Never in the history of America has the country faced such a severe test of “United we stand, divided we fall.” Only by remaining united in honest dissent can America maintain the sacred heritage she has to offer to every man.

In order to rekindle the fires of positive patriotism by building love and respect for the Flag of the United States of America in the hearts and minds of all Americans, Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge and 80 national voluntary organizations are sponsoring a program “Close Ranks.” Fly the Flag at all times, especially on July 4th, to let everyone know your true colors—red, white and blue! After all, is there anywhere a better way than the American Way of Life?

Mrs. Erwin Frees Seimes, President General, NSDAR accepts the Freedoms Foundation George Washington Honor Medal awarded to the DAR Magazine for the year of 1969. The medal was presented during the 79th Continental Congress by Admiral Charles Lyman, USN-R, a member of the 1969 Freedoms Foundation Awards Jury.
DEAR MEMBERS:

This message was to have been written enroute to London and mailed promptly to National Headquarters. Instead, one of the plane’s motors defected and the flight was sent to Gander, Newfoundland. Because of having to wait through the night for a relief plane from New York, most of the passengers are sleeping—with the exception of your President General.

You will be glad to know that the short pledging period during the 79th Continental Congress cleared the Constitution Hall indebtedness. Quite an achievement from April 1968 when the indebtedness stood at $141,000!

Our Resolution on “Total Environment” passed during Congress brought quite an influx of letters to National Headquarters. Some were critical of our stand, some were complimentary. The former were due to incorrect reporting by the news media while the latter came from those reading the complete Resolution.

Another item of special note occurring during Congress was again the presentation of the Freedoms Foundation George Washington Honor Medal Award to the DAR Magazine with a duplicate award to our editor. The presentation was made by Admiral Charles Lyman, a member of the Freedoms Foundation Awards Jury, for “outstanding accomplishment in helping to achieve a better understanding of the American way of life.”

The post Congress trip to Lisbon, Spain, Majorca was very much enjoyed by the 83 members (26 States represented) in attendance. All expressed the wish that a similar trip could be planned in future years.

Two important American holidays will be celebrated during June and July: Flag Day on June 14th and Independence Day on July 4th. Fly the Flag of the United States of America on both days, and urge others in your community to do so. Let everyone know how proud you are to be an American. Never has the need for loyal, clear-thinking citizens to stand up and be counted been so great.

As a sequel to the London/Paris visit, after the motor failure at Gander, your President General arrived at Dulles International Airport while the excitement over the highjacking of an Arizona plane was still at fever pitch. Quite an adventure!

Do have a fine and restful summer, but do not overlook the constant quest for good new members.

Affectionately,

Mrs. Erwin Frees Seimes
President General, NSDAR
I am indeed honored to address the 79th Continental Congress of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Your famed Constitution Hall is appropriately named. For your organization is dedicated to perpetuate the spirit of those who secured American independence from 18th Century Europe. And our Constitution is the embodiment of that spirit.

The spirit of this hall, of your organization, is vital to the preservation of freedom in America . . . vital to the hope of mankind.

Our Constitution is the cornerstone of our way of life. For nearly 200 years the diverse peoples who make up America have been held together in large part by that magnificent document. Thus this hall in a way symbolizes what our country stands for.

Our Nation did not grow without spirited leadership. Our Nation was built by people dedicated to building a new life in a new land. Always our goal has been self-determination and the right to be free.

The building blocks of our history are well-known to all of us, but it does good to pause and reflect on the words of our founding fathers from time to time.

In fact, all Americans should reread those eternal thoughts to rekindle their patriotic spirit. Time has not tarnished, but instead has brightened those ideas . . . ideas that the rights of man, bestowed on him by God, are supreme . . . that the government exists solely to secure those rights, and only through the consent of the governed.

The Declaration of Independence clearly implies that freedom requires an obligation. Truly, freedom is not free. It requires individual effort and positive action. In addition, the Declaration of Independence does not guarantee happiness for all men. Nor does it say that man is guaranteed the right to happiness. Rather, he is guaranteed the right to the pursuit of happiness. Happiness is not a gift. Instead, it is something to be sought by each individual. And through individual effort, collective progress occurs.

The Constitution of the United States is one of the most unique documents ever penned from the mind of man.

- A document which ends forever the need for revolution . . .
- A living document which capitalizes on man's intellect and reasoning ability . . .
- A document which provides orderly and peaceful means for national growth and progress . . . and
- A document which calls for political evolution—not revolution . . .

The men who wrote the Declaration of Independence and the men who drafted the Constitution have worthy successors today. Many of them have worn the uniform of our country.

I know those who wear the American military uniform as well as anyone . . . for I have served with so many of them.

The ones I know best, of course, are the hundreds of thousands who have served and are now serving in Vietnam. These men have joined the people of the Republic of Vietnam to fight a war and at the same time to build a nation where—as in our own—people may exercise the right to determine their own destiny. There they face an enemy who has no respect for life or liberty . . . an enemy who will insure only one unalienable right—the right to no choice . . . the right to no alternative . . . the right to accept communism.

It is important to emphasize that in Vietnam we are not tearing a country apart; we are building a nation. The way we go about it is easy to understand. As progress is made on the battlefield, there will be less for Americans to do in combat. As the South Vietnamese grow stronger, we diminish our involvement in proportion. We call this "Vietnamization." We look forward to the day when Vietnamization will be total; when that will be, we cannot say.

Vietnamization is well on its way. Already we have reduced our presence in Vietnam by 115,500. This approach has proved to be a sound and viable policy which deserves the support of the American people.

Yet I am concerned by the protest against those who accept the responsibilities of leadership and who are doing their utmost to bring about an honorable peace.

Outbursts and derision should not be against our national policies arrived at through constitutional means. in my opinion, if we had more vocal support for the President, peace would be nearer at hand.

No one despises war more than military men who have seen it firsthand, who know its real tragedy and horror, who—like you—wish with all their hearts that war could be forever banned from the face of the earth. And yet, throughout recorded history, after every war, the soldier has been attacked. I recall so well Kipling's words:

"It's Tommy this, an' Tommy that, an' "Chuck 'im out, the brute!"
But it's "Savior of 'is country," when the guns begin to shoot.

Today it would seem that the words "patriotism," "the Defense Establishment," "law and order," "draft," "obedience," "responsibility" have become odious to some. Indeed, in the Free World, many misguided people advocate smashing our shields, calling in our lookouts, destroying our swords and quenching our watch fires. They advocate this while outside the bear and the tiger watch and wait.

Sometime ago, one of our leading periodicals said that "These are revolutionary times . . . that profound changes in existing institutions and customs are demanded."

Ladies and gentlemen, our own Revolution ended the need for revolution forever when we adopted constitutional processes as a means to effect change. And we haven't done badly either. Let me quote for a moment from another national magazine, dated seven days ago:

Every generation makes mistakes, always has and always will. We have made our share. But [our] generation has made America the most affluent country on earth. It has tackled, head-on, a racial problem which no nation on earth in the history of mankind had dared to do. It has publicly declared war on poverty and it has gone to the moon; it has desegregated schools and abolished polio; it has presided over the beginning of what is probably the greatest social and economic revolution in man's history. It has begun these things, not finished them. It has declared itself, and committed itself . . . .

Now, not all revolutions are undesirable; not all revolutionaries are wicked. But it is up to us to sift out that which would threaten our way of life and deal with it according to the law of the land. No one can undertake this sifting—out process better than people like you—people dedicated to preserving rather than destroying, people who will not forget the first building blocks of our American democracy, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

At the time of the last meeting of the Constitutional Convention, Ben Franklin said that he consented to the Constitution because—and I quote—"I expect no better, and because I am not sure that it is not the best."

Time has not proven Franklin wrong. Alfred North Whitehead, the great English philosopher, more recently observed that there are "only three times" in the history of "the Western world when statesmen consciously took hold of historic destinies: Periclean Athens, Rome under Augustus" and the founding of " . . . the American Republic.

The American experiment must continue as the greatest moving force in the world. It must continue to be the example for the world of what freedom really means.

Ladies and gentlemen, if America is going to survive the ravages of time better than Athens and Rome, we as a people must look back to the foundations of Western heritage . . . the Judaeo-Christian ethic, the Magna Carta, the Declaration of Independence . . . our Constitution. We must not only reaffirm our beliefs, we must put them into practice.

According to General MacArthur, "religion and patriotism have always gone hand in hand, while atheism has invariably been accompanied by radicalism, communism, bolshevism and other enemies of free government." MacArthur's words rang as true today as they did 25 years ago.

