. McFaddin of Texas; and a letter from a Real Daughter giving details of her genealogy.

The Chairman of the Magazine Committee, Mrs. Jean Labat, read the report of that committee.

Report of Magazine Committee

After the closing date of our special offer of two years’ subscription for $3, there was the inevitable slump, but we soon began to pick up, and while we are not receiving as much as we were during the same period last year, we are doing much better than one might expect in these days of mid-depression.

The December expirations are always the largest of the year, and this December we lost considerably, bringing the total number down to 10,196, our lowest level. During January we gained 530, but the expirations for January were 572, making a net loss of only 42.

It is undoubtedly true that we have lost subscriptions in the last year, but compared with the records of other magazines, and with our loss in membership through death, resignations and fewer admissions, our record is still one of merit. There has been no contest to arouse interest as the one contemplated could not be carried out, but we are considering several new plans.

We are planning to send unused copies of the Magazine to our new members that they may know its interest and value, and thus stimulate subscriptions.

I have had many interesting communications from my Vice-Chairmen and they all seem to be willing to cooperate, and many are using unusual and splendid methods in their work. It is only through the combined efforts of all that we may have a good report at the end of this year.

Respectfully submitted,

MARIE STEWART LABAT,
National Chairman.

The Editor of the Magazine, Miss Natalie Summer Lincoln, read her report.

Report of Editor of Magazine

Articles by our National Officers in the last four issues of the Magazine have stimulated interest in our official publication, increasing the sale of single copies thereby.

The President General’s Christmas “Message” in the December Magazine in particular brought requests from Chapter Regents that we send them sufficient reprint copies to distribute to each chapter member. Unfortunately these requests came after the type had been distributed and we could not run off reprints.

The forthcoming March issue will carry an article by our Reporter General, Mrs. Toms, about the Smithsonian—that great institution of scientific research and learning to which go her yearly reports of D. A. R. accomplishments. The Magazine will also carry the minutes of this meeting and valuable genealogical data.

It has been our policy to print articles which will attract attention year in and year out; that we are succeeding in this is proven by the orders still coming in for Magazines published in the past 16 years.

Color work in our December and February Magazines has aroused favorable comment from our readers. This color work, thanks to our printers, Judd & Detweiler, has been used without additional cost.

We are striving to secure more and more diversified special features and to this end $186.60 has been expended from the fund of $400 set aside in October by this Board to pay for contributions.

One way to judge the value and the extent of the official and special articles used in the past year is to examine the index for 1932—it contains a surprisingly long list of interesting subjects. Those of our subscribers who bind their Magazines can secure an index by applying to the Business Office.

Our editions are limited; therefore I beg of you to enter your subscriptions early for we cannot otherwise gain an accurate idea of the number of Magazines required monthly to meet the demand.

Again may I thank the President General, the members of this Board, Mrs. Labat and Mrs. Puryear, for the valuable support given the Magazine and for much personal kindness shown to me.

Respectfully submitted,

NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN,
Editor.

The President General urged continued and constant personal interest in procuring subscribers for the magazine, suggesting that the Regents take copies to meetings and stimulate interest in the official organ and putting enthusiasm back of requests for subscribers.

The Advertising Director, Mrs. Edgar F. Puryear, read her report.

Report of Advertising Director

In this, my first report to the Board since my appointment as Director of Advertising, I desire to tell of the development of this very necessary financial part of our Magazine. Previous to my appointment by our President General in August, I gained some experience in soliciting advertising during the early spring, securing then copy for our March, April, May and June issues.

But lately my main endeavor has been to secure yearly or six-month contracts from nationally-known merchants and manufacturers, as well as public utilities. Some of this advertising has come from the C. & O. Railway, W. C. & A. N. Miller, Judd & Detweiler, the Willard Hotel, the Sedgwick residence elevators, the Capital Traction bus line, etc.

In securing a further six-month contract from the C. & O. officials, I was told that their ad in our Magazine had brought most successful results, and they were glad to sign a new contract.

My letter to Chapter Regents, asking that advertising in our Magazine be read and discussed at chapter meetings, has met with instant and happy results, and I am still receiving enthusiastic answers offering cooperation. So far our plan to secure national advertising from each State has been slow, but I have no doubt that within the coming months such will be gained by State and Chapter Magazine Chairmen. The District and New Hampshire are the first to notify us to expect a satisfactory contract soon. One Connecticut chapter has sent a small ad for the April issue.

