COVER STORY

Bedcovers and quilts still prove to be among the most popular of the DAR Museum's outstanding exhibits. Collecting Quilts, II, is now on display on the Library Balcony.

The bedcover featured on the cover is from Brooklyn, New York and is pieced, appliqued and painted. It was executed by Margaret English Wood Dodge (1782-1874). John Wood Dodge (1807-1874) was a well-known miniature painter and dioramist. He painted the eagle on this bedcover for his mother during the Civil War.

The bedcover, a gift of Margaret S. Todd, is made of blue twill with red and white cottons. The applique is whip stitch in white cotton thread. The painted colors are of brown, red and orange.

Bowl No. 1 was presented by the President General to President Bush on behalf of the National Society. Official White House photograph, 26 January 1989.
Dear Members,

From the big celebrations for the Statue of Liberty to the Ellis Island restoration, the Wall of Honor, the DAR School Tour, the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution, the DAR Historical Tour, to the work for our Centennial, to all the 50 States, the District of Columbia, Australia, Canada, England, France and Mexico, PLUS all the unbelievable, unexpected, expensive repairs to our headquarters—you, the members, have been hard-working, kind and very understanding.

In the “We the People” Administration, your volunteerism, your willingness, your support, your encouragement—all have filled me with much thankfulness. The work you have accomplished has been truly amazing. My heart is overflowing with love for you and I can never, ever, ever, ever thank you enough for all you have done for me and the National Society these past three years.

Yes, together, we the members of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, in order to support our projects, establish good working conditions, insure the proper maintenance of our headquarters, provide for future generations, promote good feelings, and secure the National Society for now and evermore, will continue to work for God, Home and Country as we enter our second century of service to the nation.

Again, my heartfelt thanks for everything. CARRY ON!

Love,

An historian conducting research on the relationship between Robert E. Lee and his father wrote, "I have found significant evidence to determine that Robert was close to his mother, but I have found little about what the boy saw or remembered of his father. I have read several biographies ... and am intrigued by the question of how the most famous Lee was influenced by his father."

It is tragic that so noble a man as Harry Lee has been so misunderstood, and his character misinterpreted by careless writers. They have even cited the lack of extant correspondence between father and son, not realizing that Robert was but five years old when he last saw his father who died six years later.

Charles B. Flood, in his splendid book Lee, The Last Years, beautifully interpreted the life of Robert E. Lee, but failed to research the life of his father. He writes:

He (Robert) always worried that one of his sons might turn out to be like his own father, Light Horse Harry Lee, who had tarnished his reputation ... twice landed in debtor's jail which contributed to self-exile in the Caribbean ... His father's responsibility, extravagance, and marital infidelity had broken his mother's heart.

Robert would have been shocked and infuriated by that unjustified indictment of his beloved father! Regarding Harry's morals, there is not once documented verification that he was unfaithful to his wife. That false rumor stems from a "poison-pen letter" of Samuel Storrow, a cynical, bitter male gossip, probably quoting his own father who appears to have been a jealous spurned suitor of Anne Hill Carter, second wife of Harry Lee and mother of Robert. Although Lee had political enemies during his lifetime, there was never a word by his peers against his morals. Lee enjoyed the respect and friendship of such men as George Washington.

Lee's move to the Indies was an attempt to regain his health and as not influenced by his prison term of a decade earlier. Yet some writers have stated that he "deserted his family"!

Charles Carter's earlier objection to Harry's courtship of his daughter has been cited as disapproval of the man's character. This ignores Carter's letter which stated:

The only objection which we ever had to your connection with our beloved daughter is now entirely done away. You have declared on your honor that you have relinquished all thought of going to France ... As we know that you have obtained her consent, you shall have that of her parents most cordially, to be joined in the holy bonds of matrimony.

If Harry Lee had gained a reputation as a libertine, it is unlikely that Carter would have given his blessing to the marriage.

We have some evidence of Harry's reputation while attending the College of New Jersey (later renamed Princeton University) at an age when many
The Influence of HARRY LEE on the character of his son ROBERT E. LEE

By Eleanor Lee Templeman
Mary Washington Chapter, Washington, DC

Above: Stratford Hall was built in the early 1730s by Thomas Lee. It was the birthplace of five of his six sons and one of his daughters. The third and fourth sons, Richard Henry and Francis Lightfoot, were very active in the cause of the American Revolution and were signers of the Declaration of Independence. Stratford was later the home of a second cousin, the brilliant cavalryman "Light Horse Harry" Lee; it was also the birthplace of his youngest son, the soldier-statesman educator, General Robert Edward Lee.

Richard Henry Lee youths were sowing wild oats. Dr. William Shippen of Philadelphia checked on his wife's young cousin and reported, "Henry Lee... will be one of the first fellows of this country. He is more than strict in his morality, has fine genius and is diligent."

Harry Lee was never reimbursed for the thousands of dollars he spent to equip his first cavalry troops. His greatest loss in the Revolutionary cause resulted from the failure of Robert Morris to repay a loan of $40,000 for the latter's war debts. Lee's land investments collapsed as a result of a double-cross by Lord Fairfax. Harry Lee was not irresponsible, although he made desperate attempts to reimburse the two brothers who had backed him financially by deeds of land and gifts of valuable personal property.

Clifford Dowdey, in his book on Robert E. Lee, repeatedly tried to attribute all the brilliance and virtues of Robert as inherited solely from his Carter ancestors. Dowdey described Robert's grandfather, Henry Lee of Leesylvania as “a rather dull man.” I would dispute this. Financially successful, he provided college educations for his sons who rose to national prominence. He served Prince William County as a Presiding Justice, Head of the Militia, was a Member of the House of Burgesses, and represented that county in the Virginia Revolutionary Convention. A man of great personal charm, he won the hand of Lucy Grymes, a belle of Williamsburg society. She was known as “The Lowland (Tidewater) Beauty” and was courted by many of the young aristocrats, including George Washington.

No one can doubt that Robert E. Lee inherited from his father his brilliant military ability and his superb horsemanship. As to Robert’s integrity and high ideals, certainly a great influence came from the letters which were written from the Indies by Harry Lee to his eldest son, Carter, and were shared with all the family. They were filled with deep concern for the development of the character of his sons and their education, and references were made to the steady correspondence with his wife. Those letters to Carter were cherished and saved for posterity. Carter described them as “the best history of the close of our father’s life.” Robert referred to them in later years as “Those letters of love and wisdom.”

The greatest proof of Harry Lee’s influence on the character of his son Robert, through the inspiration and wisdom contained in those letters, can be found by comparing them with the life of his illustrious son.

As proof of Robert’s reverence for his father’s memory, he twice visited his grave in Georgia. He personally republished Harry Lee’s two volumes on the Revolutionary War in the South, including a very beautiful tribute to his father.

The following are excerpts from Lighthorse Harry Lee’s letters:

June 26th 1816. You know, my dear son, the deep and affectionate interests I have taken in you from the first moment of your existence, and your kind, amiable disposition will never cease enjoying and amplifying your father’s happiness to the best of your ability. You will do this by preferring the practice of virtue to all other things; you know my abhorrence to lying and you have been often told by me that it led to every vice and cancelled every tendency to virtue. Epaminondas . . . imitate this great man and you may equal him in goodness, infinitely to be preferred to his greatness. I am too sick to continue this discussion, though I begin to hope I may live to see you, your dear mother, and our other sweet offspring . . .

August 8th, 1816. Above all things earthly, even love to the best of mothers and your ever-devoted father, I entreat you to cherish truth and abhor deception . . .

30th September 1816. Speak from your heart to my heart; that is what I want, and want only understanding well the religious and moral knowledge of right and wrong . . . Read therefore the best poets, the best orators, and the best historians; as from them you draw principles of moral truth, axioms of prudence and material for conversation . . . I would rather see you unlearned and unnoticed, if virtuous in practice as well as theory, than to see you equal in glory to the great Washington; but virtue and wisdom are no opponents; they are friends and coalesce in a few characters such as his. Tell me about my dear Smith and Robert . . .

