COVER STORY

George Washington wrote to the Constitutional Convention: "We kept steadily in our view that which appears to us the greatest interest of every true American, the consolidation of our Union, in which is involved our prosperity, felicity, safety, perhaps our national existence."

The embodiment of this consolidation and the symbol of our national existence has become the United States Capitol—not just for Americans but for the entire world. On September 18, 1793, Washington, having accepted the design of architect, William Thornton, laid the cornerstone of the Capitol in a Masonic ceremony. By 1800 Congress was installed in the one completed wing of the building located on what was then referred to as Jenkin's Hill.

This beautiful symbol of our Nation draws thousands of visitors each year who come for many reasons and from a multitude of backgrounds. They come with a feeling of ownership and pride to see the place where the President is inaugurated and to see the inner workings of their government. What better way to celebrate the Birthday of our Country, July 4th, than with a visit!

The National Society Daughters of the American Revolution honored the National Society Children of the American Revolution during the 96th Continental Congress. C.A.R. members and Senior Leaders were honored guests on Thursday Evening and also participated in the program. At left, the President General greets Sarah Christine Smith, member of the Hungerford Resolves Society, Maryland.
Dear Friends,

Work is progressing on the “Pipes and Drum” project. It is one BIG undertaking. Expect that the majority of the work will be completed by Congress time next April.

The SUMMER PACKET—what a gift! Know you will be excited and anxious to get to work on all the new projects for the coming year. Please check all questionnaires NOW so you will be able to complete the forms with full information when due.

PREPARE for the Bicentennial of the Constitution in September. CELEBRATE in your chapters and in your communities. Make September 17 a once-in-a-lifetime day. As requested by the Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution, please, on the 17th, at 4:00 p.m., ring bells 200 times followed by 200 seconds of silence.

Happy 4th of July! Make it a glorious day. As John Adams said, “. . . July 1776 will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival . . . from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward for evermore.”

A happy summer to all.

Sincerely,

Opening Night of the 96th Continental Congress, the first for the "We the People" Administration, was marked by the usual pageantry and color. The featured speaker was the Honorable Elizabeth Dole, Secretary of Transportation, with greetings by Mrs. Marion Barry and the presentation of the Outstanding Junior Member.
During the week, Daughters from throughout the United States and Overseas enjoyed the many speakers, social events and business planned for them. The N.S.C.A.R. was honored by NSDAR with members of all ages meeting with the President General. Winners of the Anita Newcomb McGee Award and the Outstanding Veteran Patient Award were presented to the assembly along with the winning banner from the Banner Brigade, a competition sponsored by the Bicentennial of the Constitution of the United States of America Committee.
What a great honor and privilege it is for me to represent President Reagan and meet with you in this historic hall as we come together to celebrate the bicentennial of one of history’s greatest documents, the American Constitution. In this year of celebration and reflection, we have a very special reason to recommit ourselves to the principles that gave birth to the world’s oldest republic.

I think it is important to put our celebration into perspective. The Constitution is not merely an artifact, to be saluted like the passing flags on the Fourth of July, or sealed under glass in a marble shrine. It is a timeless document with the same spirit and promise today as in the tense and uncertain summer of 1787. Henry Clay, one of America’s foremost patriots, put it best, saying, “The Constitution of the United States was made not merely for the generation that then existed, but for posterity—unlimited, undefined, endless, perpetual posterity.”

We Americans are bound together by shared ideals, by a love of home and family, a commitment to service and above all—love of liberty. We crafted a government strong enough to protect our liberties—but limited enough to keep from crushing them in its embrace. Your motto, “God, Home and Country,” goes to the heart of what it means to be an American.

Recently, I happened to come across a speech on citizenship and democracy I gave back in 1978, when I was a member of the Federal Trade Commission. In that speech, I indicated my concern... that many citizens seemed to have lost the sense of pride and commitment to the ideal of America that once prevailed among our people. I spoke of a decline in national confidence, and the rise of public apathy in its place. Sadly, many Americans no longer felt that as individuals they could make a difference, I said. And if they stopped believing in themselves, then how could they believe in the American dream of individual effort and national service? As our citizens turned inward, we were in danger of turning out the lights in America. Little wonder that writer Tom Wolfe dubbed the 1970s the "Me Decade."

Happily, I stand before you nine years after giving that speech to report what you already know—all that has changed. The "Me Decade" has been replaced by the "We Decade," as citizens all across the country have regained confidence in themselves and in the mission of their country to serve as a beacon of hope to an oppressed planet.

Today, we are witnessing nothing less than an American renaissance, a grassroots revival of those fundamental principles that give character to our land and reality to our dreams. We are renewing the ancient ideals of hard work, pride of family, love of freedom and trust in God. We have rediscovered our roots—and we are reaching for the stars.

At a crucial juncture in our history, 55 men assembled in Philadelphia to write a charter that would safeguard our freedom. Six and a half years ago, at another crossroads in the calendar, another freedom-lover took the helm of national leadership. President Ronald Reagan came to office sensing a thirst in Americans for a return to basic principles. He has helped restore faith and confidence in our institutions and in ourselves. He has reminded us that we can strengthen the land we love by meeting three important challenges. These challenges go to the heart of who we are and who we wish to be.

First, there is the economy. Few doubt the strength of the American economy today. For 52 consecutive months we have enjoyed the benefits of economic growth. During that time, productivity has risen. Inflation had declined to the lowest levels since the early 1960s. Unemployment is at a seven-year low, and over 13 million new jobs have been created.

Simultaneously, we are called on to meet the challenge of defending freedom in a dangerous, sometimes desper-

It is a great honor to speak to you today at this National Defense Luncheon. You are the largest group I have ever seen in this room. It is a particular honor because the invitation came on your behalf from Phyllis Schlafly, your National Chairman of National Defense. Phyllis is one of the most outstanding leaders in our nation, a person who has had the courage to speak out forcefully and with a great deal of persuasion, and to take a firm stand on many of the key issues of the day. No issue is more important than maintaining a strong national defense. We appreciate her support and the support that you have traditionally given to our country's policy of peace through strength.

Your organization over the years has provided our nation with a continuing appreciation of its heritage. You have given succeeding generations a sense of perspective on both our history and current events. Perspective is always a very valuable attribute of thinking people.

Your meeting occurs in the year in which we celebrate the Bicentennial of the Constitution. It is, of course, appropriate that our nation spend time, as you are here, considering our founding charter. We are particularly fortunate in our country to have one of our outstanding patriots, retired Chief Justice Warren Burger, who is giving great leadership to our nation in this celebration.

In keeping with the Bicentennial, I would like to talk on the topic, “The Constitution's Formula for Freedom—the Separation of Powers.”

As members of the Daughters of the American Revolution undoubtedly all know, while our written Constitution was a somewhat novel experiment at the time of its creation 200 years ago, it is now the oldest written constitution that is still functioning anywhere in the world. While some other countries may argue that they have systems of democratic government that are older than ours, there is none with a written charter that has lasted so long.

Living by self-government under a written constitution has often been attempted in the world, but rarely has it succeeded. Never has it succeeded as well as in the United States of America. In this, as in so many other things, I think you would agree with me that our nation has truly been blessed. In spite of the enormous changes in politics and in our society that have occurred over these last 200 years, some things have not changed. In fact, so obvious and so pervasive are the changes that, from time to time, we think that what has not changed is the more surprising. Let me illustrate the old saying that the more things change, the more they stay the same.

A PLAN TO SOLVE PROBLEMS. Suppose I were to start my talk by saying that today I want to urge your support for a bold government plan that was drawn up to solve three pressing problems. Suppose that I said that these problems are, first of all, increased restrictions on American imports from abroad; secondly, the despicable holding of American hostages overseas; and thirdly, the dangers to our economy that are posed by a rising foreign debt. I suppose that most of you would think that this speech is going to be talking about Japanese import restrictions, or hostages in Lebanon, or the latest figures on the balance of trade.

But, indeed, the problems that I am really talking about are not those three issues of 1987 but rather three problems of 1787 which the infant United States had to deal with, but which they were unable to cope with under the then existing Articles of Confederation. The import problem that I made reference to was Britain’s effort to restrict American shipping immediately following the Revolutionary War. The hostage problem was that of the frequent kidnapping and impressment of America’s merchant seamen who were taken off their American ships by the British and pressed into service in the British merchant marine. (Needless to say, Anglo-American relations have improved considerably in the ensuing 200 years.) As to the foreign balance of payment problem, that had to do with paying off the tremendous debt that the United States had incurred during the Revolutionary War.

The answer that the Founding Fathers devised, the bold government plan of 1787 was, of course, the Constitution which we are celebrating this year.

In spite of all that is changed, today’s problems are similar to those that faced the leaders of our country some two centuries ago. Today, as 200 years ago, we face, for example, the problem that has vexed people yearning to be free throughout the history of the world.
That is, How do you provide a government that is strong enough to guarantee internal order and security against outside hostility, while at the same time having a government that is able to maintain a high degree of personal freedom, civil liberties, and political participation? Of course, that was the reason our War for Independence was fought in the first place.

Fortunately, we have seen that the Constitution provides us with the framework for solving this perennial problem and for alleviating the tension between these two goals or objectives of people as they contemplate their government. The Constitution provided this capability in 1787. I believe that history shows us that, since that time, clearly our problems have never outgrown the structural solutions that were designed by the Founding Fathers.

Why were they able to do this? Because of the introduction of, at that time, a very new concept in political science, namely, the concept of a system of checks and balances. Embodied within our Constitution is a fundamental structural principle—a part of that system of checks and balances—which is perhaps the principal reason for securing this balance between liberty and order. That is, of course, the Separation of Powers.

STILL TIMELY TODAY. Today I’d like to talk about this famous doctrine, not as a kind of historic relic or a matter of interest only to political scientists or historians, but rather as a principle of government that is equally important today and which must be observed by each of the three branches of government, as much today as two centuries ago. This principle had its roots in ancient wisdom about the proper structure of good government.

As a matter of fact, writing in the Federalist Paper No. 47, James Madison stated it this way. He said that, “The accumulation of all power, legislative, executive, and judiciary in the same hands, whether of one, a few or of many, and whether hereditary, self-appointed or elected, may justly be pronounced the very definition of tyranny.”

Indeed, that is what they had worried about in terms of the power that was exercised by the English king through his governors in the New World. Our Founding Fathers thought that this idea of Separation of Powers was one of the most important discoveries that had been made in what was then the new politics of the New World.

Already they knew more than any previous republic had known about the means of safeguarding civil liberties, thanks to the study of history and philosophy that was part of an educated person’s intellectual heritage in those days. But what they had to figure out was how to apply the lessons of history and philosophy, struggling as they were at that time with the ineffectual government that they had under the Articles of Confederation—a government under which American representatives overseas were laughed at, and under which American commerce could not exist between the states here in our own country.

So, they sought how to constitute the arrangements of power without at the same time sacrificing the liberty for which so much American blood had been shed just a few years before. Our Founding discovered the answer, to a large extent, in the works of an 18th century French political philosopher named Montesquieu. Unlike some of the other French political thinkers of his time, Montesquieu did not try to weave utopian visions of total freedom that could too easily turn into license. Those visions of others were to bear bitter fruit in the French Revolution.