Before closing may I express to our President General, to Mrs. Labat and Miss Lincoln my sincere thanks for their always gracious and valuable assistance.

Respectfully submitted,

D. PURYEAR,
Advertising Director.

The Corresponding Secretary General, Mrs. Beavers, moved That the committees on resolutions of sympathy be allowed a longer time for presentation of resolutions and that they be presented to the President General for approval. Seconded by Miss Harris. Carried.

Mrs. Caley of Pa. moved That the ballots used in voting for members of the committee of seven on investigating and finding qualifications of candidates for Honorary Vice Presidents General for Life be destroyed. Seconded by Mrs. Murray. Carried.

The Corresponding Secretary General, Mrs. Beavers, read a letter addressed to her as Chairman of the Buildings and Grounds Committee, for reference to the President General and the National Board, and signed by 101 Daughters, requesting the use of Constitution Hall free of charge, or at a minimum cost, for a meeting. After discussion, Mrs. Keese of Virginia moved That inasmuch as there have been requests in the past and that the granting of the request contained in the letter of February 1, 1933, addressed to Mrs. John M. Beavers, the Chairman of Buildings and Grounds, to be presented to the President General and National Board would be setting a precedent, the National Board of Management deems it best to adhere to the regulations under which Constitution Hall is operated. Seconded by Mrs. Steele. Carried.

The following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, By the death of Calvin Coolidge, the thirtieth President of the United States, on January fifth of this year, in the sixty-first year of his life, the Nation was suddenly bereft of a great citizen and a wise counsellor and the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution of a sympathetic friend and supporter; and

WHEREAS, In the Divine Providence of God, Calvin Coolidge has been called to a higher life; and

WHEREAS, We, the Board of Management of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, wish to record our respect and admiration for a great President and an American patriot, who has served his Country loyally, with all the honesty of purpose and the rugged courage that was his; and

WHEREAS, The Daughters of the American Revolution hold in grateful memory his visits to our Society and his words of greeting and commendation; be it

Resolved, That we inscribe our deep sorrow at the great loss that has come to us and to the American people; and be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our minutes and that a copy be sent to Mrs. Coolidge with our sincere affection and sympathy.

WHEREAS, The National Board of the Daughters of the American Revolution has learned with real sorrow of the death of Miss Elisabeth F. Pierce; and

WHEREAS, Miss Pierce had by her example of loyalty, patriotism, leadership and womanly charm endeared herself to our membership; therefore be it

Resolved, That we express our loving appreciation of her character and our sense of a great loss in her death.
WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to call to Rest Eternal Mrs. John G. H. Lilburn (Anne Elizabeth Thomas), State Regent of Maryland, April 1931-November 19, 1932; and
WHEREAS, Mrs. Lilburn has always actively promoted the work of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, and has been a kind friend and wise counselor to all members of her State Society; and
WHEREAS, Mrs. Lilburn has been greatly beloved by all members of the Board of Management of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution because of her noble and beautiful qualities of heart and mind; therefore be it
Resolved, That the Board of Management, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution do hereby record its deep sense of loss and sorrow at her death; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Board of Management, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, and that a copy be sent to the bereaved family of Mrs. Lilburn.

WHEREAS, The National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, has sustained a great loss in the death of its beloved Daughter and Honorary Vice-President General, Mrs. Julius J. Estey, of Vermont; and
WHEREAS, Mrs. Estey's affiliation with the Daughters of the American Revolution covers many years of distinguished service, including Chapter Regent, State Regent, Vice-President General and Honorary Vice-President General, as well as attending Continental Congress for thirty-six consecutive years, more than twenty of which she was a member of the Credentials Committee; therefore, be it
Resolved, That we, the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, extend our loving sympathy to her sorrowing family; and be it further
Resolved, That we spread a copy of these resolutions upon the pages of the records of the National Society and send a copy of them to her family.

The Registrar General, Mrs. Stanley Forman Reed, read her report.

WINIFRED E. REED,
Registrar General.

Mrs. Reed moved That the Recording Secretary General be instructed to cast the ballot for the admission of 50 applicants for membership. Seconded by Mrs. Parcells. Carried.