When our forefathers put the Constitution together as a dynamic instrument, they were well aware that change is the vehicle to progress. But they also knew that change must be brought about in an orderly manner through reason and that it must be controlled and guided . . . guided largely by ethical and moral standards and fundamental principles. Without such guidelines, change goes out of control and often results in retrogression rather than progression.

Today we are changing at such an accelerated rate that in some cases our pace has outrun our reason. Some of our people experience difficulty in relating to the fundamentals of our way of life. Consequently, we face great problems, both as people among people and a nation among nations. As the pace quickens, we get further and further away from America's traditional values. We need a resurgence of patriotic zeal.

The problems which face us—young and old—both as individuals and collectively must be met head-on.

JUNE-JULY 1970 [ 581 ]
PRESIDENT GENERAL ON OFFICIAL VISITS TO OVERSEAS CHAPTERS: Ten days after returning to Washington from a tour of Portugal, Spain, and Mallorca, Mrs. Erwin Frees Seimes, President General, left for England and France, where she will meet with members of the Walter Hines Page and Rochambeau chapters, respectively. Mrs. Henry Stewart Jones, First Vice President General, also went on this trip. In London, Mrs. Stanley Cecil Johnson, Regent, has arranged a luncheon when they will meet the officers of the Chapter. During their brief stay in England, Mrs. Seimes and Mrs. Jones hope to do some sightseeing and shopping.

When they arrive in Paris on May 28, they will be honored at a reception at the home of the newly elected State Regent, Mme. Andre de Coudekerque-Lambrecht. According to word received from Mme. Stanislas Brugnon, Regent of Rochambeau Chapter, events have been planned for each of the six days that they will be in France. On Memorial Day they will attend a Service at the American Cathedral in Paris and that afternoon they will visit Lafayette's chateau, La Grange, at the invitation of the Count and Countess de Chambrun. Trips to Fontainebleau and Versailles, luncheons, teas, and receptions fill a crowded schedule. Mrs. Seimes and Mrs. Jones will fly back to Washington on June 4.

79th CONTINENTAL CONGRESS: Opening night, this most gala evening during a Continental Congress, had even more glamour than usual this year because of the speaker of the evening, General W. C. Westmoreland, Chief of Staff, United States Army. When he was introduced by Mrs. Erwin Frees Seimes, President General, and took his place at the lectern, tall and handsome in his military dress uniform with its array of medals and ribbons, his distinguished appearance brought an appreciative response from the audience.

A Special Award this year was the certificate presented to Warner & Swasey of Cleveland, Ohio, a machine tools, textile machinery, and construction equipment company. The NSDAR honored this concern for its patriotic advertisements in the U.S. News & World Report pertinent to current affairs. For instance, in one advertisement, the phrase "What's wrong with America" was changed to "What's right with America" and followed by a list of the good things that Americans enjoy.

The winner of the NSDAR American History Scholarship this year is Miss Judith Ann McArthur, of Pocatello, Idaho.

The Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee Award was presented posthumously to the first U.S. Army nurse killed in the Vietnam war, 1st Lieutenant Sharon Ann Lane, and accepted by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lane of Canton, Ohio.

The DAR Magazine and Miss Rose Hall, the editor, received George Washington Honor Medal awards from Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge "For Outstanding Achievement in Bringing About a Better Understanding of the American Way of Life."
CONGRESS WEEK DEDICATIONS, NEW LOCATIONS, AND DISPLAYS: The Betty Newkirk Seimes Microfilm Center was dedicated on April 18. This project is the joint effort of the Registrar General, Mrs. Richard Denny Shelby, and the Librarian General, Mrs. George Sprague Tolman III, and is staffed by members from their offices. The equipment, four microfilm census readers and (as of this date) one microfilm reader-printer (which can make a copy as the film is read), has been placed in the completely renovated and redecorated room. All application papers in the Registrar General’s Office from the Society’s beginnings in 1890 up to January 31, 1970, ending with membership number 547,933, are now on film. (When the members admitted through April 18 are included, there will be 3,800 more members to add.) Everything that the DAR Library has on films is available in the Center: census records, genealogies, New Jersey tax returns, mortality schedules, and books that are wearing out.

The Genealogical Record Room and the Grandparent Files have been moved from the third floor of the Administration Building to the second floor balcony south of Memorial Continental Hall in order to make these facilities more readily accessible to Library users.

The newly decorated Iowa State Room was dedicated on April 19. It is now furnished as a Federal Style parlor containing examples of 18th and 19th century decorative arts. A corner fireplace, an 18th century English brass chandelier, and important American furniture in the Chippendale style—a chest, arm chair and easy chair—are among the important furnishings.

The New Hampshire Children’s Attic now has a new entrance gate that increases the public’s view of the collection.

Two new display cases have been installed in the President General’s Conference Room. One case was presented by the Tennessee Society State Executive Board; the other, by Mr. Walter English in honor of his wife, Marian Rose English, a Museum Advisor. The cases contain DAR memorabilia and awards from the DAR Museum and the Historian General’s Archives collections.

A wild American turkey, prepared by a taxidermist, has been added to the dried herbs and smoked ham hanging in the Wisconsin Room in Memorial Continental Hall. This 17th century interior is the earliest and the only one of this period among the State Rooms at National Headquarters.

NSDAR COMMENDED: Mrs. Henry Moreland, DAR press representative (but not a DAR), Cairo Citizen, Cairo, Ill., wrote to the President General:

As a practicing newspaperwoman of 20 years service, I think you should be proud of the attacks on the DAR. The DAR stands for patriotism to our country. Consider the stand of your attackers in the world when dirty words have become clean, and clean words like “patriotism” and “love of country” have become dirty words. “What they are speaks so loud I cannot hear what they say.” They stand for arson, destruction of our government, foul acts (and words) in public and what to the normal human is degradation. I think the DAR is a wonderful organization.

HISTORIC DATES: A correction—In the May issue, the date of the Battle of Bunker Hill was given as May 17, 1775; the historic battle was fought on June 17, 1775. The Declaration of Independence marks its 194th birthday this Fourth of July.

Note: When Mrs. Erwin Frees Seimes, President General, visited the French Daughters, Mrs. Louis G. C. Cardon, a member of the Rochambeau Chapter living in Paris, showed her the 13-star Flag of the United States of America she owns and which she proudly hung out when the Americans liberated Paris in 1945.
79th Continental Congress

Mrs. Erwin Frees Seimes, President General (right), and Mrs. Ralph Allen Killey, Chaplain General, place the traditional memorial wreath at the Founders Monument following the Memorial Service on Sunday, April 19, 1970.

Mrs. Seimes was particularly happy to welcome two members from Overseas Units to the 79th Continental Congress: Mrs. Charles Patterson (left) from the John Edwards Chapter, Mexico; Mrs. Julian Rice of the Rochambeau Chapter, France.

General W. C. Westmoreland, Opening Night speaker, is pictured on the Constitution Hall platform with Mrs. Seimes.
Mr. Thomas Stilwell from the Warner & Swasey Company of Cleveland, Ohio, received a Special Award for the company's patriotic advertisements from Mrs. Seimes.

Mrs. Eldred M. Yochim, National Chairman, Pages Ball (left), escorted Mrs. Seimes into the Mayflower Ballroom where the National Society honored the young ladies who work so hard to make Congress a success.

Attending the 79th Congress were a group of Indian girls from St. Mary's Episcopal School, South Dakota with their Headmaster, Mr. Kenyon Cull. This school received 20% of its financial support from the National Society.

Mrs. Seimes presented (posthumously) to the parents of 1st Lt. Sharon Ann Lane, U. W. Army Nurse Corps, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lane, Canton, Ohio, the Dr. Anita Newcomb McGee Award from the outstanding Army Nurse of the year (1969). Lt. Lane is the only nurse killed by enemy action in Vietnam.

The winner of the DAR Good Citizen Contest is Miss Margaret Dooley of Poultney, Vt., shown here with Mrs. Maxwell Chapman, National Chairman. The daughter of a former State Regent, Mrs. Bernard Dooley, she received a $1000 Bond.

Mrs. Seimes presented the $8000 DAR American History Scholarship to Judith Ann McArthur of Pocatello, Idaho. Miss McArthur will use this largest single scholarship awarded in the United States to attend Idaho State University.

John Michael Woodman, Corporal, 17th 21st Lancers of the British Army was an Opening Night visitor. He was obtaining information to use in an article concerning his unit which fought against the Continental Army in numerous Revolutionary battles.
Where the Spirit of the Lord Is

by Sara Roddis Jones

It is my privilege tonight to bring greetings to you all on this occasion of our annual National Defense program. In particular, we wish to extend warmest greetings to those members of the Cabinet and Congress who are with us tonight. Gentlemen of the Cabinet and Congress, you have greatly honored the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution by your presence here. Yours is a great responsibility in these troubled times. We, therefore, take this opportunity to express our faith in your stewardship, and in your firm intent to uphold and preserve the Constitution of the United States and the freedoms it has thus far secured.