Instead, Montesquieu maintained rather that freedom and power could abide together by creating a structure where power controls power; that is, where a balance restricts abusive power without creating the conditions that would breed anarchy. Our Founding Fathers took Montesquieu’s teachings to heart. They used his ideas in structuring our national government. Although they drew on inherited wisdom, their handiwork had a very new and very distinctly American twist which can be summed up basically in four propositions.

THE THREE BRANCHES. First of all, there were three intrinsically distinct functions of government: the legislative, the executive, and the judicial functions. That doesn’t seem particularly strange to us today, steeped as we are in the history of having these as the primary branches of our government, but 200 years ago it was a very new idea to divide up these functions in just that way.

Secondly, the idea was that these distinct functions ought to be exercised respectively by three separately manned departments of government which, thirdly, would be constitutionally equal and mutually independent, and fourthly, taken together, would cover the entire field of Federal governmental power.

The way in which the Separation of Powers achieves its goal of an energetic and, at the same time, restrained government is through the operating principle of checks and balances. The doctrine of Separation of Powers along with the doctrine of Federalism, which guaranteed that the states would not lose all of their powers when the Federal government was created, was set up in such a way as to make the checks and balances system work. These doctrines, in effect, preserve freedom by fragmenting power so that, as some of the framers put it, “Ambition counteracts ambition.”

The framers of the Constitution were realistic. They knew that the tendency of any governmental entity is to increase its own power, given the time and the opportunity to do so. So they clearly separated the three separate functions of government into that for making laws, that for enforcing laws, and that for interpreting the law.

But they did more than that. They guaranteed just enough overlap so that the competition among the three branches would keep each of them from getting too powerful.

We have examples where the President can propose a law as he does each session of Congress. But, of course, the Congress can turn him down if it wishes. Likewise, Congress can pass a law, but then the President has the power either to sign and approve it, or to veto it. Then, if the Congress is dissatisfied with the President’s veto, and can generate a two-thirds majority in each House, it can override that veto.

This has as its purpose the idea that laws and actions of the Federal Government shall not be too responsive to the momentary passions of the majority. Through a system of checks and balances, through the utilization of the Separation of Powers, Federal action will take place only after mature deliberation, and after there has been a chance to examine the potential results of such actions.

Meanwhile, of course, the Supreme Court, as the third branch of our government, has its power to rule on the constitutionality of laws as well as to interpret them. But it can declare laws unconstitutional only when they go outside the rather wide boundaries which the Constitution itself sets.

As Madison bluntly put it at the time the Constitution was founded: “The preservation of liberty requires that the three great departments of power should be separate and distinct.”

Madison gave a reason for this in his writings. After the Constitution was written, the great challenge then was to get sufficient votes of the legislatures of the various states so that it would be ratified. So in defending the Constitution, he wrote that the great security against a gradual concentration of the several powers in the same department consists in giving to those who administer each department the necessary constitutional means and personal motives to resist the encroachments of others.

That’s what the checks and balances system is all about. Many times you see in the newspapers or watch on television what appear to be tremendous battles between the President, whoever he might be and from whatever party he might come, and the Congress, or between the Congress and the Supreme Court over the meaning of a particular statute and whether or not it is constitutional. But indeed these kinds of disputes were not unintended by the Founders of the Constitution because that was the way to make sure that no one of the three branches encroached upon the others. That is why it is a constitutional act for the representatives of each of the three branches to defend vigorously the powers and responsibility of each of them from encroachment by the others.

THE AMENDMENT PROCESS. The Founders were very wise in knowing that they couldn’t solve every conceivable problem that might arise in the future of our country. They were men of vision who saw the country stretching out to the West into lands at that time unknown. They realized that, if they had tried to solve every problem and put in every possible example that they could think of, they would have had a much longer and more detailed Constitution. I would suggest that, if they had tried to solve all of the political problems in advance, the Constitution would not have endured for 200 years.

Instead they fashioned a relatively short, basically simple, structural document which set forth certain principles of how government was to be run, structures that were flexible enough to respond to the needs of future generations. In other words, the Founders wisely showed the way, and then left future political controversies to future Congresses and also particularly to the future electorate.

In the event of issues that could not be resolved by the ordinary political process, either through Congress or through elections, our Founders also provided the vehicle for change. That vehicle of course, was the process for constitutional amendment. Showing remarkable foresight, they realized that even the basic structure might have to be changed from time to time, but they also provided a process which meant that it could not be changed easily and could not be swayed by the passions of the moment.

This process, as you know, has been attempted more than 10,000 times. There have been more than 10,000 proposals in our history to amend the Constitution, and yet it has succeeded only 26 times. I can’t help but add, in view of the distinguished lady on the platform today, that there was an attempt to make it 27 times, but under her leadership the American people thought otherwise.

The Founders went further in the Constitution and provided another device for future adaptability of that document, and that was an outline for a mechanism for calling a new Constitutional Convention. This process has never been successfully invoked, and I think it is easy to see the reason why. The handling of amendments one by one, through the Congressional initiation process and then the ratification by the states, is a far better idea than proposing an open convention which might then lead to a total revision and to constitutional anarchy at least for a while, because no one knows exactly what might or might not be included in such a Constitutional Convention.

Indeed, the President’s letter to the Montana Legislature to support the idea of a Constitutional Convention was designed for one purpose only. That was to encourage, by the threat of a Constitutional Convention, the Congress of the United States to proceed with a very necessary 27th Amendment, and that is a Balanced Budget Amendment to the Constitution.

Apparantly there has been some confusion about my own position about a Constitutional Convention. I have never advocated that there should be a

National Board of Management, April 18, 1987

The regular meeting of the National Board of Management of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution convened in the Board Room of Memorial Continental Hall, Washington, D.C. at 9:30 a.m., Mrs. Raymond Franklin Fleck, President General, presiding.

The Chaplain General, Mrs. Ralph E. Rhodes, read from Scripture and gave the opening prayer.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America was led by the First Vice President General, Mrs. Richard O. Creedon.

The Recording Secretary General, Mrs. Charles K. Kemper, called the roll and recorded the following members present:

National Officers:
- Executive Officers: Mrs. Fleck, Mrs. Creedon, Mrs. Rhodes, Mrs. Kemper, Mrs. Blair, Mrs. Boone, Mrs. Kie, Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. Weir, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Toole, Mrs. Butts.
- Vice Presidents General: Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Thomas, Miss Bedell, Mrs. Bower, Mrs. Schenk, Mrs. Gary, Mrs. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Crane, Mrs. Stimson, Mrs. Tiner, Mrs. Bloodorn, Mrs. C. W. M. Crawford, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Capps, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Neal, Mrs. Compton, Mrs. Dains, Mrs. Davis.

State Regents:
- Mrs. Byars, Mrs. Berry, Mrs. Strayer, Mrs. Prior, Mrs. Hemstreet, Mrs. Homan, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Dobrantski, Mrs. Leitch, Mrs. Kleinkopf, Mrs. Skinner, Mrs. H. Lee, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Ebert, Mrs. Riden, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Bois, Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. Hook, Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Egert, Mrs. Love, Mrs. Froman, Mrs. Etinger, Mrs. Smithson, Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. Partington, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Newlander, Mrs. Rohrs, Mrs. Showfety, Mrs. Jensen, Mrs. King, Mrs. C. Lee, Miss Flounders, Mrs. Causey, Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. Briganza, Mrs. Lovett, Mrs. Hayden, Mrs. Haugh, Mrs. Waterbury, Mrs. Gess, Dr. Baxter, Mrs. Jones.

State Vice Regent: Mrs. Hendricks, Arizona.

The President General, Mrs. Fleck, gave her report.

Report of President General

The President General has met with representatives from companies with whom the Society is associated regarding insurance plans for members, the proposed credit card for DAR members and with the needs of the Society.

The other offices and the employees and given her a better insight into the work they are doing. This has helped keep her in personal touch with the employees and given her a better insight into the buildings. This has helped keep her in personal touch with the employees and given her a better insight into the buildings.

During the week of February and March, it was her pleasure to visit 15 State Conferences:
- February 19—Mississippi State Conference in Jackson, Mrs. Dale K. Love, State Regent
- February 21—Delaware State Conference in Dover, Mrs. James B. Homan, State Regent
- March 3—Alabama State Conference in Montgomery, Mrs. Walter R. Byars, State Regent
- March 5—Tennessee State Conference in Chattanooga, Mrs. Frederick W. Brigance, State Regent
- March 6—Florida State Conference in Orlando, Mrs. Anthony Dobrantski, State Regent
- March 10—North Carolina State Conference in Pinehurst, Mrs. Joseph K. Showfety, State Regent
- March 11—South Carolina State Conference in Columbia, Mrs. Langdon B. Dunn, State Regent
- March 12—Georgia State Conference in Atlanta, Mrs. James J. Leitch, State Regent
- March 13—Illinois State Conference in Oak Brook, Mrs. Howard F. Lee, State Regent
- March 16—Colorado State Conference in Denver, Mrs. Perley W. Prior, State Regent
- March 17—Kentucky State Conference in Lexington—Mrs. Martin F. Thompson, State Regent
- March 18—Texas State Conference in Houston—Mrs. Billy Joe Lovett, State Regent
- March 23—New Jersey State Conference in Ocean City, Mrs. Harold W. Roberts, State Regent
- March 26—Iowa State Conference in Des Moines, Mrs. Wayne E. Ebert, State Regent
- March 27—Wisconsin State Conference in Pewaukee, Dr. Marilyn R. Baxter, State Regent

The President General thanks all for the warmth, the friendship, hospitality and many kindnesses shown during her visits.

February 6, she attended a Washington Builders Association Awards Dinner when two of the supervisors on our Climate-Control project were given special awards for their craftsmanship in our buildings.

March 9, the President General returned to Washington to attend the Diva Foundation "Night of the Divas," honoring Marian Anderson, at the Kennedy Center Concert Hall. The President General was Honorary Chairperson of the evening and was privileged to give a special tribute to Marian Anderson. The entire program was relayed by wire to Miss Anderson at her home in Connecticut.

March 21, the President General was in Washington between State visits to tend to necessary business matters and to complete arrangements for the 96th Continental Congress.

The evening of April 2, the DAR Library was used as a backdrop for the movie "Suspect" which will star Cher. They needed a "law library" setting in which Cher would be shown doing research for a trial. Very interesting to see the vast amount of equipment needed for just one scene in the movie.

The President General chaired the meetings of the Executive Committee, April 12-16. During one of the meetings, Mr. William Seale, author of "The President's House—a History," presented his books to the National Society. It is the first book written on the White House in about 80 years.

The following represented the National Society when it was not possible for the President General to do so:

- February 12, Mrs. May Day Taylor, State Regent, District of Columbia DAR, placed the National Society's wreath during ceremonies commemorating the birthday-anniversary of President Abraham Lincoln.
- February 19, Mrs. James H. Cox, Vice President General, District of Columbia DAR, attended a national symposium on Voluntarism, sponsored by the Loyal Order of Moose, in Washington, D.C.
- February 26, Mrs. John Anthony Smith, Chairman, Printing Committee, attended reception of the National Association of Commissions for Women on the occasion of the establishment of its national office, in Washington, D.C.
- March 18, Mrs. R. Hugh Reid, past National Parliamentarian, participated in a 3-day seminar sponsored by the Federal Office of Substance Abuse Prevention in Atlanta, Georgia.
- March 27, Major General W. D. Crittenden, Jr., Public Relations Director, attended a briefing at Department of Defense on the publication of "Soviet Military Power 1987."
- April 13, Mrs. David C. Russell, Chairman, Units Overseas Committee, placed the National Society's wreath during ceremonies commemorating the 244th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson, at the Jefferson Memorial, Tidal Basin, Washington, D.C.

