President General's Message

So wrote Ellen Hardin Walworth in the December 1892 issue of the American Monthly Magazine (now the DAR Magazine). These words are as timely as they were in the early days of the National Society.

The cover for December, the National Society's Christmas Greeting to each of you, features a pair of Sheffield Candelabra, silver-on-copper, made between 1800 and 1810 by Matthew Bolton's Soho Plate Company in Birmingham, England. The table cover is a coverlet made in Shreve, Ohio, dating about 1845. These items are from the DAR Museum collection.

The candelabra is the gift of Mrs. James A. Vaughan and Mrs. Allyn K. Ford, members of the Monument Chapter, Minneapolis, Minnesota. Mrs. Vaughan is the State Chairman, DAR Museum and a Museum Adviser. The photo is by Richard C. Colburn.

The Battle of

Golden Hill

Liberty Poles

The New York City Liberty Pole of 1770; water color by Charles M. Lefferts

DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION MAGAZINE
At the Battle of Golden Hill in New York City in 1770 was shed some of the first blood for Liberty. The battle was between the city people and military men quartered on the colonists contrary to their needs.

The soldiers were being billeted in New York to enforce England's Royal Proclamation of 1763 which set aside territory for the Indians within the limits of older colonies. British regulars in the city under the false pretense of providing protection against the Indians finally culminated in a two-day battle between armed soldiers and the inhabitants led by the Sons of Liberty. The battle took place 200 years ago on Golden Hill Street in the proximity of the eminent Gold Street that ran along the lower part of Golden Hill. The exact battle ground is easily located today since the nearby streets, William, Fulton, John and Cliff still have their original names. Golden Hill Street, the one exception is now a part of John Street. The elevation Golden Hill is plainly shown on the beautiful and accurate map of New York City 1766-1767 by Ratzer and Kitchin.

England's plans to acquire funds for maintaining troops in America to make the Proclamation effective aroused the justifiable wrath of the colonists. They were heavily in debt and reluctant to share the cost. They determined to oppose inconsistent tax experiments put upon them but England needed money and was unwilling to believe that the colonies could not be brought under subjection. She tried several tax reforms and finally passed the notorious Stamp Act to take effect Nov. 1, 1765. That necessitated the "Quartering Act" requiring the colonists to find quarters, firewood, cooking-utensils, soap, candles, bedding, beer, cider and rum for the troops. The New York Colony was the individual property of England by right of conquest and received the brunt of the king's corrupt designs on the American Colonies.

Nine colonies met together in New York City for 14 days as the Stamp Act Congress, protesting the stamp tax. They adopted a Declaration of Rights, a Petition to the King. The British lawmakers were furious except for Colonel Isaac Barre who called the Stamp Act Congress the Sons of Liberty which later proved to be more fact than fancy.

Violent stamp riots took place in the colonies and by the middle of 1766 no one was using the stamps and the Stamp Act was repealed. There was rejoicing in many places and New York City even ordered a statue of the King to be erected later: It celebrated the repeal on the king's birthday June 4th. An ox was barbecued and rum flowed freely. As a part of the celebration the Sons of Liberty had set up a huge Liberty Pole on the Commons, flying a flag of nine horizontal red and white stripes, one for each colony of the Stamp Act Congress. It was a reminder to King George what the colonies wanted. His soldiers cut it down on August 11th and the Sons of Liberty set to work the next day to raise it. People gathered to watch and were joined by workmen from the nearby shops. The crowd while watching, attacked a passing British drummer and the corporal who came to help him. Soldiers emerged from the barracks on the Commons and after a brief skirmish the officers with drawn bayonets ordered the soldiers back to their barracks. However, they managed on Sept. 23rd to cut the pole down. Another was erected the next day, the third since the king's birthday and it survived 6 months when it was felled on March 19, 1767.

Liberty Poles had become symbols of freedom so the Sons of Liberty erected their fourth pole immediately just west of Golden Hill. The pole was girded with iron bars held in place with metal hoops. The soldiers tried at once to undermine it and then to blow it up, but failed. It stood nearly three years in spite of many attempts to bring it down. On Jan. 13, 1770 the soldiers attacked it with a vengeance. They had sawed through the iron braces and bored a hole and filled it with powder when they were discovered by some of the Sons of Liberty in Montagne's Tavern across the way. The soldiers left their destructive work on the pole and ran into the tavern with drawn swords and drove everybody out. They broke lamps, dishes, furniture and smashed windows. The officers had much difficulty to stop the fracas and to get the soldiers to their barracks.

After a few more days of wrangling with the citizens and under cover of darkness the redcoats returned and hacked down the pole and piled the pieces at the door of the tavern and put up abusive placards in many places. That was the pole that really precipitated in one of the first battles of the Revolution, the Battle of Golden Hill. In the morning when the people learned what had been done, 3000 of them, supported by the Sons of Liberty, met at the stump and adopted two resolutions: One that all soldiers on the streets after roll-call should be treated as enemies to the peace of the city. The second resolution ordered all inhabitants to stop the employment of soldiers; soldiers were scab laborers in their spare time taking odd jobs away from the poor men in the city. They also passed measures for erecting a fifth Liberty Pole.

That night the soldiers put up more placards, this time daring the citizens to enforce their resolutions. In the morning they continued going about nailing up insulting broadsides in conspicuous places. Two leading Sons of Liberty, Captain Isaac Sears and Walter Quackenbos, acted to stop them and a soldier drew his bayonet. Sears struck him with a "Rams Horn." Sears and other Sons of Liberty had been wounded by British soldiers three years before when resetting the second Liberty Pole. Sears and Quackenbos went on with their mission; they seized two obdurate soldiers and took them to the mayor's office. A crowd quickly gathered and twenty armed soldiers came to rescue their comrades. The mayor ordered the soldiers to their barracks and they moved slowly toward the Battery followed by anxious citizens. On the way they were joined by more soldiers and when they reached the summit of Golden (Continued on page 934)
WHAT BOOKS
To Encourage Your Children To Read

By E. Merrill Root

E. Merrill Root is the powerful author of two best-selling books: Collectivism On The Campus and Brainwashing In The High Schools. Professor Root may also be America's greatest living poet. His work has appeared in The Freeman, Human Events, Christian Economics, Bluebook, National Review, New York Times, The Literary Digest, New York Herald Tribune, and other national periodicals.

The schools will not do it. The colleges will not do it. You, the parents, must do it or it will not be done.

What am I talking about? I am talking about the communication of a living culture, a literature of beauty and wisdom, an ozone of the soul, that is to children what clean air, pure water, the radiant sun are—what the green living forests are, absorbing carbon dioxide and breathing forth oxygen—a climate of health and life so natural, so inevitable, so unconsciously absorbed, that we do not know that they are there, until we fall sick because they are not! Given that once more, our children will be too naturally wise and too radiantly joyous to seek the lethal substitute of drugs, the gaudy caricature called "protest," the deafening cacophonies of rock-and-roll, the smart alec "sophistication" of talk-show wise guys, and all the synthetic phony artificialities of the hour.

I am talking about the books, the wise and beautiful books, that should be the life ever more abundant in which children may live and move and find their being, because they are the very climate of God.

What books should your children read?

One of the fine young men I know once asked his father the question: "What shall I read?" And the wise answer was, "Read the classics!" Yes, read the classics! Of course. But there must be grace notes of explanation, and coda of warning, and names to be named, if we parents are to know what the classics for children are.

In suggesting books for children I would urge you not to be narrow or stiff—not to uphold "propaganda" even for reality—I would refuse to set the right content above the right art. I would have you suggest only books that are so fine in artistry that they cast their own magic spell over the child, and so are a living joy to read. I would suggest only books that in my own still living childhood (for time is an illusion and the child forever lives on in that eternity that is our timeless life) spoke to my own condition and nourished my own being.

I still remember sadly how on Sundays my beloved father (who was a minister) allowed me to read only books from the Sunday School Library of the church. That was wrong, for many of the books so permitted were quite mediocre, and made me feel that "good" books were dull books. And that is contrary to the will and Providence of God, in whose triune being is the Holy Spirit that is the fountainhead of genius. At the time, though I was less than ten, I wanted to read Poe's tales and Charles Reade's The Cloister And The Hearth... neither of which happened to be in the Sunday School Library. And so I not only wasted my time, but I also thought my parents had the false idea that I must read "good" books rather than great books. I am sure that my father, in that wider unimpeded world that transcends this, knows now why I say this and forgives me, but I would not make his mistake; I would not have you make his mistake.

So first of all let me say this. None of the books I list or suggest will be suggested because they say the right thing unless they say it in the right way. And the right way is the way of art—the way of genius, the way of beauty, the way of magic. All books for children, because young unspoiled children are very close to the wonder and the wisdom of God, must be things of magic and joy. They will never be heavy, they will never be dull; they will be moral (as the universe is moral), but never "moralistic" or dogmatic. Jerry Rubin and Timothy Leary are immoral, but they are very "moralistic" and dogmatic.

They are always preaching at us to kill our parents, or to destroy ourselves with revolution and LSD. They never let life speak its own magic, because they are too eager to speak their own little screed from their ugly variant on the Sunday School Library!

I suggest only books that children will love. I suggest only books that will be a joy. I want books for children to be like the seashells whored with enamel, and the pebbles rounded by the ocean into magic, which the child loves to pick up and play with on the beaches of the world where the great waves crash and roll. I want books for children to be like the fascinating wild flowers that children gather because their spectrum and their fragrance say: "Here is joy!"

The books for our children should be, of course, those that say Yes to life, that see life as it is, not in a two dimensional world (which is the "modern" world), but also in the depth and the height of the third dimension... and the transcendent hint of the fourth and fifth dimensions which surround and fulfill this lesser world of ours. They must never be mean and low and cynical, and therefore false. *

The living values must be there. (They are really there even in Gulliver's Travels.) But they must always be communicated with the fine art of magic. They must always be the living flowers whose roots go down into the living earth, and not cut flowers in a vase or plastic flowers fashioned as lifeless artifacts.

What, then, are some of the books that your children may read?

First, when children are very young, repeat to them or read to them the Mother Goose Rhymes. I know that the sentimental "Liberals" (who uphold hurling cobble-stones at policemen or Molotov cocktails into buildings) call them "bloody" and "violent" and "savage." I know that solemn "scholars" dredge out "historical" sources of them. What does all that signify? St. George and the Dragon are primal realities in life, and the sooner children know it, the better. Mugging and murder on the streets of our cities are corollaries of "Liberalism," and the sooner children know it the better. That Jack falls down and breaks his crown, that Jill comes tumbling after, are facts of life. That the farmer's wife cuts off the tails of three blind mice with her carving knife... that Mary, Mary, is quite contrary... that Jack must be nimble and quick to jump over the candlestick... that Jack Sprat would eat no fat, his wife would eat no lean... that pussy-cat went to London and frightened a little mouse under the queen's chair... that we ask Baa, baa, black sheep if he has any wool... such as facets of life that delight the soul. And if "Liberals" say these have no sense, let us remind them that generations so brought up had the sense not to be "Liberals."

Children when very young should learn a lot of sensible nonsense, to cleanse their souls with innocent laughter, and to know what the great Chesterton calls "The giant laughter of Christian men." Children brought up on Mother Goose will be too sound and sane with nonsense to listen to Jerry Rubin's nonsense telling them to go home and kill their parents. And, most of all, children should know the nature and fate of bureaucrats—

Humpty-dumpty sat on a wall,
Humpty-dumpty had a great fall...
And all the King's horses,
And all the King's men,
Couldn't put Humpty together again.

That too should be a part of their heritage of wisdom!

And Grimm's Fairy Tales, and Hans Christian Andersen's wonderful tales, should be as natural as mother's milk to children. For in the Fairy Tale you find reality, you see life as it is, and you nourish children who will know what George Orwell calls "the basic freedom"—the freedom to say that "two plus two are four." Above all, you will let your children love the hero, the champion of good and God, the soldier of Eternity. G. K. Chesterton (in Tremendous Trifles) speaks the truth superbly:

"Can you not see," I said, that fairy tales in their essence are quite solid and straightforward; but that this everlasting fiction about modern life is in its nature essentially incredible?
And again (in the same book but in a different essay), Chesterton says:

Exactly what the fairy tale does is this: it accustoms him [the child] for a series of clear pictures to the idea that these limitless terrors have a limit, that these shapeless enemies have enemies, that these strong enemies of man have enemies in the knights of God, that there is something in the universe more mystical than darkness and stronger than strong fear.

And therefore, at the earliest possible hour, even before the schools have subjected him to the mumbo-jumbo of primer drool about Ida and little Sam watching the garbage man doing his “social duty,” read your children these great tales till they have been soaked into their subconscious, beyond all the efforts of the “Liberals” to dislodge them.

And be especially sure your children know the marvelous Hans Christian Andersen tale about The Emperor’s Clothes... where only the child had the wisdom and the courage to say, “He’s naked!”

And do not omit poetry. Before your child knows what poetry is, read to him or her Stevenson’s Child’s Garden of Verses. Here is the key to Arcady, here is the doorway into the real world—a world of joy, of wonder, of delight that will help a man or woman in the dark and lonely hours with the remembered sanity of the child’s joy. Here is “The friendly cow, all red and white”—the “shadow” that goes in and out with you—the river that is dark brown over golden sand—the holes your children whose soul is melodious take as Jerry Rubin!

And Oh, for the sake of your children’s souls and their wisdom and delight in life, read them—read them from their earliest hours!—Rudyard Kipling’s Just So Stories! This so they will learn to laugh like the sunlight that dances down the sky, and to know the secrets of being as the flower knows them and the cow knows them (the brown cow that eats green grass and turns it into white milk) and as the child knows them (before he has been to a modern school and got all curdled); and to play with the stars for marbles; and to know the universe as a Miracle Play for living souls. .. Read them (even before they can read), “How The Whale Got His Throat” and “How The Camel Got His Hump” and “How The Leopard Got His Spots”... and “How The Alphabet Was Made”... and about “The Cat That Walked By Himself” (as all cats do). And these will be always the salt of the soul to keep it sweet, and the sun of the soul to tease it toward Heaven... and the wonder that will lead you through the valley of the shadow of death to the Unimpeded Life that lies beyond... This is one of the great books of the world—for children (and for grown ups who are not grown down). So one reads:

In the sea, once upon a time, O my Best Beloved, there was a whale, and he ate fishes. He ate the starfish and the garfish, and the crab and the dab, and the plaice and the dace, and the skate and his mate... and the really truly twirly-whirly eel. All the fishes he could find in all the sea he ate with his mouth—so! Till at last there was only one small fish left in all the sea, and he was a small 'Stute Fish, and he swam a little behind the Whale’s right ear, so as to be out of harm’s way. Then the Whale stood up on his tale and said, “I’m hungry.” And the small ‘Stute Fish said in a small ‘stute voice, “Noble and generous Cetacean, have you ever tasted Man?”

Read this—and all the others—and enter into the joy of the world. And remember always that only a Master (as Kipling was) can lift you out of time into wisdom.

Read, also, Kipling’s Jungle Tales—which stories that fashion the soul to love adventure, to worship courage and loyalty, to be courteous to Baloo the Bear and fearless before Shere Khan the tiger and Tobaqui his jackal. Once you read one of these to a true child, you will have to read all; once you have read them once, your child will read them all his life... as you do. Here is the center of character, as when Kaa the rock python says, “A brave heart and a courteous tongue, they shall carry thee far through the Jungle, Maling.” Here is the story of battle for the right (“Red Dog”), and the immortal ache of the heart that drives Mowgli back to man, and the wonder of the moon over the wonder of the world.

And let no child of yours grow up without the company of the Water Rat, the Mole, and, Mr. Toad, in that delectable classic, Kenneth Grahame’s The Wind In The Willows. Adventure, the joy of life, humor, loyalty, love of home and country and friends, reverence for the Friend behind All Phenomena, these are here to be found. So that the child who reads of them never need be “A stranger and afraid/In a world he never made.” It is one of the great books—for children, and for the undying child in all real men and women.

