Dear Dr. Rosenkrans:

To be with you and the students at Eisenhower College last Sunday for the charter graduation ceremonies was a memorable occasion for me. I am most proud to be an honorary member of this first class. The fact that the students, themselves, chose the patriotic colors for the gowns was an added tribute to General Eisenhower's love and belief in this country.

I thank you for allowing me to stay on campus in the brand new dormitory and we were all most comfortable. I hope you will express to my different friends at the college my sincere appreciation for the gorgeous large bouquet of pink carnations which was a great addition to the living room.

I was so pleased that Colonel Eisenhower and David could come so as to make three generations of Eisenhower at this very interesting graduation.

THE WHITE HOUSE GARDENS
is the first book ever published to trace the history of the most famous gardens in the United States while giving you detailed illustrations of how those gardens are planned and what they look like.

Patricia Nixon writes in her preface to the book:

This impressive volume is an artistic treasury... a comprehensive reference... a vital document.

With twenty-five full-color plate reproductions of Harold Sterner's original botanical watercolors (drawn on location at The White House)... rare engravings never before published... and a text rich in historical fact and Presidential anecdote, THE WHITE HOUSE GARDENS is indeed, "a delightful pictorial record" as Lloyd Goodrich (former Director Whitney Museum), has written.

In short, THE WHITE HOUSE GARDENS is a beautifully wrought, exquisitely rendered memento of the way our Presidents and their ladies (from the time of John Adams to the present) planned and implemented an important aspect of both their private and personal lives.

It is a book for everyone interested in art, in the appreciation of gardens, in the preservation of United States History. It is a book to keep in your home, to pass on to your children, and they to theirs.

Send details on Publishers Commissions to Local DAR Chapters and Library Donation Program.

Please send copies of THE WHITE HOUSE GARDENS @ $19.95 p.pd., (Hardbound, 148 pgs., 27 color plates, 20 b. & w. illustrations.)

Deluxe Limited Edition, hand signed by the artist, Harold Sterner, with slipcase—$50.00 p.pd. copies.