The Recording Secretary General announced casting the ballot and the President General declared the 50 applicants duly elected members of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Caldwell of D. C., moved That the National Board express its appreciation to Horstmann & Company of Philadelphia, for the gift of the beautiful Maritime bunting D. A. R. banner which flew across the Atlantic on the S. S. Champlain on the occasion of the D. A. R. pilgrimage to Paris. Seconded by Miss Johnson. Carried.

The Recording Secretary General, Mrs. Joy, read the proposed amendments to Article IX, Section 2(c) of the By-Laws and moved That the following amendment to the By-Laws be recommended to the 42d Continental Congress:

To amend Article IX, Second 2(c) by adding to the 1st paragraph "No chapter shall be able to prevent the formation of a new chapter in the same locality by refusing to complete the necessary membership of 50. Should such a condition arise those desiring to form a chapter may appeal in writing to the National Board of Management through the Organizing Secretary General and if it is deemed desirable the National Board of Management may grant the permission to form such a chapter."

Seconded by Miss Nettleton. Carried.

The Recording Secretary General, Mrs. Joy, moved That the following amendment to the By-Laws be recommended to the 42d Continental Congress:

To amend Article IX, Section 2(c) by inserting between the 1st and 2d paragraphs "In case a State Regent is unwilling to grant permission for the organization of a chapter, those desirous of organizing a chapter may appeal through the office of the Organizing Secretary General to the National Board of Management for such permission. Such appeals shall be made in writing signed by seven of the prospective members and sent to the office of the Organizing Secretary General at least thirty days before a meeting of the National Board of Management. Notice of such appeal shall be sent to the State Regent by the Organizing Secretary General at least twenty days before a meeting of the National Board of Management. The State Regent shall be given opportunity to present to the National Board her reasons for disapproval. After consideration of the case the National Board of Management shall have power to grant permission to organize a chapter if it is deemed advisable.”

Seconded by Mrs. Parcells. Carried.

The Chair stated that on several occasions the Bishop of Washington had asked that the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution present its flag to the Cathedral for hanging among the flags of other patriotic organizations, and after discussion as to the prices of different manufacturers, Mrs. Ward of N. J. moved That the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution present a D. A. R. Flag to the National Cathedral, Washington, D. C., to be purchased from Horstmann Uniform Company, Philadelphia, and two D. A. R. flags be purchased for our Pages to use out of doors. Seconded by Mrs. Caswell. Carried.

The President General spoke of the shortage of materials for the men at Ellis Island and of Mrs. Perkins' plea that the Daughters continue to send boxes of wools, etc., and urged the members to keep this activity in mind.

Miss Johnson of France moved A rising vote of thanks to our President General for being with us today and assure her of our support and cooperation. Seconded by Mrs. Murray. Carried by rising vote.

HELEN NEWBERRY JOY, Recording Secretary General.

An Appeal for Names of French Soldiers
(Who Fought Under the American Flag)

THE following letter from Mr. Warrington Dawson, Special Assistant at the American Embassy at Paris, has been received by Mrs. David D. Caldwell, Vice-President General from the District of Columbia, and is printed herewith in the hope our D. A. R. membership will aid in supplying the desired information:

"I should be very grateful if you would appeal to the D. A. R. to give me any information which the various members may have at their disposal concerning French officers or soldiers in the service, not of France but of the United States, who died fighting for our independence between 1777 and 1783.

"The individual work which I have undertaken in French archives has enabled me to compile a new list of some 2,100 names of French officers, soldiers and sailors who died in the United States or along our coasts, and I purpose to pay a tribute to their memory by erecting a tablet which will be placed in the historic chateau of Versailles, the seat of the government of Louis XVI at the time when the French armies and navies were sent to fight for us.

"I do not need any assistance with regard to the French archives but I should be grateful for any help that the D. A. R. might give me in connection with Frenchmen who died fighting under the American Flag."

RIDE AND GUARD YOUR HEALTH

OVER-EXERTION often leads to serious consequences. Stair climbing calls for 10 to 14 times more effort than walking. It is a common form of over-exertion.

A Sedgwick Residence Elevator provides safe and dependable service between floors at moderate cost. It is especially recommended for the use of persons of advanced years or those suffering with an organic ailment. It is an essential convenience where some one is physically disabled. Sedgwick Elevators are praised by users and endorsed by physicians. There are types to meet specific needs. Let us give you complete information as to how readily a Sedgwick may be installed, how easily operated, how economical to maintain, how reasonable is the investment.