A little more esoteric, yet great and good, is George MacDonald’s At The Back Of The North Wind. Not all children today will like it, but some will; and all should be given the chance to find out. And if you can only get it (you may have to search it out in England), read Richard Jefferies’ Bevis: The Story Of A Boy. You surely can get Thomas Bailey Aldrich’s The Story Of A Bad Boy—a lovely and delicious book; and (if nothing else) it will give your child a hint of the world before “Liberals’” smogged it up, the world that was free and exciting and true and good.

And don’t forget William Blake’s “Tiger, Tiger” from Songs Of Experience; and “Little Lamb, who made thee?” from Songs Of Innocence... And, above all, read the Bible—the great and true myths, the stories; read about Samson and Delilah, and David and Goliath... Don’t insult and degrade the child by supposing that he cannot understand these! He can. And only as you offer him the best will he rise toward the possible.

As your child grows older, read to injuries threats to discourage you and prevent your reaching the summit of the mountain. Be not afraid; but above all things, do not turn your head to look behind you; for in an instant you will be changed into such a black stone as those you see, which are all youths who have failed in this enterprise.”

How truthfully that speaks to our condition— to those of us who also seek the Golden Water and the Singing Tree, and who hear a confusion of voices and a thousand threats which, if we turn to listen, will change us also into blackened stones by the side of the perilous road!

And read your children that beautiful modern classic, The Incredible Journey, by Sheila Burnford (Little, Brown & Company, Boston and Toronto). For here the bonds of love between children and animals are made articulate and strong, and the truthfulness and love and courage of our elder brothers, the creatures with four feet, are made a joy forever.

A bit esoteric, but beautiful and good, is the late Lord Dunsany’s A Dreamer’s Tales (John W. Luce & Company, Boston). Lord Dunsany was always a romantic, the foe of all the stuffy mediocrity of the “modern” world, the critic of preoccupation with the economic and the “social” and the “political.” In his poignant tale, “Blagdaros,” he writes of the old worn-out Rocking-horse in the waste land, who says:

“I am Blagdaros . . . . Alas! for the great days that are gathered, and alas for the Great One that was a master and a soul to me, whose spirit is now shrunk and can never know me again, and no more ride abroad on knightly quests. I was Bucephalus when he was Alexander, and carried him victorious as far as Ind. I encountered dragons with him when he was St. George, I was the horse of Roland fighting for Christendom, and was often Rosinante. I fought in tournaments and went errant upon quest, and met Ulysses and the heroes . . . . Or late in the evening, just before the lamps in the nursery were put out, he would suddenly mount me, and we would gallop through Africa. There we would pass by night through tropic forests, and come upon dark rivers sweeping by, all gleaming with the eyes of crocodiles . . . . Then I would wheel suddenly, and the dust flew up from my four hoofs as I turned and we galloped home again and my master was put to bed . . . .

But his master “began to grow larger in his body and smaller in his soul”—he went to Progressive Schools, that is, and was subjected to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare—and “then he rode more seldom upon quests.” This is a book, I think, that can save your child from becoming a Flower Child . . . because it makes him a Child of the World’s Wonder.

I cannot imagine any child—or boy, at least—growing toward the shining glory of true life, unless he has read Treasure Island, with its romance, its adventure, its glory of living dangerously, its loyalty and courage. Or unless he has read Robinson Crusoe, and the endeavor of the individual. When I wish to rest and convalesce, I read that now, and as a boy I read it with delight in the secure cave, the mighty wall, the loaded muskets, the goats and the parrot and the dog, the faithful Man Friday. Here is a book to dwell in and find the strength of the soul. Read it to your children!

And be sure, too, that they grow up on the older Mississippi, with Huckleberry Finn, and old Jim, and Tom Sawyer—absorbing the river and the sun through the naked hide, “haggling a catfish open” and frying him on the shore, discoursing under the night sky about King Solomon—or the stars . . . . This is a great book out of the American psyche and for the American soul, and children who read it as it should be read will grow up to be Americans forever, even in Heaven.

Be sure, too, that your children know the knightly splendor of Ivanhoe, and “The Lady Of The Lake,” and “Marmion,” and all that they can of Sir Walter Scott. Here virtue and courage will become the shining substance of the soul; here all that is good and great, all that is absolute and eternal, will be sunlight in the very bloodstream. And as children grow older, try to incorporate into the family life a reading of Charles Reade’s The Cloister And the Hearth and Charles Dickens’ Great Expec-tions (my own favorite). And do not forget Cooper's Deerslayer and The Last Of The Mohicans.

Under the saccharine sentimentality of John Dewey and the "Liberals," the sentimentality of most of the "modern" mind, we are told to water the difficult down into the easy. Children are supposed to need the high and the hard turned into the soft and the low. The Bible has to be turned into the vernacular; the classics have to be diluted with barley water. How stupid! Children need to be treated as if they had minds—challenge them, act as if they were athletes of the brain.

I remember when the late Countee Cullen, the fine Negro poet, was visiting at our home my step-son, then seven or eight, immediately got out his volume of Chaucer and discussed it with Countee and man and boy were equals. I remember, too, that when I was five or six my parents were reading me the poetry of Milton and Dante (in translation); that when I was only ten I found, for and by myself, most of Sir Walter Scott, and all of Longfellow, and the plays of Shakespeare (including "Troilus And Cressida" and "Measure For Measure"), and read them through. Children, if you don't treat them like little victims of pernicious anemia of the mind, can read great books—and should. Don't stoop down to them. Act as if you expect them to reach up.

Within the last year, I read to the three lovely children of my friend Scott Stanley, Alfred Noyes' The Highwayman," and from Robert Frost, and my own "Unicorn," and they sat entranced and appreciative. His charming daughter, Leslie, was at the time writing a report on "Unicorns" for her teachers. The minds of children, the souls of children, unless "Liberals" get hold of them, are capable of the high and the difficult and the great. But most schools cater to them as if they were little morons; and on the silver screen the networks suppose they have the I.Q. of a mudbank clam.

If it is impossible to return to reading, our culture is no longer a culture. Such a Wee One as Marshall McLuhan writes against the printed page (often in three hundred printed pages!), and in sentimental praise of the silver screen. He may or may not know what he does, but he does it. And what he does is to seek to destroy the abiding and eternal bases of beauty, of life, of wisdom, and to uphold the ephemera of the hour. Our labor of love is exactly the opposite; we would nourish the Inner Kingdom, the contemplative soul, the life that has become art in our children by the books they read.

One of the great sources of joy and wisdom in my own life was the family practice of reading aloud together—and even in this age of superficiality and nonsense and the silver screen, I think it can be done again. It may be hard at first, it may require firmness, but I have faith enough in children to believe that they will answer to beauty and magic as the living seed answers to the sun. Most of TV (not all, thank God!) is ephemeral; and none of it is distilled into abiding form, only a hand's reach away, as Stevenson and Dickens and Cervantes and Shakespeare are. Books partake of the miracle of the Incarnation—the Word that has become flesh!

Therefore I would hope that all your children, very early, will read (or have read to them) Cervantes' Don Quixote, and Romeo And Juliet and King Lear—or at least, The Tempest, the novels of Sir Walter Scott and of Charles Dickens, and Cyrano de Bergerac, and the one great novel of Thornton Wilder, The Bridge Of San Luis Rey, and John Buchan's Mountain Meadow as well as The Thirty-nine Steps. And also The Forest Lovers, by Maurice Hewlett, and Green Mansions, by W.H. Hudson (one of the great books of the world), and Mary Johnston's beautiful Prisoners Of Hope.

There are for us all—for the children who are more mature than we sometimes know, and for us who are more childlike than we sometimes admit—books that are friends forever, books that inhabit what the wise Australian aborigines call "the great dream time"; books that are the immortal soul of the West—of the world. The things that are really ours, consciousness and character, are things of the Inner Kingdom; they dwell in books; and books in their essence are immortal and eternal, and wait for us in the Libraries of Heaven. Books are the treasures of the soul, radiant and rich as the gems of Ali Baba's famous cave; they are the true treasures of the earth.
Revolutionary War figures are held in high esteem by American journalists. Three men identified with the Revolution—Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, and Benjamin Franklin—were named among the fifteen "most admired" persons in world history in a recent survey of half (857) of the nation's daily newspaper editors.

Jefferson was ranked fourth by the newsmen, after Jesus Christ, Winston Churchill, and Abraham Lincoln. Washington was rated fifth; Franklin 15th. Other Revolutionary War figures named among the most admired in history were Thomas Paine and John Adams.

Participants in the study were ninety-nine editors in ninety-five cities in thirty-seven states who responded to the author's invitation to "name the five persons whom, in all of world history, from the beginning to the present, you most admire," and to state why they rated their selections as they did.

Among the fifteen most admired figures, six were Americans, six were Europeans, three were men of antiquity, and five lived in the 20th century. Six of those named were primarily identified with statesmanship; four religion; and one each philosophy, invention, drama, art, and exploration.

Jefferson was cited in the study as one of the "most versatile and accomplished men who ever lived." Editors praised the third President for his contributions to the Declaration of Independence, American idealism, statesmanship, education, architecture, science, and agriculture.

Washington was commended for his "bravery and perseverance, outstanding abilities," and "fine individual traits." "No man had more integrity or has had more influence in our history, and no man achieved success against greater odds," typically observed a state of Washington editor.

"Franklin," ran a representative comment of a Colorado editor, "was a highly intelligent human being with great perspective, exemplifying the best in world citizenship."

Based on a formula of five points for a first-place vote, four for a second-place vote, and so on, the vote totals for the fifteen most admired world figures are as follows:

Jesus received fifty-six first-place votes in the survey, one fifth place vote. Several respondents said they would have voted for Him had they considered Him a mere mortal.

Thirty-five of the editors who voted Jesus as the most admirable figure in world history stated they did so because His life had done more to change and improve mankind than that of anyone else. "His life and teachings," typically stated a New Mexico editor, "have been more influential in the course of human affairs than any other." "No one," echoed a Montana newsman, "did so much for mankind, and no one changed the history of the world more.” “He gave us,” summed up an Iowa editor, “a new way of life.”

Twenty-two respondents said they admired Jesus most because of His “sacrifice, selfless devotion,” “compassion,” “love of mankind,” and “perfection.” “This man,” declared a Virginia editor, “personified the ultimate way a life should be lived, totally dedicating Himself to His Maker, without regard for His own desires.” “He possessed all of the virtues and none of the faults of mankind,” added a Georgia respondent.

Six of the editors said that the reasoning behind their selection of Jesus was “obvious.” “Must I explain?,” protested a Massachusetts editor.

Churchill received fifteen first-place votes. Everyone who voted for him commented on the “courage,” “bulldog determination,” “sheer will power,” “inspirational qualities,” “indomitable perseverance,” and “superb leadership” that “saved England from collapse during her darkest hour.” “I don’t believe any one man ever played a more important role in saving his nation,” typically noted a Florida journalist. “He was beaten,” said an Ohioan, “but didn’t accept defeat.”

Lincoln, who received four first-place votes, was highly rated for his “humanitarianism,” “statesmanship,” “genius at understanding his people and the values of his time,” and “saving the nation in its darkest hour.” “He personified the essence of the finest American philosophy,” concluded an Indiana editor.

Socrates was praised for his philosophic teachings, which, as a Florida journalist observed, “set men thinking.” “His teachings, which maintain that the goodness of man IS based on wisdom, wickedness on ignorance, are of paramount importance,” noted a Wisconsin editor.

Da Vinci, rated the world’s seventh most admired figure, was described as a “universal genius,” “one of the great minds in the history of mankind,” and “the most developed human being in history.” “He was of his time and ahead of his time,” said an Oregon editor, “the complete Renaissance man who took all knowledge as a challenge, and who assimilated more of it than any other man before or since without retreating into specialization and withdrawing from the everyday world.”

Gandhi received votes for his “devotion to peace and brotherhood” and “advocacy of non-violence in attaining political ends.” “He ended British rule over India,” declared a Maine editor, “without striking a blow.” “Master politician or saint,” said a Minnesota journalist, “his place in humanity must be measured in terms of all history.”

Shakespeare was described as the “world’s greatest dramatist” and the “greatest of all English writers.” “His use of poetry within his plays is one of the most outstanding marvels of the human intellect,” said a Michigan editor. Other editors noted that Shakespeare had an “immense writing range,” and that “no other writer is so quotable or so often quoted.”

Schweitzer was lauded for having been a “brilliant musician, philosopher, medical missionary, and humanitarian,” and as an “exalted spirit of our time.” “He was so capable in so many areas,” observed a California editor, “and yet was willing to dedicate his entire life to aiding humanity when he could have enjoyed personal luxury. He was the epitome of a great human being.”

Others among the 108 individuals who received votes in the survey, with their vote totals, were:

Alexander the Great, 17; Gautama Buddha, St. Francis of Assisi, 16; John XXXIII, 15½; Douglas MacArthur, 15; Albert Einstein, 13; Robert E. Lee, 11; Johann Gutenberg, Isaac Newton, Plato, 10; John F. Kennedy, Martin Luther, Michaelangelo, 9; Joan of Arc, Sir Thomas More, 8; Confucius, Dwight D. Eisenhower, 7; Napoleon Bonaparte, Charles Darwin, Hippocrates, Martin Luther King, Paul, Theodore Roosevelt, 6; Helen Keller, 5½.

Constantine, Copernicus, Moyo Dayan, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Epicurus, Galileo, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., Andrew Jackson, Richard M. Nixon, Thomas Paine, Solomon, Woodrow Wilson, 5.

Francis Bacon, Arthur Conan Doyle, Sigmund Freud, Dag Hammarskjold, Chaing Kai-shek, Robert Kennedy, Nikolai Lenin, Peter, William Pitt the Younger, Marco Polo, Saint Genevieve, Adlai Stevenson, Harry S Truman, George Wallace, 2.

OCTOBER BOARD WEEK FEATURES: Mrs. Erwin Press Seimes, President General, announced that a proposed post-Continental Congress trip to England, Scotland and Wales, similar to the highly successful tour that followed the 1970 Continental Congress, is being planned for April 25-May 14, 1971. Participants are limited to Delegates and Alternates, members of Congressional Committees of the 80th Continental Congress, National Board members and husbands. Approximate cost, $800. (A reservation would make an ideal Christmas gift.)

Re-installed on the corridor wall just outside the Archives Room is the beautifully polished and mounted brass plaque presented to the National Society by the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge during Miss Gertrude S. Carraway’s administration. The citation, commemorating this most important honor bestowed on the Society by the eminent Awards Jury, reads: "For meritorious dedication to American constitutional freedom and liberty, particularly for the 1955 program on the significance of Constitution Day."

HONORING A UNIQUELY IMPORTANT MEMBER: All arrangements have been made to place a marker on the grave of Mary Virginia Eliot Cabell (Mrs. William D.) early in December. Mrs. Cabell was Vice President Presiding under Mrs. Benjamin Harrison and the only President Presiding (1893) of the National Society. Mrs. Cabell’s grave is in Berryville, Virginia, but she died while living with her daughter in Illinois. A past regent of the Chicago Chapter brought the matter to the attention of the National Society. Placing the marker was authorized by the Executive Committee on October 7, 1969 as a National project after it was found that the grave had not been marked.

AT THE REQUEST OF THE DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY: The Historical Division of Marine Corps Headquarters is currently preparing a comprehensive history of the employment of American Marines in the Revolution, and is interested in material relating to state navy and privateer Marines to complement the basic story of the Continental Marines. The director of this project asks that anyone having knowledge of relevant material write to the Commandant of the Marine Corps (Code HD), Headquarters, United States Marine Corps, Washington, D.C. 20380

COMPUTER USE INCREASES AT NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS: Another operation has been added to the work done by the computer for the Treasurer General's Office. The computer is now handling cash receipts as well as cash disbursements. This makes three major operations—the first was the payroll—in that office. When the conversion to the computer is completed, a variety of information such as reports and comparative figures on the DAR Schools and American Indians will be available almost instantaneously.