The President General appreciates their willingness to represent the National Society.

Special thanks to my staff—Executive Secretary, Jean Jacobs, Assistant Administrative Secretary, Ruth Niedzielak, and Sandy Johnson, for their hours and hours of devoted service and for giving of themselves so much to help all of us.

ANN D. FLECK
President General
The First Vice President General, Mrs. Creedon, gave her report.

Report of First Vice President General

Immediately following the February Board meeting this officer went to Mexico. The State Conference took place in Guadalajara with a side trip to Mazatlan. It was a pleasure to take part in a workshop with the National Chairman of Units Overseas, Mrs. David Russell. The hospitality shown by the two chapters was outstanding. Mrs. Clara Maas, State Regent, Mrs. Nona Macias, State Treasurer, and Mrs. William Watson, Honorary State Regent, are to be thanked for their work.

Returned to Washington, D.C. from Mexico on February 20. Mrs. John S. Biscoe drove this officer to Richmond, Virginia where the following day it was a privilege to be the speaker at the Richmond Chapter Regents' Washi gton's Birthday Luncheon. It was a pleasure to be with so many Virginia Daughters. A thank you is extended to those who invited me.

The Jonathan Jennings Chapter meeting was attended February, 26.

March 4th to 8th the California State conference in San Francisco was attended where she was the opening night speaker. The conference was edifying and my appreciation goes to Mrs. Jerry J. Strayer, State Regent, for all her kindnesses.

The Oklahoma State Conference was attended March 8th to 10th in Tulsa. The opening night address was given. It was delightful to get to know the State Regent, Mrs. Cecil R. Lee. The guests were taken to visit Bacone College by Mrs. Benjamin Musick and Mrs. Wallace W. James. It was extremely interesting.

On March 14 this officer returned to Washington, D.C. and on the 15th drove to Montpelier, Virginia for the opening celebration of James Madison's home. It was so thoughtful of Mrs. Cleland Leaman, Honorary State Regent of Illinois, to have me as her house guest in Charlottesville.

Mrs. Gavin C. Barr, National Chairman of the Bicentennial of the Constitution of the United States of America Committee, entertained the DAR group at a delightful dinner in the Boas Head Inn. Mrs. Leaman entertained us the following snowy morning at a brunch at the country club which was designed by Thomas Jefferson. Mrs. Rice M. Youell, Jr. took Mrs. Barr and myself on a tour of Monticello. A thank you also goes to Mrs. Jane Jenkins for her help in making arrangements for a most enjoyable time. Returned to Washington to work in the office for part of the week.

On Monday the 30th drove with Mrs. James P. Lynch, Honorary State Regent of Alabama, from Mobile, Alabama to Natchez. It was a pleasure to serve at Rosalie. The pagent and both dinners and being with so many guests as well as the Mississippi Daughters was enjoyed. My thanks are extended to Mrs. Monroe T. Thigpen, Rosalie Chairman; Mrs. Dale K. Sove, State Regent, and Mrs. Gary L. Carnathan, State Vice Regent, for a lovely visit. Returned home April first.

Arrived Washington April 11. The personnel committee was chaired on Monday the 13th and the finance committee meeting attended on the 14th. Took part in Executive meetings. Enjoyed the luncheon hosted by Mrs. Alex W. Boone, Organizing Secretary General, on Wednesday the 15th.

This officer wishes to thank the State Regents and National Chairmen for their kind invitations to so many Continental Congress functions. She is looking forward to attending as many as possible. Work is continuing on the Handbook. We still have not heard from all the National Chairmen. We hope to have it ready for sale by the October Board meeting.

The employees in the Personnel Office have been most cooperative and professional.

Marilyn R. Creedon
First Vice President General

The Chaplain General, Mrs. Rhodes, gave her report.

Report of Chaplain General

The revised DAR Ritual is now available from the Corresponding Secretary General's Office. The Ritual is a guideline for the various DAR activities. The cost is $2.00 each.

It was a privilege to sponsor the Regents' Club of Richmond George Washington Birthday Luncheon, with Mrs. Richard O. Creedon as the guest speaker. After the meeting, Mrs. Creedon was interviewed by one of Richmond's ace reporters with resulting wonderful coverage about DAR work and the President General's proposed "Pipes and Drum" project.

On March 15, accompanied by Mrs. Robert B. Smith, past Vice President General, and Mrs. Clyde W. Bradshaw, National Vice Chairman, traveled to Montpelier, home of James Madison. In spite of the rain, snow, heavy clouds and wind, over 10,000 people attended the ceremonies. That evening, was guest of Mrs. Gavin C. Barr, National Chairman, Bicentennial of the Constitution of the United States of America Committee, at a lovely dinner party at the Boar's Head Inn, Charlottesville, Virginia. The next morning, was guest of Mrs. Cleland E. Leaman, past Vice President General from Illinois, at a delightful breakfast at the Farmington Country Club, Charlottesville, where, before a burning log fire, we lastly enjoyed watching the snowfall before traveling to Roanoke for the Virginia State Conference, with Mrs. Charles R. Haugh, State Regent, presiding.

Nelle S. Rhodes
Chaplain General

The Recording Secretary General, Mrs. Kemper, gave her report.

Report of Recording Secretary General

Following the February National Board meeting, this officer escaped from the DAR World with husband, Charles, and spent two full weeks sight-seeing and visiting in the beautiful state of Arizona.

On March 4 she traveled to San Francisco for the California State Society Conference and enjoyed the lack of responsibility associated with being an Honorary State Regent.

It was her privilege to be the speaker at the Nevada State Conference as a guest of Mrs. Victor A. Thornton, State Regent, on March 21 where the film, "Portrait of A Daughter" was shown to the conference assembly.

For the first time in 52 years, more than half the life of this National Society, Mrs. Floy Swanson will not be recording the minutes of the Continental Congress. She retired last summer after completion of the work for the 1986 proceedings. Mrs. Swanson recorded the verbatim transcript and wrote the minutes of each session of the Congress, using the transcript as her guide. The firm of Johnson, Waga, Mancuso, Registered Professional Reporters, will serve as stenotypists, but they will not provide written minutes of the sessions. In fact, a professional reporting firm cannot be found in the city of Washington which will provide both the service of verbatim transcript and written minutes. And so, a new dimension has been opened to the office of Recording Secretary General. Certainly a new responsibility has been assumed by this officer, after 52 years of an all inclusive service which cannot be duplicated in today's labor market.

Will it be possible to write accurate minutes without the benefit of an immediate access to the verbatim transcript? As you can see, the road is not yet traveled, but the 96th Continental Congress will be the test.

Since February 6, 1987, 1,548 Membership Certificates have been prepared and mailed, 18 remailed and 27 reissued.

The desk top publishing equipment is now installed in the office of the Recording Secretary General and the staff has had their first session of training. It will take some time for them to get fully aquainted with the capabilities of the computer, printer and OCR Reader! The time invested in learning and training will pay great dividends when the Annual Proceedings is compiled for the 96th Continental Congress.

This officer wishes to express her personal gratitude to the fine staff members, Mrs. Frances Holland, Administrative Assistant; Mrs. Miriam Huffines, Miss Isabel Allmond, Mrs. Helen Ball and Mrs. Katherine Ryan, and to thank them for their loyal service to DAR and their many kindnesses to this officer. This first year of the "We the People" Administration has been most productive!

Dorla E. Kemper
Recording Secretary General
The Corresponding Secretary General, Mrs. Donald S. Blair, gave her report.

Report of Corresponding Secretary General

This report covers January and February 1987. During these two months 4,475 pieces of mail were received. A total of 1,564 orders have been processed. Sales from the Office of the Corresponding Secretary General totaled $41,905.44.

One mailing by first class was sent during this period, the Proposed Amendments to the By-laws.

During the past year this office has mailed membership packets in response to 2,197 requests for information pertaining to membership in the National Society. The packet includes:

1. Booklet—Application Papers (Instructions for their Preparations)
2. The DAR in Action
3. DAR Magazine subscription blank
4. DAR Fact Sheet
5. DAR Policies
6. DAR Museum Brochure

These prospective members' names and addresses are sent referred to the respective State Regent. It is suggested that the names of prospective members be sent to the State Membership Chairman, District Director, or local Chapter Regent. Don't waste this golden opportunity to increase your membership.

For the members' convenience during Continental Congress, materials available in the Office of the Corresponding Secretary General will be on the Literature Tables in Constitution Hall. State Regents and Vice Presidents General, enclosed in your packet you will find an order blank for your convenience. You may complete the order blank and return it to the Office on April 18th or during the week of Congress. Your order will be filled and held for pick up at your convenience. Please note, during Congress, you will not have to join the line to drop off your order blank.

A limited supply of the Eagle cup and saucers, Eagle salad plates, Bon Bon Dish and The Treaty of Paris cup and saucer are also available in the Office and on the Special Service Table in Constitution Hall.

The following items were reduced and are also available in the Office:

1. In Search of Liberty—$2.00
2. Historic and Memorial Bldgs.—$1.00
3. Washington Landmark—$1.00
4. Christmas Cards—50¢ per box
5. Spring Notecards—$1.00 per box
6. Treaty of Paris Postage for this period was $15,950.58, United Parcel Service $237.60 for a total of $16,188.18.

This officer attended the February and April meetings of the Executive Committee, the National Board of Management and Personnel Committee.

In March your Corresponding Secretary General was a guest at her own Ohio State Conference, Mrs. Robert R. King, State Regent. She enjoyed "Receiving" at Rosalie as a guest of the Mississippi Daughters during the Natchez Pilgrimage, Mrs. D. Kelly Love, State Regent.

Appreciation is expressed to the staff in the Office of the Corresponding Secretary General and the Mail Room for their cooperation and efficient manner in which they operate their respective offices.

WAYNE T. BLAIR
Corresponding Secretary General

The Treasurer General, Mrs. Henry C. Klie, gave her report.

Report of Treasurer General

In March a survey of all NSDAR departments was conducted by two Senior Marketing Representatives from Unisys Corporation, formerly Burroughs Welcome Company. The Data Processing Department uses the Unisys Computer System and the goal of this survey was to create guidelines and suggestions for efficient improvements in all departments. This officer is extremely grateful to Miss Linda Hatfield who organized this project, and to the administrative supervisors and executive officers for their cooperation. A comprehensive report from the Representatives will follow.

Since the February Board meeting this officer enjoyed attending, as a guest, the New Jersey State Conference, Mrs. Harold Roberts, State Regent. She also had the pleasure of receiving at the lovely historic DAR Mansion, Rosalie, during the Natchez Mississippi Pilgrimage, Mrs. Dale Kelly Love, State Regent, and Mrs. Monroe T. Thigpen, Chairman.

Work on the Treasurer General's Section of the Handbook has been completed. I am pleased to inform you that procedures for transferring a Member at Large to a chapter have been simplified. The Member at Large no longer needs to obtain a Membership Transfer Card from National prior to her transfer to a chapter. All she has to do is contact the chapter and give them her application papers: in turn, the chapter sends in a Membership Change Form to National requesting this member. Our Membership Department completes the transfer if the member is in good standing. This procedure will save not only the cost of printing the At Large Membership Transfer Card, but will save postage and time of the Membership Staff.