1 Dec. 1816. Adhere to history and ethical authors of unrivalled character.

9 February 1817. My beloved Carter’s letter of July 25th came to hand, not on the birthday of the great and good Washington, but in his birth month, and infused into his father’s heart an overflow of delight, in defiance of the torturing pains of disease. Always dear to me, always the source of delicious anticipation, I see from your first performance ample evidence that my fond hopes will not be disappointed. Go on in the road of truth to the temple of virtue, where dwell her handmaidens, modesty, temperance, benevolence, fortitude and justice. Fane in arms or art, however conspicuous, is naught, unless bottomed on virtue. Think, therefore, of fame only as an appendage to virtue; and be virtuous, though poor, humble, and scorned . . . Cleanliness of person is not only comely to all beholders but is indispensable to sanctity of body. Trained by your best of mothers to value it, you will never lose sight of it . . . You know how I love my children; and how dear Smith is to me. Give me a true description of his person, mind, temper and habits. Tell me of Anne; has she grown tall? And how is my last in looks and understanding? Robert was always good, and will be confirmed in his happy turn of mind by his ever-watchful and affectionate mother . . . I leave here as soon as spring arrives, whatever may be my condition, and land in the south, to graduate my experience of change of climate . . . May God Almighty cherish, bless and guide my dear son, is and ever will be the prayer of his loving father.

5 May 1817. Having within a few days, my dear Carter, received letters from home, yours of February last was enclosed by your dear mother . . . he can only become a true disciple of future glory by watching his tongue and purse. Let not the first utter a word injurious to truth, decency, or another’s peace; and never suffer want or temptation to induce the wanton disbursement of the last, but take up the determination to spend only what is absolutely necessary, and thus assume the habit of retaining part of your pecuniary allowance for casualties to which your own body is liable, and another part to enable you to help a friend when afflicted with distress . . .

June 18, 1817. This is the day of the month when your dear mother became my wife . . . since that happy day, marked only by the union of two humble lovers, it has become conspicuous as the day that our war with Great Britain was declared in Washington; and the one that sealed the doom of Bonaparte of the field of Waterloo . . . I learn by letters from your dear mother . . . write to me frankly, (about his allowance versus expenses), and you shall hear from me in the spirit of love and desire to

If only a certain powderhorn could talk, what tales it might be able to tell. It belonged to John Waddell, Jr., a teenager when the American Revolution began, but a teenager who served with unfailing loyalty the cause of American Independence.

John was born fifteen miles from Philadelphia on November 1, 1764. His parents, John and Rachel (Quee) Waddell, moved to Baltimore County, Maryland; York District, South Carolina; Burke County, North Carolina and finally in 1775 to Washington County, North Carolina (now Tennessee) where they settled in the Watauga area. The father was born of Scotch parents in County Donegal, Ireland in 1736. He emigrated to America and settled near Philadelphia. He was married three times, Rachel being his second wife.

Life on the frontier was harsh and often dangerous. The Cherokee Indians were not always friendly and forts were built for protection. The situation deteriorated when the Revolutionary War began because the Indians often sided with the British. In the year 1776, at the age of twelve “being stout for his age,” John Waddell entered service at Fort Hopson on the Nolichucky River. He was engaged in hauling, fatigue duty, and scouting. After the evacuation of Fort Hopson the troops returned to Fort Sycamore Shoals (present day Elizabethton) which was under the command of Col. John “Nolachucky Jack” Sevier.

Waddell’s second tour was under Capt. William Clarke at Fort Sevier from December 1776 to June 1777. Upon completion of that tour, he and his father immediately joined a company of horse commanded by Capt. Thomas Price. Each man was promised five schillings in North Carolina, called proc money, but had to provide his own horse. They ranged from Fort Sevier in Washington County, to the French Broad River near the Indian trails to the upper and lower War Forks protecting the settlements from Indians. John later served as a substitute for his father under Capt. Robert Sevier against the Tories in three short tours in Washington County.

According to John’s pension, his last tour was performed under Capt. James McLain and Col. Elijah Clark of George from November 1780 to June 1781. He volunteered at the home of Samuel Sherrill, a brother-in-law of Capt. McLain. They marched from Tennessee to Georgia where they fought in the siege of Augusta, which was a defeat for the Americans. One of the men lost was John’s old commanding officer Capt. Thomas Price.

John Waddell was fairly well educated for the day and times in which he lived. His parents were Presbyterians and his mother had wanted him to “make a preacher.” He did not, however, exhibit any interest in becoming a man of the cloth, preferring to fight Indians and occasionally engage in farming.
John Waddell's
POWDER HORN

By Nancy Lampson O'Neil,
William Cocke Chapter, Newport, Tennessee

Rebecca Sevier, born circa 1777, was a daughter of Colonel John Sevier by his first wife Sarah Hawkins. Sevier, called "Nolachuckey Jack," was one of the leaders and heroes of the battle of King's Mountain. Ten years after Rebecca's birth, her father was elected the governor of the state of Franklin. (Named in honor of Benjamin Franklin, the state was never recognized by the federal government and in 1788 ceased to exist.) In 1790, he was appointed by George Washington as Brigadier General of the Washington District of the Territory South of the River Ohio. Sevier became the first governor of the new state of Tennessee in 1796.

In February 1795, Sevier notes in his journal, "Tues. 24, snowed in the morning. Wed. 25, cloudy. Thursday, 26, Rebecca Sevier and John Waddle married. Fry. 27 cold. Sat. very cold. Came home from Rebecca's wedding." Rebecca and John evidently lived near Broylesville in Washington County close to both sets of parents. This was below John Sevier's home called "Plum Grove."

John and Rebecca Waddell became the parents of two children: (1) Sarah Rebecca Waddell b. April 25, 1796, d. May 1883, Madison County, North Carolina, married ca. 1815 Abraham Hare b. 1795, d. 1883 in Madison County, North Carolina; (2) John Sevier Waddell b. December 18, 1797, d. February 11, 1864, near Calhoun, Henry County, Missouri, mar. (a) January 6, 1831 Sophia Doak (b.?, d. June 27, 1843 in Missouri); (b) November 1, 1844 Mary Ann Pinkston b. November 19, 1823, Estill, Kentucky, d. October 1, 1866.

On November 17, 1979, Rebecca Sevier Waddell died. Following her untimely death, John migrated to Cocke County, Tennessee where he obtained a large tract of land. This section, while beautiful, was probably poorly suited for farming. Bordering the North Carolina line, part of the land is now incorporated into the Cherokee National Forest. The Appalachian Trail transverses the mountain peaks. The French Broad, a designated scenic river tumbles and flows swiftly toward the Mississippi River. Even today it is rugged, mountainous country. The abundant water supply, however, might have been one of the reasons John chose to operate a grist mill. Unfortunately this was an unsuccessful venture and the land and mill were sold for taxes.

In January or February of 1880 John met and married Blanchard in Cocke County. She was born circa? and died circa 1818. Local historians believe she was a sister of John Blanchard of South Carolina who settled in the same area. By her John had seven children: (3) Samuel, b. November/December 1800, mar. January 17, 1823 Violet Bayless. They lived in Greene County, Tennessee, then moved to Murray County, Georgia, and in 1860 to Macoupin County, Illinois. (4) Benjamin b. 1811, d. 1885 in Spring Creek, North Carolina; (5) Rufus King b. 1815, mar. Sarah Moafe; (6) Washington; (7), (8) and (9) are unknown.

When his second wife died circa 1818, he returned to his parents' home and brought his two children by Rebecca Sevier to Cocke County where they helped with the work and the younger children. Meanwhile, John Waddell courted a third wife: Nancy Haywood/Kaywood of North Carolina. She was born circa 1800 and died post 1855. By this third wife he also had seven children: (10) Rachel b. March 2, 1827, d. January 30, 1901, never married; (11) Crockett b. ca. 1830; (12) Jonathan b. 1833; (13) Mary b. 1835, d. p. 1925, mar. Rev. David P. Lamb; (14) Alfred b. 1836; (15) Greene b. 1838, d. 1865; (16) unknown.

Beginning in 1832 and continuing until his death in 1855, John Waddell applied and re-applied for a pension for his Revolutionary War service, even sending to Washington his certificate from the North Carolina treasury. Included in the records is a letter written to John's attorney by John's nephew, C. W., a son of Charles Waddell, dated June 9, 1852, which says that C. W.'s father died at Hill Grove, Illinois without signing a statement attesting to John's service.

In his later life, John Waddell, Jr. was reduced to poverty. His attorney wrote that John was deserving of his country's assistance. "...He was once a man of considerable property, but it is now squandered, and for the last fifteen or twenty years, he has supported himself by teaching a country school; but in consequence of the infirmities of old age, particularly loss of eyesight, he is unable now to procure a living by that or any other occupation, and is at the present time dependent on the neighborhood and the exertions of his oldest son at home, now 14 or 15 years of age for his subsistence.” His pension was denied.

John Waddell died at Hot Springs. Both Notable Southern Families, by Zella Armstrong and The Sevier Family History state that it was Hot Springs, Arkansas. John was living near Hot Springs in Madison County, North Carolina in 1850. Because of his infirmities, I believe that this is where he died—not in the better known Hot Springs, Arkansas. His widow continued to live in North Carolina following his death.