A REMINDER: 1971 is the first year in which the long weekend holiday law, passed during President Lyndon B. Johnson's tenure, will go into effect. Four major holidays besides Labor Day will fall on a Monday. They are: Washington’s Birthday, on February 15 ("third Monday in February"); Memorial Day, on May 31 ("last Monday in May"); Columbus Day, on October 11 ("second Monday in October"); and Veteran's Day, on October 25 ("fourth Monday in October"). The new law gave Columbus Day legal status as a holiday for the first time. The law specified only Federal and District of Columbia employees, but most states are expected to go along with the new holiday line-up, which with Labor Day, makes five long weekends. This year the Fourth of July is on a Sunday; when a legal or public holiday falls on Sunday, it is usually observed on the following Monday.

The First Vice President General, Mrs. Jones, took the chair, and the President General, Mrs. Seimes, gave her report.

Report of President General

On Sunday, April 26th, following the adjournment of the 79th Continental Congress, the President General joined eighty-two other members, husbands and children on the first DAR-sponsored trip to Europe. An enjoyable fifteen days were spent in Portugal and Spain. Upon her return to the office on May 12th, she spent a busy week and a half catching up on correspondence, etc., before leaving the office again on May 21st for England and France. During that same period, Miss Ann Geracimos, a free lance writer for the New York Times, interviewed the President General several times for an article she was preparing on the DAR for possible inclusion in the New York Times Sunday Magazine.

On Thursday, May 21st, the President General emplaned for London, England, following the First Vice President General who had left on an earlier plane. Shortly after leaving New York City, the plane developed engine trouble and a long night was spent at Gander, Newfoundland, before a second plane could be dispatched. Rather than reaching London in the morning the President General arrived in the evening. It was a pleasure to have the opportunity to meet and get to know those members living in England who were able to attend the luncheon planned for our enjoyment.

Thursday, May 28th, the President General, accompanied by the First Vice President General, emplaned for Paris, France, where a full but enjoyable program had been outlined for them. Again, it was a pleasure to meet so many of our members in their homes and to have the opportunity to visit some of the shrines so closely associated with our Country.

Returning to Washington, D.C., on the 4th of June, the President General was nearly involved in a highjacking at Dulles International Airport.

Because of a persistent virus cold, at the last minute the President General had to cancel her plans to attend the S.A.R. Annual Convention in Houston, Texas, on June 8th. The President General of the S.A.R. asked our Organizing Secretary General to bring greetings.

Since the President General had been away from her desk so much following the close of Congress, it was necessary for her to remain in Washington after the meeting of the Executive Committee and Special Board on June 12th. Appointments were held with the representatives of the insurance company handling the pension plan of our staff in order to update the plan. Of course, the usual intrabuilding appointments were made to acquaint her with headquarters' affairs which occurred during her absence.

On June 18th, the President General was invited to attend a reception and special tour of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

On Friday afternoon, June 19th, she returned home to Delaware for the first time since Congress, mainly to attend the Delaware DAR State Meeting in Georgetown on June 20th.

The President General's office had been contacted by representatives of the Dick Cavett Show over a period of several months and on July 14th she traveled to New York to appear on this program.

On August 20th, Miss Lacey Fosburgh of the New York Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine
Mrs. Henry Stewart Jones, First Vice President General, attended the C.A.R. Banquet and presented the DAR Traveling Banner, April 25; and spoke at the Annual New Hampshire Day at Cathedral of the Pines at Rindge, August 22.

Mrs. Donald Spicer, Historian General, attended the seminar for leadership of national non-governmental organizations at the Pentagon, May 27; and presented the DAR award at the Prizes and Awards Ceremony, United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland, June 2.

Mrs. Eloise T. Jenkins, State Regent, District of Columbia, attended the Military Wife of the Year Awards, Shoreham Hotel, May 27; attended the Massing of the Colors of the Military Order of the World Wars, National Presbyterian Church, Washington, D.C., June 14; and presented DAR award at Award Presentation Ceremonies, Officer Candidates School, Marine Corps School, Quantico, Virginia, July 17.

Mrs. George Sprague Tolman III, Librarian General, laid a wreath at the Altar of the Nation at the Cathedral of the Pines, Rindge, New Hampshire, May 30.

While in England the First Vice President General and I met Jennie Willmot, Junior Member of the Walter Hines Page Chapter. During the month of August she journeyed to the United States and while in Washington, Mrs. Jones and I had lunch with her, but later, when she returned to Washington, I was not in the city so the First Vice President General entertained her again and showed her some of Washington before she returned to England.

Appreciation is expressed to the following for representing the National Society so ably:

Mrs. Edward J. Reilly, Vice President General, New York presented DAR award at the presentation of Prizes and Awards, United States Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, New York, June 1.

Mrs. James E. Clyde, State Regent, New York, presented DAR award at the Individual Proficiency Award Ceremony, United States Coast Guard Academy, New London, Connecticut, June 2.

Mrs. Lyle Johnston Howland, Recording Secretary General, presented DAR award at the Annual Awards Convocation, United States Military Academy, West Point, New York, June 2.

Mrs. John Victor Buffington, State Regent, Virginia, presented DAR award at the Officer Candidate/General Service School graduation, United States Coast Guard Reserve Training Center, Yorktown, Virginia, June 5.

Mrs. Harold Poor Machlan, Honorary Vice President General, Florida, brought greetings to the National Convention of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, in Miami Beach, Florida, August 19.

Mrs. B. A. Corkran, Press Book Chairman, Virginia, was in charge of the DAR exhibit at the Association of American Physicians and Surgeons, Inc., at its annual meeting, in Richmond, Virginia, September 30–October 3.

To bring us completely up to date, I must congratulate you on the wonderful attendance and the enthusiastic reports of the National Chairmen and the State Regents on October 8th.

BETTY NEWKIRK SEIMES,
President General.

The President General resumed the chair.

The First Vice President General, Mrs. Henry Stewart Jones, gave her report.
Your First Vice President General counted it an honor and a privilege to accompany the President General on a trip to Europe late in May and, more specifically, on a visit to the London, England Walter Hines Page Chapter and the Rochambeau Chapter in Paris, France. The generous hospitality accorded us by both chapters will live long in our memories and grateful appreciation is expressed for the many kindnesses and courtesies extended us.

Shortly after returning to the States and attending the June Board Meeting in early June, this officer was able to leave for a six weeks vacation at her home in Wisconsin. This was the most extended sojourn at home in a five-year period. On August 1st, she returned to Washington to resume her duties as National Chairman of National Defense.

On August 21st, this officer flew to New Hampshire as the representative of the President General to speak at the beautiful Cathedral of the Pines at Rindge. On the evening of her arrival she was entertained at dinner by the New Hampshire Society in the home of the Treasurer General, Mrs. Nile Eugene Faust. On the following day, it was a thrilling experience to mount the steps of a great stone pulpit to deliver her address under a canopy of magnificent pines.

Returning to Washington and less than a week later, it was a pleasure to entertain for a few days Miss Jennie Wilmott, whom the President General and this officer met in London. Jennie Wilmott was winding up a three months visit in the States, and it was gratifying to feel that in a small way it was possible to say “thank you” for the courtesies extended in London by offering hospitality in the United States to a charming and very junior English member of the DAR.

On September 29th, and in her capacity as National Defense Chairman, this officer attended a hearing conducted by Congressman Cornelius E. Gallagher of New Jersey. The subject of the hearing was the Right to Privacy and the use of amphetamines to control the behavior of children under 12 years old.

Drug abuse is one of this Nation’s most pressing problems. Therefore, it was a shocking experience to this officer to hear representatives of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the FDA (Food and Drug Administration) blandly and glibly assure the Committee that amphetamines could safely be used on children under 12 without damaging effect and as a means of “behavior modification” in hyperactive children. Moreover, two representatives of the Child Study Center, University of Arkansas Medical Center testified that they were using drugs which subsequent testimony revealed had been labeled by the Food and Drug Administration as being dangerous for use on children.

Amphetamines are among the drugs we are trying to keep out of the hands of teenagers and young adults, yet here were presumably responsible witnesses testifying as to the beneficial use of these dangerous drugs as a means of behavior modification in so-called hyperkinetic or overactive children. Other witnesses bitterly challenged the use of these drugs on children, but the battle is by no means won. With the growing emphasis among educationists on behavior control in the classroom, the American public must be alerted to the fact that amphetamines may one day be recommended by school authorities for use on their children or grand children. It is against this possibility that this warning is sounded. More details will be provided later.

Sara R. Jones
First Vice President General.

The Chaplain General, Mrs. Ralph Allen Killey, gave her report.

The Chaplain General attended to her duties during Continental Congress; presided at the Chaplain’s Breakfast, placed wreaths at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington and at the Tomb of George and Martha Washington, and prepared and presided at the annual Memorial Service for our deceased members.

She attended the June Executive Committee and Special Board of Management meetings. A number of DAR social events, during the summer, were enjoyed.

The main work of this officer, during the summer months, has been the compilation of a booklet of scripture, prayers, poems, and articles entitled “Bless the Lord, O My Soul.” Hopefully, the booklet will be available by February 1, 1971.

Frances B. Killey,
Chaplain General.

The Recording Secretary General, Mrs. Lyle Johnston Howland, gave her report.

The resolutions adopted by the 79th Continental Congress were prepared and printed in pamphlet form for distribution. The printing of the Proceedings of the 79th Continental Congress was completed in August.

Minutes of Regular and Special Board meetings were prepared for publication in the DAR Magazine and proofread. Verbatim transcripts and minutes have been indexed and recorded.

Motions and resolutions of the Continental Congress and the National Board have been typed and copies delivered or mailed to each National Officer, also copied for the statute book and indexed.

The minutes of the Executive Committee meetings have been written and copies sent to all members of the committee, copied for binding in book form and indexed. Minutes affecting the work of each office were typed separately and delivered.

Since April 18, 1970, 4,824 membership certificates have been prepared and mailed, also 66 commissions to Vice Presidents General, Honorary Vice President General, State Regents and State Vice Regents.

Notices of meetings of the National Board of Management and Executive Committee were mailed to the members.

On June 2nd it was a privilege to represent the President General to award the National Society’s gift of a portable typewriter to Cadet Henry A. Leonard for the highest rating in Mechanics of Fluids. Cadet Leonard is a third generation graduate of West Point. Mrs. Robert Sloan of Oneida Chapter, Utica, accompanied me.

It was a joy to attend DAR Day at Hillside School for Boys for this past National Chairman of DAR School Committee and to see the many improvements at this deserving school.

In response to the request of the Historian General, Mrs. Spicer, Fort Stanwix Chapter placed a wreath on the grave of General William Floyd, a signer of the Declaration of Independence in Westerville Cemetery, on Independence Day. It was of particular interest as the wreath was placed by William Floyd Olney, great, great, great-grandson of the Signer. Mrs. George Olney (Katherine Floyd Olney) mother and grandmother of the aforementioned, is a member of Fort Stanwix Chapter. Mrs. Louis Di Carlo, Regent, and Mrs. Frank Bolster, Chaplain, conducted the service.

It was a pleasure to attend the annual luncheon meeting of Chautauqua DAR Circle on July 31st when Mrs. F. A. Paul Ziesmer gave an inspiring talk on “Let’s Build a Better America.”
A glorious summer day greeted DAR members who gathered at the Cathedral of the Pines, when our own Mrs. Henry Stewart Jones, First Vice President General, gave a challenging address. Out-of-State members joined members of the New Hampshire State Society for dinner and fellowship the night before at Shoredge Lodge, the home of the Treasurer General, Mrs. Nile E. Faust.

An interesting day was spent on September 26th with Oneida Chapter, Utica when two services were held. The first was the marking of the grave of Joseph Sanderson, Revolutionary Ancestor of Mrs. Wallace B. Heiser, State Regent of Ohio, in Sangerfield Cemetery, Sangerfield, N.Y. This was followed by luncheon at the Alexander Hamilton Inn, Clinton. After lunch the large group walked down the road to the old Kirkland Cemetery where a beautiful new 30-foot Flagpole and new Flag, donated by Congressman Alexander S. Pirnie, were dedicated. There are 48 Revolutionary Soldiers buried in this cemetery. Thirty-three years ago Oneida Chapter gave a flagpole to the Cemetery; the years had taken their toll and they were asked to replace it. Many organizations were represented at the dedication, ably presided over by Mrs. James Arlott, Regent of the chapter.

It is always a pleasure to be an honor guest at my own State Conference, held last week at beautiful Lake Placid, the highlight of which was the official visit of our beloved President General. Our State Regent, Mrs. James E. Clyde, conducted a productive and inspiring State Conference efficiently with graciousness and charm.

The work of the Recording Secretary General's office is current due to the outstanding service of the staff, Miss Adaline Thornton and Mrs. Helen Ball. We are deeply appreciative to Mrs. Floy Swanson for changing a previous presidential order. The following mailings were sent during this period:

Most of the typing of the Packet Letters was done by Mrs. Yochim, chief clerk of this office. She was assisted with the proofreading by Miss Jean Jacobs of the President General's Office.

Extra July Packets were made up to sell for $1.00—283 were sold. Each office at National Headquarters was furnished a Packet for reference.

Many Packets were not delivered, making it necessary to send second Packets. This was due to Regents moving and not notifying headquarters of their new addresses. The Packets are sent Third Class and cannot be forwarded by the Post Office. It is hoped that all State Regents will request that changes of address be sent in order to avoid delay in delivery and to help save postage for the National Society.

This office sent to all State Treasurers the following from this Packet—the President General's letter, Corresponding Secretary General's letter and order blank, National Honor Roll Chairman's letter and Sample Honor Roll Questionnaire. We feel this will be of beneficial aid in filling out State Reports.

Two new items were added to our order blank—a Commemorative Flag Stamp Display and the booklet "Listing of Historical Articles in DAR Magazine."

A total of 5,276 orders was processed during this period, 363 letters requesting information relative to membership were answered and 112 concerning scholarships.

Sales of the "In Washington" book are evidence of its continued popularity. Since March 1st 3,402 paperbacks were sold, 208 red linen, 91 blue Fabricoid and 11 leather-bound copies, a total of 3,712 books—an increase over this same period last year.

As always a big job was typing both certificates and envelopes for Honor Roll Awards. Ribbons were attached indicating the type of award and then the certificates were arranged by chapters in states for distribution; 2,098 chapters received Honor Roll status. Immediately following Congress all Honor Roll certificates not picked up during Congress were mailed. Lists were typed and sent to State Regents, Vice Chairmen and State Chairmen of the Honor Roll Committee showing the Honor Roll chapters. The final Honor Roll report was prepared for publication in the October DAR Magazine.

It was the sad duty of this office to notify the members of the National Board of the death of our beloved State Regent of Massachusetts, Mrs. Hamilton H. Sweet, on May 13th.

Since my last report in April, the office has, on two different occasions, lost a full-time employee. An effort is being made to find an adequate replacement. She will have to be trained which takes time from other work. Mrs. Donald J. Gonchar is again employed on a part-time, hourly basis and we are most appreciative of her efficiency and cooperation. Mrs. Eldred M. Yochim chief clerk, deserves high praise and recognition for the way in which she has handled a difficult and frustrating situation. She is truly a dedicated member of our staff, going way beyond the call of duty. We regret any delays in filling orders and answering correspondence but they are understandable. We do our best to keep up with the tremendous volume of work.

MARJORIE S. HOWLAND
Recording Secretary General.

In the absence of the Corresponding Secretary General, Mrs. George J. Walz, who had sustained an injury while in Washington and was unable to attend, her report was filed.

Report of Finance Committee

The Chairman has signed vouchers in the amount of $388,900.53 for the six-month period from March 1, 1970 and including August 31, 1970.

ALBERTA T. UTZ
Chairman.

Mrs. Utz moved that the annual transfer to the Current Fund of the net increase in the fund balance for the DAR Magazine account for the preceding year as stated in the Auditor's Annual Report, this action to be effective immediately. Adopted.

In the absence of the Chairman of the Auditing Committee the report of the Auditor was filed.

Edward J. Burns, Jr.
Certified Public Accountant

National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution
Washington, D. C.