The close of the fiscal year, February 28, 1987, is a very busy time for this officer. Rachel Clarke, Supervisor, and the Membership Department Staff, and dedicated employees. Membership printouts were mailed in time for many State Conference reports. Notices of delinquent members were prepared and mailed to Chapter Treasurers this year. All their backlogs have been caught up and the work is now on a current basis. Refunds for overpayment of dues will be completed after Continental Congress. Mrs. Anne Kane, the personal secretary of this officer, a part-time employee who is a former State Department Foreign Service Reserve Officer, works for both the Membership and Accounting Departments. She handles membership activities of 13 States. In addition, all the detailed financial reports typed for the Accounting Office, Finance Chairman and Auditor are prepared by this loyal and valuable employee. Due to this heavy workload it is impossible to share Mrs. Kane with any other department.

Complete 1987–88 packets for the State and Chapter Treasurers have been prepared by Miss Anne Dressler and Mrs. Patricia Henderson. These will be presented at the Treasurer General's Workshop, Monday, April 20th at 8:30 A.M. in the Banquet Hall. Regents, please encourage your State and Chapter Treasurers, or representatives of the chapters, to attend this meeting.

Sincere gratitude to Miss Anne Dressler, Supervisor, and all Accounting Department employees for their many hours preparing materials for the annual Audit. Linda Hatfield, Supervisor, and the Data Processing Staff have continued their good work. This officer is also grateful to Bob Kane and Tom Day who perform their programming responsibilities in an exemplary manner.

During the period January 11, 1987 to April 10, 1987, there were 998 deaths, 161 resignations and 514 transfers.

As of February 28, 1987, there were 350 new Life Members, and the Life Membership Fund had a total of $199,209.76 which includes both principal and interest.

The following statistics are noted: A decrease of $10,490 in annual dues; $9,117 in application dues; $17,691 in application fees; and $411 in reinstatement fees.

It is not possible at this time to enumerate by item the pieces of equipment which have been purchased this past year and total over $190,000. It is the hope of this officer that these mechanical investments will not have to be replaced for years to come! This equipment has greatly enhanced the efficiency of office operations.

Madame President General and Members of the National Board of Management: I hereby submit the Summary Statement of Current and Special Funds for the Fiscal Year Ended February 28, 1987 and the supporting schedules thereto.

HESTER C. KLIE
Treasurer General

Mrs. Klie moved that 138 members be reinstated. Seconded by Mrs. Capps. Adopted.

The Chairman of Finance Committee, Mrs. Catherine C. Clark, gave the report of the Finance Committee.

Report of Finance Committee

The Finance Committee met Tuesday, April 14, 1987. Members attending were Mesdames Catherine Clem Clark, Chairman; John S. Biscoe, Vice Chairman; Raymond Franklin Fleck, President General; Richard O. Creedon, First Vice President General; Henry A. Klie, Treasurer General; Gavin C. Barr; Doris H. Diebold; and Mr. Edward J. Burns, Jr., Auditor for the National Society.

The proposed budget for 1987–88 was drafted on February 6, 1987, after the Executive Committee and National Chairmen submitted budget requests for their respective offices for consideration. This budget was based on actual figures for the first ten months of the fiscal year and on estimates of two months based on experience. The final budget for the entire fiscal year has now been updated and presented to the Executive Committee for recommendation to the National Board of Management and to the Continental Congress.

For the first time in my four years on this committee, we unhappily are forced to present to you a budget with a $240,000.00 deficit for 1987–88.

The Treasurer General’s Report for this fiscal year ending February 28, 1987, reflects a deficit of $116,000.00. A deficit in the operational budget is always reflected in the balances of the Current Fund which is the operating fund of the National Society. The Treasurer General’s Report shows the balance on March 1, 1986 was $1,606,976.00. The balance of February 28, 1987 is $1,490,787.51.

We are not taking in enough money to pay current needs. This is against the basic rule of any business or household.

I repeat the need of the $7.00 increase in dues so that we will not have to come back to Congress in another two or three years for another increase. For your information in 1984 an increase in dues of $5.00 was needed, and sought, and only $3.00 was approved. A raise was needed then to meet payroll and other requirements, not wishes, but actual needs. This $7.00 increase is only 58¢ per month or less than 2¢ per day. Hopefully, you will agree that the increase is necessary at this time in order to continue work on all our programs.

This Committee recommended to the Executive Committee that a percentage of this increase not be spent immediately but be conserved for the future to prevent requests for increased dues for several years.

This Committee also recommended that a Long-Range Planning Committee be formed with a possible five-year staggered term in order to establish some continuity from one Administration to another.

Please support this $7.00 increase at Continental Congress.

Catherine Clem Clark
Chairman

The Chairman of Auditing Committee, Miss Jane-Elizabeth Hardy, read the report of the Auditor.

We have examined the financial statements of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution listed below:

Statement of Current and Unrestricted Special Funds (Page 1) for the year ended February 28, 1987

Statement of Restricted Funds (Pages 2 and 3) for the year ended February 28, 1987

DAR FYR 415
Supporting statements of Current Fund cash receipts and disbursements (Pages 4 to 6) for the year ended February 28, 1987

Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included confirmations from depositaries and custodians of cash and investments held at February 28, 1987, and such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The financial statements have been prepared generally on the cash receipts and disbursements basis and therefore do not purport to present the results of operations as they would appear had generally accepted accrual basis accounting principles been applied. Cash receipts and disbursements do not include dispositions and acquisitions of securities, respectively, except for gains and losses thereon.

In our opinion, the aforementioned statements and supporting schedules present fairly the cash balances and investments at February 28, 1987, and the information set forth therein for the year then ended on the basis indicated which is consistent with that of the preceding year.

The Registrar General, Mrs. Donald D. Zimmerman, gave her report.

Report of Registrar General

Since the February Board, this officer has worked very closely with the genealogists on her staff in developing formal guidelines to be used in examining applications and supplements.

She was a guest at the Minnesota State Conference, Mrs. Donald P. Egert, Regent, and spoke at the Membership Luncheon. She attended the Utah State Conference, Mrs. Donald Risser, Regent, at which she conducted a Membership Workshop and spoke at the Luncheon. She attended her own Illinois State Conference, Mrs. Howard F. Lee, State Regent. She was a guest of the Massachusetts State Conference, Mrs. Eric Hook, State Regent, at which she conducted a workshop and spoke at the Luncheon and Membership Challenge.

She has attended the meetings of the Executive Committee and the Executive Club Dinner. On Wednesday, April 15, 1987, she attended the Reception of National Archives for the opening of their special exhibit for the Bicentennial of the Constitution.

I have the honor to present the following report:

Application papers received since the February Board: 1549
Application papers verified since the February Board: 1447
Supplemental papers received since the February Board: 968
Supplemental papers verified since the February Board: 592
New Records verified: 145
Number of Revolutionary ancestor records verified for the Office of the Historian General for grave marking permits: 12
Number of letters written requesting additional proof: 747
Last DAR National Number issued: 708,734

MARTHA R. ZIMMERMAN
Registrar General

The Registrar General, Mrs. Zimmerman, moved that the 1447 applicants whose records have been verified by the Registrar General be elected to membership in the National Society. Seconded by Mrs. Gary. Adopted.

The Organizing Secretary General, Mrs. Alex W. Boone, gave her report.

The Report of Organizing Secretary General

Since the February National Board of Management meeting, this officer decided to review the whole year as Organizing Secretary General to spot strengths and weaknesses and to incorporate meaningful changes concerning her office in the updating of the DAR Handbook.

We are sorry to report the loss this year of 28 chapters. On the plus side, we welcome 18 chapters to the fold. We continue to feel strongly that special attention and help should be forthcoming to chapters with less than 20 members. To offset the loss of chapters we must expend extra energies in the formation of new chapters. This office also encourages the merging of chapters rather than complete disbandment.

On February 11th this officer was speaker at the Francis Marion Chapter of Montgomery, Alabama, where her DAR membership originated. Through the courtesy of Mrs. Walter Byars, State Regent, she attended the Alabama State Conference.

This officer was the guest of the Florida State Conference, Mrs. Anthony Dobranski, State Regent, and was the banquet speaker at the Maryland State Conference, Mrs. David Hawkins, State Regent. She then drove on to Iowa to attend her own State Conference as guest and speaker, Mrs. Wayne Ebert, State Regent. This officer started for home by way of Natchez enjoying the thrill of participating with the Mississippi Daughters in receiving at Rosalie. She is most appreciative of the many courtesies that were extended her.

A total of 515 permits were issued authorizing the purchase of DAR Service Pins, including Twenty-five and Fifty Year Certificates.

There have been 263 Twenty-five, Fifty and Seventy-five Year Certificates issued.

There have been 663 applications and supplements processed through this office. Out of this total there were 52 letters and papers returned to have corrections completed. Have the applicant fill in their full address and sign the paper before a notary. Please keep our office informed as to the current chapter officers.

All mail should be directed to the Office of the Organizing Secretary General, 1776 D St NW, Washington, D.C. 20006-5392. This will expedite your Caldwell order, certificate order and all requests to this office.

This officer is indebted to her staff, Mrs. Glenn Acord, Administrative Assistant; Mrs. Elba Rivera, Mrs. Jerice Wilson and Miss Rose Gadson for their dedication and cheerful attitudes in carrying out the duties of this busy office.

Through the State Regent the following Organizing Regent is presented for reappointment:

Mrs. Martha Nan Lovett Jacobs, Sealy, Texas.

The following chapters have met the requirements for merging and are now presented for confirmation:

Mission Canyon and Santa Barbara, Santa Barbara, California; chapter name will be Mission Canyon.

The following chapters are now presented for automatic disbandment:

Deborah Franklin, Atlantic, Iowa;
Richard Newsam-Gershon Noyes, Hustisford, Wisconsin.

The following chapter has met all the requirements according to the National Bylaws and is now presented for confirmation:

Spotsylvania, Snell, Virginia.

YVONNE S. BOONE
Organizing Secretary General

The Organizing Secretary General, Mrs. Boone, moved the reappointment of 1 organizing regent; merging of 2 chapters; automatic disbandment of 2 chapters; and confirmation of 1 chapter. Seconded by Mrs. Hawkins. Adopted.

The Historian General, Mrs. Edgar V. Weir, gave her report.

Report of Historian General

Following the February Board meeting, this officer was the guest and speaker at the Colonel William Wallace Chapter in Pittsburgh as they honored their Good Citizens. She also attended the joint dinner meeting of the General Richard Butler DAR and Christopher Gist SAR Chapters honoring our Presidents.
In March she was a guest of the Jacob Ferree Chapter as they celebrated 50 years of service to the National Society. This officer was a guest of Mrs. Joseph W. Towle at the Missouri State Conference in St. Joseph. She was a guest of the Mississippi State Society at Natchez during Pilgrimage week and was a hostess at Rosalie one afternoon.

To support the Pennsylvania C.A.R., this officer attended the State Conference in Butler, Pennsylvania.

Prior to coming to Washington for Executive Committee meetings, she was the guest of Mrs. Edgar R. Taylor, Jr., as the Colonel William Wallace, Jacob Ferree and the Bethel Fife and Drum Chapters honored the Pennsylvania State Regent.