The Daughters of the American Revolution acknowledge that the responsibility with which you are charged is not yours alone. The preservation of freedom and our constitutional Republic is the joint responsibility of the American people and their leaders.

To this end we seek to "cherish, maintain, and extend the institutions of American freedom." The DAR is proud to be described as a patriotic organization. We are not a political organization. We think of ourselves as a great service organization, dedicated to the preservation of all that is great and good in America. Thus, we unashamedly confess that we subscribe to the proposition that this Nation must remain sovereign and solvent, if it is also to remain free. It is our continuing purpose to foster the moral, spiritual and constitutional values on which our freedoms are based.

If we are to succeed in our purpose, our first task is to build patriotic leadership in the youth of the Nation, since it is they who hold its future destiny in their hands. With this in mind, the National Defense Committee has long sponsored awards of Good Citizenship Medals to outstanding boys and girls at elementary, junior and high school levels. Thanks to the efforts of the individual Chapters, almost 4,200 medals were again awarded this past year in public, private and parochial schools. Through the Chapters, the National Society also gives medals to outstanding cadets in ROTC programs at both college and secondary school levels. We are proud in the knowledge that these medals are cherished by those who receive them.

It is our constant endeavor to do our part to build for the future. Long before "underprivileged" became a household word, the DAR established two schools for underprivileged children in the Appalachian region. Few people outside our organization are aware that the DAR contributes more than $250,000 annually in support of these and other schools, including those for American Indians. This is part of our program to foster an enlightened and responsible citizenry so that self-government may work.

I speak of self-government, rather than democracy, deliberately. Self-government implies self-discipline which is so conspicuously lacking today. As a people we find ourselves reaching for more and more government largesse, heedless of the fact that the velvet glove of beneficence hides the iron fist of potential tyranny.

Neither money alone, nor an expanded bureaucracy will solve such matters as crime on our streets, riots on our campuses or any of the other problems which afflict this Nation today. The crisis which besets America today is a moral crisis, for which we must all share responsibility.

If we are to meet this crisis, we must understand that the soundest foundation for national security in any nation is the built-in moral fiber of its youth. Rome and Greece lost their pre-eminence as world powers when their youth became soft and perverted.

Communist strategists understand these facts perfectly. In their conquest of other nations, a deliberate weakening of the national pride and patriotic idealism of the young people has always preceded actual takeover. Thus, it is our young people who are the target of the drug pushers and of those who would destroy this Nation. No American can feel safe in the thought that his own children are being overlooked.

It is a tribute to the basic character of the American people that the hippies and the yuppies and the young revolutionaries are still a minority in this Country. But how well are we preparing our children to resist the blandishments of the communists? The answer is not encouraging. We have allowed prayer and moral guidelines to be stripped from our schools. The ancient landmarks have been removed and we have given our children little to which to cling. Meanwhile, a substitute religion, without God and called “Humanism,” has been quietly bootlegged into our schools. The attention of our children is no longer directed toward all that is great and good in America.

The latest “in-things” are sex education and ecology. A few years ago not many of us could even define the word “ecology.” Today it is on everyone’s lips. Almost forgotten is the fact that in 1969 the DAR adopted a resolution in support of “effective studies and laws to implement pollution controls of air and water, better use of land and prudent conservation of all natural resources, and cooperation among national, state and local authorities, in order to find a common solution to these problems.” The resolution was ignored by the press.

Today, in 1970, we are no nearer solution of the problems of pollution than we were a year ago, and there is a very real possibility that the issue may be exploited and abused. Lt. General F. J. Clarke, Chief of Engineers, U.S. Army, at the Rivers and Harbors Congress in Washington, recently warned:

“Today’s renewed concern over the natural environment can be a tremendous force for good, but it could also, through its very power, cause tremendous harm if misdirected. The uncritical enthusiasms it generates make it fertile ground for the propagation of sweeping, off-the-cuff ideas which in the aggregate can be a serious handicap to the formation of sound resource-management policies.

“Your political leaders and public agencies are put in the intolerable position of being asked to heed simultaneously the demands expressed by the public in meeting-halls and indignation-meetings on the one hand, and the largely contradictory demands made by the same public in the market place and the employment bureaus... because too many of our people have not considered the full implications of the courses they endorse.”

Furthermore, the fear has been expressed that in their concern about pollution and other things wrong with America, the attention of our young people is being directed away from all that is great and good about America.

As we are gathered here tonight, we are on the eve of the first national environmental teach-in in the history of this Nation. If you examine the Handbook for this teach-in, you will find that it is not only a clever political action guide, but it has revolutionary undertones. Its grand design envisions that the people, the politicians, and the Government will be obliged to bow to the ecological viewpoint.

From other quarters comes the suggestion that the most powerful impetus to world order (or world government) may no longer be the threat of nuclear war. World order, they insist, may be evolved because of the necessity of new transnational measures to protect the global environment.

At the moment the suggestion that ecology may drive us into some form of world government seems farfetched, but it is a suggestion we cannot ignore. The United Nations may not be able to keep the peace but its dream of running the world persists. It is already claiming an attribute of world government, the power to tax member nations. Moreover, from the moment of its inception the United Nations has been a perfect hatchery for treaties, covenants and pacts which have as their purpose the regulation of the domestic affairs of every nation on earth.

One such Covenant, or Treaty, is the Genocide Convention. Twenty years ago the American people fought this Treaty to a standstill under the leadership of the American Bar Association, which still opposes it. So great was their fear of this Treaty, they demanded a constitutional amendment to protect this Nation from the dangers of treaty law. It was called the Bricker Amendment and lost by one vote, but the Genocide Convention lived on to threaten the very foundations of constitutional government and national sovereignty.

Under our Constitution, treaties become the “supreme law of the land,” a fact which cannot be ignored in any consideration of the Genocide Convention. Here is a treaty which is directed at least as much toward individuals as toward nations. It opens up a new concept of international law by converting what hitherto have been considered “domestic” crimes into international crimes.

The dangers inherent in ratification of the Genocide Convention are immeasurably greater today than they were twenty years ago, when the American Bar Association rejected it that time, “genocide” was rarely heard except in the context of Hitler’s Germany. Today the word is recklessly used in every direction. We hear the word “genocide” tossed about in the course of criminal prosecutions, campus disorders and anti-war protests. The United States has been accused of genocide in North Vietnam. The Black Panthers, who openly admit a calculated campaign to kill the police, conduct their war against the police behind the protection of a propaganda barrage accusing the police of waging a genocidal war against them, the Black Panthers.
The accusation of genocide is raised so freely today that the word is no longer subject to exact definition.

Moreover, when one considers the scope of the definition of genocide in Article II and the other crimes punishable in Article III, it is apparent that our handling of a broad field of internal matters would be reviewable by the World Court; for example, in the field of civil rights, in education, in equal-opportunity legislation, etc. The Court could have have the right to decide if we had enacted adequate legislation and provided effective penalties in this field. In such a case, what becomes of constitutional government? Has world opinion now become more important than the freedoms thus far secured by our Constitution? Are we now because of that world opinion to subject our people and our Nation to the judgment of alien powers? Is it possible that this Convention may be considered a steppingstone to world government?

These are questions that must be answered. Meanwhile, we are beset with other problems.

Law enforcement in America is at the point of crisis.

There is a decline of morals and moral fiber in this Nation.

Our churches have failed us. They have failed to teach the Divine gospel of Jesus Christ and the significance of the Ten Commandments. They have preferred to involve themselves in politics, thereby alienating the people at a time when we need the churches most.

We quake over the possibility of a nuclear holocaust and so we engage in arms control and disarmament negotiations with the very enemy who has promised to bury us and who is, at this moment, supplying North Vietnam with almost 80 percent of the war materiels needed to keep the war going. In this situation, disarmament as a means of preventing or ending war has no more logic than disbanding the police as a means of ending crime. Disarmament may actually invite nuclear blackmail.

Inflation has become a way of life. But no nation can expect to remain forever strong and free if that nation is not also solvent. Because most of us have more money jingling in our pockets, there have been few to heed the warnings that unbridled inflation eventually leads to socialism—which is the little brother of communism.

This brings us to the fact that we have allowed anticomunism to be equated with right-wing extremism, heedless of the fact that communism is the mortal enemy of constitutional government and our God-given liberty. During this same time, the legal safeguards which once partially protected the Nation's internal security have been all but wiped out. The result is that communists are active in our defense plants, in our political elections, in our educational institutions, and in virtually every place where turmoil and strife erupt. They grow bolder with each passing day.