We have examined the financial statements of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution listed below:

Statement of current and special funds (Pages 1 to 3) for the six months ended August 31, 1970
Supporting statements of current fund cash receipts and disbursements (Pages 4 to 6) for the six months ended August 31, 1970
Schedule of investments (Pages 7 and 8) as of August 31, 1970
Statement of cash receipts and disbursements of the Trustees, National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution Pension Trust Fund (Page 9) for the six months ended August 31, 1970

Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included confirmations from depositaries and custodians of cash and investments held at August 31, 1970, and such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The financial statements have been prepared generally on the cash receipts and disbursements basis and therefore do not purport to present the results of operations as they would appear had generally accepted accrual basis accounting principles been applied. Cash receipts and disbursements do not include dispositions and acquisitions of securities, respectively, except for gains or losses thereon.

In our opinion, the aforementioned statements and supporting schedules present fairly the cash balances and investments at August 31, 1970 and the information set forth therein for the six months then ended on the basis indicated which is consistent with that of the preceding year.

Report of Registrar General

The Dedication of The Betty Newkirk Seimes Microfilm Center was a highlight preceding Congress. Gift flowers placed at vantage points enhanced the attractiveness of this functional room. The Registrar General and Librarian General are indebted to you for your generous donations which made this Center a reality.

Our appreciation to the Illinois Organization of the National Society for the walnut desk used by the Registrar General staff member, which honors Mrs. James J. Hamm, presently serving as Vice President General.

The office is now microfilming supplementals and we ask your continued support in order that the Center may soon have a complete record of the papers on file.

Rules governing The Betty Newkirk Seimes Microfilm Center have been given to staff members who shall direct the procedure using the Readers and all film.

The Microfilm Center needs chairs which cost $76.50 each. We ask that states honor members by purchasing these chairs and each one will be marked with a brass plaque. Send checks with wording desired on the plaque to the Treasurer General noting on the report: Microfilm Center chair.

The Post Congress Volunteer Session composed of 14 dedicated DAR freely gave their time, money, and talents to examine 110 supplementals of which 75 were verified. Our deep appreciation to these members and to Mrs. Inez Waldenmaier who directed the volunteers. The latest report on supplemental examination will be noted in each DAR Magazine beginning with the November edition. All supplementals submitted to the office prior to October 2, 1969 have been examined.

It would be most helpful if more applications were mailed during the summer months because it becomes increasingly difficult to handle the avalanche of papers received in the fall. To insure examination of an application to qualify for Honor Roll, it must be received in the office of the Treasurer General EXACTLY THREE WEEKS prior to the Board Meeting. The office makes every effort to grant priority to applicants with a note attached to the front of the application stating it is needed for Honor Roll credit, but the office assumes no responsibility for examination unless the deadline is met.

It is most important that Chapter Registrars check the applications to see that each part has been filled out and properly signed. Please be certain the complete address of the applicant is given.

When ordering a copy of an application, please give the following information:

1) Date of communication
   Information on application desired:
   2) Member's full name
   3) National Number (if possible)
   4) Name of Revolutionary ancestor
   5) Writer's full name and address
   6) Name of chapter of member or prospective member
Free forms are available from the Office of Corresponding Secretary General.

When you consider the net increase in membership since the establishment of the Membership Commission, the function of a State Membership Commission assumes greater importance and deserves priority status in each state. State Regents are urged to activate this valuable Commission immediately in order to attain the goal of a net increase in membership in every state.

The Executive Committee has added the Librarian General to the National Membership Commission and suggests that each State Commission include the State Librarian.

Due to the constant efforts of our competent and faithful staff, it is with pride that I submit the following report:

Mrs. Faust gave the following report on membership:

Deceased 1218
Resigned 549
Dropped 747
Reinstated 200

Mrs. Faust moved that 200 former members be reinstated. Seconded by Mrs. Walsh. Adopted.

Mrs. Leo W. Utz, Chairman, gave the report of the Finance Committee.

DECEMBER 1970
Mrs. Shelby moved that the 2,309 applicants whose records have been verified by the Registrar General be elected to membership in the National Society. Seconded by Mrs. Parr. Adopted.

The Organizing Secretary General, Mrs. Wilson King Barnes, gave her report.

Report of Organizing Secretary General

From the excellent replies received to date from the third set of questionnaires sent out by your Organizing Secretary General, it is easy to see that the State Regents and Organizing Secretaries have had a very busy summer working to organize new chapters and to prevent disbandments. Replies to date have been received from 44 States and I would appreciate hearing from the other 7 at their earliest convenience. Forty-eight new chapters are being organized and only two are slated for disbandment. Fourteen chapters will be confirmed at the October National Board Meeting and 6 will be disbanded, a plus of 8, making the total number of chapters in the country 2,920, and the number of chapters organized during this administration 61, the number disbanded 40. The magic number of 3,000 is still a possibility if each State organizes its quota of 2.

The Brochure "Promoting and Conserving Our Chapters" has proved to be very popular. It has recently been printed for the fourth time. I heard this summer that a chapter, which had already decided to disband, met to reconsider its decision, after we mailed the pamphlet to the chapter's officers. Such news is really encouraging. Originally mailed only to disbanding chapters, it is now being distributed on a large scale by the State Regents and Organizing Secretaries. Thirty-one of the 44 reporting States had net gains in membership. Of those reporting no gains, 9; 1, did not know; 1, stayed the same.

The majority of States which had no Membership Commission also failed to gain in membership. Only four of the reporting States had no Organizing Secretary or Chairman. Of these having Organizing Secretaries or Chairmen 5 reported no gain in membership, whereas two States having no Secretaries reported no net gain.

Question 8 on the questionnaire was, "Did you have Lineage Research this year to train your members in this work?" Of those replying 25 had seminars and increased their membership. Only 5 States which had seminars failed to gain in membership.

During my first year as Organizing Secretary General I made maps for all the State Regents showing chapter locations and made an analysis of each State for the State Regents, requesting them to pass them on to their successors. Most have given their maps to those who came after them, few their analyses. If any are present today who have not done so, I would appreciate their doing so at once.

One question which drew a variety of answers concerned the merits of large versus small chapters. By that we meant chapters of 30 or less versus those of 100 or over. The great majority of replies favored chapters up to 75 in number. Difficulty of obtaining officers and chairmen was mentioned as a reason against very small chapters. Inability to obtain officers and lack of membership interest and failure to complete Honor Roll requirements were mentioned for the larger chapters.

The final question on the Questionnaire dealt with suggestions for me to pass on to my successor not already made by my office. Although most replies tended to be complimentary there were several that were definitely helpful for the future (1) that an organizing chapter, if another was in existence at the same time, hold its meeting at a different time to accommodate school parents; (2) for the President General's circular letter to be made available to Organizing Regents; (3) see that members moving to another area join a chapter there—so the DAR will keep their interest; (4) have publicity about the aims and projects of DAR display patriotic papers and tell about Award Programs; (5) more detailed step by step details in organization of chapters; (6) more information to help prospective members trace their lineage; (7) get all information into hands of Regents by June 30th; (8) start genealogy classes and admit anyone, whether or not she knows whether she has DAR lineage; (9) get more people to work in Lineage Research in the Chapters; (10) prompter replies to letters in other departments; (11) more help could be given on following up papers pending for organizing chapters.

The purpose of the questionnaires had been to keep alive in the minds of the State Regents and Organizing Secretaries or Chairmen the need to be on the alert for possible new chapters and to have constantly in mind the need to watch carefully over the weaker chapters with a view to strengthening them, hence the emphasis on Lineage Research seminars, Membership Commissions and the election and appointment of Organizing Secretaries and State Chairmen. Reminders of the brochure "Promoting and Conserving Our Chapters" have been discussed in various seminars, and the request to study State maps and analyses may spur some to have a look at chapter locations in case as well as those hoped for.

So far as my personal work with the Organizing Regents and State Regents is concerned, all correspondence has been answered promptly. The work was relatively light this summer in that regard. My chief clerk reports that the office of the Organizing Secretary General has had much correspondence pertaining to the thirty odd chapters now in various states of organization and to the 10 or more organizing regents that will be confirmed October 9th. Fourteen of the chapters are planning to be confirmed at the above Board meeting. Since Congress time we have issued fifty-year certificates in excess of 150. Charters could not be issued as we were waiting for the Executive Board to review the cost and arrive at a price that is fair both to the society and to the chapters. Much time and research has gone into providing information to assist with the completion of all names being entered on the IBM.

The catalog room has researched over 2300 lists of chapter officers as received from the chapters. Determination is made as to whether the officer is new or a holdover. If new, then chapter status must be verified and the name entered on the card index as shown on her membership card. Thirteen hundred new chapter regents' names and addresses have been typed for the card file, and for the pink sheets and IBM, plus the many changes of address and changes for State and National officers. File cards are prepared for the offices of the Treasurer General and the Registrar General. The Caldwell Company has been issued over 460 permits for membership pins, ex-chapter regent, Honorary State Regent and other bars as requested. The listing of the 2912 chapter regents has been updated, national numbers for each entered on the book, providing the information for the key-punching of this list for the IBM. The list should be ready for the printer in the near future.

All of us in the office, as you can see, have been unusually busy, not only with the customary work but with attention to new problems involved with the computer.
These have been many, but thanks to the understanding of the Treasurer General, these are being solved. After all, Rome wasn’t built in a day! We hope, in spite of numerous difficulties that are bound to beset us as the change-over is completed, to surmount all with a view to doing our part in creating for all to see an administration of which future generations of Daughters can be exceedingly proud.

The resignation of Mrs. Dorothy Bohn Bush as Organizing Regent in Fairborn, Ohio has been received. Notice of the death of Miss Flossie Cloyd, Organizing Regent in Madison, Tennessee has been received.

Through their respective State Regents the following members At Large are presented for confirmation as Organizing Regents: Mrs. Sue Maxwell Lowrey, Big Bear Lake, California; Mrs. Lesba Lewis Thompson, Belleair Bluffs, Florida; Mrs. Allene Moore Boehm, Rushville, Illinois; Mrs. Katherine Ann Irons Madison, Merriville, Indiana; Mrs. Lillie Strong Jones, Beattyville, Kentucky; Miss Ruth Madison White, Lancaster, Kentucky; Mrs. Olive Seaton Eldred, Princeton, Kentucky; Mrs. Lillian Wells Harrison, Stanton, Kentucky; Mrs. Genevieve Ballard Meadow, Fairborn, Ohio; Mrs. Mary Marjorie Foster, Waverly, Tennessee; Mrs. Margaret Hoffman Ashmore, Irving, Texas; Mrs. Jane Hicks Brune, Sealy, Texas; Mrs. Virginia W. Sherman, Warsaw, Virginia; Mrs. Mary Phelps Engstrom, Mead, Washington.

The State Regent of Kentucky requests the authorization for a new chapter at Cadiz.
The State Regent of Oklahoma requests the authorization for a new chapter at Ada.
The State Regent of Alabama requests that the Organizing Regency of Mrs. Marilyn Elizabeth Thraillkill Barrett be changed from Birmingham to Trussville.

The following Organizing Regencies have expired by time limitation: Mrs. Irma Falls Stinson, Camden, Arkansas; Mrs. Lolita Pace Swift, Sand Springs, Oklahoma.

The following reappointment of an Organizing Regent is requested by her State Regent: Mrs. Lolita Pace Swift, Sand Springs, Oklahoma.

Through the State Regent of Wisconsin, the John Melchert Vanderpool Chapter requests permission to change its name to Samuel Phoenix.

The following chapters are presented for official disbandment: Sterling, Sterling, Kansas; St. Paul, St. Paul, Minnesota; Hannah Arnett, East Orange, New Jersey; Cameron, Emporium, Pennsylvania (Automatic disbandment 7/1/70); Fort Roberdeau, Tyrone, Pennsylvania; Kittanning, Kittanning, Pennsylvania.

ELIZABETH CHESNUT BARNES
Organizing Secretary General.

Mrs. Barnes moved the confirmation of fourteen organizing regents, authorization of two chapters, change of location for one organizing regency, reappointment of one organizing regent, change of name of one chapter, disbandment of six chapters. Seconded by Mrs. Maughan. Adopted.

The Historian General, Mrs. Donald Spicer, gave her report.

Report of Historian General

Considering the shortage of personnel in the office of the Historian General a great deal has been accomplished nonetheless. Thanks to a dedicated volunteer, Mrs. Carleton C. Hoffner, work has been proceeding well on extracting and verifying the names on documents for genealogical purposes. We have reached #913 on that part of the collection on which some previous and ineffective effort had been made 30 years ago. One document alone contained over 3,000 signatures. Mrs. Somerville has been working on the “newer” part in the same way. We hope to complete the whole before April but the rate of progress on it is impossible to estimate.

Each issue of the DAR Magazine brings a flood of letters resulting in additions and corrections to be printed in a supplementary list of marked graves of Revolutionary Soldiers and Patriots to follow the one in process.

We are well into completing the cross index on the file of markers placed over the years by DAR on other than Revolutionary Soldiers’ graves. Thus we will have access to information on historic sites and marked graves of members. These previously were filed only by chapters.

Much progress has also been made on the cataloguing and indexing of our Society’s Archives—a fascinating and delightful project. This, too, should be ready by April.

The October issue of the Magazine carries the winning essays in the American History Month Contest. The title of the Essay for this year is “The Constitution of the United States of America and Its Signers.” Any essay relating to the Constitution of the United States, the Signers, their families, their lives or their activities will be eligible.

Our appreciation and gratitude are expressed to the State Regents for their efforts in the finding and marking of graves of each First State Regent and First State Vice Regent.

Since March 1, and until September 1, orders were filled for over 10,000 certificates, stickers, posters and spot announcements; and for over 2,000 medals. Permission has been given to place 265 markers; 225 were reported as placed.

Researchers have been studying and copying our documents under supervision.

Miss Joan Corbett spent three days on “Washington” documents alone, on assignment from the University of Virginia. This was done for the Bicentennial Project to publish an approximately 75 volumes definitive work on George Washington under the joint auspices of Mount Vernon and University of Virginia.

Dr. John P. Kaminski, Associate Editor, Ratification Project, National Historical Publications Commission, National Archives, found material relevant to his Project—Constitutional Convention, 1787—in the bound volume containing Autographed Letters of the Signers of the Constitution and in the Edith Scott Magna Collection of Revolutionary and Colonial Manuscripts. He also used the Signature Card File and searched each document for material pertinent to his project. In appreciation, Dr. Kaminski sent the Historian General’s office a negative copy of the film that he took. This can be used on the microfilm machines at National Headquarters for viewing and for filling future orders for copies of these documents.

Mr. Leonard Rapport, a member of the National Archives Staff, visited the Archives Room to do research on George Mason’s “Bill of Rights” and the members of the Constitutional Convention.

Our collection of signatures of the First Governors is now complete. This was begun by Mrs. F. Claggett Hoke while serving as Historian General 1959-62. Mrs. Walter Lorschough, a member of the Dacotah Chapter, presented a letter written by North Dakota’s first governor, John Miller to her father. This very important gift came to us through the State Regent, Mrs. Clinton Anson Sheffield, Jr.

Mrs. Walter L. McCleery of Aloha Chapter has sent us a collection of 15 rare books and 23 documents which will be listed in full below with other gifts from our generous Daughters.

We are indeed grateful to Mrs. Robert P. Sweeney, designer and distributor of our American History Medal until June 1968 when she requested the National Society to take over the distribution due to ill health, and to her daughter.
Mrs. Julius Castigliola for the third display case in the Assembly Room and an adding machine for our office.

All arrangements have been made to place a marker on the grave of Mrs. William Daniel Cabell, the only officer of this Society to serve as Vice President Presiding and President Presiding. This was authorized by the Executive Committee on October 7, 1969 as a National project after it was found that the grave had not been marked.

Mrs. Cabell's grave is in Berryville, Virginia but she died while living with her daughter in Illinois. A past regent of the Chicago Chapter brought the matter to the attention of the National Society with a request that the chapter be permitted to mark the grave if it had not been done, as theirs is the first chapter in the Society and therefore organized under Mrs. Cabell.

This officer had the pleasure and honor of representing the President General at the Awards Ceremony of the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis and at the Seminar for Leadership of Non-Governmental Organizations at the Pentagon.