This officer has continued to take care of the duties of the Historian General through telephone calls and tremendous correspondence. She also secured the three Judges from Western Pennsylvania for the Outstanding American History Teacher contest.

The following donations and additions have been made to the Americana Collection, the NSDAR Archives, the Special Collections pertaining to NSDAR History, and the Historical Research Library between February and April, 1987. The list of acquisitions has been arranged according to date of receipt.

The Americana Collection

Corrections

Item 21 in the list of gifts to the Americana Collection as recorded in the December 1986 issue of this magazine was donated by Mrs. Myles A. Walsh of the Francis Hopkins Chapter, DAR, New Jersey. Mrs. Walsh had been incorrectly identified in the earlier citation. We regret this error. Item 3 in the list of gifts to the Americana Collection as recorded in the April, 1987 issue of this magazine was donated by Mrs. Kenneth Darling, a friend of the Commonwealth Chapter, DAR, Virginia.

The Librarian General, Mrs. Richard P. Taylor, gave her report.

Report of Librarian General

The response from members to the Library’s plea for new books has been tremendous and even overwhelming at times. The staff has finally caught up on processing these welcome additions to the collection. The bookshelves are bulging and a great deal of shifting has been necessary, but all of the work has been well worth it. In all, 2,241 new books were donated or purchased from January through March 1987. For the same period in 1986 acquisitions totaled 561.

The most exciting addition to the Library’s collection came in mid-March with the arrival of 1,074 city directories covering the early twentieth century for cities all over the country. These books, most of which are in good condition, are a boon to research and are concentrated around the census years of 1910, 1920, 1930 and 1940. The Bureau of the Census provided these discarded volumes to the DAR Library for the cost of shipping only. What a bargain for such a wealth of information! The Library staff and the staff genealogists were delighted to receive this collection which is currently being organized for use. The directories add an entirely new dimension to the research materials available in the Library.

A camera-type security system with TV monitor will be installed in the Library in May.

Our American Indian Collection continues to grow and a solid core of research materials is in place. We would like to encourage the donation of materials relating to Indians from the entire country and especially appreciate volumes chronicling the contacts with European settlers. Our special thanks to Mrs. Everett R. Clark for all her hard work in developing this collection.

Members have also expressed their generosity to the Friends of the Library Committee. During the first three months of this year alone, donations to the Friends have totaled $11,673.50. This income enables the Library to handle its continuing expansion through the purchase of bookshelves and other necessary equipment. The success of this Committee is largely attributable to the efforts of the National Chairman, Mrs. James Andrew Williams, under whose capable direction contributions to the Library have substantially increased during this period.

The winter snows and cold interspersed with some nice weather have made use of the Library see-saw during early 1987. In the first three months 2,080 researchers used the Library. Sunday hours remain popular with an average of 25 researchers. Volunteer assistance on Sundays remains constant and has proved essential.

Our deep appreciation to all the volunteer Bookworms whose dependability, hard work and dedication to the DAR Library have been of great value to the staff and the Librarian General.

Finally, to the Library Staff Director, Eric Grundset, and all of the wonderful members of the DAR Library staff our heartfelt thanks for the many added responsibilities they have assumed in developing new collections, cataloging, indexing, shelving and performing many other tasks with efficiency, diligence and loyalty—attentive to our members needs and to the many requests from non-member users of the DAR Library.

The list of books added to the Library from mid-January through mid-March follows the Librarian General’s calendar.

The Curator General, Mrs. Joseph W. Towle, Jr., gave her report.
During the reporting period February 2 through April 10, 1987, the Curator General has maintained constant contact with her staff, presented slide lectures to a number of groups on the DAR Museum, and raised monies for the DAR Museum Committee's Museum General Fund. She remains grateful to the President General for her ongoing enthusiastic support for all museum projects.

During this period, Christine Minter-Dowd, Director, worked closely with the Curator General and all museum related committees, including the Friends of the Museum, Museum Docents, Correspondent Docents, Art Critics, and the State period rooms. She has supervised the staff (now numbering fourteen persons), exhibitions, the reinstallation of the 34 period rooms, visited donors and antiques shows, reviewed offerings, and prepared for Congress. Additionally, she lectured to several groups and represented the Museum at DAR and professional functions.

Curator Gloria Seaman Allen has been busy through the period with exhibitions planning, speaking engagements and daily curatorial responsibilities. Mrs. Allen worked on the design, labels and checklist for In the Style of the Signers: The Decorative Arts of Philadelphia, with an emphasis on textile material. She facilitated the painting, papering, silk screening and printing for the exhibition and was chiefly responsible for the installation. She has continued her work on the forthcoming Virginia quilt exhibition, including research trips to a number of historical collections. With the assistance of Miriam Richards, Secretary, letters were sent to all NSDAR chapters in Virginia and West Virginia requesting information on early Virginia quilts.

Mrs. Allen's lectures include the "Decorative Arts of Maryland" given to the Chevy Chase Chapter, NSDAR; the "Decorative Arts of Virginia" to the DC branch of APVA; "Georgetown Needlework" to the Georgetown Chapter of AAAA; "Chesapeake Area Quilts" to the Washington Club, and "American Quilts" to the Board of the National Quilters Association. She also taught a graduate seminar for students at George Washington University on the subject of "Ceramics in America."

In early March Mrs. Allen and Denise McHugh, Associate Curator, attended a workshop "In Print" on the subject of museum publications. She and Mrs. Minter-Dowd visited the Hunt Valley Antiques Show to review possible purchases and the Design Center to locate textile furnishings for several of the state rooms.

As part of the ongoing routine, Mrs. Allen has reviewed a number of possible donations, responded to numerous phone and written queries, identified quilts and coverlets brought in by members and people who have seen the Museum exhibitions, articles and publicity, and she has supervised the curatorial staff, and a graduate intern from George Washington University. As Associate curator, Denise McHugh contributed to the exhibition, In the Style of the Signers: The Decorative Arts of Philadelphia, by writing the introductory section and wall labels for the show's Paintings section. She also edited and proofread the checklist accompanying the exhibition and obtained bids for its out-of-house production. In addition, she contributed at meetings concerning the design of the exhibition.

Miss McHugh worked in researching and obtaining loans for the show, Geographic Views, opening June 1 on the library balcony. This involved research at Winterthur, Library of Congress and the National Geographic Society library. She also met curators of a number of local collections to discuss possible loans. In addition, she met with several private collectors, staff persons at the C.A.R. and NSDAR Americana Collection, and educators/publicity staff at the National Geographic Society (who may be contributing twentieth-century material on geographic education). She also began working on labels and an essay for the checklist accompanying the show.

The glass exhibition in the main gallery was re-installed by Miss McHugh. These objects had been removed due to ongoing climate activities on the exhibitions, Pennsylvania Coverlets and In the Style of the Signers. She also edited and proofread the checklist accompanying the exhibition and obtained bids for its out-of-house production. In addition, she contributed at meetings concerning the design of the exhibition.

She also began working on labels and an essay for the checklist accompanying the show.

The glass exhibition in the main gallery was re-installed by Miss McHugh. These objects had been removed due to ongoing climate control construction. She selected and cleaned the objects included. In addition, she gathered the catalog information.

Three hundred twenty-seven school children visited the museum for the program, "The Colonial Child," presented by Miss McHugh, followed by tours of the period rooms. Her program incorporated activities on the exhibitions, Pennsylvania Coverlets and In the Style of the Signers.
Miss McHugh updated the press mailing list of five hundred fifty names and sent out a press release, new exhibition schedule and DAR brochure in anticipation of In the Style of the Signers. She also updated the mailing list in preparation for the next mailing on the exhibitions Geographic Views and First Flowerings. In addition, she handled all phone inquiries and photograph requests from the press.

Miss McHugh met on three separate occasions with members of the Federal City Neighborhood Museums Consortium. The Consortium is talking seriously with the local Junior League concerning the preparation of a walking tour, originating at The White House and visiting our site. If all goes smoothly, the Junior League should begin this in the Summer of 1987; training will be given by Consortium members beforehand, although the League will be in charge of all administrative arrangements.

Since the last reporting period, Olive Graffam and Judith Nordin, Assistant Curators, have worked primarily on exhibition projects.

For the forthcoming exhibition celebrating the Bicentennial of the Constitution, In the Style of the Signers, Mmes. Graffam and Nordin surveyed and researched Philadelphia furniture and metals. Mrs. Graffam had primary responsibility for researching and writing the labels for the silver and pewter objects, while Mrs. Nordin was responsible for the research and writing pertaining to furniture.

Mmes. Graffam and Nordin installed a small gallery exhibition, Recent Accessions which opened in late March. The exhibition includes representative selections of quilts and coverlets, ceramics, silver, portraiture, and needlework acquired for the collection during 1986-87.

Mrs. Graffam traveled to Stratford Hall to inspect a quilt as a possible loan for the summer exhibition, First Flowerings: Early Virginia Quilts. Additionally in the cataloguing of a Virginia quilt, she has added some preliminary efforts in a comparative nineteenth-century fabric study begun by Gloria Allen, Curator, and Nancy Tuckhorn, Curatorial Assistant.

Mmes. Graffam and Nordin catalogued a number of diverse objects during this period including a needlework memorial, a portrait of Oliver Hazard Perry, and an eighteenth-century engraved map of Georgia.

On February 17, Mrs. Nordin presented a slide illustrated lecture on the decorative arts and colonial lifestyle of the last quarter of the eighteenth century to the Montgomery County Senior Citizens, Schweinbart Center, in conjunction with their series recognizing the Bicentennial of the Constitution. The lecture was enthusiastically received by sixty-seven attendees.

Mrs. Nordin also corresponded with colleagues about possible accessions, conservation, requests for information and research material.

As Curatorial Assistant working with the textile collection, Nancy Gibson Tuckhorn catalogued four quilts, a textile fragment, and a set of paper quilting patterns.

For the exhibition First Flowerings: Early Virginia Quilts, Mrs. Tuckhorn has been researching Virginia quilts made prior to 1840 and their makers. In her search for quilts of this time period she visited several local museum collections.

Mrs. Tuckhorn lectured to a group of quilt enthusiasts from Missouri about the DAR collection, and performed genealogical research for the Philadelphia exhibit.

In the past two months, Mary Beth Kurth, Associate Registrar, spent considerable time acting as courier for incoming and outgoing loans for the DAR Museum. In the middle of February she traveled to Cocoa, Florida to pick up twelve DAR Museum quilts lent to Brevard Museum. She spent March making arrangements with various institutions and private collectors to retrieve objects for the DAR Museum’s exhibition, In the Style of the Signers; The Decorative Arts of Philadelphia. With the assistance of Ted Holliday, she travelled to Stratford Hall and Sully Plantation, to private lenders in Alexandria, Virginia, Georgetown D.C. and Newark, New Jersey. These trips provided her opportunities to visit different institutions and to meet with colleagues.

On February 2, 1987, Catherine Tuggle, Business Manager, attended the Mid-Atlantic Regional Meeting of the Museum Stores Association, at the J.F. Kennedy Center. The seminars and workshop focused on the use of advertising and public events to promote museums in general and increase sales in gift shops in particular. The necessity of coordinating the purpose of the Museum and the merchandise chosen to represent it was stressed.