History attests that great nations can be proof against external conquest yet succumb to the insidious internal forces of erosion. As original principles fade, so do the virtues and firmness and purpose which typified the national beginnings. The result is that the weakened nation either wastes away or falls an easy victim to an aggressor. Is this to be the fate of America? Or will we have the wisdom, the courage and, yes, the patriotism to avoid such a fate? With God's help, we can.

Just last week this Nation witnessed the miracle that prayer and faith can accomplish. Without minimizing for a moment the magnificent courage and fortitude of the astronauts or the technological skill and teamwork displayed by both the astronauts and the Mission Control Center in Houston, who can doubt that the encompassing power and mercy of the Almighty helped bring those three men safely back to earth in their crippled spacecraft? A Nation and the world prayed for their safe return—and those prayers were answered.

This may mark a new beginning for America if it serves as a continuing reminder that this Nation's beginnings were based on faith in Divine Providence and acceptance of the disciplines of religion and education.

The most compelling need of our time is a rebirth of the American Spirit, a rededication to the moral, spiritual and constitutional values on which our freedoms are based. No people can maintain freedom unless their political institutions are founded upon faith in God and belief in the existence of moral law. As St. Paul once said, "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty."

To this we can add the warning of an ancient American prophet which is contained in the Book of Mormon:

"Behold, this is a choice land, and whatsoever nation shall possess it shall be free from bondage, and from captivity, and from all the other nations under HEAVEN, if they will serve the God of the land. . . ."

The National Society Regrets to Report the Death of:

- MARION A. SWEET (MRS. HAMILTON A.) on May 13, 1970. A member of the Lydia Cobb Chapter in Taunton, Massachusetts, Mrs. Sweet was currently serving as State Regent of Massachusetts. She served as State Vice Regent 1965-68.

- GEORGE JAY KUEBLER on April 24, 1970. Mr. Kuebler served as NSDAR Public Relations Consultant 1965-69.
From the Desk of The National Chairman:

DAR members and friends have been exceedingly generous with time and effort in collecting unpublished source records. It is through the work of the Genealogical Records Committee that our DAR Library maintains its reputation as one of the best genealogical reference libraries in the country.

Source records of over 52,000 pages, and 14 rolls of microfilms have been received and cataloged by the Genealogical Records Committee this year—a 100% increase over 1969. These records include unpublished bible, cemetery, church, court, family and land records, mostly of the 17th and 18th Century.

Many times membership in our Society has been accomplished by use of the records you have copied, indexed and bound.

Duplicate copies of these records have been distributed to local and historical society libraries in the various states. For total number of pages collected the Certificates of Awards went to Ohio, first place; Texas, second place, and Indiana, third place.

The National Chairman’s Special Project to have every chapter in every state contribute one piece of source records: first place to California; second place was tied by North Carolina and Washington, and third place to Arizona.

A Sepcial Award for Out of Country Chapters was won by Hawaii for 100% participation. One chapter—one state.

These Certificates of Awards were given Tuesday morning during Congress in our office.

Over 1500 out of town visitors seeking information on their Revolutionary ancestors have sought the aid of the “Grandparent Papers.”

Without the support of National Vice Chairman, State Chairmen, Chapter Chairmen this report would not be possible. Special thanks go to Mrs. Bashore and her staff in the office for moving our office from the third floor to the South Balcony wing just seven days before Congress.

$634.65 was contributed to the Genealogical Records Fund, and $841.03 was received for “Queries” inserted in the DAR Magazine.

On Sunday, February 1, it was a pleasure to participate in the DAR Museum Event in honor of the 75th Anniversary of the Children of the American Revolution and the Dedication of the Children of the American Revolution Museum.

The following Monday was spent meeting with several of the National Officers who had remained after the meetings of the February National Board. On Friday, February 13, the President General returned to Delaware to attend the State Conference in Newark.

Upon returning to Washington, the President General quickly changed into evening clothes as she had been invited to "an evening of entertainment at the White House" by the President of the United States and she had the opportunity to see the special production of the play "1776." Report of Registrar General

The work in the office of Registrar General has been proceeding at a rapid pace with several staff members working extra hours. We are delighted over the record number of applications coming into the office. As usual, it is a constant challenge for the staff to examine them. The number of applications pouring into the office reflects the work being done on the chapter level. The Society urges you to continue your efforts in order for us to have a net gain in membership. It would be most helpful if more applications were mailed during the summer months for it becomes increasingly difficult to handle the large number mailed in the fall. This officer urges each chapter to complete the blanks and mail to the office of Treasurer General as quickly as possible.

Because of the extra work load in the offices and a depleted staff, it was necessary for the President General to issue a directive stating:

Due to the unusual conditions and illness in the Registrar General's Office, application papers which could not be processed in time for the February 1 National Board of Management Meeting but were received on or before January 5, 1970, may be considered by your chapter as having met Honor Roll requirements #1 and #2 on the 1969-1970 Honor Roll questionnaire.

The office of Registrar General has worked intensively with applications needed to attain Honor Roll status and cooperated with the National Honor Roll Chairman in expediting the flow of correspondence.
It is my pleasure to report that the office is now working on supplementals received in the office during February 1969. All supplementals prior to this date have been examined.

A goal of this National Officer has been attained because of the generosity of chapters to the Registrar General's Microfilm Fund and due to much hard work on the part of staff members, officers and personnel involved. Upon completion of filming applications and having the Security Roll duplicated, the office could now implement the Microfilm Project.

Realizing that this office was not the only one to have microfilm, your Registrar General discussed combining all microfilm and equipment with the Librarian General to establish a Microfilm Center for the National Society. After many hours of discussion and much correspondence, the Center was created and placed in joint custody of the Registrar General and the Librarian General.

An interview with a Library Consultant (at no cost to the Society) indicated the plans we had discussed were realistic, economical, and designed for expansion in the future. The result of the interview further revealed quality equipment had been selected and the area was to be attractive as well as functional. Your two National Officers appreciate the cooperation of many people in planning this project; especially Mrs. Adolphus Bennett, Chairman of Buildings and Grounds, Mr. Steve Denhup, Business Manager, and Mr. James Johnson, Curator of the DAR Museum.

The members of The National Board of Management are cordially invited to attend the dedication of The Betty Seimes Microfilm Center today at 12 noon. This is a just tribute to our President General who capably manages our affairs today while keeping in mind the National Society must progress and be prepared for the future.

Provisionally, the Microfilm Center is using reels instead of aperture cards as originally planned because the project could be implemented now. As soon as the supplementals have been filmed and the duplicate roll made, the aperture cards may be resumed as the necessary money is provided.

The Security Roll (duplicate of all applications on film) has been completed at a total cost of $10,186.15. The Security Roll has been securely stored for safety and possible future use.

Protective covering has been placed on the six windows in the Genealogical Division for security. This clear plexiglass is not noticeable from the outside and does not interfere with the appearance of the building.

You are reminded of a new policy established this year pertaining to applications. To insure examination of an application to qualify for Honor Roll, it must be received in the office of Treasurer General EXACTLY FOUR WEEKS prior to Board Meeting. The office makes every effort to grant priority to applications with a note attached stating it is needed to qualify for Honor Roll, but we assume no responsibility for examination unless the deadline is met.

With the modernization of all offices, the Seimes Computer Center is providing State Regents with a list of members accepted into membership at each Board since October 1969. Members of the staff in this office key punch required data from the application paper in order that the computer may provide the print out the afternoon of the Board. The preparation of this list for the convenience of Regents, and Registrars has been a joint project of the offices of Treasurer General and Registrar General. These two National Officers are indeed proud of this accomplishment. It is most important that the Chapter Computer Code Number be placed on the application beside the chapter name. The office of Treasurer General has provided each chapter Treasurer with this number. It will also help if your zip code is included.

Due to surgery it was not possible for me to attend the January meetings, but all other Executive and National Board Meetings have been attended. My deep appreciation to all who sent notes and cards during my recuperation.

It was this officer's privilege to attend the Launch of Apollo 12 at Cape Kennedy in November 1969. Joining the President General and the Historian General for this spectacular occasion was one of the highlights of the year and the tour of the Space Center was interesting and informative.

It was also this officer's pleasure to attend the Arkansas State Conference where Mrs. James A. Williams, State Regent, presided. The members of the Membership Commission cordially invite you and members of your State Societies to attend our meeting Monday, April 20th, at 10:15 a.m., in the National Officers Club Room. Taxis will be available so you can attend the National Defense Meeting.