It was an honor to visit the John Strong House in Vermont on Manor Day; to assist in the dedication of the marker on the grave of Vermont's First State Regent, Mrs. Theodore Peck; to attend DAR Day at Chatauqua and to give the tribute to Mrs. Forrest Fay Lange, the past Historian General who was a New Hampshire Daughter, on DAR Day at the Cathedral of the Pines.

The celebration of July Fourth at the Buena Park, California “Independence Hall”; the delightful visits made to Hillside School and to State Meetings and one State Conference in California, Ohio, Illinois, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maine and New York, respectively, were a great pleasure. The gracious hospitality of the State Regents and the many kind hostesses is deeply appreciated.

Report of Librarian General

Over 3,300 visitors have used our Library since May 1st when it was reopened to the public. This is a substantial increase over the same period of a year ago. In addition 675 visitors have used the Microfilm Center which contains 4,273 Library reels of film.

On April 18th, your Librarian General participated in the dedication of the Betty Newkirk Seimes Microfilm Center. Appreciation goes to the President General for allowing the center to be named for her, to the Registrar General, her staff and to the Library staff for their cooperation and devotion in creating the Center which has been so well received by both members and visitors. May I remind you that the Microfilm Center needs chairs. I suggest that they be given as a Christmas gift, honorarium or memorial. Please refer to the Registrar General’s Report for further details.

On May 30th it was a privilege to represent the President General and lay the Society’s wreath on the altar at the Cathedral of the Pines, Rindge, New Hampshire. On August 22nd, with other National Officers, attended the New Hampshire DAR Vesper Services at the Cathedral. On September 21st attended the Fall State Meeting of the Massachusetts DAR.

In June the Executive Committee made the Librarian General a member of the National Membership Commission. It is hoped states will follow by placing their State Librarians on their Membership Commissions.

Your Librarian General prepared letters for the summer packet giving details pertaining to the Library, the list of request books for each State and the questionnaire.

She has been in communication with the Registrar General in selecting books and microfilm that will best serve the Registrar General’s genealogists.

The value of our Library is reflected not only in the increase of visitors but also with a 40% increase in photo-copying. With the new Microfilm Center it is now easier for copies to be made of any data on film.

After 18 months of negotiation a representative from the Genealogical Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints began filming our unpublished birth, marriage, death and Bible records. Over 20 books, averaging 200 pages each, are copied a day. It is hoped this project will be finished by March. The negative microfilm shall be stored in the Granite Mountain Record Vault and a copy placed in our Microfilm Center.

The Institute of Genealogical Research designed to provide both theoretical and practical training in genealogical research, met in our Library July 10th. They found our open stack policy most helpful.

The first State to complete the request list was Virginia, with a tie for second place between Kentucky and New Mexico. Many States have but one more volume to send before completing their list.

The Library sent 163 books to the binders and 16 books, 3 pamphlets and 1 chart have been purchased from funds available to the Librarian General and are included in the acquisitions received since the Board Meeting in April.

In closing, it is a grateful Librarian General who expresses her appreciation to the Library Staff for their devotion in carrying on their duties despite illnesses and being understaffed.

The following list comprises 318 books, 173 pamphlets, 18 manuscripts and 11 reels of microfilm.

Progress is being made, and we have received a number of delightful articles. The entire list will be published in the magazine. It must be understood that articles which have not been accepted will not be included in the Curator General’s report until February.

A very rare bandana, commemorating the arrival of the Marquis de Lafayette in 1824 at Independence Hall, was given by Mrs. Fred Deal of the La Grange de Lafayette Chapter of Indiana.

From Kansas, we received a tablespoon made by William Morell about 1772, a gift of Mrs. Hampton F. Sherrer of the Topeka Chapter. The exhibit case given by Mrs. James A. Vaughan to house the collection of Sandwich glass previously given by her in memory of her mother, is in place, and it is hoped that it will be seen by all of you during your stay. Another notable gift is a magnificent pair of Sheffield candelabra, circa 1810. These were given by Mrs. Vaughan and her friend and fellow member of Monument Chapter in Minneapolis, Mrs. Allyn K. Ford, another major benefactor of the Museum.

I have with me a copy of the list of books purchased for the Museum. It is hoped that you will stress the donation of money to cover the purchase of individual books. We have had many donations, but not as many as we should have. The library has already proved its usefulness, and you are welcome to use it when you are in the building, as are any of our members.

You will note from the Treasurer General’s report that we have $22,302.08. In this is included the money raised by the Friends of the Museum, which was donated for Museum use. We hope to make a major purchase soon, and our National Chairman of the Art Critics Committee, Mrs. Tompkins Parker, has offered to assist us with this project.

We are still urging that you give for the air conditioning of the Museum Gallery, and with $39,081.42 in the fund, we are going forward with plans, and hope to complete this before April. We are depending on you to furnish the further funds needed. If these funds are still deficient after the February deadline, the President General has promised that we can have a pledge period for this in April.

I wish to give special thanks to Mrs. Spicer, the Historian General, who, when asked by Mrs. Castiglola for a suggestion as to something to do for the buildings with money furnished by her mother, Mrs. Robert Sweeney, suggested that a third cabinet be built in the Assembly Room. This is now in place and we are all grateful to all three of these nice people.

Thank you for your generosity and your continuing interest in our DAR Museum.

Report of Reporter General to the Smithsonian Institution

The announcement last year that separate reports would no longer be required by the office of the Reporter General was received with enthusiasm by report-weary state regents, national officers and chairmen. The plan to prepare the annual Smithsonian report from the published Proceedings of the Continental Congress seems to have been a good one. The only disadvantage is the delay until the Proceedings are available.

On Wednesday September 30, I received the 1970 Proceedings and on Saturday October 3, the rough copy was ready for the first typing. Writing the annual report as a feature story should make it more interesting and readable, to say nothing of reducing the number of pages and eliminating considerable repetition. Critical members of Congress will not be able to complain that it is too long and yet nothing of importance has been omitted.

As the compiler of the Smithsonian report I am greatly impressed by the accomplishments of our Society and I hope that I have been able to convey that impression to all who read it.

To the unasked question “When will it be available?” I can only answer “only the Government Printing Office knows.”

MARGARET M. ANDRUS,
Reporter General to the Smithsonian Institution.

Miss Dorothy V. Smith, Chairman, gave the report of the DAR Magazine Committee.

Report of DAR Magazine Committee

Favorable comment on our DAR Magazine has continued in recent months. ACTION LINE in particular cited the Magazine as having published the best article on the census. “Spectacular” describes the new DAR Magazine subscription contest . . . Spectacular in scope by states . . . Spectacular in awards.

This change of pace is brought about by the National Society’s new IBM Computer Center, which now provides with ease and speed a wider usage for our Magazine promotion, plus less work for National Vice Chairman and State Chairmen, and a correct record of all state and chapter subscriptions. National Vice Chairmen and State Chairmen will also be more actively involved in this contest, and will be brought in closer contact. State Chairmen, of course, can continue promoting chapter subscription contests in their respective states. With everyone “promoting,” another record can be broken, along with the very pleasant prospect of a state adding to its financial well-being, regardless of the number of its members.

An announcement from the National Chairman with rules for Subscription Spectacular and Magazine copy requirements for feature articles, Newsworthy Daughters and State and Chapter reports went to all National Vice Chairmen of the Magazine, State Magazine Chairmen and Chapter Regents in August. The August-September issue also carried Subscription Spectacular rules.

Magazine subscriptions and renewals are now coming to the Magazine office at the rate of 500 to 600 daily, indicating that the subscription total will surpass last year’s highest in the Magazine’s existence of over 51,000. Nonmember subscriptions are unusually high. The Magazine office will send Christmas Gift Subscription cards when requested.

In March 1971 every chapter will receive a list of its subscribers with the request that it be checked and returned immediately to the Magazine office with any corrections.

At this time it seems proper to pay tribute to the outstanding work and dedication of the Magazine Staff—very small in number but large in achievements. Thanks, too, to the Daughters throughout the country who have helped to make this report possible.

DOROTHY V. SMITH,
Chairman.

Mrs. Frank L. Harris, Chairman, gave the report of the DAR Magazine Advertising Committee.

Report of DAR Magazine Advertising Committee

The period from May-November 1970 represents a joint effort of the National Vice Chairmen, State and Chapter Chairmen and the National Chairman of the DAR Magazine Advertising Committee.

The National Chairman’s kit of advertising materials with information and the revised brochure were mailed to all State and Chapter Regents, State Advertising Chairmen and National Vice Chairmen during the month of May.

In June, the information came to us of the death of Mrs. Gail Mills Dimmitt, National Vice Chairman of the Western Division. The President General made the appointment of Mrs. John Y. Richardson of Oregon to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Dimmitt.

During the summer, a reminder was sent to the State Regents asking them to have at least one ad for the Founders Issue. It is very gratifying to report that there was an increase in participation from the States and Chapters. The revenue from the ads exceeded last year with Maryland winning the prize of $25 for having sent the greatest amount of revenue for the October Issue.

As has been the custom during this administration, the National Chairman of DAR Magazine Advertising Committee met with the State Regents Thursday, October 8th. We were pleased to have more than 50% of the State Regents present and it was a pleasure to welcome the new State Regents.

Emphasis was placed once more to get ads in on time as well as send all checks, copy, pink and white forms direct to the Magazine Advertising Office. This saves time and postage by not sending the ad to the National Chairman. It is hoped that States and Chapters will send in good advertising copy for the balance of this Administration.

Closing date for Honor Roll Point #8 is February 1, 1971. All ads received in the office from January 2, 1970—February 1, 1971 are credited on the 1970-71 Honor Roll even if ads are not published until the next Honor Roll period.

Revenue secured from the following States:

Three times each, and Hindman, Hillside, and Northland Smith DAR School wrote as follows:

“...the 185, which we normally call capacity. At the opening of school we had 187 students listed: 127 elementary, and 60 high school. They cannot be enrolled until they are in school ten days, or more. There are two enrollment periods—ten days and thirty-five days. Mr. Johnson has 136 students on his roll. These students come from the community on buses. His enrollment will increase, but we will keep ours within the 187 students. Some of these students will drop out and will be replaced by new ones. Some will drop out due to the fact that they cannot adjust, and some will drop out because of changes in the family status. The school can enroll students from other states during the school term.

“We have had a very busy summer. We have done minor repairs on many of the buildings. New mattresses have been purchased for the Pouch Cottage, and some painting and minor repairs done. Three houses on the campus have been painted and renovated. Four fire hydrants have been installed with some extension of water lines.

“A stainless steel freezer has been purchased for the kitchen. This is to be paid for by the Ohio DAR.

“The Ohio cottages have been painted and new plaques ordered.

“The State of Illinois is purchasing the drapes for the school auditorium. These should be installed by Founders Day.

“Some of our boys and girls remained at the school during the summer. They assisted in the maintenance and operation of the school. We urge the DAR to give working scholarships, as we could not operate and maintain the school if it were not for the work our students do during the summer and during the school term. The students who receive working scholarships use part of the money for spending, but most of them buy clothes, which we would otherwise be required to purchase. Our students want to work.

“It may be necessary to add another teacher to the Elementary School due to the increase of students.”

So we see Tamasee has accepted two more students than the 185, which we normally call capacity. Tamasee is forging ahead, and those of us who keep in close touch with the school believe both faculty, students and others employed there are sincere in their efforts to continue this fine school as “The Place of the Sunlight of God.”

Mr. John P. Tyson, Executive Secretary of Kate Duncan Smith DAR School wrote as follows:

“This year we have enrolled 836 students and this number will reach almost 850. The larger than normal increase results from the fact that most of the students in a small two-teacher school out on the western end of the mountain have transferred to K.D.S. where their older brothers and sisters are attending. The transfer has been going on gradually over a period of years and reached the point where they only had fifty students last year. This year there are only nine enrolled there and I feel sure the school will be closed. So our increase in enrollment comes about largely as a result of the abandonment or consolidation of this little school.

“There are eleven new teachers including the principal. A 33% turnover in our faculty is normally too high, but in our case, I think, it is good. One teacher retired because of age. Another resigned to start her family and she has a three-week-old baby. Still another resigned to marry and live elsewhere. Two or three left for personal reasons while the resignations of three were requested.

“However, in spite of this number of changes, I am more optimistic about the coming school year than at any time since I have returned to K.D.S. In Mr. Lee, the new principal, we have one of the State’s best and K.D.S. is fortunate to have him. His character and integrity, his training and experience are dedicated to the best possible educational program at K.D.S. It is reassuring to work with him and I am sure the school year will be a good one.

“Very few of the list of needs have been taken. I recall a chapter showing interest in one or two items but nothing definite.

“The county has not yet ordered the equipment for the first unit of the Seimes-Thomas Classroom Building. Very few bids were received because specifications were poorly written. Now our architect is writing the specifications and they should be finished this week. Then the law requires three weeks’ advertising, so it will be after October 1st before bids are received. Sixty to ninety days will be required for delivery for some of the equipment. So, it now appears that much of the new building will not be used until Thanksgiving or the first of the year.

“However, this may be a blessing in disguise. Construction on the second unit has begun and to use the part of the building completed while other parts are being constructed will require students in bad weather to cross muddy grounds and track mud onto the new floors, not to mention the noise in the early stages of construction which will make study and classroom work difficult.

“The first unit of the building will be complete and open to inspection for Dedication, however. Except for some finishing touches the first unit has been virtually completed.

“It seems that we shall have a large number of DAR visitors for Dedication and we are gradually overcoming many of the local problems which arise because of a Saturday Dedication.”

So we see Kate Duncan Smith is fairly bulging with students, and the increased number caused considerable rearranging of faculty housing.

On October 17, it will be the pleasure of many Daughters to attend the Dedication by our President General of the Seimes-Thomas Classroom Building. This facility is really needed, and will be in use just as soon as the furniture has been installed.

Again I wish to call attention to the fact that there is great demand for our generous support of schools. When and if the time ever comes that our support of our schools is not needed, I know DAR will have the good judgment to accept responsibility where need exists.

In closing I earnestly request the help of every Daughter in bringing contributions to the Seimes-Thomas Classroom Fund to the school without delay. We want to have the new building paid for by the close of this Administration. In plain words every dollar sent now releases that dollar from interest payment.

AMANDA A. THOMAS,
Chairman.
The Recording Secretary General, Mrs. Howland read the following recommendations of the Executive Committee and moved their adoption:

The Carpenter Sisters

By Helene Purdie Lawry
Oceanside Chapter, Oceanside, California

Much has been written of the brave men who came to America 350 years ago and forged a great Nation from a wilderness, but very little has been written of the courageous women who shouldered the burdens of life in a new world with their husbands. They learned to cope with the hardships of the wilderness, to use the food they found in the land, and they worked in the fields beside their men, planting and harvesting, always on the alert against marauding Indians.

The six Carpenter sisters deserve a place of honor among these women for they were the women beside the men of the Mayflower voyage although they were not passengers on the Mayflower.

Their unique and romantic story began in Holland where they had fled with their parents in 1608 to escape the religious persecutions which were sweeping England. Their father, Alexander Carpenter, a well-to-do land owner of Wrington, Somersetshire, had become a member of a group called Separatists, who wished to separate from the Anglican Church and worship God according to the dictates of their consciences.

In Leyden, Holland, the Carpenters found sanctuary with other English religious refugees who had fled from the selfish, arbitrary laws of King James I. They settled in a tall, slender house among the others clustered in the narrow, cobbled streets close to St. Peter's Church. The friendliness and hospitality of the Dutch people soon made them feel at home, for despite the foreign ways, they had much in common with these people: a love of flowers and gardens, and a respect for the dignity of man and of his individual right to worship God in his own way. Perhaps the six sisters, Mary, barely 20, and the younger ones, Alice, Agnes, Julianna, Priscilla and Bridget were soon speaking the Dutch tongue; perhaps too, on the Sabbath after services in Pieterskerk, as the Dutch called St. Peter's Church, they strolled with Dutch friends around the graceful, old university town. Their sojourn in Leyden was a happy and pleasant time for them, and with the passage of years the memory of their life in England grew dim, except for the times that they listened to the discussions of their elders, and of John Robinson, their pastor, who urged them to seek a new country so as to retain their identity as Englishmen.