In 1901, Rachel Waddell died in Del Rio (Cocke County), Tennessee. Her obituary states in part:

“...The Daughter of one of the Heroes of Kings Mountain Passes Away. Miss Rachel Waddle, aged 74, died at the residence of F. G. Smith Tuesday morning... She was the daughter of John Waddle, a revolutionary soldier who was seriously wounded at the battle of King’s Mountain. A few years ago inquiry was instituted as to the number of sons and daughters of revolutionary soldiers then living. There were only seven then, 1896, and all of them quite aged. Miss Rachel is perhaps the last...”

John Waddell’s powderhorn is now one of the treasures housed in the Tennessee State Museum. Although his pension cites no service at King’s Mountain, according to family tradition, as shown by the above obituary, the powderhorn was carried by the sixteen-year-old boy in that battle. It is fashioned from a cow’s horn and has a thong with strap so that it might be slung over the shoulder and is inscribed “1774.” The powderhorn was handed down through the family until it was given to the museum in 1980. This “relic of a boy’s duty” reminds us all of the bravery and exploits of one who helped achieve American independence.

WHY I LIKE C.A.R. ...
STRAIGHT FROM THE MEMBERS THEMSELVES—

I like C.A.R. because we have lots of fun. We learn about the Flag and planting trees and the Constitution. When I went to the Statue of Liberty I knew about it from C.A.R. We have picnics and parties and my Daddy goes too. The big kids are nice to us and help us. I have been a Page twice, and Gil danced with me at State Conference. Someday I want to be the State President.

What The C.A.R. Means To Me

Being in the C.A.R. (Children of the American Revolution) has made me proud because I learn more about the past, my family heritage, and I meet new friends. Sometimes I might even be related to my C.A.R. friends. That makes the bonds of friendships especially strong and which means that the friendships will last longer.

Everywhere I’ve lived since I was 5 I’ve been in the C.A.R. It is very interesting finding out which parts of the country my family came from. Being one of the officers in my C.A.R. chapter makes being in the C.A.R. even more fun. I always look forward to going to C.A.R. meetings.

I am greatly honored to have been invited to attend the opening of this 1988 General Assembly of the Church of Scotland; and I am deeply grateful that you have now asked me to address you.

I am very much aware of the historical continuity extending over four centuries, during which the position of the Church of Scotland has been recognized in constitutional law and confirmed by successive Sovereigns. It sprang from the independence of mind and rigor of thought that have always been such powerful characteristics of the Scottish people. It has remained close to its roots and has inspired a commitment to service from all people.

I am therefore very sensible of the important influence which the Church of Scotland exercises in the life of the whole nation, both at the spiritual level and through the extensive caring services which are provided by your Church’s department of social responsibility.

CHRISTIANITY—SPIRITUAL AND SOCIAL. Perhaps it would be best if I began by speaking personally as a Christian, as well as a politician, about the way I see things. Reading recently I came across the starkly simple phrase: “Christianity is about spiritual redemption, not social reform.”

Sometimes the debate on these matters has become too polarized and given the impression that the two are quite separate.

Most Christians would regard it as their personal Christian duty to help their fellow men and women. They would regard the lives of children as a precious trust. These duties come not from any secular legislation passed by Parliament, but from being a Christian.

But there are a number of people who are not Christians who would also accept those responsibilities. What then are the distinctive marks of Christianity?

They stem not from the social but from the spiritual side of our lives. I would identify three beliefs in particular: First, that from the beginning man has been endowed by God with the fundamental right to choose between good and evil. Second, that we were made in God’s own image and therefore we are expected to use all our own power of thought and judgment in exercising that choice; and further, if we open our hearts to God, He has promised to work within us. And third, that Our Lord Jesus Christ The Son of God, when faced with His terrible choice and lonely vigil chose to lay down His life that our sins may be forgiven. I remember very well a sermon on an Armistice Sunday when our preacher said, “No one took away the life of Jesus, He chose to lay it down.”

I think back to many discussions in my early life when we all agreed that, if you try to take the fruits of Christianity without its roots, the fruits will wither. And they will not come again unless you nurture the roots.

But we must not profess the Christian faith and go to Church simply because we want social reforms and benefits or a better standard of behavior—but because we accept the sanctity of life, the responsibility that comes with the freedom and the supreme sacrifice of Christ expressed so well in the hymn:

- When I survey the wondrous Cross
  On which the Prince of glory died,
  My richest gain I count but loss,
  And pour contempt on all my pride.

BIBLE PRINCIPLES—RELEVANCE TO POLITICAL LIFE. May I also say a few words about my personal belief in the relevance of Christianity to public policy—to the things that are Caesar’s?

The Old Testament lays down in Exodus the Ten Commandments as given to Moses, the injunction in Leviticus to love our neighbor as ourselves, and generally the importance of observing a strict code of law. The New Testament is a record of the Incarnation, the teachings of Christ and the establishment of the Kingdom of God. Again we have the emphasis on loving our neighbor as ourselves and to “Do-as-you-would-be-done-by.”

I believe that by taking together these key elements from the Old and New Testaments, we gain:

- A view of the universe,
- A proper attitude to work,
- And, principles to shape economic and social life.

We are told we must work and use our talents to create wealth. “If a man will not work he shall not eat,” wrote St. Paul to the Thessalonians. Indeed,
THE RELATIONSHIP OF RELIGION AND STATE

An address given to the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland in Edinburgh, Scotland, May 21, 1988.

abundance rather than poverty has a legitimacy which derives from the very nature of Creation.

Nevertheless, the Tenth Commandment—Thou shalt not covet—recognizes that making money and owning things could become selfish activities. But it is not the creation of wealth that is wrong but the love of money for its own sake. The spiritual dimension comes in deciding what one does with the wealth. How could we respond to the many calls for help, or invest for the future, or support the wonderful artists and craftsmen whose work also glorifies God, unless we had first worked hard and used our talents to create the necessary wealth? And remember the woman with the alabaster jar of ointment.

I confess that I always had difficulty with interpreting the Biblical precept to love our neighbors "as ourselves" until I read some of the words of C. S Lewis. He pointed out that we don't exactly love ourselves when we fall below the standards and beliefs we have accepted. Indeed we might even hate ourselves for some unworthy deed.

POLITICAL ACTION AND PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITIES. None of this, of course, tells us exactly what kind of political and social institutions we should have. On this point, Christians will very often genuinely disagree, though it is a mark of Christian manners that they will do so with courtesy and mutual respect. What is certain, however, is that any set of social and economic arrangements which is not founded on the acceptance of individual responsibility will do nothing but harm.

We are all responsible for our actions. We cannot blame society if we disobey the law. We simply cannot delegate the exercise of mercy and generosity to others. The politicians and other secular powers should strive by their measures to bring out the good in people and to fight down the bad: but they can't create the one or abolish the other. They can only see that the laws encourage the best instincts and convictions of the people, instincts and convictions which I am convinced are far more deeply rooted than is often supposed.

Nowhere is this more evident than the basic ties of the family which are at the heart of our society and are the very nursery of civic virtue.

It is on the family that we in government build our own policies for welfare, education and care.

You recall that Timothy was warned by St. Paul that anyone who neglects to provide for his own house (meaning his own family) has disowned the faith and is "worse than an infidel."

We must recognize that modern society is infinitely more complex than that of Biblical times and of course new occasions teach new duties. In our generation, the only way we can ensure that no one is left without sustenance, help or opportunity, is to have laws to provide for health and education, pensions for the elderly, succor for the sick and disabled.

But intervention by the State must never become so great that it effectively removes personal responsibility. The same applies to taxation, for while you and I would work extremely hard whatever the circumstances, there are undoubtedly some who would not unless the incentive was there. And we need their efforts too.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION. Recently there have been great debates about religious education. I believe strongly that politicians must see that religious education has a proper place in the school curriculum.

In Scotland as in England, there is an historic connection expressed in our laws between Church and State. The two connections are of a somewhat different kind, but the arrangements in both countries are designed to give symbolic expression to the same crucial truth—that the Christian religion—which, of course, embodies many of the great spiritual and moral truths of Judaism—is a fundamental part of our national heritage. I believe it is the wish of the overwhelming majority of people that this heritage should be preserved and fostered. For centuries it has been our very life blood. Indeed we are a nation whose ideals are founded on the Bible.

Also, it is quite impossible to understand our history or literature without grasping this fact. That is the strong practical case for ensuring that children at school are given adequate instruction.
WORKING WITH THE MEDIA. The success of your PR efforts will depend largely on the good working relationships you establish with news people. Your contacts—editors and reporters, directors and producers—are your most valuable allies. Treat them as you would anyone with whom you do business—professionally and courteously.