Much praise and credit is due the staff in the Registrar General's Department for the vast amount of work accomplished.

It is with pride that I present the following report: Number of applications verified, 2200; number of supplementals verified, 421; total number of papers verified, 2621. Papers returned unverified: Originals, 114; Supplementals, 2. New records verified, 444; Permits issued for Official Insignia, 1314; Letters written: 9929; Postals written, 1356. Photos: Papers, 6105; Pages of data, 801; Total photostats (pages), 6906.

Report of Historian General

Following the completion of the indexing and cataloguing of the Americana Collection our efforts have been concentrated on extracting the genealogical information from the documents. This will involve months of work as each must be read and a card prepared for every name appearing thereon. They may be in the hundreds for one document in some cases.

The booklet entitled “Listing of Historical Articles in the Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine 1892-1970,” is ready for distribution. This is not an index, but as the title shows is a chronological listing of historical articles from the inception of the publication of our Magazine to January 1, 1970. Needless to say these articles have not been published elsewhere. There are 55 pages (double columns) of titles, dates of issue and page numbers. The booklet is to be sold for $1.

Letters with inquiries, corrections and complaints pour in after each issue of the Magazine has been received, in regard to the list of marked Revolutionary Soldiers' graves. It has more than trebled our correspondence but has resulted, as we had hoped, in augmenting the information in our files in many ways. It will be necessary to print a supplemental list after the one in process is completed to correct errata and include additions.

There is little doubt that we will also be aiding in bringing in new lines as well as new members due to this correspondence. In cooperation with the office of the Registrar General we are referring many inquiries concerning possible membership on the lines of the Revolutionary Soldiers listed, to that office using a form provided for the purpose. Other letters refer to the possibility of establishing new lines, either as supplements or originals, since many of the names listed in our Magazine section do not appear in the Patriot Index, and therefore have not been proven for membership.

Thirty States have reported either having marked, planning to mark or trying to locate their first State and State Vice Regents' graves. We appreciate the cooperation of the office of the Organizing Secretary General, in verifying the authenticity of these names.

Work has begun on the cross-indexing and cataloguing of the Archives of the Society, inasmuch as we have put on display some old pictures which may be of interest to all of you. If anyone can help in identifying some of the Daughters we would be most appreciative. The documents in the display cases have been changed throughout the Archives Room. The addition of a new cabinet on the North wall forms a solid row thus offering more usable space for storage and display.

Several States report histories completed; some are working on them, others have no plans at this time.

The House Joint Resolution #481 to designate February of every year as American History Month was introduced by Representative Robert Wilson of California, in February 1969, was finally passed by the House in February 1970, but amended to be effective for 1970 only. We have the assurance of Senators Cooper of Kentucky and Williams of Delaware that they will endeavor to see that it is passed in its original form. Since this was the last year for the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln to be celebrated on the proper date it had been hoped that the Bill would go through before February 1970.

Markers have been reported as placed for 49 deceased members, 22 Revolutionary Soldiers, 1 Real Daughter, 1 Famous Person and on 11 Historical Sites from the first of January to the first of March 1970, a total of 84.

Permission has been granted during the same period for 81 members' graves to be marked. For the year these figures are 376 markers reported placed; 613 permissions granted.

Report of Librarian General

Since last reporting to the National Board the Library has transferred all its microfilm to The Betty Newkirk Seimes Microfilm Center. I wish to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to Mrs. Shelby, Registrar General, and her staff; Mr. James Johnson, Mr. Steve Denhup, and the Library staff for their assistance and cooperation.

It was gratifying to read of the work accomplished by the States and chapters during the past year and find the word for my report to Congress to be "increase."

This officer has tried to administer the Library economically. Subscriptions and memberships to Historical and Genealogical Societies have been reviewed and some have been dropped for lack of genealogical material.

The copier purchased in late October at a cost of $1400 is paid for.

With the cooperation of Mrs. LaMack, National Chairman, the Genealogical Records Committee has been moved from the third floor to the balcony. It is felt the Grandfather Papers will be used to better advantage.

The new protective covering over the doors and windows of the Library Office has been installed.

May I extend a cordial invitation to the National Board to attend the Dedication of The Betty Newkirk Seimes Microfilm Center.

Twenty-eight States completed 100% their request list of books which brings the total volumes of books in the library to date to over 55,000. This includes 9 books purchased from funds available to the Librarian General and gifts of 158 books, 102 pamphlets, 17 manuscripts and 1 roll of microfilm which are included in the attached accession record since the February Board Meeting.

Board, it is a pleasure to bring this report covering the time from the midwinter Board to the end of the DAR year. It has been a pleasant and fruitful time for the Museum and for the Curator General. We were delighted that so many of you were able to attend the very successful Museum Event, on February first, in honor of the 75th Anniversary of the Children of the American Revolution and the dedication of their museum.

Following the Museum Event, Mrs. Councillor, Vice Chairman in charge of Museum Events, the Curator General, and Mr. Johnson, the Curator, attended the Williamsburg Antiques Forum, which they found both pleasant and highly instructive.

Money for the air conditioning of the Museum Gallery has been coming in slowly—too slowly—and we hope that in the coming year this project will be pushed, as it is most important that this be done. We are not spending a great deal of the museum funds, in case this money is needed for the project.

The figures on the Treasurer General’s report speak for themselves, as to the amounts of money in our two funds—$38,566.18 in the fund for air conditioning and $24,338.59 in the Museum Fund.

A number of books have been purchased for the Museum Reference Library, and a list of these has been placed on each of your chairs. It is our hope that you will take these lists back to your States, and urge your members to select volumes for which they would agree to send money, in order that a bookplate may be placed in the book naming the donor and the person in whose honor or memory the volume has been donated. These books are a valuable research tool in the Museum, and will see much use.

The two cases for DAR Memorabilia, given by Mr. Walter English of Ohio, and by members of the Tennessee State Board, are complete except for the plaques, which should be here any time. Articles of interest have been placed in them. These cases are an “extra added attraction” and are not a part of the Curator General’s project as such. In letters to the National Advisers and National Vice Chairmen, they were asked to find single donors for these cases, as we do not wish the State Chairmen to make a project of this, since our great need is for the air conditioning, and we wish no confusion of the two. For this reason, the cases were not mentioned in the letters to State and Chapter Chairmen.

Our State Rooms have been improved in many ways. The new air conditioners in the Connecticut Board Room are the gift of the State Society. The Iowa Room is now ready for dedication, as it has been renovated and a number of fine additions made. These include an 18th century needlework pole screen near the new fireplace, a brass mid-18th century chandelier, one of the few chandeliers in the Museum to express the proper period, a pair of portraits by Copley, c. 1765; Earring, pendant drop, black, carved, mid 19th century; Earrings, pair, pendant drop, silver, mid 19th century; Ring, so called “fit” ring, gold with black onyx, center section of hair, mid 19th century; Salt Spoons, silver, English, c. 1852, Mrs. James A. Howe, Putnam Hill Chapter.

Report of Reporter General to the Smithsonian Institution

The method of preparation of the DAR Report to the Smithsonian Institution as required by the Society’s Act of Incorporation is being revised. After discussion with the Smithsonian representative this week, we have reached an agreement on a totally different format.

State Regents, National Officers and National Chairman will be pleased to hear that it will no longer be necessary to file a separate report for the Smithsonian.

Part III of the 1968-69 Report relating to located Revolutionary soldiers and patriots graves was completed in July. Of 347 report graves, 193 in 16 states were newly located; 14 reports were unusable because of insufficient data; 140 had been previously reported.

Since the DAR Magazine is printing the list of marked Revolutionary Soldiers’ graves, chapter historians can avoid some duplication in reports by consulting this list. You are reminded, however, that all located graves are not necessarily marked.

We again express our appreciation to Mrs. Florence Daum and Mrs. Linda Walker, staff markers, for their efficient handling of details during the time in which the Reporter General was incapacitated.

MARGARET M. ANDRUS,
Reporter General to the Smithsonian Institution.

Mrs. Hamm moved that the National Board of Management give a rising vote of thanks to the Connecticut State Society and that a letter be sent by the President General to the State Regent, Mrs. Morris, commending the State on this needed air-conditioning improvement. Seconded by Mrs. Richardson. Adopted.

Miss Amanda A. Thomas, Chairman of the DAR School Committee, read her report.

Report of DAR School Committee

This report is limited to the months of January and February 1970.

Kate Duncan Smith and Tamassee experienced many difficulties due to the severe cold winter. Especially at Kate Duncan Smith the school was unable to operate eleven days because of impassable icy roads and frozen water pipes. Extra expense was incurred in mending the water lines.

DAAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION MAGAZINE
Tamassee is continuing the Gold Patron Fund, and many members proudly are wearing the Golden Key.

At this time I wish to bring before you again the great need for the classroom building at Kate Duncan Smith. This is our national school project for this administration. There are very fine pledges but participation in this project by our membership now is a must if the building is to be in use this next school year and our President General will have the joy and satisfaction of dedicating the structure next October. The estimated cost of the first unit which is now under construction is $175,000, and you will be pleased to know the construction bid accepted by the Kate Duncan Smith Board was slightly under this figure.

Please, upon your return to your homes, exert every effort to have individual and chapter gifts marked for the Classroom Building Fund, sent to the Treasurer General through your state treasurers as quickly as possible. The need for money is now. It is the plan of the trustees to pay all labor costs and bills for materials each two-week period during construction. This is the time for money gifts, and may thousands of our members and chapter regents proudly wear the pin provided as a recognition by School Chairman of the New York State Organization and her husband.

Now for State organization money gifts received by the office of the Treasurer General.

There are no unusual problems to report to you. Tamassee and Kate Duncan Smith continue their good work, and plans... for Commencement exercises are under way.

In closing I hope you will understand that the need for our support of these schools is great because there is no lessening in the need for our schools to serve mountain boys and girls.

DAR Magazine Committee Report

Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge has announced that the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution has been selected again to receive the George Washington Honor Medal Award for its DAR Magazine. This award was made for "outstanding accomplishment in helping to achieve a better understanding of the American Way of Life."

The services of Miss Mary Rose Hall as Editor of the DAR Magazine have been duly recognized again and a similar citation—an individual George Washington Honor Medal Award—will be presented to her personally.

The 1969 Subscription Contest ended successfully. The grand prize will be presented to the winner during Continental Congress. All other winners have been published in the May issue of the Magazine.

Paid subscriptions to the Magazine are close to a 51,000 total, the highest total ever. The financial balance as evidenced by the Treasurer General's report remains excellent.

State Chairmen were relieved again because of the Magazine's computer system from the responsibility of preparing annual reports for the Magazine Office. On March 19th a complete list of their State and Chapter subscribers was mailed to State Magazine Chairmen and Chapter Regents.

On the change-over to the computer system there have been confusions over subscription listings and deliveries. This situation is now relieved in some degree and it is hoped that a smoother operation will soon be in force.

The back cover of the May Magazine was prepared by the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture. Through the Forest Service regional offices throughout the country copies will be distributed.

Comments received about the Magazine are gratifying such as these recent ones: "was so inspired by the covers of the Nov. 1969 and Feb. 1970 issues that I felt you should know how much your efforts are appreciated."

"Let me repeat our congratulations and appreciation for the splendid presentation of Mrs. Whitson's article on '1970—Year of the 19th Decennial Census.' You have given members of the DAR an excellent opportunity to gain a more complete understanding of the background, purpose, and procedures of the census." This latter was the comment received from the Public Information Officer of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

The Magazine Committee is appreciative and grateful to all who made this achievement report possible.

Dorothy V. Smith, Chairman.

Mrs. Frank L. Harris, Chairman, read the report of the DAR Magazine Advertising Committee.

Report of DAR Magazine Advertising Committee

The DAR Magazine Advertising Committee presents the following report for the months of March, April and May, 1970. The regular assigned states for these months were Texas, Georgia, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Connecticut, Colorado, District of Columbia, Maryland, Kentucky, Mas-achusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Minnesota, Vermont, Maine and Delaware, with 174 pages of interesting advertisements—1014 chapters and $39,038.06 in revenue. All material received in the office as of February 1, 1970 was credited to 1969-70 Honor Roll; material submitted after February 1st will be credited to 1970-71 Honor Roll.

The above issues had excellent advertisements: Historical Restorations; Chapter Houses as Museums; biographies and pictures of our early founding Fathers; interesting history of a turkey platter used in the White House by our 19th President; historic inns frequented by early statesmen; an unusual pictorial page of genealogical records from the covered wagon days to our modern generation; account of a historic bell brought to this country in early 1600; a mission complex established in our 50th State in 1860; inviting vacation spots in the most southern point in the United States; names of chapters with unusual names and their meanings; the Legend "Shepherd of the Hills," restoring an English Church brought from London, England to the Midwest, transported stone by stone; excellent and unusual conservatism of property and human lives by a jet fireboat on the Great Lakes; a center spread of a historic landmark of the early settlers in the North West Territory; restoration of an old home built in 1750 and occupied by General Washington and his staff prior to the battle of Brandywine; marker placed near boyhood home of "Davy Crockett," placing markers of famous battlefields; yearly memorial services to those brave men who served to protect our country in the early days. The States and chapters have submitted excellent material not included in the last three months but every issue has been outstanding.

The DAR and The Press

By Stanfield S. McClure, Public Relations Director, NSDAR

Like the embattled farmers who took a stand at the Concord Bridge (April 19, 1775), the Daughters of the American Revolution took a stand on April 19, 1970 as did their embattled forebears and prepared a resolution at the 79th Continental Congress that burst in the middle of "Earth Day" and Lenin's birthday (April 22, 1970), with a thunderclap that rocked the liberal establishment, the news media in particular. Cartoons and editorials bloomed across the country, and columnists took license to spice their stories with sly asides about the DAR. Our accolades for hypercritical reporting are awarded to the Washington Bureau of the Associated Press and a local paper—The Washington Post.

Since The Washington Post has a proclivity to interpret the National Society as a "rocking chair" enclave of pseudo-patriots, the President-General authorized the Office of Public Relations to insert a full-page in a rival newspaper, The Evening Star, so that the public at large could read the environmental resolution as it was written by the DAR, without embellishments of The Post. Thus, the public had the opportunity to read the other resolutions also.

This move won us many new friends in the Washington Metropolitan Area, for it exposed for the first time DAR resolutions to the general public. At the time the resolutions were released in The Washington Star, Mrs. Erwin Frees Seimes, President General, NSDAR, said, "One of the great pastimes of the more liberal elements of our news media is to 'flay' the DAR. The practice of some reporters to lift a phrase or a sentence, from a resolution or a statement, can completely distort the intended meaning of said resolution. Therefore, in order to give objective reporting of our resolutions to the Washington public, the DAR has decided to run the complete resolutions as adopted by the 79th Continental Congress."

In analyzing our problem with the press, the reader should be made aware that the reporters assigned to cover our activities at the National Society are relatively young, and cannot seem to comprehend why anyone in their right mind would give so much of their time and talents to a patriotic organization, the DAR in particular. These young opinionated representatives of the press are not interested in the work of the National Society for it isn't "their bag" to portray the DAR in a favorable light. A DAR assignment is for laughs. Yes, they'll take pictures and yes, they'll conduct interviews but watch out, before "The Daughter" realizes it she has been slipped a "press mickey" and in her trusting innocence the DAR is made the subject of ridicule and vilification.

Freedom of the press is a one-way street—their way. As one reporter expressed it, "Sensation sells newspapers, not good works."

The Washington Bureau of the A.P. did a good hatchet job with their venom directed to our resolution on "Total Environment" and a complete blackout of the thirteen other resolutions. Of course our situation was not helped by certain remarks of some of our Delegates on the floor of Constitution Hall. These remarks, of course, were snapped up by the A.P. reporter and so woven into the story as to make it appear that this was the official attitude of the National Society, and that the environmental resolution was so expressed. When the Vice President of the United States, Spiro T. Agnew, attacks the press for biased reporting, he knows whereof he speaks. In our resolution we not only refer to the pollution of the atmosphere but to the pollution of the mind. These young pseudo-intellectuals who are part of our news media are polluting the minds of their readers with prejudicial reporting confined to their superficial views, ideas and conceptions of the DAR. Objective reporting and ethical standards do not seem to govern the news media today.

The DAR in its environmental resolution did come to the defense of industry for in industry rests America's military and economic strength. Who is responsible for polluting the atmosphere, Detroit or the automobile owner? When the car owner turns his ignition key and his automobile spews forth all sorts of obnoxious smells is he willing to give up this convenience as his contribution in the drive against pollution? We doubt it.