Fate decreed that all but Agnes should come to America. The lovely Agnes died a short time after her marriage in 1613 to Dr. Samuel Fuller, physician to the little group of Separatists, and was buried in her beloved St. Peter's Church.

Alice, the vivacious second daughter of Alexander Carpenter was courted by many suitors, among them young William Bradford and it was said that Alice returned his regard. Her parents, however, opposed their marriage and looked with favor upon Edward Southworth, a man of long and honorable lineage and one of the seven sons of Sir Thomas Southworth. He was a well educated and popular man with the little group of Separatists and witnessed the marriages of many of them. Since in England only the eldest son inherited his father's title and property, Edward Southworth had become a silk weaver and his work was much in demand among the wealthy citizens of Holland. Since a good daughter never opposed her parent's wishes Alice became the bride of Edward Southworth on May 28, 1613.

When the religious persecution in England had in some degree subsided, many of the Separatists returned to England, among them the young Southworths. In London, the Southworths lived at Heneage House, Duke's Place, a noted rendezvous for dissenters. In the Middle Ages, the great house had been the town palace of the Abbot of Bury St. Edmunds. Among the frequent visitors to Heneage House was William Bradford, who was now married to Dorothy May, daughter of the deacon of the Leyden Church.

Upon learning that the Merchant Adventurers of London, who were the power behind the throne in trade and colonization, were organizing a voyage to the Virginia Colony in America, the little group of Separatists started negotiations for passage to the new world. Little did they realize that the arrangements which they so carefully planned with the Merchant Adventurers would one day become the beginning of a great and powerful country. They agreed among themselves that it would be necessary for some of the group to remain in London in order to supervise and organize future voyages, and it was decided that Alice and Edward Southworth should stay in London to promote future voyages and to "screen" those seeking passage in order to transport only those who were strong in body and mind and who would be an asset to the Colony.

William Bradford and his young wife Dorothy were among the 102 passengers aboard the Mayflower as it left England and headed into the open sea. A few days after arriving in the new world, and while the Mayflower still rode at anchor in Cape Cod Harbor, William Bradford went ashore with others on a scouting expedition. During his absence, Dorothy Bradford fell overboard and was drowned.

The following year William Bradford was chosen Governor of the Colony. When he learned that Edward Southworth had died in London leaving Alice a widow with two young sons, he wrote to her and suggested that she come to America. Alice and her youngest sister, Bridget, arrived on the Anne in July 1623. Their first evening ashore was spent with Dr. Fuller at the house of Governor Bradford, where they talked until far into the night. The following month Alice Carpenter Southworth became the bride of Governor William Bradford.

About seven years after their marriage, Governor Bradford was offered manorial privileges by the "Council of New England," whose president was the Earl of Warwick; the patent ran to William Bradford and his heirs forever, who would have been given the right to hold the counties of Barnstable and Plymouth as a Manor, and other colonists as their tenants and subordinates. Governor Bradford refused the offer.

Alice, as first lady of the Colony, was looked up to and loved by all of the Colonists; not because of her position as wife of the Governor, but because of her strength of character, her warm heart, and her willing help to those in need. She was well educated and had brought considerable property with her; she was eulogized for promoting literary interest and for her guidance to the younger generation. Governor Bradford, with love and admiration, enjoyed witnessing her popularity and her grace as she lectured on current topics. The love between Alice Carpenter and William Bradford was true and enduring during the thirty-four years of their marriage. When Governor Bradford died in 1657 at the age of 68 years, his death left her in deep grief. When she died in 1670 at the age of 80 years feeble from age and illness her wish to be buried beside her husband was fulfilled.

Julianna Carpenter, who had married George Morton in Leyden, also had remained in London to plan future voyages to the new world. He was financial agent to the Plymouth Colony and had also been one of the organizers of the Mayflower voyage. He compiled, from documents and letters from the Colonists, the first history of New England, "Mourt's Relation." Soon after publication of his book in 1623, George Morton with his wife Julianna and their four children set sail for America in the Little James, which had been built by the merchant adventurers to remain in the Colony. Julianna's fifth child was born during the voyage. The following year Julianna was left a widow with five young children; her eldest son, Nathaniel, age 10, went to live with his aunt Alice and Uncle William Bradford. After reaching manhood he became Secretary of the Colony, and was author of "New England Memorial" and many other books.

The rather shy and quiet Mary, the eldest Carpenter sister, remained in England to care for her aging parents, and after their deaths she too came to America to make her home with her sister Alice and brother-in-law, William Bradford. The records refer to her as "A Godly old maid, never married." The letter of William Bradford written to Mary Carpenter in 1644, inviting her to come to America, exemplifies the sense of obligation and closeness of family, and expresses an insight into the time of the Pilgrims:

"Loving Sister:
We understand by your letter that God hath taken to himself our aged mother out of the troubles of this tumultuous world and that you are in a solitary condition as we easily apprehend. We thought good therefore, to writ these few lines unto you, that if you think good to come over to us you shall be welcome; and we shall be as helpful unto you as we may, though we are grown old and the country here more unsettled than ever, by reason of the great changes that have been in these late times, and what will further be the Lord only knows; which makes many thinke of removing their habitation, and sundries of our ministers (hearing of the peace and liberty now in England and Ireland), begin to leave us, and it is feared many more will follow. We do not writ these things to discourage

Because so many books are arriving constantly at National Headquarters on the American Revolution that readers might like to know about for Christmas giving, a list of those recently received follows:

Letters of Brunswick and Hessian Officers During the American Revolution by William L. Stone. Published in Albany, N.Y.: Joel Munsell's Sons, 1891. This is an unabridged republication. New York: Da Capo Press, 1970. $13.50.

SHARING THE BURDEN -- DAR National Committees are subdivided into four levels to simplify the gathering of factual data on what we accomplish each year. The system of reporting is designed to lighten the load at each higher level. It is effective to the extent that each chairman sends her report through specified channels within prescribed time limits:

Almost 3000 Fifty Seven Chapters States Divisions
Chapter State Nat'l Vice National NSDAR Chairman Chairman Chairman Chairman

THE WHEN AND WHY OF REPORTS -- The National Chairman's Annual Report must reach NSDAR Headquarters by April 1st of each year -- it is the basis for Proceedings of Continental Congress and the Annual DAR Report to the Smithsonian Institution. It cannot be a full report unless:

Division Vice Chairmen report to National Chairmen before March 20th;
State Chairmen report to Division Vice Chairmen before March 10th;
Chapter Chairmen report to State Chairmen before March 1st . . .
(Note: Some large States have an intervening District Chairman between Chapter Chairmen and the State Chairman . . . with a still earlier due-date.)

There is reason why due-dates or dead-lines are set for reports. Time limits may vary slightly from Committee to Committee and from State to State . . . but they exist for a purpose and every effort should be made to get the right report to the right person at the right time.

PACKET LETTERS AND DIRECTORIES -- Each summer, NSDAR mails the Packet Letters of Instruction to Chapter Regents (with copies for Committee Chairmen). Any Chairman who did not receive the letter for her Committee should ask her Chapter Regent to see the letter (and any accompanying questionnaire). Names and addresses of the "next in line" to receive Committee Reports can be found in State or National Directories.

At the general assembly of the State of Connecticut held at Hartford, May 1792, inhabitants of the towns of Fairfield and Norwalk stated that great losses by devastations of the enemy were suffered by them, praying for compensation therefor. After investigations and documentations, it was

"Resolved, By this assembly, that there be and hereby are released and quit-claimed to the sufferers hereafter named, or their heirs . . . five hundred thousand acres of land belonging to this State lying west of the State of Pennsylvania, and bounding northerly on the shore of Lake Erie, beginning at the west line of said lands and extending eastward to a line running northerly and southerly parallel to the east line of said tract of land belonging to this State, and extending the whole width of said lands, and easterly so far as to make said quantity of five hundred thousand acres of land exclusively of any lands within said bounds, if any be, which may have been heretofore granted to be divided to and among the said sufferers, and their legal representatives . . . as follows in the annexed list."

The following "list" is taken from the "Classification Record," an old book in the Office of the Recorder of Huron County. Many of those listed and their descendants settled the Fire-lands. The list covers Greenwich, Danbury, Groton, Fairfield, New Haven and East Haven, New London, Norwalk, and Ridgefield.

We shall begin by giving those names listed for Greenwich, and will continue with each place named in following issues of the Magazine.

At the general assembly of the State of Connecticut held at Hartford, May 1792, inhabitants of the towns of Fairfield and Norwalk stated that great losses by devastations of the enemy were suffered by them, praying for compensation therefor. After investigations and documentations, it was

"Resolved, By this assembly, that there be and hereby are released and quit-claimed to the sufferers hereafter named, or their heirs . . . five hundred thousand acres of land belonging to this State lying west of the State of Pennsylvania, and bounding northerly on the shore of Lake Erie, beginning at the west line of said lands and extending eastward to a line running northerly and southerly parallel to the east line of said tract of land belonging to this State, and extending the whole width of said lands, and easterly so far as to make said quantity of five hundred thousand acres of land exclusively of any lands within said bounds, if any be, which may have been heretofore granted to be divided to and among the said sufferers, and their legal representatives . . . as follows in the annexed list."

The following "list" is taken from the "Classification Record," an old book in the Office of the Recorder of Huron County. Many of those listed and their descendants settled the Fire-lands. The list covers Greenwich, Danbury, Groton, Fairfield, New Haven and East Haven, New London, Norwalk, and Ridgefield.

We shall begin by giving those names listed for Greenwich, and will continue with each place named in following issues of the Magazine.

Currently under the able leadership of Mrs. Olaf M. Fossum, the Chapter has grown to 85 members and has participated actively in State and National projects. The Chapter members have been especially interested in and generous to the DAR schools. San Bernardino Chapter proudly claims the wife of Congressman Jerry L. Pettis as one of the new members and is also proud of the members who have served as State Officers.

Mrs. Alfred E. Austerman, a past regent of the Chapter and currently serving as Registrar, has been C.A.R. State Assistant Registrar and C.A.R. State Registrar, also California State Vice-Chairman of Transportation and California State Chairman of Transportation.

Mrs. Charles W. Audet, an associate member, is presently California State Chairman of Lineage Research.

FLINT HILLS (Boiling Springs, N.C.), Mrs. J. Warren Gamble (Aileen Jones '39) was named Gardner-Webb College’s “Alumnus of the Year” in a presentation climaxing the annual Alumni Banquet May 16.

The coveted award, given by college trustees, was presented by G-W President Dr. E. Dr. Poston said she “truly has demonstrated a life of service and exemplifies the spirit of Gardner-Webb.”

The “capstone” of her service, Dr. Poston said, is her humble spirit, in the sense of the Beatitude which begins “Blessed are the meek . . .”, throughout her association with great and near-great.

“She possesses a great spirit,” he concluded.

Mrs. Gamble and her husband are the parents of a daughter and son, Susan and Bill. Unknown to her, the family and special friends had gathered at the banquet for the surprise award.

MOUNT ST. HELENS (St. Helens, Oregon). Highlight of spring activities for the chapter was the dedication of a DAR marker on the "Knighton House," built in 1851 by Henry M. Knighton, founder of the city of St. Helens. The house is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Lester G. Johnson. Ceremonies were held on Sunday afternoon, May 3, 1970, with Mrs. Richard H. Janes, Regent, presiding. Patriotic music was provided by a group from the St. Helens Senior High School Band under the leadership of Mr. Tom F. Brumbaugh. Loo-Wit Society C.A.R. members presented the Colors and led the Flag Salute. Rev. Donald Colburn of the First United Methodist Church gave the invocation. Mrs. A. E. Jewell, State Recording Secretary, brought greetings from the State Society. The marker was dedicated by Mrs. George W. Jacobs, chapter member and past State Chaplain. Mrs. Janes presented the marker which was unveiled by Miss F. Fern Fisher, Chapter Historian, and Mrs. A. T. Brownlow, Chapter Librarian, and accepted by St. Helens Mayor M. E. McMichael on behalf of the City Council and citizens of St. Helens.

The printed program included a history of Henry Montgomery Knighton and the house he built by Mrs. John Becker, Past Regent, and Columbia County Historian. Henry Knighton was born in New Jersey, married in Missouri, came by ox team to Oregon in 1845, first settling in Yamhill County, then moving to the lower Columbia where he took a Donation Land Claim in 1847 and founded St. Helens in 1849. The family first lived in a log cabin. 1851 lumber was brought "around the Horn" from Maine, and this, with rough lumber from a local mill, was used to build the present structure. The house still holds much of its original design after being moved twice with some remodeling, and according to the Johnsons, "the timbers are sound and the house should last another hundred years." Mount St. Helens Chapter is proud to present the plaque and thus mark this historic home.

SCRANTON CITY (Pennsylvania), is the first place recipient of a Continental Congress Award for the Eastern District for the second time.

Miss Anne M. Stommel, National Public Relations Committee Chairman,
Members of the Scranton City Chapter receive Congress Award.

notified Miss Martha Y. Jones, regent, of the award won by Mrs. John F. Mears, Jr., who is Public Relations Chairman for the Scranton City Chapter.

The award was for a “Feature Story” made up of a series of articles written on one subject telling a story of DAR activities in the historical field of endeavor.

The story, submitted by Mrs. Mears, was on the Chapter’s activities during “Constitution Week” (October 17-23). The articles appeared in the Scranton Times and Scranton Tribune newspapers.

There were seven articles on the chapter’s Constitution Week activities. Every year a proclamation is issued by the Mayor of the City of Scranton and by the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania asking everyone to observe “Constitution Week” in some way.

The award was given in conjunction with the Continental Congress National Society Daughters of the American Revolution held recently in Washington, D.C.

Various fund raising projects were carried out by the student body, numbering three hundred girls and boys, to secure the $200.00 necessary to make this 42 by 30 foot flag with its 15 stars, measuring 26 inches from point to point. Each child in the school had an opportunity to work on the flag, running the gamut from basting to stitching. It was finished in time to have been carried by the boys of the 5th and 6th grades, on an especially constructed frame, in the Memorial Day Parade in Baldwin and was displayed during the Flag Day and Independence Day ceremonies in nearby Eisenhower Park. It is the hope of the Principals, teachers and the entire student body to further honor this, their beautiful replica of the “Star Spangled Banner,” by carrying it in the Macy’s Parade on Thanksgiving Day in New York City and by having it flown over Fort McHenry on Flag Day, in June, 1971. In expressing her thoughts, one 5th grader said: “During our project I felt proud of our school because we put so much work into it. We all felt honored to be chosen to work on it. We felt like our forefathers must have felt—Proud.”

WHITE PLANS (White Plains, New York). The 65th Birthday observance of this Gold Star Honor Roll Chapter was celebrated with a Luncheon, Meeting, and American Heritage Program at the Westchester Country Club. Mrs. George U. Baylies, New York State Vice Regent, was the honored guest speaker and she praised the White Plains Chapter for its many accomplishments “lately” and over the years. She said membership in our vast organization meant dedicated service to others and pointed out the many valuable friendships formed. She concluded with a speech “From Candlelight to Satellite” given by Dorothy Andrews Elston. Mrs. Baylies was introduced by Mrs. Adolph Sieland, Program Chairman.

Mrs. William A. Egan, Jr., Regent, at the Meeting and special recognition was given to past Regents present: Mrs. Ivan T. Johnson, Mrs. Frank B. Cuff, Mrs. Robert P. Smith, Mrs. Paul L. Clugston, Mrs. Edwin A. Haverty, Mrs. George Don Campbell, Jr., Mrs. Alfred Olsen. Senior Past Regent Mrs. Johnson cut a three tiered Birthday Cake. Mrs. Haverty was Chairman of Luncheon Arrangements.

Mrs. John Blanchfield, American Heritage Chairman, introduced Mr. Robert Thomas, baritone, who sang folk songs of the American Frontier, and gave a brief history of each as he went along. His wife, Clair v.g. Thomas, accompanied him on the piano.