Compile a list of the names of the editors and broadcast directors you feel might be interested in the DAR. Then begin by introducing yourself. Call and try to arrange appointments to meet with the people on your list—at their convenience.

Be prepared to answer questions about the purpose of DAR and its programs. Ask what you can do to be helpful. Leave a sheet of paper listing your name and chapter or state, along with your address.

Remember, though, no matter how well-acquainted you become with a news person, asking for favors is out of bounds.

Occasionally, you will find yourself in the position of being sought after by the media for information or comment. Be cooperative, friendly and candid. If you don’t know the answer to a question, tell the reporter that you’ll get back to him as soon as possible and do so promptly. If a matter of policy is under discussion, refer the reporter to the office of the President General at headquarters. REMEMBER, ONLY THE PRESIDENT GENERAL CAN SPEAK ON POLICY!

If you believe you’ve been treated unfairly, do something about it. There’s an old saying in the newspaper business: “An editor may not always be right, but he is never wrong!” Keep it in mind. If you feel the DAR has been portrayed unfairly or inaccurately, you are well within your rights to call attention to the factual errors in a story. But correcting these errors satisfactorily involves some tact and work!

Write a letter to the editor or broadcaster noting the mistakes and correcting misinformation. If that doesn’t get action, call and ask for an appointment to discuss the problem. Be calm and reasonable in both written and personal presentations.

If and when negative news about the DAR develops, deal with it openly and forthrightly. It’s virtually impossible to keep bad news out of the public eye, but you can dull much of its sting. Fall back on the contingency plan you worked out to handle a crisis. Remember, you created that plan for just such situations.

GOOD MEDIA RELATIONS WILL BE THE BOTTOM LINE
ittle did I realize, almost 18 years ago when I joined DAR and a ten-month old chapter, the impact it would have on my life and my family. The joys, happiness, the friendships and the unexpected have been immeasurable. Never thinking I would ever be a State Chairman, it did happen, as well as being a State Officer and State Regent. Certainly a big surprise did come when the wheel of fortune

A February 3, 1978 ruling of the National Board of Management stated that an office be maintained in the Administration Building for the Reporter General to act as liaison officer for the Central Committee Office. A 1983 National Board Ruling placed the Program and Program Reviewing Committees under the Office of the Committees. During the “We the People” Administration, 21 Committees were serviced through this office; 15 are National Committees and six are Special Committees. With 21 Committees there are always a variety of needs. The staff brags that if you want to see where the action is, visit the Office of the Committees.

The staff excels in service, patience and promptness. It has been a pleasure for this officer to work with Mrs. June Saylor, Office of the Committees Administrator; Mrs. Usha Vohra, Office Assistant, Program Committee; and Miss Huong Vo, Clerk Typist.

In addition to her normal office duties, Mrs. Saylor has done research work for the Office of President General, created slide programs, and assisted the National Chairman of the Flag of the United States of America Committee in writing a new Flag book.

For the American Heritage Committee the office prepares Certificates for the National Chairman including those for Outstanding Achievement and the Evelyn Cole Peters Award. The National Chairman handles correspondence about this program and the exhibits at Continental Congress. Approval of funds for American Indian students are processed through this office.

The Americanism and DAR Manual for Citizenship Committee was established in 1919 to develop better citizenship training for those seeking permanent residence in the United States.

It publishes and distributes the DAR Manual for Citizenship. This manual, so full of information that reading it makes anyone a more knowledgeable citizen, has been this officer’s favorite duty. After reading Mollie Somerville’s “10,000,000 DAR Manuals for Citizenship” (DAR Magazine, May 1983) my interest, love and fascination for this manual grew even more.

In 1920, the “Manual of the United States for the Information of Immigrants” was conceived and in 1922 the Daughters distributed 34,902 copies written in three languages. It is interesting to note that in 1921 Continental Congress voted to give the Manual free to immigrants at Ellis Island and other ports of entry; however, it was to be sold to educators, teachers and chapters desiring it for textbook use. Now, after 68 years, this is still the way Manuals are distributed. It is without a doubt the best information still in use. In 1987 the Manual was thoroughly studied and updated. Many calls concerning the manual are referred to DAR by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

During this administration 223,058 manuals were printed totaling 10,333,812 since its inception.

Listed below are the figures taken from Continental Congress reports from 1922 through April 1989 of manuals distributed.

This committee has under its supervision the two highest awards presented by the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution: the Americanism Medal which is awarded to an adult naturalized citizen and the Medal of Honor, awarded to a native-born adult citizen. Requests for applications and information concerning these two medals are processed by the Committee Office which keeps a record of recipients.

When the National Chairman of the Conservation Committee approves a Conservation Medal, a Conservation Certificate is issued by the Committee Office to the chapter or state requesting it. The medal is purchased from J. E. Caldwell Co. A card file of Conservation Medal recipients was established at the instigation of the present National Chairman.

At the request of the National Chairman of Constitution Week, certificates are distributed as well as Constitution Week Guides.

The observance of the Bicentennial of the Constitution of the United States of America generated much new activity in the office. At the direction of the National Chairman, Mrs. Saylor researched and wrote articles and prepared slide programs on the Constitution. An extensive reference file of related materials has been a handy resource for chapters requesting help and suggestions about Constitution Week programs and displays.

In support of the DAR Good Citizens Program, posters, leaflets and wallet cards are distributed. State Chairmen order and receive all pins. Orders for certificates are usually sent directly to the State Regent for signature. Publications are revised and reprinted as needed. An average of 43,000 varied items are sent through this program each year.

The DAR Scholarship Committee generates a large volume of daily work. The many letters requesting information or applications and material distributed, total about 8,000 per year. At the direction of the National Chairman, Scholarship payments are made directly to the schools; a student file is maintained.

A list follows showing the average number of applications requested per scholarship:

NS DAR American History Scholarship is awarded to a graduating high school senior who plans to major in American History (550).

Enid Hall Griswold Memorial Scholarship is awarded to students entering their junior or senior year of college, and who are majoring in Political Science, History, Government or Economics (1,500).

Lillian and Arthur Dunn Scholarship is awarded to children of active DAR members who are graduating high school seniors (275).

Caroline E. Holt Scholarship is awarded for the first year of undergraduate study in an accredited school of nursing (1,600).

NS DAR Occupational Therapy Scholarship is awarded to students enrolled in a School of Occupational Therapy, including art, music or physical therapy (900).

The Longman-Harris Scholarship is awarded to a graduate of Kate Duncan Smith DAR School who can attend any four-year college or university in Alabama.

A tabulation by state of the contributions to Kate Duncan Smith DAR School and Tamasee DAR School as well as Berry College, Crossnore, Hillside School and Hindman School is made for the DAR School Committee. The DAR School booklet is revised by the National Chairman each administration.

The Flag of the United States of America Committee is a very busy one. Approximately 400 beautiful and unique Flag certificates are mailed to chapters each year. Questions about the proper display of the flag are answered by this office or by the National Chairman.

Under the direction of the National Chairman, Honor Roll information is distributed. Questions about prior Honor Roll designations are referred to the Chairman after verification of the permanent office record. At the direction of the National Chairman, about 1,800 certificates are typed and prepared for distribution at Continental Congress. Certificates and ribbons are ordered for gold, silver and honorable mention. Those not picked up by an authorized chapter member or the State Regent are mailed at the close of Congress.

Approximately 155,000 Junior American Citizens Committee cards, booklets and printed materials are sent yearly from... the Committee Office. This outstanding and beneficial program is free to young people of all walks of life. During 1988, the 18-page JAG Handbook was revised.

The Junior Membership Committee uses the office for storing items that will be sold at Continental Congress. Requests for orders are forwarded to the National Vice Chairman in Charge of Sales.

The Motion Picture, Radio and Television Committee has been helpful in trying to build a video library for the Program Office. The Committee Office has also obtained videos for use in connection with Constitution Week.

The Program Office has available manuscripts, slide programs, tapes and videos for chapter use. The Committee Office has also obtained videos for use in connection with Constitution Week.

The many requests for information concerning Bed and Breakfast places are referred to the National Chairman.

The Ellis Island Restoration Committee was started to raise money to assure a DAR Room—the “New Americans” gallery. When possible inquiries are answered by the office.

Inquiries concerning the Insignia Committee are discussed with the Office of the Organizing Secretary General.

The Office of the Committees is continually serving others, whether it is the President General, the Executive Officers, State Regents, National Chairmen, State Chairmen, Chapter Regents, Chapter Chairmen, members or the general public. The staff is always ready to give information, look up records and fill requests for supplies and materials.