Now that the "pollution hysteria" of the news media has taken a back seat, the press is again preoccupied with getting on the back of our President to end the war in Southeast Asia. In fighting the American Revolution, General George Washington had one great advantage over President Richard M. Nixon. In the thirteen colonies there were only thirty-nine newspapers, no radio or television, and communication was so poor and so slow that General Washington could fight the war as he deemed best. Unfortunately, President Nixon cannot make a move without the unsolicited advice of anonymous editorial writers, opinionated syndicated columnists, pompous and ego-(Continued on page 632)

The Pilgrims choose private enterprise
What American heart does not thrill to the Pilgrim story? An indomitable band of men and women, determined to find liberty, crossed the wintry Atlantic in a crowded, ill-supplied 180-ton ship. In the New World a “General Sickness” decimated their ranks, “the living scarce able to bury the dead.” Yet, sustained by courage, resolution and faith in God, they prevailed in building and conserving their fields, maintaining by trade, and signing a treaty with the Indians kept so scrupulously by both sides that the Pilgrims walked “as peacefully and safely in the woods as in the highways of England.”

Your own enduring chronicle

Three centuries and a half after The Historic Landing at Plymouth, the Pilgrim 350th Committee has commissioned America’s famed International Mint to strike a series of superbly designed and modeled coin medals depicting 12 important events during the Pilgrims’ first crucial years in England, Holland, and the New World. Each heavy-gauge medal is 32mm. in diameter and is available in your choice of .999 solid fine silver, solid bronze, or solid platinum. Subjects and dates for this noteworthy issue were selected by a distinguished Advisory Board.

To create the medals themselves, The International Mint brought together Mr. Donald Struhat, designer of International’s hallmarked, limited edition honoring America’s Men in Space, Mr. Philip Krackowksi, noted American sculptor whose works include The Centennial Civil War Series, and the master engravers who struck the personal coins another generation of Pilgrims carried to the moon.

The Official Commemorative Issue

The results of this collaboration are masterly. So triumphantly has the medalists’ art united dignity, tradition, and enduring value that The Town of Plymouth, Massachusetts, has designated The Pilgrim Heritage as the official commemorative issue for the 350th Anniversary of The Landing.

Excellent investment potential

Sets of the 12 coin medals, which give every promise of becoming precious historical heirlooms, are available by charter subscription.* Only ten thousand numbered sets will be struck in .999 solid fine silver, and only 35 numbered sets in solid platinum. Your charter subscription is doubly valuable, for it certifies ownership and insures the prices as given here. Even though precious metals fluctuate widely in price and many economists foresee imminent rises, The Pilgrim 350th Anniversary Committee and The International Mint guarantee no increase in price for charter subscriptions postmarked prior to September 16, 1970.

We suggest you act now

Due to the limited number of fine silver sets available, only a comparatively few individuals and families will be privileged to own and cherish this permanent record of the Biblical heritage, the precedent of responsible self-government, and the example of private enterprise and conservation bequeathed by the Pilgrims. Consequently we urge you to act now. The charter subscription form below is for your convenience. We recommend mailing it with your remittance today.

DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION MAGAZINE

an alarming report

If you think there is a blackboard jungle in our nation's schools, you're just not realistic. It's much worse!

Item: an 11-yr.-old threw a knife in a 6th grade teacher's back as she wrote on the blackboard. Item: A junior high vice principal was shot and killed by a student. Item: A 17-yr.-old white girl was raped by 30 negro students. Item: Students of one school are taught gutter talk "to aid communication on sex."

Beatings, knifings, rapes, extortion, muggings, riots, narcotics, pornography, crime, violence, racial and cultural conflict, treason, anarchy, degeneracy are real...not exaggerated! Symptoms of the perversion and subversion of our youth!

According to a Senate study, since 1964, murder in schools is up from 15 to 26; robbery from 396 to 1,508; burglaries from 7,604 to 14,102; Narcotics violations from 73 to 854; drunkenness from 370 to 1,035; assaults on teachers from 25 to 1,801...and so on and on!

A WARNING TO YOU...

No matter how good your children are now, they may be the victims of violence or perversion...or worse, may later be the victim of habits forced upon them!

If you refuse to help in this disastrous situation, you may be the cause of your own children's downfall...and you will contribute to the continued subversion of youth!

But...if you back us up with your dollars...LIBERTY LOBBY will do its best to stop this ravaging pestilence!

learn how you can help!

THE JEAN HASBROUCK HOUSE OF NEW PALTZ

Home of Jean Hasbrouck (Memorial House) 1705. Granted National Historic Trust designation in 1967. It is the only house of its period in America still standing that was built in the Flemish style of architecture.

The Jean Hasbrouck House is one of a group of stone houses built between 1692 and 1712, located on Huguenot Street, New Paltz, New York. Huguenot Street is known as “The oldest street in America with its Original Houses.”

In 1678 a group of French Huguenots settled New Paltz, and after several years they built the group of stone houses that have stood for nearly three hundred years.

Many of the descendants of the first seven families: BEVIER, DEYO, HASBROUCK, FREER, LEFEVRE, CRISPELL and DUBOIS served the Revolutionary cause. The community was very staunch in its loyalty.

The houses on Huguenot Street have been purchased and preserved through the efforts of the Huguenot Historical Society, New Paltz, New York, Inc., with its family associations.

Tours are available through October 15th each year. Some of the houses are open throughout the year, each day except Monday.

HARVEY BIRCH CHAPTER, Scarsdale, New York, takes pride in dedicating this page in honor of its distinguished member and past regent, Mrs. George U. Baylies, for her outstanding service and complete devotion to the NSDAR.

She has brought many honors to the chapter through her election to the offices on the state level as Director, Recording Secretary and State Vice Regent as well as having served on the national level as National Chairman of both the Membership and DAR Speakers' Staff Committees.

The chapter pays tribute to her and wishes her well.
The Revolutionary Cemetery recalls clearly the age in which America first captured the vision of freedom. A small cemetery surrounded by a stone wall erected in 1841, well kept though in spots upheaved by expansion of trees that were seeds when the first seeds of freedom were sown in this country. It is the resting place for the bodies of Revolutionary soldiers and their families. Engraved on the monument erected in 1903 are the names: Capt. Conrad Edick, Jonas Parker, Zadock Hawley, Philip Pine, Squire Whitaker, John Garlow, Jonas Underwood, George Boyle, Nicholas Weaver, and John Dickinson.

HISTORIC LETCHWORTH STATE PARK

The marble statue marking the grave of Mary Jemison, the "White Woman of the Genesee," was erected on the grounds of Letchworth State Park in 1874 by William Pryor Letchworth, philanthropist and industrialist, whose home, "Glen Iris," is pictured below. The beautiful, century-old mansion is located near the Middle Falls of the Genesee River, in the heart of the 13,000-acre park, the first 1,000 acres of which were deeded to the State of New York by Mr. Letchworth in 1907. Now used as an inn for park visitors, it contains many of the original furnishings and art treasures collected by Mr. Letchworth.

The Battle of Golden Hill marked the first bloodshed between British regulars and the American colonists. Cutting down of the Liberty Pole on “The Commons” (now City Hall Park) by the red coats was followed by two days of fighting in the adjacent streets in the Lower Manhattan area then known as “Golden Hill,” now John and Williams Streets. Golden Hill Chapter, NSDAR, was organized by the late Mrs. Alexander William Whiteford, November 23, 1935.

ONWENTSIA CHAPTER OF ADDISON, NEW YORK CELEBRATES ITS 70th ANNIVERSARY

This house built for William Wombaugh, an early landowner of an extensive area in Steuben County in 1813 is the oldest house in the Addison, New York area. An oil painting showing this house by Henry Waldo in 1850 hangs in the Addison Public Library. William Wombaugh acquired property by land grants. Later Mr. Wombaugh built a house for each of his children. The son Addison for whom the town was named had one, then a daughter married a shoecraftsman named Farnum. The Farnum Shoe Company in Buffalo grew from this enterprise. That beautiful home is still in use as is the lovely Sherwood home built for another daughter who married a Brewster.

The only direct descendant now living is Miss Mabel Wombaugh of Hornell, New York, a great-granddaughter, who with her family has owned the Hornell Tribune for many years.

This house is nearly the same as originally built. There is a staircase, also four fireplaces kept as originally used. The two-foot floor boards of virgin timber has been removed from the attic floor and placed in use on the first floor. The original panes of glass are in the house. The walls are extremely thick and bricks used were made in local brick yards.

To meet the needs of the early settlers different craftsmen came to the area and with the Wombaugh estate as a nucleus, Addison became a town.

Address by Gen. W. C. Westmoreland

abandoned, we are in trouble. If the search for honesty, truth and justice ever becomes supplanted by material goals, our Nation is doomed.

As Winston Churchill so eloquently put it in 1940, “If we open a quarrel between the past and the present, we shall find that we have lost the future.”

Our form of government, with its checks and balances, permitted us to survive crises in the past. I am confident that we are resilient enough to survive this one.

However, we must conquer our problems by turning back to those fundamental principles guaranteeing life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness ... those principles which Sophocles declared over 24 centuries ago as being “unchangeable, unwritten laws of Heaven.”