Mrs. Charles H. Sword reported on the Chapter sponsored George Washington Birthday Celebration held at Washington’s Headquarters, Virginia Road, North White Plains, Sunday, February 22, 1970. The Public was invited, and in addition to Westchester County Officials and DAR Members, attendance was well over 500. Refreshments were old fashioned iced gingerbread birthday cake and warm spiced cider prepared from Thomas Jefferson’s own recipe and were served by White Plains Chapter Members in costume.

In June a Special Evening Meeting will be held at the White Plains Woman’s Club with the tape of the Mrs. William H. Sullivan-David Susskind 1967 Television Program.

BARTOW (Florida) celebrated its 40th anniversary of the founding of the chapter with special events. The annual Constitution Day banquet was combined with the Birthday Party on September 17 when chapter members, husbands, and friends attended the gala affair. Mr. Monte Campbell, Jr., prominent attorney, was guest speaker and a musical program was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Puckett, local artists.

At the White Plains Anniversary Luncheon are shown: Mrs. William A. Egan, Jr., Regent; Mrs. George U. Baylies, State Vice Regent; Mrs. Ivan T. Johnson, past Regent.
REGISTRAR GENERAL

Q. We have a prospective member who has a brother that is a S.A.R. May the short form application be used for her?

A. No. The short form may be used only if the applicant may “hook on” to an established line of DAR within the first three generations.

Q. Why can’t the DAR accept the established application of the Sons of the American Revolution?

A. The DAR cannot accept any record of another lineage Society because the supporting evidence is not available to the DAR. The National Society, DAR needs the data and proof in their files.

ORGANIZING SECRETARY GENERAL

Q. How do I contact a chapter when moving into a new area?

A. When moving into a new area, the person to contact would be the State Regent who will then give information as to nearby chapters.

Q. What is the procedure for ordering a Fifty-Year Membership Certificate?

A. Fifty-Year Membership Certificates are issued from the office of the Organizing Secretary General. Orders should include name and national number for member and check of $1.00 (made payable to the Treasurer General) for each Certificate ordered.

NATIONAL CHAIRMAN GENEALOGICAL RECORDS

Please refer to Genealogical Department in this issue.

NATIONAL CHAIRMAN LINEAGE RESEARCH

Q. Where can a person write for “Birth and Death Records, U.S. and Outlying Areas”?

A. There is a booklet on these and it can be purchased from the Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. for a small fee. This booklet is also included in the Lineage Research Kit. The Kit may be purchased for $2.00, plus 4% tax for Maryland, Virginia and the District, with 30¢ added for postage. Order these kits from the Lineage Research Office at Headquarters, 1776 D Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

NATIONAL CHAIRMAN MEMBERSHIP

Q. A Member-at-Large living in our town has asked to become an Associate member of our chapter. May we elect her an Associate members?

A. No, a Member-at-Large does not have the privileges of an Associate member. Article XIII, Section 17, provides that “A chapter may elect associate members provided that any member so elected shall be a chapter member in good standing and may be an associate member in not more than two chapters in a state at the same time.”

Presented by her nearly 800 friends in these Los Angeles Area Chapters: Beverly Hills, Cabrillo, El Redondo, Eschscholtzia, General Richard Gridley, Hollywood, Los Angeles, Rancho San Jose de Buenos Aires, San Vicente and Santa Monica.
After meeting in Monterey and for brief periods of time in San Jose, Vallejo, and Benicia, the California Legislature in 1854 selected Sacramento, one of the West's most historic cities, as the site of the permanent state capital.

The Sacramento Capitol building, an excellent example of Spanish architecture, is located in a forty acre park of ten individual city parks made magnificent with wide stretches of green lawns, and numerous native and exotic trees, plants and flowers. The cornerstone was laid with Masonic ceremonies in May 15, 1861, and the structure was occupied by the Governor, state officers and the Legislature in 1869.

Presented by these Past Chapter Regents from the Central Valley of California (Sacramento and San Joaquin)

Chapter Reports

The regular opening fall chapter meeting, October 12, 1970, featured the 40th birthday theme in floral decorations and refreshments. A tribute to the charter members, and Chapter Regents, still active in DAR affairs, was portrayed in the program, depicting a colorful tapestry in variegated thread and representing community activities based on the objectives of the DAR National Society.

Bartow Chapter was organized September 17, 1930, with the late Mrs. Edith Wright, State Registrar, as organizing Secretary General. Charter members honored were Mrs. Virginia Holland Gallemore, Mrs. Dorothy Waldo Hargrove, Mrs. Nell Hathcock Leifeste, Mrs. Lila Campbell Taylor, Mrs. Ruth Cannon Wilson, Mrs. Hattie Windham. Former regents presented were Mrs. Hattie Windham, Mrs. Elizabeth Oates James, Mrs. Lola Morris Hughes, Miss Louise Oates, Mrs. Ruth Cannon Wilson, Mrs. Jessamine Austin Benton, Mrs. Katherine Chatham, Mrs. Mayme Forsyth Wilson, Miss Bernie Willard Lyle, Mrs. Jean Dohenthaven Wright, Mrs. Carolyn Johnson Girtman, Miss Charlotte Varn, program director. Mrs. Freddie Wright, regent, presided during the anniversary observance.

SEVEN SAN FERNANDO VALLEY CHAPTERS (Calif.). "We honor those men of faith, courage and vision who guided the founding of this Mission and also those who have preserved it for posterity." Thus reads part of the inscription on the bronze DAR historic marker placed at old Mission San Fernando Rey de Espana, 17th to be founded and first to be named for a saintly king, Ferdinand III of Castile. Mission is one of a chain reaching from Baja California in Mexico to northern California and part of the cultural heritage of early Spanish discovery and settlement.

Mrs. Donald Spicer, Historian General, dedicated the marker as Rev. Eugene Frilot, administrator of the mission, stood by. Mrs. Frank Robert Mettlauch, Vice President General and National Vice Chairman American History Month, emphasized the "DAR History Awards Program" in her talk. Mrs. LeRoy Conrad Kaump, California State Regent, spoke on "Marking the Past for the Future."

Seven San Fernando Valley chapters participated in Flag Day ceremonies in the fountain patio: San Fernando Valley, Mrs. Charles G. Tingle, regent; General Richard Gridley, Glendale, Mrs. Anthony J. Kitchens, past regent; Santa Susana Chatsworth, Mrs. Percy A. Straw, regent; Potrero Verde, Burbank, Mrs. Mary Lou Dalbey Baughman, past regent; Mrs. Paul Herman, regent; Fernanda Maria, Nuys, Mrs. John E. Lawson, regent; Achois Comihavit, North Hollywood, Mrs. Edward H. Edwards, regent; and Antelope Valley, Mrs. Earl I. Stewart, past regent and Mrs. Harold L. Richards, regent. Past regents had brought to completion the long-term planning of the event.

Mrs. Harry E. Wain, civic leader and past regent, San Fernando Valley Chapter, presided at the ceremonies, having spearheaded the placing of the marker.

An American Flag which had flown over the capitol was presented Father Frilot for mission use by Mrs. John E. Lawson, regent, Fernanda Maria Chapter, named for the first little Indian girl baptized at mission founding in August, 1797 by Father Fermín Francisco de Lasuen. Accompanied by Spanish soldiers and settlers, he blessed the water and the land on Sept. 8, planted the Cross and said Mass, beginning the Christianization of the Indians and civilization of the area that was to flower into the prosperous Los Angeles suburb of today.

A poem by Mrs. Ruth Apperson Rous, California Honorary State Regent, entitled "I Am The Flag" was delivered by Normand Ayotte, president, Fernanda Maria Society, Children of the American Revolution, with his brothers Stewart and Dwight proudly holding the Flag.

IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Gail Mills Dimmitt

April 10, 1886 — August 1, 1970

California lost its member extraordinary who was hard at work in her capacity as National Vice Chairman of the DAR Magazine Advertising Committee, Western Division, when she left us. Her farsightedness is reflected in this particular issue of the Magazine—her own chapter, Santa Monica, joined hands with De Anza Chapter to bring you the Torrey Pines.

We present the happy trio of April 20, 1967 at the 76th Annual Continental Congress: Mrs. Donald Spicer, then State Regent of California; Mrs. Vaughn A. Gill, then National Chairman of Magazine Advertising, who was presenting the First Award in Magazine Advertising to Mrs. Gail Mills Dimmitt, for bringing California into First Place in the Nation (a reprint from p. 914, December 1967 Magazine). Mrs. Dimmitt was again cited during the 77th Congress for her tremendous efforts on behalf of California’s advertising. During the 79th Continental Congress of April 1970 she was awarded new laurels for bringing the Western Division in as the very first division to accomplish 100% chapter participation in Magazine Advertising.

Mrs. Le Roy Conrad Kaump, California State Regent, and the entire State Society grieve at the loss of this outstanding California Daughter who will ever remain as an inspiration.
Military instruction in our civilian institutions of higher learning goes back to 1819 when a former West Point superintendent established a military academy at Northfield, Vermont, which later became Norwich University. The National Defense Education Act established the ROTC in 1916.

During World War II, 120,000 Reserve Officer Training Corps graduates served their country as officers with the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force. General George C. Marshall said, “The most valuable asset we have had in this emergency has been the product of the ROTC.”

Thomas Jefferson wrote in 1817, “I hope it is practicable, by improving the minds and morals of society, to lessen the disposition to war but of this abolition I despair.”

The disposition to war has never been more prevalent than in this century. To assure peace, our nation must be prepared for war. During the past decade 64% of all our officers have been ROTC graduates. More than 150 are Generals, several are astronauts, and many are leading business executives. Now there are over 500 ROTC units at colleges and universities throughout the 50 states providing this training, turning out well educated, intelligent, dedicated officers for national defense and industry.

WE PROUDLY SALUTE THE ROTC

During the past few years when the ROTC training centers on our campuses have been pillaged by fire, riots, and every kind of abuse heaped on the officers and cadets, we are proud of those cadets who continued their course in their determined effort to become better able to protect our country. This is in keeping with the concept of the citizen-soldier which made possible the founding of this Nation.

DEDICATE HISTORICAL MARKER
AT SAN FERNANDO MISSION

Presenting historical marker in honor of the founding of San Fernando Mission were representatives from seven Valley Chapters of Daughters of the American Revolution. From left to right are Mrs. Harry E. Waite, past Regent, San Fernando Valley Chapter, DAR; Mrs. Frank Mettlach, Vice President General; Mrs. Donald Spicer, National Historian General; and Mrs. John E. Lawson, Regent Fernando Maria Chapter, DAR.

The text of the marker is as follows: “San Fernando Mission. Founded in 1797 by Father Fermin Francisco Lasuen. We honor those men of faith, courage, and vision who guided the founding of this Mission and also those who have preserved it for posterity.” Dedicated by the following Chapters of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

ALHAMBRA—SAN GABRIEL CHAPTER

The Alhambra-San Gabriel Chapter is celebrating its 50th anniversary, being organized November 6, 1920. The chapter received its name from the cities of Alhambra and of San Gabriel. An early pioneer, Benjamin Davis Wilson, born in Tennessee in 1840, came West at the age of twenty-nine and became known as “Don Benito Wilson.” Two years later he bought the Jurupa Ranch for $1,000 a league. At age 33 he married Ramona Yorba, daughter of the owner of Rancho Santa Anita. His daughter, Maria de Jesus Wilson, married J. de Barth Shorb, engineer. The Wilson and Shorb families, while sitting on the veranda reading Washington Irving’s “Tales of the Alhambra,” of Granada, Spain, decided to call a tract development in the San Gabriel Valley, “Alhambra.” Don Benito Wilson laid out his Alhambra Tract in 1874. At the age of 44, Don Benito became the first mayor of Los Angeles, and at 53 constructed the Mount Wilson Trail, now known as the Mount Wilson Road. He married his second wife, Margaret S. Hereford, widow of Dr. Thomas Hereford, and had two daughters, Annie and Ruth. Ruth Wilson married George Smith Patton, Sr. Their son, General George S. Patton, became the grandson of Don Benito Wilson.

The City of San Gabriel got its name, and beginnings, from the San Gabriel Mission established in 1771 by Padre Junipero Serra.

The Alhambra-San Gabriel Chapter is proud to honor its members of fifty years, and more:

37722—Mrs. Harvey Scott (Jessie Bartley)—Sept. 1901
91754—Miss Martha Briggs—March 6, 1912
102898—Mrs. William H. Bedford (Bess Simpson)—1915
132862—Mrs. Charles C. Vernon (Olive D. Jones)—1917

and

Mrs. John James Champieux, Honorary State Regent, and Past Reporter General to the Smithsonian Institution and member of the DAR Speakers Staff.
Relics of The Ice Age Preserved
The Torrey Pine

These unique pines were not recognized as being unusual by the early Spanish Explorers or the Mexican Colonists. It was not until 1850 when Dr. C. C. Parry, Official Botanist with the Mexican Boundary Survey, recognized these trees as a new species and named them for his friend, Dr. John Torrey, a famous American Botanist.

"Today many of these trees are found battling for their existence on the unfertile, stony soil . . . of a rugged canyon area just east and south of Del Mar in North San Diego County, California. They are marvelous examples of the tenacity of plant life and the adaptation to a rugged environment."

The gnarled, twisted rare trees are believed to be relics of the Ice Age. They are indigenous to two small areas: (1) Del Mar and the Torrey Pines State Reserve, and (2) Santa Rosa Island, one of the Channel Islands southwest of Santa Barbara.

Early citizens of the area recognized our priceless heritage. "In March of 1899 Mr. George W. Marston and others induced the city of San Diego to set aside its own adjacent lands containing canyons and trees as the first unit of Torrey Pines State Reserve. Miss Ellen Browning Scripps, philanthropist of La Jolla, purchased Torrey Pines Point and dedicated the groves there for the preservation and enjoyment of future generations."

The responsibility was given to Mr. Guy L. Fleming as Park Administrator. He and his artist wife, Margaret, lived in a home largely built by their own efforts which is the administration building today. Mrs. Fleming continues active interest and support of the preservation of the Torrey Pines so dear to her late husband.

Some 3,000 of the trees are protected in the Torrey Pines State Reserve. Another 1,500 are in the rugged canyon area which rises from the salt marsh north of the Reserve. This native habitat of the Torrey Pine is sandstone cliffs and ravines, eroded by wind and water to expose millions of years of geologic history. Native shrubs and wild flowers grow there in abundance and provide food and shelter for the wild animals and birds. Sharp eyes can find evidence of Indians who lived there 11,000 years ago.

Through the efforts of Mr. Guy L. Fleming, a well known naturalist and an authority on the native trees and shrubs of Southern California, the Torrey Pines Association was founded in 1950, dedicated to the preservation of the Torrey Pines State Reserve. The Association sponsored the drive to raise funds for the purchase of the Extension Area north of the present State Park.

Three years ago De Anza Chapter DAR members with the Chapter Chairman, Mrs. F. J. Ford became aware of the urgent need for support to protect the small grove north of the Salt Marsh from sub-dividers and commercial developers, and have aided the Torrey Pine Association raise funds to purchase land in the proposed extension.

The purchase of trees as Memorials was encouraged, with other San Diego County and State Chapters participating. Three separate dedicatory services sponsored by De Anza Chapter were held with publicity in all of the local and county newspapers and two TV Stations which helped to alert the public. These Memorial Trees form a group and will be known as The DAR Grove of Torrey Pines. A DAR Trail has been started with separate funds and the California State Society NSDAR Board has set aside a sum of money to be added to the Trail which the State Regent, Mrs. LeRoy Conrad Kaump has designated a State Conservation Project.

Last Year De Anza Chapter sponsored a Resolution inviting the support and interest of the California Chapters for the proposed Torrey Pine Extension. A copy of the Resolution was mailed to the 148 other State Chapters. In May, 1970 the Board of the State Society unanimously adopted the Resolution and a special committee was appointed to "Save California's Historic Trees," which include California Redwoods and the Torrey Pines.

The goal has been reached, at the moment 100 acres of the proposed extension are in Escrow. The State of California has matched the funds raised by citizens, many individuals, children's groups, schools and other organizations. Additional moneys will be used to maintain the trails, where one may enjoy the quiet serenity of the Park as only foot paths are planned for the area.