Most of the items in the office are free. Postage has become a major factor because 275,000 items are processed by the office yearly.

This officer has attempted to standardize over 60 different certificates used by the National Society. The decision was made to use only two sizes which fit standard envelopes. In addition, the use of stock paper results in considerable savings. My deepest gratitude goes to Miss Jean Jacobs who helped in every way possible to make this a successful venture.

During this administration, all incoming and outgoing supplies for the Office of Committees have been tabulated by computer. This is a tremendous help as well as a time-saving advancement for the staff and for the Reporter General.

This officer and the Committee Office staff hope that we have served you well. It has been a pleasure to work with the National Chairmen who we think are a select and special group.

From 1896 through April 1989, thirty-six Daughters from 20 different states have served in this office now known as Reporter General. The titles may have changed, but during the 93 years of its existence one of its duties has remained the same: the reporting of the National Society’s work to the Smithsonian Institution. Following is a list of those who have held this office:

HOWARD COUNTY (Fayette, MO) celebrated its Diamond Jubilee January 12, 1989, with a patriotic tea. The chapter was organized by Mrs. Sam Major on January 12, 1914 with 29 chart members. Miss Hazel Price, West Palm Beach, Florida is the only living charter member. Mrs. John Davis gave a tribute to her and displayed her picture. Mrs. Charles Coutts, Regent, gave a brief history of the chapter.

Mrs. K. Clark Froman, State Regent; Mrs. Robert Thompson, State Recording Secretary, and Mrs. Wilson Miller, District Director, were among the special guests.

October 1, 1988, the chapter marked the grave of Jesse Walker, a Revolutionary War soldier buried in the New Hope Cemetery. He came to Missouri in 1819 and died February 19, 1849 at the age of 100 years 7 months and 23 days. Descendants from Missouri and Texas attended the ceremony.

GREATER DALLAS (Dallas, Texas) continued its emphasis on the Bi-centennial of the Constitution of the United States of America at its October meeting, which was held at the church in Old City Park. This park is an historical, turn-of-the-century reconstruction utilizing old buildings brought to this site from various locations throughout Dallas County, a special museum of architectural and cultural history of Dallas and North Central Texas.

Following the DAR ritual and patriotic exercises conducted by the Regent, Mrs. Joe E. Graham, a Constitution program was presented by pupils and teachers from City Park Elementary School, kindergarten through third grade.

The principal, Dr. Maria Gonzales, introduced teachers responsible for the program. Students sang several patriotic songs, after which they displayed four large paper scrolls depicting meaningful scenes illustrating phrases taken from the Constitution of the United States; such as, "We the People... secure the Blessings of Liberty... establish this Constitution."

A child dressed to represent the Statue of Liberty captivated the chapter members.

Greater Dallas members were greatly impressed upon learning that the first six weeks of each school year in this school is devoted to a study of the Constitution.

CHARLES DIBRELL (Albuquerque, New Mexico) was the occasion for the presentation to Mrs. Carl Lindahl, Regent, of three books of genealogical, biographical and historical significance at the annual Christmas luncheon. Mary Ruth Norton, Honorary Regent, Old Dominion Chapter, Richmond, Virginia, made the presentation on behalf of Mrs. Kenneth E. T. Lorente, Honorary Regent, Scotchtown Chapter, Richmond, author of "Our Family and Kin: Blackburn and Franck, Leake and Thornton," a genealogy; Helen Walpole, Regent, William Byrd Chapter, Richmond, author of "Irresistible Magic," a biography; and Mrs. Albert Lee Smith and Joyce Lee Smith, members of Old Dominion Chapter and authors of "Tomahawk Baptist Church, 1776-1976," a Bicentennial history. It was requested that these books be given to the Special Collection Branch of the Albuquerque Library in recognition of the Virginia heritage of many New Mexican heroes; this has been done.

GOOD-LAND (Kansas). The grave of Pvt. Heinrich Knauss, Revolutionary Patriot of Mrs. Billie P. Compton, Flores del Sol Chapter, and Mrs. Harold Frasier, Good-Land Chapter, was dedicated and marked on July 27, 1988, by Mrs. Compton and Mrs. Frasier in Emmas, PA. Mrs. Rodrick Wood, Vice Regent of Liberty Bell Chapter, Allentown, PA, was in charge of the arrangements and presided over the dedication ceremonies in Emmas, PA. Roderick Ian Wood, her son, and President of the Colonel Thomas Potts Society, C.A.R., was the Color Guard.

Other DAR officers attending the event beside Mrs. Frasier and Mrs. Compton, who is a Vice President General, were: Mrs. Edgar Weir, Historian General; Miss Marguerite Flounders, PA State Regent; Mrs. Lawrence Adams, PA State Chaplain; Mrs. Watson, PA State Secretary; Mrs. Gordon Fister, Regent, Liberty Bell Chapter; Mrs. Clarence Moatt, Treasurer of Liberty Bell Chapter; Mrs. R. Lee, Member of the Good-Land Chapter, living in Seattle, WA, was introduced with her husband.

Call to Assemble and Taps. Rev. Robert Engelbrecht of the Emmaus Moravian Church spoke and gave the Benediction.

Many Knauss descendants live in the area and attended the ceremony. Sprays of carnations were placed on the graves of the 12 Revolutionary Soldiers in the cemetery by the Liberty Bell Chapter. Mrs. Compton and Mrs. Frasier provided corsages for the participants and many gifts of wheat weaving from Kansas were presented to those helping and attending the ceremony.

Mrs. Compton and Mrs. Frasier with forty other guests attended a luncheon in Allentown following the ceremony held in the home of Mrs. James Esler, Jr., Registrar of the Liberty Bell Chapter. In the afternoon Mrs. Clarence Moatt, Treasurer, escorted some of the guests on a tour of Bethlehem, PA, home of Moravian Academy and College.

Moravians are members of a Protestant Church organized in Bohemia and Moravia in 1457. Today there are 160 Moravian Congregations in North America. They maintain colleges in Bethlehem and Winston Salem, NC. The Moravians came to America in 1735 and founded the city of Bethlehem in 1741.

Two men who early responded to the Moravian Brethren, Jacob Ehrenhardt and Sebastian Knauß (father of Heinrich) have long been looked upon as the "Fathers of Emmaus." The Moravian Church founded the town and all the grave markers are flat stones (twelve and eighteen inches in size). The cemetery is called "God's Acre."—Dorothy Wilson.

COLONEL WILLIAM LOWTHER (Salem, WV).

Eighth, seventh and sixth generations removed grandchildren observe the monuments of their grandparents, Revolutionary War Patriot William (Greenbrier Billy) Davis and Elizabeth.
Johnson Davis at the Salem Seventh Day Baptist Cemetery, Salem, WV, as follows: Jason Ryan Reed two and one-half years old with his father Arthur L. Reed, from Friendswood, TX; Mrs. Denver (Lenore Davis) Reed mother of Arthur and grandmother of Jason of Parkersburg, WV; and Gladys (Davis) Norris, Jason's great aunt of Salem, WV.

Jason Ryan Reed became a member of the New Salem Society, C.A.R. when he was eight months old, the youngest child ever to become a member of the New Salem Society. His grandmother, Lenore Davis Reed, is a member of the Blennerhassett Chapter Parkersburg. Jason's great aunt, Gladys Davis Norris, is Regent of the Colonel William Lowther Chapter, Mrs. Blair (Fern) Nutter (not in picture) is Senior President of New Salem Society.

The first United States Government monument honoring an American Revolution War Patriot to be placed in the Salem Seventh Day Baptist Church Cemetery was erected at the gravesite of William Davis “Greenbrier Billy” and his wife, Elizabeth Johnson Davis in May 1976. The United States Government white marble monument, the two original sandstone monuments of 1845, and a Daughters of the American Revolution emblematic marker and flag were dedicated Monday, May 31, 1976, at the Cemetery. The Dedication ceremony was arranged by the adults in the picture and two others: the late Miss Frankie M. Davis, great aunt of Jason Reed and Jeffrey B. Reed, uncle of Jason. Arthur L. Reed placed the flag on the DAR marker and Jeffrey B. Reed concluded the service with “Taps.”

Salem was settled May 10, 1792 by Seventh Day Baptists from Shrewsbury, New Jersey. This settlement was granted a charter December, 1794 as New Salem, Virginia, now Salem, West Virginia. William “Greenbrier Billy” Davis was one of the trustees. The Cemetery is located behind the Seventh Day Baptist Church. A Cemetery Commission was appointed two years ago with the leadership of the Reverend S. Kenneth Davis, Pastor of the Church. One objective of the Commission is to establish perpetual care for the cemetery. Members of the local Colonel William Lowther Chapter helped with work at the Cemetery in May, 1988.—Gladys Davis Norris.