The Gift Shop prepared for Congress and the steady stream of tourists by restocking old favorites and purchasing new items. Already available are solid brass key chains and plastic souvenir trays, both depicting Memorial Continental Hall. The new Museum scarf, made of 100% silk and decorated with a design from one of our own eighteenth-century Chinese Export Porcelain” plates will be featured.

The response to our new more complete Museum Docent Handbook has been overwhelming. We have already sold out, but are planning to reprint it in late Spring or early Summer with corrections and additions.

Mrs. Elmer Kiefer, Jefferson Chapter, Saint Louis, Missouri, became a Benefactor of the DAR Museum by giving $5,000 honoring the Curator General.

Place all during the year, meeting the needs of the 20 National Congress Proceedings to Mr. Dean W. Anderson, Under Secretary, it even more interesting for this officer.

The many things the DAR does for them.

Under this office are directly involved with young people. That makes used by the National Society, of which there were over 60 with 45 at the Smithsonian Institution.

This officer has attended all meetings of the National Society and fulfilled the requests of the President General to the best of her ability. Among those requests was an attempt to revise all certificates has fulfilled the requests of the President General to the best of her inspiration it is to visit with the children and see their appreciation.

The DAR School Bus trip was a highlight, as always. Again bus #2 was the fun bus and the Goo Goo bars were delicious. What an inspiration it is to visit with the children and see their appreciation for the many things the DAR does for them.

It was a treat to hear the Air Force Band, visit the National Archives, the Air and Space Museum and to attend the C.A.R. Banquet.

Between March 1, 1986 and February 28, 1987, 130,320 items have been mailed or picked up from the Office of the Committees.

The overwhelming requests, over 62,000, for the newly revised DAR Manual for Citizenship has thrown our office budget into a tizie. Hopefully, only two sizes of certificates and envelopes have been mailed or picked up from the Office of the Committees.

The President General introduced the Parliamentarian, Mrs. Roger K. Harter. The Recording Secretary General, Mrs. Kemper, gave the report of the Executive Committee.

The Chairman of DAR Magazine Committee, Mrs. Victor G. Marty, gave her report.

Report of DAR Magazine Committee

As the first year of the “We the People . . .” Administration draws to a close, DAR Magazine’s transitional printing problems seem to be ending. The staff is working diligently to ensure prompt publication and mailing.
Subscriptions total 51,184. Achieving Honor Roll were 1,580 chapters out of a possible 3,140.

The Magazine Staff, Rose Hall, Editor; Oretta Barbour, Circulation Director; Cheryl Estancona, Art Director; Kathryn Cook, Bertha Hale, Martha Jackson, Circulation Staff, and Karen Plunkett, Advertising Associate, are to be commended, especially this year, for grace under pressure. Mrs. Estancona has redesigned the entire Magazine as well as the official DAR Bicentennial of the United States Constitution poster. Using the Bicentennial theme also, Mrs. Barbour has executed a red, white and blue order and renewal card to be inserted in the Magazine. Response has been outstanding. They are both to be congratulated.

The staff has functioned without a full complement of employees this year. One employee remains on medical leave of absence until May and the position vacancy created by a resignation last summer has not been filled. The Magazine Staff also has been subjected to the inconveniences of climate control installation. Severe weather conditions making it impossible for employees to get to work forced the closing of Headquarters several days during the winter. These factors, together with the changeover to the new printer, have all contributed to the tardy delivery of the Magazine this year. The indulgence of all our members is deeply appreciated.

Editorial and advertising response to the Bicentennial “We the People . . .” issue has been excellent and it is progressing on schedule. It will be mailed to all subscribers in mid-August. Individual copies will be priced at $5.00; $8.00 if mailed.

We are looking forward to the installation of electronic typesetting equipment on loan from Byrd Press and implementation of the electronic pagination system to complement the typesetting equipment. Because the pagination system will substantially decrease the Magazine’s cost per page, the sooner, the better!

Many copies of DAR Magazine are being lost in post offices around the country. We cannot guarantee delivery. Members, if you change your address, please send the mailing label from the Magazine along with your new address to DAR Magazine Office. Allow four to six weeks for processing.

The following states are the 1987 recipients of awards for the greatest percentage of subscription increase based upon membership:

- California, Mrs. Jerry J. Strayer, State Regent; Mrs. Jerry Calvin, State Magazine Chairman.
- Washington, Mrs. Irving D. Waterbury, State Regent; Mrs. Theodore Pumphey, State Magazine Chairman.
- Idaho, Mrs. Ivan L. Skinner, State Regent; Mrs. Melvin Olson, State Magazine Chairman.
- Nevada, Mrs. Victor A. Thornton, State Regent; Mrs. Vernon Biggs, State Magazine Chairman.

The nine chapter winners with the greatest percentage of subscriptions, by division and state are:

- Northeastern Division, Rhode Island, Major William Taggart Chapter, 52%
- Eastern Division, Maryland, Goshen Mills Chapter, 102%
- Southeastern Division, Alabama, Coweta Town Chapter, 117%
- East Central Division, Ohio, Olennty Chapter, 94%
- North Central Division, Willmar Chapter, 80%
- South Central Division, Kansas, Mission Hills Chapter, 102%
- Northwestern Division, Washington, Tllicum Chapter, 109%
- Southwestern Division, California, Alhambra-San Gabriel Chapter, 90%
- Units Overseas Division, Mexico, Guadalajara Chapter, 44%

This chairman’s duties during the first year of the “We the People . . .” Administration began with the preparation of her national packet letter in May which included statements regarding honor roll, magazine requirements, contest announcements, and an enclosure of subscription blanks. In June she attended a meeting of the DAR Magazine Council in Washington. She outlined plans for the year at the National Chairmen’s Forum in October and reported personally on the status of the Magazine at the October, February and April meetings of the National Board of Management. She has contacted all national vice chairmen and state chairmen assuring them of their importance to this committee and of our dependence upon them to promote DAR magazine in their respective areas.

This chairman told the DAR Magazine Committee that the most important attribute they could bring to their appointments was enthusiasm. Madam President General, it would be impossible to serve your “We the People . . .” Administration without that quality. Thank you for the privilege.

GEORGIANE S. MARTY Chairman

The Chairman of DAR Magazine Advertising Committee, Miss Marjorie Ginther, gave her report.

Report of Magazine Advertising Committee

Response for the August/September issue has been tremendous. The ads show that much time and research have gone into their preparation. We know you will be pleased with the results of many Daughters working together to make this a truly memorable issue. Some very substantial prizes are to be awarded for this issue, in order to recognize the enormous amounts of energy and ingenuity possessed by the DAR members.

Looking back over this first year of the “We, the People” Administration in which this Chairman and the National Vice Chairmen have had the distinct pleasure to participate, various methods have been used to DRUM up our magazine advertising.

One State Chairman made a clever WANTED poster, listing all the pertinent ad facts. This was sent to all Chapters in her State. Another Chairman pulled out all the stops at State and District meetings in a rousing appeal, complete with straw hat and flags, urging chapters to “sell to the National and the World. . .” information about the State’s people and the historic and patriotic areas.

Enthusiasm is contagious! Don’t be hesitant about soliciting commercial ads. With a circulation of over 50,000 households in the U.S. and Overseas, together with our low advertising rates, your Magazine has a lot to offer advertisers. Even if you are unsuccessful in selling an ad, you will be spreading the good word about DAR in your community. So you see, there is nothing to lose!

I would like to take this time to congratulate some of the prize winners for the 1986-1987 Honor Roll year. The District of Columbia State Society as well as many D.C. Chapters are to be applauded for their high percentage of camera ready advertising. This year’s categories have enabled us to recognize the excellent efforts of some of the smaller and newer chapters, such as Australia’s Captain James Cook. A list of winners is posted outside the Magazine Advertising Office, and checks and certificates may be picked up from the advertising staff. Extra ad kits are available at the office and the Magazine table in Constitution Hall.

Much credit and recognition must be given to the efficient and hard-working Magazine Staff. It has been a “tough” year. New procedures were implemented to complete the computerization of the Advertising Department, a new printer was hired, the format of the Magazine was changed, and a new National Chairman was appointed. All this occurring while the walls were literally torn apart around them, plaster dust filled the air and the thundering jackhammers produced a decibel reading that far exceeded that of the wildest rock group. But they survived, almost met all the deadlines, and are now looking forward to a bigger and better advertising year.

To accomplish this we need YOUR help!

Madam President General, it is a pleasure to serve as Chairman of this committee.

The Chairman of DAR School Committee, Mrs. Gabriel O. Saavedra, gave her report.

Report of DAR School Committee

The February 6, 1987 meeting of the National Board of Management approved the following:
That J. E. Caldwell be authorized to design a FRIENDS OF THE DAR SCHOOLS PIN to be worn on the official ribbon, below the DAR Friends of the Museum pin. It may be purchased from Caldwell after a donation of $200.00 is received by the NSDAR. The donor may designate if the money is to be divided equally between Kate Duncan Smith and Tamasee or select one of them to be the sole recipient. The donor may select if the contribution is to be placed in either the Endowment Fund or the General Fund. If there is no designation on the form, the money will be divided equally between the two schools and placed in the Endowment Funds.

Please begin immediately to promote the new Friends of the DAR Schools Pin.

This chairman was a guest speaker at the following State conferences:
California -------- Mrs. Jerry J. Strayer ---------State Regent
Oklahoma -------- Mrs. Cecil R. Lee --------State Regent
New Hampshire -- Mrs. Richard J. Partington ----State Regent
Massachusetts ---- Mrs. Eric G. Hook ---------State Regent

In each state the members expressed concern, interest and support for our schools. Thank you.

KATE DUNCAN SMITH DAR SCHOOL—Several projects have been completed. Mr. Pelmer Smith, County Commissioner has provided for a new clay base to the baseball field.

A space utilization survey to insure effective use of classroom and activities areas has been completed by the State Department of Education and the Administrator's office. This report included a school population anticipated growth rate through 1990.

The Illinois State Society has provided funds to refinish the large gymnasium floor of Becker Hall as well as for a new typewriter for the library.

The Virginia State Society has provided funds for three new sewing machines for the Home Economics Department.

A new roof is being placed on the Texas Duplex apartment courtesy of the Texas State Society. Also, funds were provided for refinishing of the hardwood floors and installation of a vinyl kitchen floor in the north Texas Duplex apartment.

New room cabinets and shelving have been provided for the Music Room and new student desks, piano stools and risers ordered for the Music Department through the generous contributions of the Florida State Society.

Hamilton Riddis Foundation, Inc. honored Mrs. Sara Greer, NSDAR Appointee and Wisconsin State School Chairman, with a donation permitting the Doris Pike White Auditorium to enjoy a new stage curtain.

The Alabama State Officers Club has provided funds for a new roof on the Lane Chapel.

Make your plans now to attend the Dedication Day activities on October 19 and 20.

The DAR Schools Supper will take place Thursday, April 23. For those attending you will have the opportunity to hear the progress of those attending the Dedication Day activities on October 19 and 20.
and future plans of the schools. In addition, two students from Kate Duncan Smith DAR School, Maureen Welden and Brent Smith, and two students from Tamasee DAR School, Sophia Kinney and Dawn Williams, will be providing us with very special entertainment.

TAMASEE DAR SCHOOL—There is a new BARE on campus, Garrett Dean, born March 23. Congratulations Mr. and Mrs. H. Dean Bare.