Reaching any goal is rewarding, when the efforts of so many working together to preserve the scenic beauty of an area for future posterity one becomes humble indeed, realizing the true greatness of our fellowman when he helps to preserve one of God's gifts.

This picture is a reproduction of a tintype taken circa 1870. The store was built and operated by Benjamin Shreve from 1857 to 1887 with Shreve serving as Post Master during those years. It was in 1857 that he (Shreve) named the town of Lafayette when the Post Office permit was granted. The store was located on what is now 3535 Plaza Way and the building still stands, remodelled, as Toyland. On June 13, 1970 the store was placqued as a California State Point of Historical Interest.

Mt. Lassen is located fifty miles east of Redding in northeastern California, where the Cascades join the Sierra Nevadas, and is surrounded by the 165 square mile Lassen Volcanic National Park created in 1916.

Lassen Peak (10,453 feet high) dominates the area, and is the only volcano in continental United States that is not yet extinct. The last eruptions took place between 1914 and 1921. Lassen Park is noted for its beautiful scenery, including wild flowers, boiling mud pots, cold springs, a dwarf forest, mirror like lakes, and colorful soil and rocks.

The Pio Pico Historical Monument is located on Whittier Boulevard in Whittier, California, the birth place of President Nixon. On these grounds is an adobe casa which was one of the homes of Pio Pico, the last Mexican governor of California.

Tradition relates that it was built about 1826 and that it was partially destroyed in the floods of 1867 and 1884, but was restored and used as the residence of Pio Pico until he moved to the home of his daughter, Juaquina Marino in Los Angeles. There he died in 1894, aged ninety-three years.

The Battle of Golden Hill and the Liberty Poles

Hill they met reinforcements from the Battery barracks armed with bayonets and cutlasses. One soldier commanded them to draw their bayonets and cut their way through. They fell upon the unarmed citizens with great violence cutting and slashing. The citizens fought with sleigh rungs, clubs and staves until more inhabitants arrived and forced the soldiers to disperse. A number of people were wounded in the struggle on the Hill and soldiers were much bruised, one badly hurt. That encounter on Golden Hill 200 years ago was followed by two days of fighting and marked the beginning of the Revolution.

The battle was resumed the next day when a party of angry soldiers and sailors defied the mayor and attacked a group of citizens on the Commons because a seaman had been cut on the head the day before. A desperate fight ensued between the trained and armed soldiery and the defenseless citizens upon whom they were quartered. The citizens suffered severely. Clashes continued to occur from time to time until the mayor finally issued orders forbidding soldiers to leave their barracks unless accompanied by a non-commissioned officer. And as a further precaution the city corporation refused to let the Sons of Liberty erect their fifth Liberty Pole in the Commons. Captain Isaac Sears the renowned member then acquired in his individual capacity on February 3rd a plot for it in City Hall Park.

There was a delay of three weeks but the pitch pine pole strongly bound with iron bars and hoops and studded with nails two-thirds of its length was set February 6, 1770. It was drawn from the ship-yard by six horses bedecked with ribbons, to the private lot on the Commons accompanied by several thousand persons. It was strongly secured by timber, great stones and earth, in a hole 12 feet deep. That celebrated Liberty Pole was 58 feet long with a mast 22 feet topped by a gilt vane bearing the word “Liberty.” Below it floated the English flag with “Liberty” spread across it in big bold letters. It stood there proud and tall for almost seven years, a grim reminder of the presence of obstreperous unpopular and unwanted royal troops constantly defying established civic authorities.

The pole remained in its own special place unharmed in spite of Tories, Loyalists and soldiers until October 28, 1776 when it was cut down by the British Regulars. The people had known since the Battle of Golden Hill January 19-20, 1770 that the war for complete independence was inevitable though they did not want it. The Sons of Liberty had never advocated founding a new nation. The 13 red and white stripes of their flag, known in England as the “Rebellious Stripes” prevail in our national colors today.

One of the New York City DAR chapters is named Golden Hill in tribute to the battle. Its organizing Regent, Mrs. Margaret Bartlett Whiteford, was a descendant of Josiah Bartlett, the first after John Hancock to sign the Declaration of Independence.

The Sons of the Revolution and the Historical Society of New York City erected a Liberty Pole on Flag Day 1921 in City Hall Park on the same spot where the famous 5th Liberty Pole stood 1770-1776.

And this year a Commemorative Program was held at the Historic Site, New York City Hall Plaza after the Mayor authorized by proclamation January 19, 1970 “The Battle of Golden Hill Day.”

IN LOVING MEMORY

MISS HARRIET TAYLOR

February 8, 1879 — August 16, 1970

Her life was one of service. A lesson of love and loyalty to family and friends, but given with such sweetness and joy of living, that all who knew her were inspired and uplifted.

She was a direct line descendant. Her Great Grandfather was Reuben Taylor, born 1761—died July 14, 1845 at Hadley, Mass. A “Daughter” dedicated to the same principles as those of our Founding Fathers.

In later years her thoughts turned to Geneology, and thru this study she became a member in the Colonial Dames of the 17th Century, U.S. Daughters of 1812, Daughters of the American Colonists, The Huguenot Society and her beloved Daughters of the American Revolution.

Many of her family treasures have been given to the Los Angeles State and County Arboretum, in Arcadia, for the re-furnishing of the Queen Ann Cottage.

She served her Chapter as Chaplain and Treasurer for many years.

Her blythe spirit and the courage of her 91 years, will ever be a challenge to us.

Oneida Chapter published a booklet and dedicated a bronze marker at ceremonies in memory of these early patriots. The Chapter is now cooperating substantially in the restoration project.—Dorothy W. Brown.

From the Oneida Chapter are shown: Col. Irving Thurston, SAR; Mrs. Lyle J. Howland, Recording Secretary General; Mrs. William B. Buxton, Chairman, N.Y. Central Round Table; Mrs. James R. Arlott, Chapter Regent.

MONMOUTH (Red Bank, New Jersey), enjoyed a number of fine programs this past year under the chairmanship of Mrs. Geoffrey Wood. November is our month for a special program on National Defense. This year we had Col. Donald Helm, stationed at nearby Fort Monmouth, speak to us on "The Chaplain and the Soldier."

In December it is customary for Monmouth Chapter to have a joint meeting with Mary Stillwell Society C.A.R. This year we had Mrs. William Slade of Marlboro talk and show Indian artifacts which she has found on the farm where she is now living. Mrs. Slade is part Indian.

Mrs. Charles L. Jacobs, state chairman of DAR Schools was our speaker in February.

Awards Day and our regular meeting day fell on the same date. The chapter Chairman and the Regent accompanied the nine girls to Trenton for Awards Day. Then they were entertained in the home of a chapter member for supper and attended the evening meeting of the chapter. They were most happy to hear the husband of one of our members speak and show slides on "Christ Church 200th Anniversary." This is located in Shrewsbury, N.J.

A very unusual hobby was demonstrated by Miss Ethel Cutler when she spoke on Pillow Lace at our April meeting.

This year we journeyed to nearby Allaire State Park for our picnic and meeting. Mrs. Harry Burr, a member of the Park Advisory Board and the Women's Auxiliary, gave an illustrated lecture. Members then enjoyed a tour of the park.

We celebrated our 70th birthday with a luncheon at Old Orchard Inn, after which our speaker told us about the Monmouth County Parks and the programs they are sponsoring for the public.

The chapter was represented at District, State and National Conferences.

—Mrs. William G. Schanck.

Members and guests of the Mojave Chapter honor the California State Regent, Mrs. LeRoy Conrad Kaump.

MOJAVE (Fullerton, Calif.) honored its member Mrs. LeRoy Conrad Kaump who is the present California State Regent, at a tea on September fourteenth.

The members of all California chapters were invited and many attended. Among them were State Officers and State Committee Chairman. Mrs. Kaump’s guest book showed one hundred and fifty guests.

The tea table was beautifully appointed with handmade lace cloths, silver and crystal with a color scheme of pastel pinks.

Mojave Chapter named for the Mojave Indians who once lived in the Fullerton area, was organized in March of 1925 with twenty-four members and now has a membership of eighty-seven. Mojave Chapter is also proud to have three State Chairmen among its members plus a Senior National Chairman of the National Society of the Children of the American Revolution.—Mrs. Thomas D. Martin.

WILLIAM WHITE (Fairfax, Missouri). The twentieth anniversary meeting of William White Chapter of DAR was held March 3, 1970 at the Methodist Church in Fairfax, Missouri with 26 members present. Miss Augusta White, organizing regent, was presented by the present regent, Hazel Chamberlain, who explained that it was through the efforts of Miss White that William White Chapter came into being.

The regent then read the minutes of the organizing meeting at which she was acting secretary. She paid special tribute to Miss White and to Betty Bird who has been instrumental in keeping the chapter together and seeing that it has been on the honor roll each year.

Mrs. Agnes Settle of Rock Port was introduced. During the twenty years that William White Chapter has functioned, Mrs. Settle has never missed a meeting.

William White Chapter has grown from the organizing membership of fifteen to the one hundred present members.

MILK RIVER (Glasgow, Montana). Six hard working members presented to Mr. Donald Beckman, Chief Engineer of the Fort Peck Dam project on the Missouri River, a historical marker, to preserve historical significance of early Montana Days.

The wording on the marker is as follows:

"Old Fort Peck was located about a mile above the present dam site. Built in 1867 as a trading post and becoming an agency in 1871, it served also as headquarters for military and government officials when negotiating with the Indians. It was abandoned in 1879 due to river erosion and the agency moved to Poplar."

OLD FORT DALLAS

This old Fort was constructed about 1835 at the mouth of the Miami River, and established as a Post by the U.S. Government in 1838. It was abandoned in 1858. When the property was sold the Fort was scheduled to be demolished. Funds were raised to move the building and it was rebuilt on the present site in Lummus Park in 1925. Mr. Beckman accepted the marker for the Army Engineers and it has been placed in the entrance to the first power house, which also features the museum and guided tours so that thousands of tourists and people will have a chance to read a bit of early Montana history. This is the great Missouri River used by Lewis and Clark in 1804-1805.

This has been a project of this Chapter for five years. Milk River Chapter has a small membership of 20 members with only 8 working resident members to carry on the work of the National Society. Those present for the meeting and presentation were: Mrs. Alexander Torkelson, Past State Regent, Mrs. Leo Coleman, Mrs. Hyrem Peters, Mrs. E. L. Jennings, Mrs. G. R. Austin and Mrs. H. L. Wiley.—Mrs. H. L. Wiley.

RACHEL CALDWELL (Greensboro, N. C.) was awarded both the State Honor Roll Citation and the National Gold Honor Roll Citation for "outstanding accomplishments" in all DAR fields.

Crossnore, a DAR approved boarding school in western North Carolina. It had been suggested that each DAR member in N. C. pay $20.00 into the fund (to be raised in any way the individual wished), in order to get the approximately $100,000.00 necessary for the project. Many of our members promptly paid the $20.00; 100% participation would have meant about $2,800.00. But our finance chairman for this, Mrs. Noel Garvin, contacted several local Foundations and, in one instance, worked with the regent in visiting another, and received from these interested and public-spirited organizations a total of $6,500.00. Member contributions were $1,000.00. Besides the $7,500.00 to the Building Fund, our Chapter gifts to Crossnore amounted to $743.92, in scholarships, used clothes for resale in the Community Store operated by Crossnore School, coupons and trading stamps, cash, and one student “adopted.”

The Chapter made donations to five DAR and DAR approved restorations, including $45.00 to Blandwood (completing our pledge of $1,000.00); and $500.00 to the McNairy House, a well-preserved log house (now owned and restored by the Greensboro Historical Museum) built in 1762, where Andrew Jackson lived for several months in 1788, before he and Judge McNairy left for Tennessee. Both houses are historically important.

Some other activities we felt were important and worth emulating were: one member gave her entire collection of 480 issues of the National Geographic Magazine to our new Guilford Technical Institute; and her collection of 720 issues of the North Carolina State Magazine (which contains much history of the State) to the Greensboro Public Library. Another member presented fifty copies of the DAR Magazine to our county schools and a book History of the American Revolution; and the regent gave forty-eight books and booklets on history and historical subjects to the county schools. Thus a total of 1,299 valuable additions were made to these small libraries and were, for the most part, taken from over-crowded personal libraries.

Our press amounted to 4,421 inches of publicity, in newspapers, trade publications, church bulletins and others, with sixty-seven pictures. Four radio stations and two television stations were used to tell the DAR story.

The enthusiasm of Rachel Caldwell members, and their work in all DAR projects, led to awards and recognitions from the local to the national level. It is a work of love.

Shown at the Richel Caldwell meeting are: Mrs. K. C. Franklin, Mrs. J. Carter Goldsborough, Vice President General; Mrs. McDaniel Lewis, Mrs. Henry D. Blake.

TILLAMOOK (Tillamook, Oregon). In honor of Tillamook Chapter’s fifteenth birthday anniversary in April, an intensive membership campaign was conducted during 1969-70. Eight new members and one reinstatement were added to the roll of 26 members. This feat qualified Tillamook Chapter for the NSDAR National Membership Chairman’s Certificate for greatest increase in members percentage-wise in Oregon.

This certificate and the Chapter’s 15-year scrapbook were proudly displayed at the formal tea when all charter members were honored, many now living out-of-town. Guests included some of state DAR officers, a group of members from Saint Helens Chapter of St. Helens (a sister chapter organized at the same time), as well as many former and prospective members.

At state conference of OSSDAR held in March, Tillamook Chapter was awarded two cash prizes, winning first prize for the most new members by application percentage-wise from the State Vice Regent and State Membership Chairman, and second prize for most additional members to a chapter by the State Regent. Since then, there has been one application approved and four are pending.

A unique fact among the new members is that the group included an entire family of the mother, Mrs. Carl Schultz of Tillamook and her four daughters: Mrs. Joseph S. Cohlmia of Wichita, Kansas; Mrs. William Plasker, Tillamook; Mrs. Robert Gillette, Estacada; and Mrs. James Windham, Deer Island; and Mrs. Schultz’ granddaughters, Mrs. Keith Beickel, also of Deer Island and daughter of Mrs. Windham. It is believed that few chapters can claim this distinction, especially with one as small as Tillamook.

The granddaughter being a Junior Member helped also to qualify Tilla-

The inspiring personal story of the founder of the colony of Georgia

College dropout, social protestor, friend of the Indian — James Edward Oglethorpe set a record of freedom and justice in his colony that was to serve as example for the entire nation. This engrossing account of the statesman's unorthodox life and dedicated struggle, written by a prominent Georgia author, will quicken the pulse of everyone who takes pride in his country's history. "Good reading and staunch history — an admirable book" (Kirkus Reviews) for readers young and old.

C. John Semeraro were unable to be present to receive their pins.

Mrs. Clyde, the speaker of the day, spoke on the problems of America today. She was especially adamant that all should not be apathetic and that all should make their feelings known where it will do the most good.—Edna H. Yeager.

GULF COAST (Gulfport, Mississippi) had as their guest of honor and featured speaker Mrs. Walter Giles Johnson, Jr., Regent, Mississippi Society DAR at the George Washington birthday luncheon. The annual patriotic event is a “highlight” of the chapter’s activities for the year.

“Together We Build” the Gulf Coast of Mississippi’s goal, was the theme used—since hurricane “Camille,” the most devastating natural disaster in the history of the United States hit the Coast area of Mississippi. Residents like those of our forefathers in 1776 have the spirit of rebirth for our historical beautiful Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Mrs. M. E. James, a 60 year DAR member, was chairman for the luncheon. Mrs. Harold Noll served as co-chairman.

The membership of the DAR is many times greater than the 20,000 of the SAR, as you probably know. The Sons of the American Revolution refuses to believe that these figures indicate that American men are less patriotic than American women. We prefer to believe that our numbers are fewer because many eligibles are unaware of our existence.

The aims and principles of the SAR are quite identical to those of the DAR, so a stronger SAR automatically means an even stronger DAR. We therefore request that you bring the SAR to the attention of your qualified husbands and relatives. Descriptive material is available from the National Society, SAR, 2412 Mass. Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20008.