CLARK COUNTY (Missouri) celebrated its seventy-fifth anniversary of the friendship hall of the Methodist Church on December 9, 1988.

The observance started with a salad luncheon at 12:30. Then, the members and their guests from neighboring chapters held a regular business meeting. The program, “Christmas Symbols,” and “Christmas as Observed in a Nation Under God” was presented by Mrs. Charlie Bricker and Mrs. Forrest Phillips. It was an especially appropriate and lovely program in which the ladies discussed the family traditions of the holiday season; but especially emphasized the true Christian background of Christmas and the importance of a religious celebration at this time.

Following this, Mrs. George Heinze told a very charming story of the chapter's history. She told how, on May 19, 1913, a group of ladies of Clark County, under the guidance of Emma Tinsman Dawson (Mrs. John Dawson) of Kahoka, filed, with the national organization, an application for a charter.

Twenty-nine members formed the first group. These charter members were: Nellie Jenkins Black, Rosa Wayland Bostic, Mary F. Tinsman Cowell, Emma Tinsman Dawson, Annie C. Donnelly, Della Donnelly, Margaret Miller Fairbrother, Mary McKee Fore, Ada Matlock French, Julia Pierce Gilhousen, Alta Price Gray, Virginia Frances Gray, Maria Tinsman Hill, Cora M. Hill, Maude Hill, Margaret Lynn, Helen Florence McKee, Isabel Barnett McKee, Mary L. Lapsley McKee, Ethel W. Miller, Margaret Olivia Miller, Sarah E. Cooper Morris, Charlotte T. Price, Anna Mission Resor, Anna Louis Story, and Mary E. Donnelly Thompson.

In preparing for her report, Mrs. Heinze had searched for memorabilia of the Clark County Chapter, and pleased her audience very much by showing the original application for the charter, and an old photograph which contained pictures of some of the charter members.

HAMPTON (Virginia) enjoyed observing and celebrating the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution with the “We the People” administration.

Among other things, we scheduled a meeting for September 16, 1987, at 1:00 p.m. to coincide with the television presentation of Chief Justice Warren, reciting the Preamble of the Constitution, followed by President Reagan standing on the steps of the United States Capitol Building to lead the nation in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America. We joined with him to recite the pledge. The Hampton High School ROTC Honor Guard presented the colors.

Our very appropriate invocation was given by Chaplain Major Paulson, United States Army, of Fort Monroe, Virginia, who was dressed in the 18th century American Army Garb, which gave a special touch to our day. The guest speaker for the day was Lt. Colonel John Carl of the Fort Eustis, Virginia, Public Affairs Office. He was well versed on the contents and the history of the Constitution, and his presentation was both informative and entertaining.

Guests joining us in the festivities for the day included Mrs. Robert B. Smith past Vice President General, Mrs. Tom Young, Regent, Newport News Chapter, Mrs. William Russell, Regent, Colonel Francis Mallory Chapter; Mrs. William Hoo, Regent, of Free State of Warwick Chapter; Mrs. Rogers Smith, Regent, of Charles Parish Chapter, and members of the Honor Guard.

The dessert, served with apple cider, was a three-foot by two-foot cake made by one of the members. It was made of white, yellow, and chocolate cake, representative of the many peoples that make up our wonderful nation. It was made in the shape of the United States, frosted in white; the states were outlined in red; and “We the People” was written on top of the cake in blue.

Our Bicentennial of the Constitution Chairman, Mrs. Bailey Talbot, prepared copies of the Constitution on parchment-type paper, rolled them as scrolls, tied them with burgundy-colored ribbons, and presented one to all who were present. In addition, our guest speaker brought three-page copies of the Constitution for distribution.

Members of the executive board assisted Mrs. Talbot as hostesses for the day.

On January 13, 1989, a magnificent flag pole, complete with flag, were presented to the Devonshire Community in Hampton, Virginia. The inscription on the accompanying plaque read as follows: “Donated by Mrs. Fletcher E. Ammons in recognition of the contribution of the Military of Hampton Roads.” Mrs. Ammons, a resident of the Devonshire, is a member of the Hampton Chapter.

MISSISSIPPI DELTA (Rosedale, MS) had a program on the NSDAR Centennial at its meeting in January, 1989, at the Great River Roads State Park in Rosedale, Mississippi.

The program was written by Allene Nason Yates (Mrs. Joseph W. Jr.) and presented by Allene and Patricia Walton Shelby (Mrs. Richard Denny) Honorary President General.

Mrs. Yates and Mrs. Shelby are the cochairs for the State of Mississippi for the Centennial Jubilee. They are also both members of Mississippi Delta Chapter.

Mrs. W. F. Greer of Shelby displayed the lovely framed cross-stitch Centennial Logo she had fashioned.

Mrs. Ira D. Fowler of Gunni son, Regent of Mississippi Delta presided at the chapter meeting at Rosedale.

At the Continental Congress, April, 1988, Mississippi Delta Chapter received an award in the program contest sponsored by the Centennial Committee for a program which Mrs. Yates had written and presented at a chapter meeting. The award was an Honorable Mention. Mrs. Yates flew to Washington for opening night, the Mississippi Breakfast, and the meeting of the Centennial Jubilee Committee. She accepted the award given in Constitution Hall and brought it home to Mississippi Delta.—Allene N. Yates.

MERION (Bala, PA) was well represented in Harrisburg at the Pennsylvania State Conference by Miss Beulah Harvey, a 50-year member and descendant of one of Merion Chapter's Charter members; Mrs. James M. Anderson, National Chairman, DAR Insignia Committee and also a candidate for the Office of Historian General; Mrs. Everett Sel-lew, Second Vice Regent; and Mrs. Warren S. Williams, Regent.

Merion Chapter was awarded the Silver Certificate for the 1987-88 Honor Roll.

For an environmental project, 24 spruce tree seedlings were given by Merion Chapter to the Lower Merion-Narberth Watershed Association, Inc. and planted by local high school students.

American History month was celebrated by: the presentation of a DAR U.S. Constitution Quiz computer disk to Valley Forge Military Academy and Junior College in Wayne, PA; and our outstanding February program, “Encampment at Valley Forge,” presented by the Reverend Chester T. Winters, well-known authority and lecturer.

For Constitution Week Mrs. Clinton Blithe, Chapter Librarian, designed and arranged a display at the Paoli Memorial Library which was enjoyed by passers-by; and the Regent, Mrs. Warren S. Williams, attended the DAR-SAR Constitution Day Luncheon in Philadelphia.

Mrs. George Zieber, Treasurer, attended the special Pennsylvania Sunday Service at Washington Memorial Chapel.

Other interesting programs included: “An evening withNorman Rockwell, A Nation's Treasure” slide presentation; “Russia—A nation in Search of Democracy”; Wycinanki (Polish paper cutting); and “I minus . . . Under God” (a presentation of an outstanding collection of crosses and slides.)—Lynn Williams.

YORKTOWN AND COL. JAMES SMITH (Pennsylva-nia) celebrated the Centennial Jubilee of the NSDAR with a luncheon held at the Hotel Yorktowne, York, PA, on November 12, 1988. Some 60 Daughters and guests were present. Mrs. Archie Chronister, South Central District Director, introduced Mrs. Coray H. Miller, National Vice Chairman of the National Centennial Jubilee Committee, who spoke on the plans and special projects for the 100th anniversary celebration. The showing of the film “Portrait of a Daughter” was prefaced by remarks by Mrs. James Hutton, PA State Chairman of the National Centennial Jubilee Committee. Musical entertainment was provided by Mrs. Marie Williams. Mrs. Doris Fafe, Chaplain, gave the invocation and benediction. Table decorations and printed programs were made by Mrs. Henry Zumbrun. Mrs. Charles Bridell and Miss Joan Klingler are regents of the hostess chapters.—Joan L. Klingler.

DANIEL COLEMAN (Geor-getown, Texas). Descendants of Patriot Stephen Williams gathered at the Texas State Cemetery in Austin on Memorial Day, 1988, to pay tribute to their remarkable ancestor, the only Veteran of both the American and Texas Revolutions.

Stephen Williams was born in North Carolina in 1760 and enlisted in the American Revolution at the age of eighteen, fighting in the battles of Brier Creek, Camden and Eutaw Springs. After serving in the War of 1812, he moved to Louisiana, then in 1830 received a Mexican Land grant and settled at Bevil's Settlement, in the colony of Texas. In December of 1835, when he was 75 years old, Williams and three of his grandsons walked to San Antonio and fought with "Old Ben Milam’s" militia in the Siege of Bexar, the battle which preceded the fall of the Alamo.