We as citizens, young and old, must exercise a collective sense of responsibility and consideration for others as well as self.

We must “cherish, maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom.”

We must “foster true patriotism and love of country.”

We must “aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty.”

In short, we must stand up and sound off for decency, patriotism, democracy and freedom.
The New York State Conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution, under the direction of Mrs. Frank H. Parcells, State Regent, adopted a resolution in October, 1930, to erect a memorial on the Saratoga Battlefield, to honor the unknown American soldiers buried there.

The inscription reads:

*The Unknown American Soldiers
Who Perished in the Battle of Saratoga
September 19 and October 7, 1777
And Were Here Buried in Unmarked Graves
Helped to Assure the Triumph of the War of Independence
To Create the Republic of the United States of America
And to Establish Liberty Throughout the World.
In Honor of These Patriots
And in Recognition of the
Bi-Centennial of the Birth of George Washington
This Memorial is Erected by the Daughters of the American Revolution of New York State
1931

Statistical network commentators and thousands of critical students whose college tuition is financed by the very government they wish to overthrow. Of course, General Washington did have the harrassment of Americans loyal to the Crown, who were identified as Tories. President Nixon’s modern day Tories are those Americans and elected representatives who wave their umbrellas and cry peace. It is too bad that these “peace advocates” are so ignorant of history, particularly American history.

Buried in all the Earth Day hysteria was an editorial in the Chicago Tribune of May 3rd which took a back-handed slap at their colleagues, “It is necessary to recognize that without industry, fresh air and trees would mean little to us. Ask the Neanderthal Man.” It is true in our environmental resolution that the DAR held the individual American responsible for his immediate en-

IN THE HEART OF GREEN COUNTRY

BLOOMING IN APRIL: Oklahoma's State Tree, the REDBUD and the newer WHITEBUD, Pink, White and Red DOGWOOD, JONQUILS, PANSIES and a profusion of beautiful spring perenials, set in beds along the park drives. . . . The annual AZALEA FESTIVAL, celebrated in mid-April brings hundreds of thousands of visitors from all over the nation to marvel at the beauty of 23,000 multicolored plants in unforgettable natural settings.

AN ALL AMERICAN ROSE SELECTION GARDEN: One of the few such in the country that features all of the All American Rose Selections from 1940 through 1970. A special section shows old roses from the ancient through late-victorian days. Nearly 1,700 bushes of 450 varieties are shown in a natural hillside setting.

FALL FOLIAGE COLOR: A variety of Sweet Gum, Sugar Maple, Red and Pin Oak and Black Gum together with shrubs and annuals give a full range of beautiful fall colors.

PICNIC AREAS: They are scattered throughout the park and offer restful stops for family size to large groups.

With a series of special events during 1970, RED BANK, N.J. is celebrating its CENTENNIAL anniversary of incorporation as a Town with the commission form of government.

The community grew from a tiny river front settlement in the 1700's, where the early population consisted of families of a few scattered farms in the 18 square mile area.

The oldest house now remaining, was built by Peter White before 1688, and was occupied by descendants of the White family until 1920.

NASSAU HALL—PRINCETON UNIVERSITY was founded in 1746 as the College of New Jersey and became known as Princeton University in 1896. In 1756 Nassau Hall was completed and housed all the faculties of the College.

During the Revolution, Nassau Hall served at different times as a barracks and hospital for Continental and British troops. It was the scene of the last stand of the British in the Battle of Princeton. In 1776 the first Legislature of the State of New Jersey convened in it, the first Governor of the State (William Livingston) was inducted and the great Seal of the State adopted.

From June to November 1783, the Continental Congress sat in Nassau Hall. During this session it thanked Washington, in person, for his conduct of the war, received news that the Treaty of Peace had been signed and officially received the first minister (Peter Van Berckel of the Netherlands) accredited to the newly independent nation.

OLD QUEENS BUILDING—The State University erected in 1809, Old Queens is the physical symbol of Rutgers to thousands of students and alumni. It was the University's first permanent building and at one time housed all the student, faculty, chapel and library and classrooms. Some of the rooms in Old Queens were used as classrooms as recently as the late 1930's.

Given in honor of the Officers of the New Jersey Society Daughters of the American Revolution: Mrs. Frederick Griswold, Jr., State Regent; Mrs. John F. Griffin, State Vice Regent; Mrs. Isaac Detwiler Shank, State Chaplain; Mrs. Paul Frentz, State Recording Secretary; Mrs. C. ...environment. If junior "pops his bubble gum" as he walks down the street then he should be taught to place the wrapper in his pocket and not drop it on the ground. It is true that the DAR feels that pollution of the mind is as deadly as the pollution of the atmosphere. The reporting of the DAR's 79th Continental Congress is a prime example of the press's abridgment of "freedom of the press." The press has never given the DAR a break. In fact, it has carried on a thirty-year vendetta ever since the Marian Anderson incident. The reporters who charged we denied Constitution Hall to Marian Anderson generally are so young they weren't even born at the time of the incident, and like parrots repeat what they have heard someone else say without checking facts. Of course it makes good copy to chastise the DAR. The fact that Washington was a segregated city and that Marian Anderson was barred from every auditorium and stage in the District of Columbia is never mentioned. Why kill a good story by telling the truth? What started as a misunderstanding over the availability of Constitution Hall on a particular date blossomed and then bloomed into one of America's major racial incidents through a series of unfortunate circumstances. Politicians of the day, of course, had to jump into the fray. With so much pious rhetoric swirling...

through Washington’s social circuit, the ladies of the DAR chose to remain mute.

Another favorite dig by reporters is that President Franklin Delano Roosevelt addressed the DAR as “Fellow Immigrants.” This quote was resurrected by a reporter of The Washington Post during the 79th Continental Congress. Racy copy of course, makes a good story and again, why bother to check its authenticity? President Roosevelt at the 47th Continental Congress, in April, 1938, addressed the group as “Daughters of the American Revolution,” not as “Fellow Immigrants.” Apparently facts and accuracy are not standards adhered to by The Post reportorial staff.

It is almost impossible for the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution to get a “break” with the national radio and television networks. Of course, there is a monopoly of news reporting especially where newspapers acquire radio and television stations and even news magazines. The Washington Post owns two television stations, a radio station and Newsweek magazine. They all play the same tune and it isn’t “The Stars and Stripes Forever.”

The publicity strength of the DAR is found in mainstream America—not the big city news media. Our “pressbooks” at Congress will attest to this. We wish our members to know that the National Society’s Office of Public Relations is always available to assist them with their public relations problems.

Remember, our forebears built this country at an investment of blood, sweat and tears. We are not about to surrender to the Communists, Black Panthers, Students for a Democratic Society, Women Strike for Peace, Hippies, Yippies, spoiled, ignorant and undisciplined college students, or any other groups or organizations who desecrate our Flag, plot the overthrow of our government and give aid and comfort to the enemy.

The membership of the DAR is many times greater than the 20,000 of the SAR, as you probably know. The Sons of the American Revolution refuses to believe that these figures indicate that American men are less patriotic than American women. We prefer to believe that our numbers are fewer because many eligibles are unaware of our existence.

The aims and principles of the SAR are quite identical to those of the DAR, so a stronger SAR automatically means an even stronger DAR. We therefore request that you bring the SAR to the attention of your qualified husbands and relatives. Descriptive material is available from the National Society, SAR, 2412 Mass Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20008.
GEORGIA DAUGHTER HONORED

Mrs. Hugh Peterson, Sr. of Ailey, Georgia, widow of United States Congressman, Hugh Peterson, being sworn in by Governor Lester Maddox as a member of the Board of Regents, University System of Georgia, the ceremony taking place in the old Supreme Court Room where her late Father served as Chief Justice for many years until his death.

Patience Russell Peterson is the daughter of Richard Brevard Russell and his wife, Ina Dillard, and a sister of United States Senator Richard B. Russell. President Nixon justly referred to Mrs. Peterson’s family “As one of the most distinguished families in the United States.”

Mrs. Peterson, a Charter member of Sunbury Chapter, is now a member of the Vidalia Chapter, and has been a delegate to the Continental Congress for the past thirty-five years. Active in DAR work on Chapter, State and National levels, she is presently serving as National Advisor to the DAR Museum in Washington.

Wilderness is part of the American heritage.

The wilderness that witnessed the dawn and early growth of this Nation no longer spreads from ocean to ocean. But neither has all of it been tamed. Many of these untamed lands, majestic reminders of primeval America, are parts of the National Forests of the United States.

The Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, established the first wilderness area in 1904 and now manages over 95% of the almost 10 million acres that presently comprises the National Wilderness System.