Four students performed at the South Carolina State Conference. The Tamasee Mountain Cloggers performed at the Georgia State Conference.

Scott Rhodes continues with his dedicated and talented effort to complete the pencil sketches of all the buildings. These sketches will be used for notepad and will be included in the new Tamasee Cookbook which is being prepared and compiled by Mrs. Richard E. Lipcomb, South Carolina State School Chairman, and her committee. The cookbook will be available for purchase on Founders Day, October 18.

Improvements have been made to the following buildings: The New Jersey Cottage, home of the Administrator, has a much needed new roof, funds provided by the New Jersey State Society. Remodeling of the kitchen and the boys’ bathroom and the installation of the exterior fire escape have been completed at the Illinois Cottage with the funds being provided by the Illinois State Society. New furniture for the recreation room has been ordered for the Missouri-Groves Cottage. Funds were provided by the Missouri State Society. The guest bathroom has been remodeled in the South Carolina Cottage and the second interior stairwell will be enclosed very soon thanks to the generosity of the South Carolina State Society. The California-Pouch Cottage received some new appliances, furniture, carpet and other accessories with funds provided by the California State Society. Renovation continues on the Bell Maintenance Shop through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. John I. Bell. Mrs. Bell is the Adviser to Tamasee. The Hollywood chapter has provided funds for the much needed and required improvements to the Waste Treatment plant.

Tamasee was represented at four State Conferences.

BERY COLLEGE—Contributions for January and February totaled $3,337.00 providing assistance for scholarships and the general fund. The scholarship funds were used to supplement student work earnings in meeting the financial needs of students. Undesignated funds were used for general purposes including the unfunded portion of the $1 million-plus student work budget for the past year.

Although Berry is “different,” it is recognized as one of the best smaller comprehensive colleges in the nation. Six books have been published about Berry’s founder, Miss Martha Berry, a devoted DAR, and her great work. This moving story also has been captured in a 28 minute movie which is available in video cassette form (VHS).

CROSSNORE SCHOOL—Two new postcards are available as well as two attractive Commemorative 75th Anniversary pins. The Sales Store (Thrift Shop) has a new floor, carpet and front doors. Sales on the first day after renovations were completed exceeded $1300.00.

Helping the children to deal with their personal problems continues to be challenging at Crossnore. Past value system and current social pressures, especially in the areas of sex and drugs, present the greatest difficulties. Encouraging progress is being seen in the lives of the students.

Two students were guests at the North Carolina State Conference and received the State Regent’s Good Citizenship award.

Bible studies on campus are well attended. Two children are in the cast of “Camelot” at Avery County High School.

Eight snow days in January meant seasonal recreational opportunities. Two cross country skiing trips were enjoyed.

Appreciation is expressed to everyone who sent in over 119,725 soup labels.

Contributions for the two month period were $8,984.00.

HILLSIDE SCHOOL—Two new programs, aimed at helping others, have been established, the Big Brother program and the Adopt-A-Grandparent program. Under the Big Brother program each third and fourth grader is matched up with a senior whose primary responsibility is to guide his little brother. Three seniors spend Friday afternoons with their adopted grandparents at the Bolton Nursing Home in Marlborough. For about an hour the boys talk and brighten the day for all the residents and especially their grandparents.

On campus extensive renovations were completed on Drinkwater Hall, while on the farm there is a new family of piglets and a prospering maple syrup operation. The syrup will be sold during Congress. Contributions for January and February were $5,917.00.

HINDMAN SETTLEMENT SCHOOL—For those of you who ask why the Settlement is still needed, perhaps the following statements will clarify these doubts: The Settlement is needed because there are not enough governmental resources in the region to deal with the problem of illiteracy, dropout rates, lowest amount of funds expanded per student, largest percentage of over-crowded classrooms and the fewest opportunities for students with learning deficiencies. The private sector must be involved. Hindman is not duplicating or competing with other groups or agencies, it is meeting the community residents’ request for assistance. Hindman is committed to the battle against illiteracy and will remain involved as long as anyone needs their help. The work with children with dyslexic characteristics is becoming the major program at the Settlement. Renovation of an existing structure will help make the plans for a full time day school a reality for these children.

Mike Mullins, Executive Director, was honored by the Lexington Herald-Ledger as one of the persons in central and eastern Kentucky who is making Kentucky a better place to live in 1987. Contributions for January and February totaled $5,756.00.

The DAR School Committee wishes to express its appreciation to the States, Chapters, Members and friends for their continuing support of the two DAR Schools and the four Approved Schools.

As a member of NSDAR, you are eligible for an exceptional new life insurance program. It's the NSDAR Group Term Life Insurance Program that provides lifetime coverage to age 100. It is easy to get the life insurance coverage you really want—whether you need to supplement your present life insurance to bring it back to an adequate level—or to get the basic coverage you had neglected to obtain in previous years.

If you are a senior DAR member, your age doesn’t have to keep you from getting the NSDAR life insurance coverage you really need. Now you can apply for coverage at any age up to 98. Once you’re covered, you can renew your protection to age 100. So, you won’t have to search for another program of coverage as you get older.

Best of all, you can get the valued Life Insurance you want. It’s easy to enroll...and economical. There are no long applications to fill out. A medical examination is normally not required. Your acceptance is based on the answers to a few simple “yes or no” questions on a short application form. That’s all there is to it!

For further information about the NSDAR Group Term Life Insurance Program, fill in the coupon below and mail it to the NSDAR Insurance Administrator. There’s no time like the present to get valuable financial protection.

wide open Constitutional Convention and much prefer, as you obviously do also, the orderly method of proposals initiated by the Congress and then presented to the states for ratification.

CURRENT CONTROVERSIES. As we look over the history and the current state of our Constitution, I think that we would agree that we can give a clean bill of health in this, the 200th year since it was written and submitted to the states for ratification. One sign of this health is that, in the exercise of judicial review recently taken by the Supreme Court, the principle of Separation of Powers was once again affirmed. The Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Deficit Reduction Bill, a bill worthy on its face and worthy in practice, nevertheless had in it a provision which assigned a clearly executive function to an official of the legislative branch. The Court, in striking down that particular provision very carefully with a surgeon's scalpel, but allowing the rest of the law to be implemented, made sure that we recognized the fact that the doctrine of Separation of Powers is as much alive in 1987 as it was 200 years before.

This decision of the Supreme Court, I think, has made the nation's capital think once again to a greater extent about this doctrine of Separation of Powers. We are also thinking, as we throw our Executive branch testimony before Congressional committees, about the intricacies of a law involving the independent counsel statute which comes up this year for renewal.

Whatever the final answer may be to that and to other Separation of Powers issues, I am glad there is once again public and official recognition and reflection going on about that basic constitutional principle. It's particularly appropriate during the Bicentennial of the drafting of the Constitution.

Why, at a National Defense Luncheon of your organization, do we talk about Separation of Powers? I think that probably this is one of the fundamental issues that you will hear more and more about in the national defense realm because one of the powers that is clearly assigned to the President, both in the Constitution and in the decisions of the Supreme Court interpreting the Constitution, is the responsibility of being Commander-in-Chief of our military forces, of conducting foreign policy, and of providing the basic actions that are necessary for our national security.

There have been reasonable disputes about which persons of reason and intellect disagree as to this whole matter of the Separation of Powers. A continuing controversy about the war powers resolution, for example, has never been resolved between what is the proper province of Congress and what is the proper authority of the President in regard to the sending of troops into particular emergency situations. Another example is the issue of the Strategic Defense Initiative and to what extent it should be micromanaged by the Congress. There are many other issues that would take far too much time to elaborate on.

But this talk today is not on the specific issues of our day any more than it is on the specific issues that confronted the Founders and leaders of our country in 1787. Rather, it is about the principles that are enshrined in our Constitution which enable "We The People," through our elected representatives, to continue to maintain this balance between order and security on the one hand and liberty on the other.

We owe a great debt to the framers of the Constitution and to those legislators, Presidents, judges, and commentators who have perceived its wisdom ever since. In that splendid company, let me be sure to include the Daughters of the American Revolution who have, ever since their founding, taught their fellow citizens, and especially schoolchildren, the enduring values expressed in the Declaration of Independence and in the Constitution.

There is no better way to celebrate the Bicentennial than the way advocated by Chief Justice Burger, namely, to read and re-read the Constitution. It is his hope, and I think yours, that we will put a Constitution in the hands of virtually every American who is willing to read it. It would be a great thing if every citizen at the drop of a hat could start a conversation about the enumerated powers of Congress, or about the Necessary and Proper Clause, or the other principles that are part of our heritage and part of the current structure of our government. It would be great to have people be able to point to a particular provision in their vest pocket copy of the Constitution as the source for their arguments or their particular analysis.

MIRACLES DON'T CLUSTER. We really have a most valuable document here. Few contracts, few charters have ever endured for 200 years. It wasn't for nothing that the English statesman, William Gladstone, called our Constitution, "the most remarkable work known to me in modern times to have been produced by the human intellect."

The Constitution is a masterpiece of political arrangement permitting this amazing balance of order and freedom, permitting a diversity of interests and beliefs, and yet maintaining a unity of national purpose.

Two hundred years ago in Philadelphia, no oddsmaker in his right mind would have bet that this could be done. If we were somehow to lose our Constitution, I have serious doubts that it could ever be done again. That is why I think it is well today that we remember the words of Daniel Webster, who said: "Miracles do not cluster. Hold on to the Constitution of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands. What happened once in 6,000 years may never happen again. Hold on to your Constitution for, if the American Constitution shall fail, there will be anarchy throughout the world."

I'm convinced, ladies and gentlemen, that, with the leadership of organizations like the DAR, and with the interest of citizens like you who have gathered here at this National Defense Luncheon, we will hold on to our Constitution. It will continue to be a living, vibrant document on which we will continue to base our government and our liberty as we enter the third century of its success.

REMARKS-ELIZABETH DOLE

To meet these three challenges is to be reminded every day of what it is that distinguishes this constitutional republic from the rest of mankind. Tonight, I would like to add a fourth. For each of us, in our own way, is called to service. The Constitution does not merely grant rights to the people. It reminds us of our responsibilities to each other and to America. George Washington captured the essence of this relationship, when he declared, "Human rights can only be assured among a virtuous people. The general government . . . can never be in danger of degenerating into a monarchy, an oligarchy, an aristocracy, or any despotic or oppressive form so long as there is any virtue in the body of the people.”

Washington’s conviction that virtue precedes liberty was written into our Constitution. Likewise, Benjamin Franklin, who could have written America’s first manual on public service, once said, “The most important task we are undertaking as a nation is to solve the magnificent challenge of being a free people.” Two centuries later, his words have not lost their resonance. They still shine forth, from the red brick state house of colonial Philadelphia to guide our steps along the narrow path of duty.

Think for a moment about who we are, and where we came from. Before there was an American government, there were Americans drawn together in voluntary associations. From our earliest days, we have been prone to organize for the betterment of the community. Even prior to independence, there were Sons of Liberty and committees of correspondence to raise the flag of our nation. Government arose to defend our territory, promote our enterprise and embody the charitable attitudes of the people themselves. Over the years, the volunteer tradition continued: on western prairies and in urban slums, at church suppers and community chests. For much of our history, Americans relied on the voluntary efforts of business, churches, foundations and other civic organizations to provide jobs, income, health care, food and housing to those in need. When disaster struck, the Red Cross arrived before federal loans. Over 40 years ago when American servicemen lacked recreational facilities, the USO stepped in to fill the void. And when the DAR saw disadvantaged young people in need of the gift of knowledge, you founded and supported schools to fill that need.