Stephen Williams died in 1848, and was buried in the family cemetery at Jasper. During the 1936 Texas Centennial, the State of Texas removed his body to the present site in the State Cemetery. His descendants surround the monument that was erected by Thankful Hubbard Chapter, NSDAR, Austin, in 1936. Pictured are (left to right): Bruce Brunson; Demp Toney, Thankful Hubbard Chapter; Carroll Brunson, U.S. Veteran; Nelma Toney Wilkinson Daniel Coleman Chapter; Ret. Army Major Thomas B. Leonard Waco; and Jan Wilkinson Green Daniel Coleman Chapter. These descendants are dedicated to keeping alive the memory of this extraordinary man.

GENERAL SMALLWOOD (Baltimore, MD). General Smallwood’s Retreat in Southern Maryland was the site of the September meeting of the General Smallwood Chapter. This was the first visit of the chapter to this lovely colonial setting, and was eagerly anticipated by all of the members and their guests. Following a tour of the house and gardens, a delightful luncheon, featuring local Maryland specialties was served at Sotterley Plantation, another historic landmark in the state.

Mrs. Reid Johnson gave a talk on "Wildlife of Assateague" at the October meeting, and once again alerted us to all of the conservation problems in Maryland.

The chapter held its November meeting at Charleston, a retirement home. A lecture and slide presentation on "Genealogy" was given by Mrs. Curtis A. Johnson, Chapter Registrar. Mrs. Johnson, a teacher in the county school system, has recently been a speaker and co-producer of a series of programs on this subject on Cable TV.

Constitution Week was celebrated at the Baltimore County Court House, where Mrs. E. Kennard Gross, Regent, and Mrs. Lewis S. Libby and Mrs. Harvey C. Jones II, were presented a framed copy of the Constitution Week Proclamation by Mr. Dennis Rasmussen, Baltimore County Executive. Mr. Frank Robey, Jr., Baltimore County Administration Officer, made the presentation.

The December meeting was held at the Baltimore Country Club, with Mrs. David S. Hawkins, State Chairman of National Defense, as our guest.—Helen T. Heider.

COLORADO (Denver, CO) Chapter's first tea in 1904 was held in the beautiful home of our first Regent, Mrs. J. B. Grant. The 1989 eighty-fifth anniversary tea was also held in the same beautiful mansion now owned by the Colorado Historical Society and called the Grant-Humphreys Mansion. Mrs. Humphreys, the second owner of the house, was also a chapter member.

The afternoon program featured our chapter's early history and its relationship to Denver's history and development. In doing the research for the thirty minute slide program we found that another Colorado Chapter member had built the house now used as the official Colorado Governor's Mansion; that another member who was a physician is one of the honored founders of Denver's acclaimed Children's Hospital. Another established the first City Symphony, another was responsible for beautifying a well-known park which still carries that family's name. Two current branch libraries of the Denver Public Library system carry Chapter family names. We also found a wonderful story connecting a chapter member with one of Linn (Albany, OR) has one member with stellar rank! She is ninety-nine year old Edna Lewelling who has been an active member of the Society for seventy-two years. She became a member in 1917. Edna attends our meetings regularly and is a role model for all of us.

Linn, a chapter of more than fifty members at one time, experienced the downward spiraling of membership loss until the enrollment was sixteen. Of the sixteen members, two were in nursing homes and a third one was too elderly to be active, three members lived out of the state.

Chapter disbanding seemed imminent: In a community of over twenty-eight thousand people, there had to be potential for DAR membership. So . . . where was the enemy? Statistics proved to a few of us that we had to agree with Pogo, "We has met the enemy and they is us."

State and community visibility was our first accomplishment. One of our members accepted the office of State Treasurer. We participated in community efforts and the senior center. We took advantage of every opportunity to get news in the paper, on the radio and the Salem television station. We made money by selling newspapers, attending bazaars and flea markets. We were able to convince one grocery store to give us one cent on the dollar for purchased groceries and a Christmas auction provided money and fun.

When we accumulated some money, the chapter passed a resolution to pay the national application fee and dues for the first ten new members. Soon we had ten members and then another resolution brought in ten more and then more with still another. How exciting!

By 1988 one member was State Vice Regent, another was State Treasurer and one of the new members was State membership Chairman. All new members were active and eager to participate in chapter responsibilities.

By January of 1989, our membership climbed to forty-two with two papers in Washington for verification and at least ten more ladies with papers nearing completion.

Is that all there is? No, Linn Chapter is hostessed the State Conference in March, 1989. Visibility and enthusiasm will work for you if you work for them.—Estel B. Vaughn.

COLONEL GILBERT POTTER (Amityville, New York) won first place trophy for its float in the senior division of the annual Fourth of July parade. This year's theme was "Let Freedom Ring." Members of the Zebulon Ketcham Society, C.A.R., attired in appropriate costumes, vigorously rang their "bells for freedom" throughout the parade route. Mrs. W. Homer Ball, float chairman, had composed a song, "Ring Those Bells," which was sung by both the children and the DAR members on the float with Mrs. H. Donald Dewar, Regent, conducting the group.

Each year, the chapter presents a book to a local library. The book presented this year was Liberty-The Statue and the American Dream by Leslie Allen. This story of America's growth starts with the waves of immigrants arriving at Ellis Island, followed by the push westward, and concludes with the newest immigrants arriving on the west coast. This "coffee table" book is accompanied by a wealth of photographs.

Chapter members made a pilgrimage to the Sands-Willets House, home of the Cow Neck Peninsula Historical Society of Port Washington, New York. After a conducted tour of the house, members enjoyed a delicious finger-tip luncheon served by the Society members. An interesting feature of the home is an open-hearth kitchen, reminiscent of colonial times. Scheduled groups of school children, under the expert supervision of a Society member, prepare the ingredients for a stew which is cooked in an iron caldron in the hearth. This is eaten along with freshly-baked bread. The children learn a great deal about early American life while waiting for their culinary efforts to reach the stage of perfection. To their surprise, they discover that their meal is truly delicious!—Ruth Wolf.

SAVANNAH (Georgia) officers met in Chipawa Square on February 10, 1989 to celebrate Georgia Day with the laying of a Wreath on the monument of General James Edward Oglethorpe. The officials greeting the officers were Mayor John P. Roussakis, and Chief of the Creek Tribe, and General James Edward Oglethorpe.

Following the parade a Georgia Day Luncheon was held at DeSoto Hilton Hotel with a guest speaker Dr. E. D. Hirsch, Jr.—Harriet H. Hammond.

DAVID ALLEN (Campbellsville, KY) placed a marker on the grave of Mrs. George M. Barbee, who organized the chapter. Attending the ceremony were, front row from left: Anna Laura Osborne, state C.A.R. president; Amy Todd, State National Merit Chairman, and Rebecca Todd, local C.A.R. president. Back row: Mrs. Everett Lee, Frances McKnight, Mrs. Zinnie Shively, Mrs. Alva McKinley, Mrs. Mike Todd, Lenora Hill, Mrs. R. A. Sanders and Mrs. Forrest Hogue. (Photo by G. M. Todd)

The David Allen Chapter, met November 8 at the home of Mrs. Forrest Hogue to celebrate its 25th year as an organization. Mrs. Nathan A. McKinley gave a tribute to the organizer of the Chapter, Mrs. George M. Barbee. The first meeting of the chapter was on Tuesday night, April 23, 1963. Mrs. Barbee opened the meeting that night and introduced Dr. Winona Stevens Jones, Honorary State Chairman and past Vice President General, who conducted an election of officers. Mrs. Barbee was made Regent. There were 16 charter members, several of whom are still active in the chapter.

Dr. Jones suggested the name of David Allen for the chapter. He was an ancestor of Mrs. Barbee's and also other members of the Sanders and Patterson families who were present that night.

Mrs. Barbee, a Taylor County native, was a daughter of Lafayette and Ann Mary Patterson Sanders. She taught in the public schools of Campbellsville and was active in many organizations. She was a life member of the Samuel Davis Chapter, and received her 50-year pin a year prior to her death on Oct. 9, 1964.—Frances E. McKnight.

in the part which the Judaic-Christian tradition has played in molding our laws, manners and institutions. How can you make sense of Shakespeare and Sir Walter Scott, or of the constitutional conflicts of the 17th century in both Scotland and England, without some such fundamental knowledge?

But I go further than this. The truths of the Judaic-Christian tradition are infinitely precious, not only, as I believe, because they are true, but also because they provide the moral impulse which alone can lead to that peace, in the true meaning of the word, for which we all long.

TOLERANCE. To assert absolute moral values is not to claim perfection for ourselves. No true Christian could do that. What is more, one of the great principles of our Judaic-Christian inheritance is tolerance.

People with other faiths and cultures have always been welcomed in our land, assured of equality under the law, of proper respect and of open friendship.

There is absolutely nothing incompatible between this and our desire to maintain the essence of our own identity. There is no place for racial or religious intolerance in our creed.

CHRISTIANS AND DEMOCRACY.
When Abraham Lincoln spoke in his famous Gettysburg speech of 1863 of “government of the people, by the people, and for the people,” he gave the world a neat definition of democracy which has since been widely and enthusiastically adopted. But what he enunciated as a form of government was not in itself especially Christian, for nowhere in the Bible is the word democracy mentioned. Ideally, when Christians meet, as Christians, to take counsel together, their purpose is not (or should not be) to ascertain what is the mind of the majority but what is the mind of the Holy Spirit—something which may be quite different.

Nevertheless I am an enthusiast for democracy. And I take that position, not because I believe majority opinion is inevitably right or true, indeed no majority can take away God-given human rights. But because I believe it most effectively safeguards the value of the individual, and, more than any other system, restrains the abuse of power by the few. And that is a Christian concept.

But there is little hope for democracy if the hearts of men and women in democratic societies cannot be touched by a call to something greater than themselves. Political structures, state institutions, collective ideals are not enough. We Parliamentarians can legislate for the rule of law. You the Church can teach the life of faith.

CONCLUSION. For, when all is said and done, a politician’s role is a humble one. I always think that the whole debate about the Church and the State has never yielded anything comparable in insight to that beautiful hymn “I vow to thee my country.” It begins with a triumphant assertion of what might be described as secular patriotism, a noble thing indeed in a country like ours: “I vow to thee my country all earthy things above; entire, whole and perfect the service of my love.” It goes on to speak of “another country I heard of long ago” whose King cannot be seen and whose armies cannot be counted, but “soul by soul and silently her shining bounds increase.” Not group by group or party by party or even church by church—but soul by soul—and each one counts.

That, members of the Assembly, is the country which you chiefly serve. You fight your cause under banner of an historic church. Your success matters greatly—as much to the temporal as to the spiritual welfare of the nation.

gratify all requisite claims. I find the vessel in which I expected to embark to-morrow has changed its destination. I am disappointed, and must embrace any favorable opportunity, without regard to place of arrival . . . You must write from Boston, under cover to Mr. Joseph Thorne, merchant in Savannah; and detail to me your expenses and the sum necessary to defray them . . . Avoid debt, the sink of mental power and the subversion of independence, which draws into debasement every virtue, in appearance certainly, if not in reality . . . I hope and beg you will read well and speak better the French language . . . begin with a grammar, a dictionary, and two hours per day will give you the reading; a French family's acquaintance will give you the speaking. Descended from Dr. Lancelot Johnston (from the Scottish House of Annandale), born in Ireland 1748, and his wife, Zeruah Rice. Dr. Johnston came to America before 1770 and served in the Militia from Orange County, North Carolina. He received a Commission from the U.S. Congress, signed by John Hancock – “We, reposing especial trust and confidence in your patriotism, your conduct, your fidelity, do constitute and appoint you Surgeon of the 9th Battalion, May 10, 1776, New Berne, North Carolina.”

He was later appointed Regimental Surgeon of Continental Troops from the Districts of Hillsborough and Salisbury. After the war, he continued his medical practice until he died in 1832. He is buried beside his wife near Locust Hill in Caswell.

Descendants are understandably proud and inspired by this illustrious and venerable patriot.

DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

Madonna Of The Trail Statue
60th Anniversary Rededication

October 2, 1988 — Lexington, Missouri

Mrs. Charles C. Barnett, Jr., Mrs. K. Clark Froman, Mrs. William Short,
Mrs. Larry Bradley, pictured here, were among the many who attended the Rededication.
This elegant Victorian residence at 821 Main Street in historic Boonville, Missouri, was built by Wilbur T. Johnson in 1895. It was purchased by the Missouri Daughters in 1983 when Mrs. Joseph W. Towle was State Regent.

It serves as the hospitable State Headquarters for many functions. "Christmas Open House and the annual Bar-B-Que in June are two of the many delightful events held here. The State Executive Board and many chapters over the state hold their meetings here.

Tours are conducted twice a week from April through December.
In 1912 the Missouri Daughters of the American Revolution led the fight to have the Boone’s Lick Road and the Santa Fe Trail designated as the Cross State Highway, which would become a link in the coast to coast highway.

The Daughters marked the Santa Fe Trail in 1912. The markers on the Santa Fe Trail were dedicated May, 1913. The Boone’s Lick Road markers were dedicated in October, 1913. In 1917, markers were placed and dedicated on the El Camino Real.

May we be inspired by the pioneer spirit of those who traveled the trails!
Caddo District, named for the Caddo Indian tribe of West Central Arkansas, became the third district added to the Arkansas State Society, NSDAR. Formed on November 12, 1942, in a breakfast meeting at the Majestic Hotel in Hot Springs, Arkansas, Caddo District was first comprised of six chapters: Arkadelphia, Texarkana, Hot Springs of Arkansas, John Cain, Benjamin Culp, and Ouachita. Mrs. Davis M. Biggs was state regent with Mrs. R. L. Gillam organizing district chairman. Caddo District now boasts eleven chapters and holds its annual meeting on Flag Day, June 14.

ANSWERS TO “A CENTENNIAL CENSUS”

1. The National Society DAR was founded 11 October 1890.
2. There was great interest that year in the coming 400th anniversary of the discovery of America, and a woman, Queen Isabella, had promoted the expedition. Although the Founders chose Columbus Day, 12 October, that date fell on a Sunday in 1890, so the organizational meeting was changed to the 11th, the day Columbus sighted land!
3. The Four Founders were Mary Smith Lockwood, Eugenia Washington, Mary Desha and Ellen Harden Walworth.
4. Not one of these Founders served as President General.
5. Mary Virginia Ellett Cabell never belonged to a Chapter.
6. She held the titles: Vice President Presiding, President General Presiding (Following the death of Mrs. Harrison) and Honorary President Presiding, a title which died with her 4 July 1930.
7. The first DAR Committee formed was known as the Revolutionary Relics Committee and later evolved into the Museum Committee.
8. Eugenia Washington, who served as the first Registrar General, gave herself National Number One.
9. There are 21 Vice Presidents General, seven of whom are elected annually for terms of three years.
10. The DAR colors of blue and white were chosen because they were the colors of Washington’s Headquarters Guard.

“...to collect and preserve our DC DAR heritage...”

Mrs. Gary R. Meeds, State Regent met with Mrs. John J. Wilson, State Chairman for the State Regent’s Project; Mrs. Helen Markwith and Mrs. George B. Hartman to review materials provided by the District Daughters for the District of Columbia State Archives. Mrs. Hartman and Mrs. Markwith enjoyed reminiscing about DC DAR events during the early 1930’s, when both ladies became members.

Mrs. Helen Markwith, Mrs. George B. Hartman, Mrs. Gary R. Meeds, State Regent and Mrs. John J. Wilson, State Chairman, State Regent’s Project

MAY 1989

Dear Daughters,

I would like to thank all of you for your magazine advertising during the “We the People” administration. Through your creative and interesting ads, you have recognized our past, present, and future. I know you will continue your good works through the next administration, for it is your support that keeps DAR Magazine alive.

Thanks also go to Cheryl Estancona, Art Director, and Ellen Harrington, Advertising Assistant, for a job well done. They will be staying on at National to help you with any questions you may have. Best of luck to the new National Magazine Advertising Chairman and her office.

Congratulations to the Missouri State Society for submitting this issue’s winner of the “Ad Excellence Award”. Keep those patriotic, educational, and historical ads coming!

A fond farewell,

Miss Marjorie Giinther

Life insurance protection, just like any other form of insurance, can become out of date.

Since you purchased your life insurance, it has been subject to the eroding effects of inflation. What's more, growing financial responsibilities and family obligations can make your old amount of coverage inadequate to provide financial security.

You can, however, enhance the protecting power of your life insurance by adding coverage under the NSDAR Group Term Life Insurance Plan.

The NSDAR Life Plan lets you add up to $20,000 more protection if you are under age 60—depending upon your age at application—to reinforce your family's future security. You can apply for coverage regardless of your age.

No physical exam is usually required to apply; just a few short questions on the application. Your spouse can also apply.

Find out how easy and affordable it can be to protect your family with the NSDAR Group Term Life Plan.