Throughout our history, we have drawn much of our strength as a nation from our moral commitment to one another. When the problems grew too large for the private sector to address, government inevitably succeeded in meeting the challenge. But government, it has been conclusively demonstrated, cannot by itself provide the full range of social services to all who are in need. Equally important, government—men and women who served their past—let us make certain to the framers of our Constitution whereby people associate to study, to consult, and to obey. The chart is the Constitution.

As a people who have lived with freedom under the guidance of the Constitution for two centuries, we can forget how precious and rare that freedom is. All of us have an obligation to participate actively in the system of self-government the Constitution establishes. It is an obligation we owe not only to ourselves, but to the framers of our government—men and women who risked everything for freedom, brave men and women who have bonded this nation with their blood and toil and sacrifice.

In closing, let me share with you an experience that Bob and I had when we visited the Soviet Union a few years ago for the U.S.-Soviet Trade Conference—an experience I will never forget.

At our embassy in Moscow, I talked to members of two families from Siberia, who had sought asylum from the religious persecution they had encountered in their own mother country.

In attempting to reach our embassy’s gates, one of the young sons was caught by Russian guards, beaten in full sight of the two families, and then dragged away. Later they learned that he had been sent back to Siberia. It was nearly five years—separated from their friends and family and living in the basement of that embassy—before the Soviet government allowed those families to emigrate to Israel.

As we drove up to the airport to begin our long trip home and I looked at that airplane sitting on the runway with “United States of America” emblazoned on its side, I thanked God I could come home to a country where freedom and democracy are more than just hollow spaces.

Every citizen has a stake in government that lives up to its noblest promises. Each one of us is obliged to pass on to our children the freedoms that the men of Philadelphia entrusted to us. They created something unique in the annals of history. Let us not only preserve their past—let us make certain that the present is worthy of preservation, so that in another 200 years, our descendants can say as proudly as we do today, “I am an American.”

Thank you and God bless you all.

INDIANA Daughters remember 1890 as a year of firsts. The National Society Daughters of the American Revolution was founded with Caroline Scott Harrison serving as the first President General, and the first Pan American Congress met in Washington in 1890 during Benjamin Harrison's presidency.

It is fitting that Indianapolis, the Harrison's home town, now hosts the tenth Pan American Games from August 7th to 23rd, 1987. More than 4,000 Olympic hopefuls from 37 nations in North, South, Central America and the Caribbean will come to Indianapolis to compete in 27 sports and 286 different events.

Indiana Daughters welcome you to attend these colorful and exciting events.
Indiana’s Canal System

Beginning with the ground-breaking at Ft. Wayne on Washington’s Birthday in 1832, a network of canals was begun in Indiana - the Wabash and Erie Canal, the Whitewater Canal, and the Central Canal. A flood of enthusiasm for internal improvements within the state was responsible for this tremendous and very expensive undertaking.

On & After

Mar. 5, 1841

The “Prairie Hen” will ply both east & west on the Wabash & Erie Canal between Ft. Wayne & Peru. Rates reasonable accommodations good. Boats leave Wabash town 8 a.m. at foot of pier at Wabash St. & Commercial Row.

The city of Chillicothe was founded in 1796 by Nathaniel Massie, a Virginia Military District Surveyor. Massie led a party of Virginians to this area. The name "Chillicothe" is derived from the Shawnee Indian word meaning "principal town." By 1797, Massie's offer of free "in lots" and "out lots" to the first 100 settlers had been fulfilled. The following year, 1798, saw men of culture and vision move to Chillicothe from Virginia. Among these men, were Dr. Edward Tiffin and Thomas Worthington, who both were to play important roles in Ohio's early government.

In 1800 the United States Congress designated Chillicothe as capital of the "eastern section" of the Northwest Territory. The Ross County Courthouse was begun. This building finished in 1801 was used as Ohio's first Statehouse. Here the convention that framed the Constitution of Ohio assembled on the first Monday in November 1802. Chillicothe became the state capital in 1803 when Ohio entered the Union. Dr. Edward Tiffin, was president of the convention and another Ross Countian, Thomas Scott, was Convention Secretary.

Dr. Edward Tiffin was the State's first Governor 1803-1807, and Thomas Worthington one of its first Senators and later its Governor 1814-18. Chillicothe served as State Capital until 1816, except for an interval from late 1809-1812 when the legislature met in Zanesville.

In 1800 the first issue of Freemans Journal and Chillicothe Advertiser, which was the predecessor of today's Chillicothe Gazette, was published, thus making the Gazette the oldest newspaper in continuous publication west of the Alleghenies. The Chillicothe Gazette building is a replica of Ohio's first statehouse.

Governor Arthur St. Clair
First Governor of the Northwest Ordinance 1788.
Fort St. Clair, Eaton, Ohio
was so named in his honor.
Revolutionary War Veterans settled much of Ohio's Bounty Lands after the 1795 Treaty of Greenville. The Virginia Military District, between the Scioto and Miami Rivers, was first surveyed by Colonel Nathaniel Massie, who founded Chillicothe in 1796. Thomas Worthington and Duncan McArthur, also surveyors, later became governors of the new State of Ohio.

The Northwest Ordinance Society, Inc. is pleased to honor the Nathaniel Massie Chapter, DAR
There were eight main treaties by which the Indians ceded lands in Northwest Ohio, starting with the Greenville treaty in 1795. The third of these eight treaties was the Treaty of Detroit in 1807.

"The treaty of Detroit, executed at that place in 1807, was signed by the Ottawas, Chippawas, Wyandots and Pottawotamies, and ceded lands surrounding Detroit and extending along Detroit River and Lake Erie down into Ohio as far as the Maumee River. This was the first public land to become available in what is now Michigan. The treaty line began at the mouth of the Maumee and proceeded up the middle of the river to the present site of Defiance, thence due north beyond the present limits of Ohio. The line north from Defiance later became the Meridian for all public land surveys in Michigan. This meridian governs that strip of land between the Fulton and Harris lines in Ohio, and is known today as the Michigan Meridian in the public land system of the United States."

The Treaty of Detroit line and its extension as Michigan Meridian, running north from Fort Defiance, is shown on the early maps as the base line for surveys.

The placing of the present marker on the Fort Defiance grounds followed a visit in 1944 by Dr. Milo M. Quaife, who at that time was curator of the Burton Historical Collections at Detroit Public Library. Formerly he was secretary of the Wisconsin Historical Society. He pointed out that the land surveys to the north had been made on a meridian running north from Fort Defiance and suggested that this information be displayed in some way. As a result, the Defiance Park Board put up the present marker.

Since we do not know the exact location of the original Fort Defiance flagpole, and since the early surveying methods of extending straight line were not always precise, there probably is some error in the placement of the marker.

PAST REGENT'S CLUB OF METROPOLITAN DETROIT
CELEBRATE THEIR 40th YEAR

The Past Regent’s Club of Metropolitan Detroit was organized in October 1946 by Past Regents of 13 Metropolitan Detroit Chapters located in Macomb, Oakland and Wayne Counties, its purpose being to keep the close friendships made while serving together. These regents are invited to each chapter birthday luncheons during their term.

Just as the 13 original colonies grew, four chapters have been added, one in 1970, 1980, 1985 and 1986. A portion of the dues from the annual meeting in October is donated to the State Endowment Fund benefiting the entire Michigan membership. After being in existence 32 years an Apple Blossom Pin, Michigan’s State Flower, was designed in 1978 for the members.

Called the ‘Tip of the Iceberg’ as chapter offices, chairmen and C.A.R. service are not included, service to NSDAR is as follows: Chapter Regents 257; State Regents 8; State Officers 82; State Chairmen 81; National Executive Officer 1; Vice Presidents General 6; National Chairmen 5; National Vice Chairmen and Appointees 32; Outstanding Juniors 3; National Outstanding Junior 1; State and National Pages 5; House Committee 17; Volunteer Genealogist 2; VAVS Representative and Deputies 4; State Parliamentarian 3; National Parliamentarian 1; National Resolutions 2; DAR Speakers Staff 5; National Curator 50 Year Club 1; Kate Duncan Smith Finance and Endowment Committees and Tamassee Board of Trustees and Endowment Fund Committee 7.

Introducing . . .
Plymouth Colony: Its History & People, 1620-1691
by Eugene Aubrey Stratton

The most complete reference work ever compiled for genealogists on this great epoch of American history!

Inside Plymouth Colony
With over 40 million Americans descended from settlers of Plymouth Colony, this book is a "must buy" for all genealogists. This is the first comprehensive treatment of life in the colony in which the settlers speak for themselves. Eleven appendices reproduce actual documents which the interested reader may consult to acquire a flavor of the times. Genealogists and historians both will appreciate the biographical sketches and research documentation on the individuals who were a part of this unique episode in early American history.

Please send me ______ copies of Plymouth Colony at $16.95 for hardbound ($14 for Ancestry Research Club Members) OR $12.50 for softbound ($10.95 for Ancestry Research Club Members). I have enclosed $2.00 for postage and handling.

The Magic of the Red Plate

It was a time-honored tradition among the early American families that when someone deserved special praise or attention they were served dinner on the Red Plate.

The Red Plate is designed and crafted to become a family heirloom as it is cherished and passed from one generation to the next marking life’s important milestones.

Each plate is individually boxed with story pamphlet:

THE FOUNDING FATHERS

The detail is so intricate as is evidenced by the facial features that are captured in each founding father. The series consists of George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, John Hancock and Patrick Henry. Each figure is featured in his favorite chair with his signature on the base. The height of each sculpture is over 4 inches.

Norman Hines is a master whose sculptures are noted for impeccable detail, true-to-life realism, and powerful depth of meaning. Dozens of organizations, including the Smithsonian Institute, have commissioned the work of this talented artist. Some of his other famous subjects have been Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, Pope Paul VI and Robert E. Lee.

Liberty Mint presents the Daughters of the American Revolution with this special offer. Each sculpture is $49.00 plus $3.00 shipping. You have the choice of ordering and receiving the entire series at once, paying $294.00 and saving $18 in shipping costs or receiving one every 2 months and being billed $24.50 plus $1.50 shipping per month for 12 months. JUNE/JULY 1987

Dear Daughters,

Brand new revised advertising kits have been mailed to all State and Chapter Regents. Please use these new kits in place of any old ones you may have on file! Now is the time to begin planning ahead for upcoming issues. Remember, your ad does not have to look like an ad! Your chapter or state may fill paid advertising space with almost anything—even something resembling a short article! You may show your pride in many ways—there is still much to be said about the history and principles upon which our society is based.

Pay careful attention to the Chairman’s Letter in the new ad kit. It contains some very valuable new information in addition to a list of contests and prizes to be won in the 1987-1988 Honor Roll Year. Look these contests over carefully—there is no reason why every state and chapter should not compete and have a good chance of winning! Magazine Advertising District Directors—If you would like to be on the mailing list for the new ad kit, please send your name and address to the Magazine Advertising Office.

As always, the Magazine Advertising staff is available to answer any questions you may have. Give them a call!

Sincerely,

Marjorie Giinther
